HUMIDITY HAS THE CALL.

Less Caloric, but More Moisture in New York Air.

Outlook for Showers During All the Afternoon and Evening.

The relief which cooler weather to-day has brought to suffering New Yorkers is partially offset by the increased humidity, which in its way is even more discomforting than extreme heat.

The temperature in this city at 8 A. M. to-day was 75 degrees, and at noon it was only 77, or nearly ten degrees cooler than at the same hour yesterday.

In the same time the humidity had run up from 77 to 83 per cent. and was still increasing. This indicates that there will be more rain and showery weather for the rest of the day, with generally fair, clearing weather, with a still lower temperature to-morrow.

According to Local Forecast Observer Dunn, the weather continues warm over the Southern and Central States, but slightly cooler in the Middle Atlantic and New England States, and over the Lake region; also in the Northwest over North Dakota and at Minneapolis. The weather is generally clear, and there is no indication of a cold wave anywhere.

The probability, on the contrary, is that the present cool spell will be of short duration, for it is growing hotter than ever in the interior States, and a low pressure area has started in the extreme Northwest and is moving eastward.

The increasing death rate of this city, which is attributed to the damp, sultry weather, has begun to give the health authorities some uneasiness. Yesterday's record was 191, as against 260 for the day before. Of these, 65 per cent. were children under five years of age, and in most cases death was the result of diarrhœal complaints. Only one case of cholera morbus was reported yesterday.

TAKEN BACK TO BINGHAMTON.

Dr. McDonald Charged with Complicity in a Murder.

Dr. Charles M. McDonald, who is wanted in Binghamton, N. Y., on a charge of manslaughter, was turned over to Sheriff Ockermann, of Broome County, by Justice White, in the Jefferson Market Court this morning.

Dr. McDonald was arrested on a bench warrant by Sergts. Jacobs and Dunn, of Inspector Steer's office, Wednesday night. The arrest was made shortly before midnight.

The doctor was leaning against a lamppost at Tenth street and Broadway. He has been away from Binghamton four months. He refused to say where he had been staying.

It is charged by the Binghamton authorities that Dr. McDonald was an accomplice of Ernest Schoenrock, a merchant of that city, in poisoning the latter's wife. Mrs. Schoenrock and her husband, it is said, did not get along well together. It is also said that she carried a large insurance on her life payable to her husband.

Four months ago she complained of being ill, and her husband, it is charged, got a powder prescribed for her by Dr. McDonald, and told her to mix it with some water in a saucer and take it. Then he went away to a public meeting.

The woman, it is alleged, did as directed, and a few hours afterwards was found unconscious. McDonald was sent for, and after a tardy appearance is said to have put some more water in the saucer and to have given it to her. She died in a few minutes.

The powder, it is alleged, contained strychnine.

Dr. McDonald disappeared after the woman's death. He weighs about 250 pounds and is of swarthy complexion, and features that seem to indicate Indian descent. Detective Dunn recognized him from the Sheriff's description.

THE PESTILENCE IN EUROPE.

Spanish Medical Experts Say the Paris Disease is Cholera.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, July 14.—The report of the Spanish Medical Commission that was sent to Paris to inquire into the nature of the epidemic of so-called "choleriine" has been received. The report declares that the disease is Asiatic cholera.

In consequence of this report the Government has ordered that precautions be immediately taken along the Pyrenean frontier to prevent the introduction of the disease into Spain.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14.—Since the last report twenty new cases of cholera and eleven deaths from the disease have been reported at Simbirsk, on the Volga River.

BANK PRESIDENT DOBLER DEAD.

For Forty Years Identified With Banking Interests in This City.

J. W. B. Dobler, President of the West Side Bank, at 485 Eighth avenue, died at 3 o'clock this morning at his home in Ridgewood, N. J.

When Mr. Dobler left the bank last Saturday he was as well as usual, and intended going away on a three or four weeks' vacation. A telegram received from Mr. Dobler's son yesterday stated that Mr. Dobler had been stricken with apoplexy the day before. This morning a telegram announced his death.

Mr. Dobler had been identified with the banking interests of this city for more than forty years. He rose from a clerkship in the old Bank of Commonwealth, now out of existence, to be cashier of the Sixth National Bank. He was one of the founders of the West Side Bank in 1869, and until 1886 he was cashier, then becoming President.

KATIE HAD THE MEASLES.

But the Tenants Deny She Was Left Dying in the Hallway.

The tenants of the house 431 West Sixteenth street this morning indignantly denied the report that Kate Van Dorsen, a four-year-old child, was left dying in the hallway because she was found to be suffering from measles.

Mrs. Carroll, the housekeeper, told an EVENING WORLD reporter that the mother of the child had been dispossessed two weeks ago for non-payment of rent. Mrs. Kenny, one of the tenants, has been keeping Katie for her mother, and when the little one became sick last evening Mrs. Kenny sent for a policeman, who summoned an ambulance.

The surgeon said the child was suffering from measles. He notified the Health Department, and Katie was removed to the Reception Hospital at the foot of East Sixteenth street.

The Linta is 85 feet long, handsomely fitted up and one of the largest steam yachts ever built here. The launch was a great success.

DECIDED AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

A Lawsuit That Beats the Celebrated Case of Jarndyce.

Thirty years on trial, the principals dead, the judges dead, the witnesses dead—this is the strange history of the suit of Palen vs. Bushnell, in which ex-Judge K. L. Fancher as referee has just rendered his decision.

The suit was begun in 1862, and has been before two referees, John P. Crosby and ex-Judge Fancher. It was brought by William Palen, receiver of Terry Brothers, against Ezra Bushnell, executor of Edward D. Bushnell.

It was for the recovery of the value of 200 tons of pig-iron at $110 a ton. The transfer of this iron was claimed to be illegal.

During its dreary dragging through the courts the most prominent men have been witnesses, among them Fayerweather, Hoyt, Schultze, Loring, Andrews and others.

The most singular feature of the case is the mortality of those concerned in it. The Terry brothers are dead, but no trace or clue of the place or time, when and where they died could be discovered.

Edward D. Bushnell, the defendant, is dead, as are the bondsmen of Mr. Palen, the receiver.

Referee Crosby is dead and so are Judges Barnard, Brady, Clarke and Folger, who heard the case at various times.

Of the forty-eight witnesses all but two are dead. Of the many lawyers concerned John H. Strahan and Sanford and Woodruff are dead.

Nelson Morrill, who commenced the suit for the plaintiff, is still living.

The referees decision is in favor of the defendant on all the points. His counsel believe that the case is now finally settled.

SEE TO YOUR BUTTONHOLE.

And Keep It Free from Politicians and Full of the Newest Flowers.

The fashions in the "buttonholes" change very little. Sometimes there is a fervor for flowers worn single and au naturel, a fashion which French ladies are just now following in the bouquets they carry in the theatres and at dances and soirees. Again, the floral decoration by the fashionable man about town, says the Pall Mall Gazette, expands into a somewhat ridiculous posy, but on the whole the stiff little bouquets, composed of a brownish ivy leaf behind a rosebud, half a dozen Parma violets or a delicate orchid or two, hold their own.

According to the season of the year the violets and orchids give place to other flowers, carnations being the substitute of the expensive orchids and corn flowers taking the place of the violets and hyacinths. Sixpence is the average price for a simple buttonhole, eightpence pence that for a small orchid or carnation, half a crown secures three orchids and an ivy leaf or a Rothschild carnation. But when a new flower—such as a green carnation—is thrust into the market the prices may run up to anything, according to the folly of the patrons of such fashions.

A Strange Case.

[From Street & Smith's Good News.]

Mr. Suburb—Did you get the lawn-mower, and cut that grass this morning, as I told you?

Little Son—No, I was sick this mornin'. I thort I was goin' to die I was so weak; an' this afternoon I forget it.

"What have you been doing all the afternoon?"

"Playin' tug o' war."

Nothing Much.

[From Street & Smith's Good News.]

Little Bobby—Mamma, the boys is goin' to have a circus. May I act?

Mamma—Oh, I suppose so. What are you to do?

Little Bobby—Nothin' much. They is goin' to have a pyramid of sixteen boys, an' all I has to do is to stand on top.
