EXCHANGE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The stock market today was generally weak, Louisville, St Paul, Rock Island, Burlington and Distillers being most conspicuous. Distillers suffered especially, the supply of stock coming apparently from Chicago, and that stock again suffered the heaviest decline of anything on the list. The market closed at about the lowest figures of the day. Distillers lost 2⅛, Atchison 1⅛, Union Pacific, Rock Island and Burlington each 1 per cent.

San Francisco Market Review.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The vegetable market is quiet. The receipt of all kinds of vegetables except potatoes is light. The best qualities of onions command top quotations. From Los Angeles receipts were five sacks peas and three boxes tomatoes, and from Sacramento ten boxes asparagus and twelve boxes mushrooms.

The fruit market is very dull, and every line is overstocked. Apples receive no attention and oranges, of which the supply is abundant, continue to come in freely, eight carloads arriving today.

The market for dairy produce is without change. Butter is in heavy supply and light demand. California eggs are without much inquiry, and light eastern stocks are being cleaned out below cost.

A Mute Recovers Speech

Alphonse Hemphling, of Summit township, Butler county, Penn., made an affidavit that his twelve-year-old son, who had had St. Vitus Dance for twelve years, lost his speech, was completely cured after using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and also recovered his speech. Thousands testify to wonderful cures from using it for nervous diseases, dyspepsia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, headache, etc. Four doses of this Nervine cured Mrs. W. E Burns, South Bend, Ind., who had been suffering with constant headache for three months. Trial bottle and elegant book free at C. H. Hance.

Her Brother's Trousers Cloth.

"I don't see why I shouldn't have that piece of cloth for my new tailor made gown," said a young girl when her brother's new trousers came home from the tailor's.

"But it's for trousers," said her brother.

"That's no reason why a girl shouldn't have a gown of it, if she wants one," she answered.

It was a soft gray, with tiny stripes of a darker gray and a hair line of black running through it.

"It would make a pretty gown," said her mother, doubtfully, "but it is too heavy."

"It isn't any heavier than your Bedford cord. I shouldn't think of having it lined," said the young woman positively, "except in the bodice, and that with thin silk."

"It cost $3.50 a yard," her brother remarked.

"So does Bedford cord," she responded.

The result was plain from that moment; and the fact is that a great many young women have stolen masculine cloths for their street gowns. Many of the patterns are pleasing and refined in the dainty hair lines, fine stripes, soft colorings or invisible plaids that the man of good taste selects for his trousers.—New York Sun.

Driving Nails and Woman's Equality.

The last nail which is to be driven into the World's fair Woman's building is to be composed of gold, silver and copper from Montana, and is the gift of a woman. The hammer is to be an equally beautiful and representative offering from another state, designed, made, and presented by women.

But the real test of the equality of the sexes will be the driving of the nail by the president, Mrs. Palmer. If that precious nail be driven straight and undeviatingly to its place, if the sacred hammer does not strike the fingers of the woman who wields it, then the men might as well give up the contest and let women have the ballot, and the trousers, and the privilege of standing up in the cars, and all the rest of it. She will have them anyway if she decides to, and how much more graceful to proffer the favors than to yield them from necessity.

Contributions of a representative character are being sent from the different states and women's associations to the famous building, and the New York Women's Press club is agitating the question of presenting the door of the main entrance.—New York Sun.

A Novel Idea.

Some member of the Berean Mission Sunday school on Manhattan avenue has hit upon a novel idea in the way of a general birthday reminder. It has been a pleasant habit in the Berean Sunday school to endeavor to recognize in some graceful way the birthday of every officer and teacher of the school, but this endeavor was often frustrated by the natural modesty of some of the intended recipients and the equally natural forgetfulness of the other members where so many dates had to be kept in mind.

In order to remedy this and to make it certain that no one can by any possibility be forgotten, a reminder has just been printed on cards and distributed.

These cards contain the names and ages of every officer and teacher, together with the day of the month on which they were born.—Brooklyn Letter.

A Princess' Palm.

The Princess Mary of Teck, like most young women of high and of low degree, has been to the fortune teller. She believes in palmistry, and more than three years ago had her hands examined, not by a professional, but by a woman well known in society and famous for her powers as a chiromancist. Among other things which the latter predicted was that the princess' engagement would greatly depend on the manner in which she acquitted herself during the few years following (which have now passed), and that her marriage would raise her to a high rank, in which the greatest tact, care and policy would be required. The princess believes in palmistry now more than ever, and thinks of studying it for herself.—London Star.

Miss Ethel Mackenzie, daughter of the great throat doctor, is the London correspondent of a Chicago daily.

Kate Field treasures among her curios a lock of Browning's hair.

Princess Beatrice is writing a book on lace, to be illustrated by herself.

Queen Victoria firmly believes that objects made by blind persons bring luck.

The title, "Her Royal Highness," means something in the case of the Crown Princess of Denmark. She is 6 feet 3 inches tall.—American Lady.

Louise Michel.

Louise Michel is at present in London, having crossed the channel chiefly to consult some books in the library of the British museum. Here she may be seen daily working hard. Her face is large, heavily lined, worn and pale; suffering is there and signs of sacrifice; likewise the light of enthusiasm, which those who differ from her would describe as the indication of madness. With dress or outward appearance she has little concern, but her old, battered, black felt hat and her shabby black gown are forgotten at sight of her remarkable countenance.—London Star.

A Lady Coon Hunt.

A party of young women of Fulton, Mo., got up a coon hunting party a few days ago. The boys were rigorously excluded. The party started out with four dogs, two guns, two axes and a big basket of lunch. Early next morning the whole neighborhood started out to hunt the hunters, and found them deep in the woods, all sitting in a row on a log, crying dreadfully. They admitted that they got hopelessly lost in the woods within a couple of hours after the start.—Chicago News.

It Was His Quarter.

Mr. John Dyer, grocer and postmaster in Knightville, was very much surprised the other day to receive in payment for goods an ancient Spanish quarter of the date 1774. What most astonished Mr. Dyer was to know how this particular coin, which he had been treasuring for a long time as a valuable relic, had got into circulation without his knowledge or consent.—Kennebec (Me.) VOLUNTARY TESTIMONIALS

—GIVEN TO—

DR. WOH!

The Eminent Chinese Physician.

No Opiates or Poisonous Drugs Used in my Practice.

Herbs and Medicines of Absolute Purity constantly on hand and for sale.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease. Born in China, of influential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservingly renowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the Imperial Hospital, and in America for a long time his great number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons now prove him to be a remarkable and successful healer of sickness and all diseases.

DR. WOH:—

I have doctored with the best physicians of San Francisco for my heart disease, but received no benefit. Thirty days ago I was recommended to you and began your treatment, before this, I was twice completely prostrated in the public streets, but today I am a well man, and I thank you alone for my recovery. Respectfully,

J. G. SIMPSON,
537 Gladys ave., Los Angeles, Cal.
January 10, 1892.

For a long time I have been suffering with bladder and kidney troubles. No doctoring or medicines seemed to do me good. I consulted the best physicians and surgeons in Los Angeles city. They gave me morphine and strong drugs, but no relief could I obtain. After suffering great pain and anguish, and having my passage almost entirely clogged. I fourteen days ago began using Dr Woh's medicines: today I am perfectly well. I do consider Dr. Woh the most successful physician in Southern California.

In Cleveland, O., many months ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, terminating in asthma. The doctors said there was no hope of my recovery, but that a change to California might prolong my life. February last I came to San Bernardino and doctored with three physicians, but obtained no relief. Finally Dr. Woh was recommended to me by a friend. I took his medicines and followed his directions, and today I am fully cured and perfectly well. MISS GRACE M. FIELD,
October 30, 1891. San Bernardino, Cal.

I have tried many doctors for heart disease, but have derived no benefit until Dr. Woh, the Chinese physician, of Los Angeles city, prescribed for me.

Two months ago I began his treatment, and I can now certify that he has done me great good. I recommend Dr. Woh to my friends as an able doctor.
