SPORTING NEWS AND NOTES.

Sports of England Wrought Up Over the Jackson-Slavin Go.

The Giants Give Their Admirers a Surprise Party.

"The great pugilistic battle between Peter Jackson and Frank P. Slavin that is to be fought on Monday, May 30," said Richard K. Fox, "will begin at 10 o'clock P. M. It is the rule of the National Club, of London, before which the battle will be waged, to begin its contests at midnight, but the change has been made to suit the convenience of certain prominent members of the Club. While the battle between Jackson and Slavin will undoubtedly be one of the greatest of the year, it is not creating anything like the interest here that it is in England, where the sports are greatly wrought up.

"Of the two men as fighters, I like Slavin, and do not see any reason why he cannot win, barring accident. He is an earnest fighter, puts his entire energy into the work of defeating his men and uses his wonderful hitting powers to advantage. One good, fair blow from Slavin's right hand is enough to make any pugilist quake. Jackson is also a very clever fighter. He is agile and cat-like in his movements and capable of keeping away from nine-tenths of the fighters living, but I do not think he will be able to stand off from Slavin, administer punishment and not get a great deal in return. I saw Slavin whip McAuliffe, and the latter is a hard man to beat, as Jackson well knows. Slavin went at the Californian and turned him down in two rounds, and showed himself to be a rare fighter. I have admired his prowess ever since. I also saw the Jackson-Jem Smith battle, when Jackson got the decision, but I think things would have been different if the men had been allowed to continue. While Jackson was clever, he could not take much real punishment."

Billy Edwards was as smiling as usual at the Hoffman House last night. In talking about the fight he said: "The betting is not very lively. I have seen a few wagers posted to-night at 100 to 70 on Slavin. Betting has been a little more even, but just now they lean towards Frank and I like his chances myself. I think Jackson a great fighter and all that, but it looks to me as if Slavin has the best of it, although Jackson, in my opinion, can stand considerable roughing." Bill Slavin, Frank's brother, was listening to Edwards's remarks, and said: "I think that Peter Jackson will need to display more activity than he ever has before if he whips Frank."

The Giants won a game yesterday. After prolonging the game to ten innings, Ewing crossed the plate and won the game by a score of 3 to 2. The Giants will be at the Polo Grounds to-day, and will meet their old-time rivals from Chicago. The Windy Cities are up in third place now, while New York is still at the eighth peg, but Ewing hopes to arrest Anson's upward flight. Brooklyn won from the Washington team, 8 to 7. It was a hard game, and towards the end of the battle it looked as if the Senators would quit winners, but a rally on the part of the Wonders shattered the hopes of the men from the Capital City.

Baltimore defeated Philadelphia 6 to 4. Pittsburg retired Cleveland 9 to 7.

Games scheduled for to-day are:

Chicago at New York.	Cincinnati at Philadel'a.
St. Louis at Brooklyn.	Cleveland at Baltimore.
Louisville at Boston.	Pittsburg at Washing'n

Frank Moore, the pugilist who met Walter Campbell in a four-round bout at the last professional boxing show given by the New York Athletic club, said last night: "I am disappointed with the decision. The judges gave the bout to Campbell, but he did not deserve it. They should have ordered another round. Campbell is a clever fighter, but I can whip him and want to meet him again, but to a finish, or I will meet him for a limited number of rounds over six, if he does not want to try it to a finish, before any athletic club for a good purse, stake, or both. I prefer catch-weights, but as he has issued a challenge to fight any one at 128 pounds I will accept that weight."

The principal event at the New Jersey A. C. games on Memorial Day, will be the attempt of W. D. Day, to break the present amateur American record for three miles held by himself and made on Memorial Day, 1890.

Secretary Hughes, of the Manhattan Athletic Club, says that Tommy Conneff, the Club's popular long-distance runner, will receive a warm reception on his return from England and Ireland. Conneff was taken sick and could not do himself justice in his races with the English cracks this Spring, but for all that the Cherry Diamond Club proposes to welcome him back as a hero. He will be given a complimentary dinner, and will receive a pretty diamond badge from the Club in recognition of the honor reflected on the Club by a long line of victories.

The several college athletic teams that are to compete in the intercollegiate games at Manhattan Field on Saturday are getting in great trim. The track at Manhattan Field is in fine form, and it is expected that several records will be broken.

Col. William E. Harding is managing the games of the Letter-Carriers' Association, to be held at Lion Park on July 4. The features of the games will be a thirty-minute go-as-you-please race, for District Messenger boys, and a five-mile run, open to all, for the championship of America.

President George Burrell, of the Pastime Athletic Club, says that the games and picnic to be held by his club at Jones's Woods on June 4 will be the most interesting event given by the Club this year.

The members of the amateur clubs are interested in the proposed match between Joe Hasson and Billy Pilling. Hasson is a 115-pound man and is regarded as very clever.

The New York Caledonian Club's handicap games and picnic will be held in Lion Park on Memorial Day.

FROM THE WORLD OF LABOR.

The cigar-makers of Unger & Co., 417 East Seventy-sixth street, are striking for higher wages.

The bricklayers of Saginaw, Mich., are on strike for an increase from $3.50 to $4.50 per day.

At the shop of Packness & Heine the cap-makers went on strike yesterday for a new scale of wages.

Out of a total membership of 252,798, nineteen unions in London had 14,446 unemployed last month.

Bakers' Union No 93 has adopted a resolution declaring that politics must be kept out of the new central body.

Carpenters' Union No. 465, Long Island City, has adopted the card system and placed John Hogan in the field as Walking Delegate.

The strike of the organized tile industry of New York State for eight hours was indorsed by the Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union yesterday.

The Central Labor Council of Cincinnati has suspended the delegates of the Brewers' and Bakers' Unions for engaging musicians whose organization the Council does not recognize.

The boycott of the Birmingham (Ala.) Trades Council against several music halls has resulted in union musicians being employed. The boycott lasted about three months.

The striking upholsterers of Theo. Hopstatter & Co., have gained their point, as the firm will not work for any manufacturer whose cabinet-makers are on strike for eight hours.

Nominations for officers have been made by the Jersey City Framers' Union as follows: O. Temberg, President; H. Gausen, Secretary; Wm. Merkel, Vice-President; Frederick Klotz, Walking Delegate.

The tin and sheet-iron workers and cornice-makers of Chicago have demanded eight hours and 35 cents per hour. It is expected that 1,500 men will strike unless their demand be complied with. They are working ten hours at present.

The striking carpenters of Orange, N. J., had a mass-meeting yesterday at Central Hall, resolving to continue their fight for eight hours. The speakers were Edward King, Henry Porter, James McDonough and several others.

The Police Commissioners notified the Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union yesterday that they had referred the request for a more rigorous enforcement of the law concerning unsafe painters' scaffoldings to Supt. Byrnes.

Three charters were applied for from bakers' unions at Battle Creek, Mich.; Vicksburg, Miss., and Peoria, Ill., and they were granted by Acting Secretary Weissmann last week. The receipts at the general office were $389.50.

The Government of New Zealand, besides providing farms for the unemployed, furnishes them with railroad passes to their points of destination. In New South Wales, South Australia and Victoria public works have been pushed for the benefit o the unemployed.

J. S. Bradley, of the Jersey City Heights Union of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, has suggested as one of the best means to strengthen the organization an endowment plan, so as to pay $1,000 on the death of a member, and tax each member 25 cents per month to pay such benefit.

When Prof. Daniel De Leon presented his credentials as a delegate from Local Assembly 1,563, K. of L., at the last regular meeting of District Assembly 49 it was discovered that the document failed to state that his predecessor had been withdrawn as a delegate, and thus Mr. De Leon was not admitted. It is said that an effort is to be made to prevent the admission of this delegate upon technical grounds.

The Building Trades Section of the C. L. U. yesterday indorsed the strike of Eccentric Engineers' Union No. 1 against the non-union firm of Jackson & Co. The strike of the Cabinet-Makers of New York and Brooklyn for eight hours was likewise unanimously indorsed, and their manly action in carrying on their fight against the combination of the bosses was commended.

The United Hebrew Trades Unions have prohibited the cabinet-makers affiliated with them working at any shop where the men are striking for eight hours. A special Arbitration Committee was appointed to settle the differences among the members of the Pressers' branch. This evening new officers are to be elected.

The proposed combined strike of the Whitestone Association and the Reliance and Compact Labor Clubs of marble-workers against the non-union firms of Moran & Co. and Norcross & Co., of Boston, Mass., contracting for the Grand Central Hotel of this city, was indorsed by the Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union yesterday. The unions reported that their treasuries were replete and that they were ready for a struggle which would teach the bosses a lesson.

The so-called law Bovier-Lapierre, under which employers who compel their workmen to withdraw from labor organizations may be fined and imprisoned, has been adopted by the legislative bodies of France. This law was first adopted in 1880 by a vote of 378 against a small minority of the Chamber of Deputies. It then remained in the Senate, which rejected it. In 1890 it was again passed in the Chamber by a vote of 347. The Senate modified it, and this year it was adopted by a vote of 271 against 223.

Boss Bakers Morton and Wagner, of Detroit, engaged several bakers in Chicago to break the strike in Detroit. When the men arrived at the latter city, the bosses found out that they belonged to the Union and they had paid the railroad fare in vain, as the men did not go to work. Although the strike has been in the main successful, the Union still needs money for the support of the victimized, and the bakers' unions throughout the country have been appealed to for aid.

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor has issued a circular, signed by President Gompers, calling upon all Trades and Labor Unions of the United States to forward petitions to Congress in favor of keeping open the World's Fair on Sundays, the argument being advanced that "there is no idea nor thought for the desecration of the Sabbath," but that "the toiling masses have not so much leisure time that they can afford to have this wonderful Exposition closed to them upon one of the days in the week which will best give them an opportunity to visit them."

One of the pickets of Cabinet-Makers' Union No. 7 named Henrichs was clubbed by a policeman in front of Hildebrand's shops on East Sixty-fourth street yesterday, but he has been discharged at the Harlem Police Court. The Union will prefer charges against the officer. The framers on a new building at Courtlandt avenue and One Hundred and Fifty first street have joined the strikers. Five men were withdrawn from the shops of Hess, Klitan and Kimball; they all joined the Union. A proposition has been made to increase the assessment in order to pay more strike benefit. The matter will be discussed next week.

The boycott against Boss Baker Elhattan in San Francisco has been raised after a struggle of several years. Although he was backed by the Boss Association, Mr. Elhattan could not contend against the co-operative bakery established by the Union, and so he had to grant the demands of the latter. During the boycott a number of union men have been prosecuted for conspiracy.

HINTS ON HAIR-DRESSING.

What the Barbers May Do in Order to Keep Their Patrons in Style.

No well-bred barber ever shaves the back of a customer's neck. The clipping machine may be used, but with the greatest discretion, says the National Barber.

The form of the hair on the neck must be left natural. The barber must not attempt to give it any particular outline unless he can do it in such a way as to deceive the most critical observer.

Art, which is absolutely concealed, is good as nature, but art which reveals itself unnecessarily in matters of the toilet is to be condemned.

Cut the hair short in the back, but be careful in order not to make the back of the head look out of proportion with the sides, where the hair is long.

Styles change in the matter of hair-dressing, of course. At present longer locks are the fashion. It is impossible to convey to our subscribers the exact length that is proper. Figures can't do it. The length should vary slightly with the nature of the hair and the cast of the countenance. In a general way, don't cut the hair too short and let it be of good length upon the sides.

If a customer tells you to leave the hair long at the sides don't neglect to train it properly behind the ears. The long hair must harmonize with the short.

A gentleman's hair is parted rather high up on his head, but rarely now in the middle. The parting should begin at a point just over the inner corner of the left eye and run backward to the crown. At this point it has come to the exact median line of the head.

From the crown the parting extends about an inch and a half straight down the back of the head.

From the parting the hair is brushed naturally across the forehead. It must not be plastered down, nor must it be plastered fantastically back over the temple.

AND THIS IS LIFE!

Unable to Smooth a Death Bed for the Want of Two Cents.

"One half the world knows not how the other half lives," and it is fortunate on the whole that it does not. To take in all the suffering and misery there is around us a vast proportion of which even wealth could not alleviate, would drive sensitive and sympathetic people into the madhouse.

One such story as is told by the St. Louis Chronicle of a newly made widow would be enough for a day.

She was a pale-faced, tenement-house resident, with four little children. "One needs so many things!" she sighed plaintively. "One day last week I was out of coal and I sent out for a bushel, but I only had eight cents; the coal was nine. The coal man said he would wait until I could pay the rest.

"Then my husband wanted a sour drink. He had a burning fever, poor fellow, and wanted a lemon so bad"—she stopped her flying needle just long enough to wipe away a tear—there were other mouths to be fed—"but I didn't have the two cents to buy the lemon—and—I couldn't get it."

Then she broke entirely down and sobbed aloud with her apron over her face.

"Oh, it seems as if I wouldn't have felt half so bad when I saw his dear, dead face in the coffin yesterday if I hadn't thought how he wanted that drink and I could not get it! I wake up in the night and think of it until it seems as if it will drive me wild!"

Then she choked back the sobs and hurried on with her work.

The woman's earnings by making pants at 85 cents per dozen grow smaller with every moment taken for tears. But can you imagine it? A shortage of three cents to buy necessaries of life!

The lack of two pennies to get a drink to cool the fevered thirst of a loved one who is dying, making life a long agony of regret! Did you ever before realize the value of a postage stamp?

WHAT IS BEAUTY?

It Differs Under Certain Circumstances.

Attractive Plain Women—They Win Admiration Where Possible Beauties Are Unnoticed—An Important Suggestion.

"What is beauty?" asked a belle of her circle of admirers. "Why all women think they possess it," answered the cynic. "Ask your mirror," said the Frenchman. But the philosopher replied: "It is that which every lover sees in his sweetheart, whether she possesses it or not."

He was right. How many times have we said, while passing an unattractive woman: "What on earth did Mr. ever see in her? She is as plain a woman as ever I saw." Not to him, though. It means that there are different ways of seeing a certain object, and ending in it either attraction or repulsion. It was a wise observer who said that "unfortunately the world at large gives to health the chief rank and awards to beauty second place." Indeed, there are women on every hand who are looked upon as being exceedingly plain, who need only the magic touch of health to give sparkle to the eye, elasticity to the step, and vigor to the entire system, to enable them to take equal place with the more favored of the sex. It is also true that there are those endowed with every character istic of good looks save that of health, who pass their lives unnoticed. Health is therefore the great desideratum in womanhood. The causes of its absence are found in the great majority of cases in constitutional ailments which lower the natural powers of endurance, lack of sleep, exciting avocations, sedentary habits, and in the accumulation of fat, a weakened heart, kidney and liver troubles, or other organic disorder.

Mrs. M. A. Breneiser, who resides at No. 137 West 127th street, New York, has passed through a most wonderful experience, which should be of interest and value to all ladies. She said:

"A few years ago I was sudden's seized with an illness which I could not account for. My body was in constant pain and very sensitive, so that I could not bear the contact of any but the lightest garments. I became nervously so that the sound of a door shut would jarring that time. The physicians informed me that I could not possibly live, and my friends were called in to bid me farewell. I was almost on the embrace of death, when my husband sent for a remedy of which he had heard and gave me a small quantity. After taking a second dose a peaceful, restful feeling crept in to steal over me, and for the first time in several days I slept. From that time my recovery was assured. I grew gradually better until my health was fully restored, and I think God that my life was spared through the agency of Warner's Safe Cure. It cured me, and I know it will cure other sufferers."

This may seem to be a remarkable experience, and indeed it is, but there are ladies to-day who require a testimonial fully as much as did Mrs. Breneiser, and there is not the slightest doubt but they can secure renewed health, renewed beauty, attractiveness and life by the same means, she employed. Beauty and health go hand in hand, and there is nothing known to the world which can so aid ladies to the furtherance of perfect health as the great remedy above named.
