HORRIBLE FRATRICIDE.

Encounter Between Two Brothers in Columbus County.

On Friday evening, the 4th instant, a horrible fratricide took place about one mile from Cerro Gordo, in Columbus county, at the house of a woman named Zany Ballard. The circumstances, as near as we can give, are as follows:

Two brothers, the one known as Doctor Harrell, alias Suggs, alias Godwin, aged 14; and the other, Daniel Harrell, alias Gowan, aged 16, were employed at the saw mill of Mr. E. R. Hines, and had their cooking done at the house above named. On leaving the mill Daniel went to the house and was sitting by the fire, when Doctor soon afterwards came in. It was observed by the family that Doctor had been drinking, and that he had an open knife in his hand. Very few words were heard to pass between them, more than Daniel told Doctor to get off his toe. Doctor sized Daniel; a scuffle ensued, and Doctor was seen to strike Daniel about the time they went out at the door. Here they were separated by another young man who was staying at the place. Daniel was heard to exclaim, "Let me go, Doc; you have cut me." He turned, went back into the house, and died almost instantly.

The Coroner being informed of the affair immediately repaired to the place with a jury, where they found Daniel dead, with a ghastly wound some three inches long on his left breast. Verdict of the jury: "That Daniel Gowan came to his death of a wound in the left breast near the region of the heart, inflicted by a knife in the hands of Doctor Harrell, alias Suggs, alias Godwin."

Doctor was taken up by some citizens summoned for the purpose, some four miles from the place, and next morning was formally arrested by the Coroner and lodged in jail. No previous difficulty is known to have existed between the boys, and the only apparent cause for this tragedy is parental neglect, bad boys, bad women and bad whisky.

MARYLAND.

A Mourning Radical—The Negro an Element of Weakness.

From the Baltimore American, Radical.

We are free to confess that the result of the election in Baltimore, particularly in those wards embraced in the Third Congressional District, has disappointed us.—From the thorough and effective canvass made by our candidate, and the large attendance at our meetings, we had some reason to expect a different result. The tables of returns published in yesterday's American show that while the Republicans have gained largely in most of the wards, there was not a corresponding falling off in the Democratic vote. One fact will strike every one who glances at the returns, namely, the enormous disproportion between the vote cast and the aggregate of names on the registry lists. Either some nineteen thousand of our citizens remained away from the polls, or else the registry lists bear the names of that number of people who have no existence, or at least no residence within the city limits.—There is no more melancholy duty than that of giving reasons for defeat after a battle has been lost, and we shall not attempt to explain the disaster that has overtaken the Republican party in Maryland. Probably in some districts the vote may have been frittered away by internal dissensions, but still the fact stands out patent to all hat even with the addition of the colored vote the party is in a minority in every county in the State, alone excepting Anne Arundel, which owing to the thrilling energy and thorough canvass made by James A. Gary, Esq., has given a handsome Republican majority. The prejudice which is entertained against the voting of the colored people contributed more to our defeat than all other causes combined. The negro has proven to be an element of weakness and not of strength, and it will take time to educate the masses up to an appreciation of the justice of his enfranchisement.

Considerable interest is beginning to be manifested throughout North Carolina in the election of a Senator of the United States to succeed the Hon. J. C. Abbott—a Radical and a carpet-bagger. The responsibility of choosing a fit person rests upon the Legislature at its approaching session. It is regarded as of the utmost importance that the State should be represented in the Senate—where she has so long been without a voice—by one of her ablest and most trustworthy sons, and a just hope is expressed that she will not be deterred by the clamor of the timid and the time-serving from choosing such a representative as will be worthy of her old renown and better days. It was the misfortune of her sister State of Virginia that she sacrificed principle to expediency in electing Mr. Lewis to the Senate of the United States. He repaid the confidence reposed in him by deserting to the Radicals, and the lesson thus taught should be a warning to North Carolina. Governor Vance in the speech he recently made in this city, very justly said that it was the true policy of the Democratic Conservative party "to make square fight with Radicalism." This is no time for temporising. The battle for constitutional liberty must be fought out on the floor of Congress, and the men we send there must be of the right stamp to conduct the contest with ability. Holding these views, and appreciating the great importance of the trust, we are gratified to see that among those mentioned for the Senatorship of North Carolina, General M. W. Ransom occupies a prominent and probably the most popular place. It is claimed by his friends, and we have no reason to doubt the fact, that he is in every way suited to the position. He is unquestionably a gentleman of high personal character, a lawyer in full practice, a scholar of fine attainments, and one of the most polished and forcible public speakers in his native State.

From the beginning to the end of our civil war, General Ransom served with conspicuous gallantry in the Army of Virginia, where he was held in high esteem by General Lee, who warmly appreciated his many sterling qualities. Moreover, General Ransom, in common with several other prominent Confederates, since the war closed, has had his disabilities removed. There is, therefore, no impediment to his taking a seat in the Senate, and if he should be the choice of the Legislature of the State, there is every reason to believe that he would discharge with firmness and conscientious fidelity the high trusts thus placed in his hands.—Baltimore Gazette.

A National Medicine.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now-a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof So-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the ills that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medical preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown; but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement from all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver. In that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in their favor.—Extracts from the Muscatine Courier Iowa, Feb. 7, 1867.
