DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State Convention for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Governor, and Judge of the Supreme Court, will meet at 12 o'clock M. on Wednesday, July 14, 1869, in the Hall of Representatives at Harrisburg. By order of the Democratic State Committee.

WM. A. WALLACE, Chairman.
DAVID CALDWELL, Secretary.
April 14, 1869.

Andrew Johnson.

Ex-President Johnson, far from being dead, gives his opponents full proof of his vitality. The Radical press have lately taking to misrepresenting Mr. Johnson's utterances, which is the best proof that they have no other way of meeting them. His speech at Knoxville, Tennessee, as reported in the papers of that State, differs widely from some versions of it that have been current here. Indeed, there are few men whose speeches show greater vigor than Mr. Johnson's and many of his messages and State papers will stand comparison with the best efforts of the same kind that have emanated from any of his predecessors in the Presidency. At Knoxville Mr. Johnson thus defined his position:

"I stand now as I stood then, battling for the Union and the Constitution of our fathers, but where do some of them stand now? I told them that the true place to fight the battle was in the Union and under the Constitution. So I told Jefferson Davis when he left the Senate. After the battle of Bull Run the country was dismayed, and five thousand troops marching into Washington could have taken the capital; and to restore confidence Mr. Crittenden introduced a resolution in one House and I in the other, declaring the war was waged for the Union and the Constitution, and that the States had no power to secede. That they were not out of the Union, and could not go out of the Union. Well, we fought the war. We conquered, and the defeated bowed to the decision of war and renewed their allegiance to the government. Was not this all we wanted?

It has been said, and was true, that I had been maltreated, persecuted and insulted, and when I came into power the malicious said: Now he will carry out his own doctrines; his passions will be his guide, and he will seek revenge." Thank God! I am a man that, when fighting, will fight to the last; but when I have conquered, and my foe is prostrate, thank God! I have too much magnanimity not to lift him up.

* * * * * *

It is very easy for men to come in our midst and talk about rebellion, courage and Union, who, while the rebellion was going on, were not within the smell of gunpowder, but were in their closets or some secret place, and became war men when the war was over.

I could tell some secrets concerning the state of affairs. Here it was dangerous for a man to be a Union man; there, where these men came from, they dare not be anything but loyal. I should like to take up my sacrifices and compare with these neophytes.

Sentence of a Negro Fiend.

Some few weeks since, when we read an account of the ravishing of three little girls by a negro at Chambersburg, in this State, we felt rather inclined to the opinion that the story had been exagerated. The fiendish brutality attending the case was such as to make the mention of particulars disgusting; so that a simple short paragraph making the announcement found its way in some of the papers. We find the conclusion of this hellish deed summarely disposed of in another (brief notice as follows;

"CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., April 22.—Cain Norris, negro, arrested about a month since charged with ravishing three white girls, was convicted to-day and sentenced to solitary confinement in the Eastern penitentiary for thirty-five years. The trial lasted three hours, and the jury rendered a verdict of guilty without leaving the box."

STILL MAKING TREASON ODIOUS.—Grant has removed one of the most gallant Union Generals from the Governship of New Mexico, and appointed C. C. Crow, an unreconstructed rebel, in his place. General Mitchell, who is displaced, bears on his body the scars of no less than sixteen wounds received in the service of his country. In one of the battles of the West, General Mitchell defeated a rebel force under Crow, capturing a large number of his men. Now Crow has captured Mitchell, in the campaign which is being carried on under Grant. General Mitchell is a gentle man of high intelligence and the strictest integrity. He has made a most excellent Governor, and the affairs of New Mexico have prospered greatly under his control.

The strange part of all this is, that this means of "making treason odious" is heartily endorsed by the entire Radical press of the country. Now, suppose Seymour had been elected President and he had appointed such men as Crow and Longstreet to office, wouldn't there have been a lively howl from these same patriots? "Consistency thou art a jewel!"—Ex.

The Consul to Marseilles.

Mr. Frederick Coxe, of Philadelphia, recently received from President Grant the appointment of Consul to Marseilles. He is a director of the Union League, a man of means, occupies a high position in society and has always been "loil." He is one of those dainty ducks so greatly admired by the bon ton geese of the Quaker City. He has wealth, social position (i. e., as seen by Philadelphia optics), wears lavender kids, and his presence is redolent of the odor of that peculiar sanctity which distinguishes the radical moralist of the present day. In short, until lately, Coxe has seemed to Philadelphia eyes, to be a paragon of "loil" excellance, the incarnation of the attributes of a gentleman, and a perfect pink of Christian loveliness. He was one of the planets in the solar system of the League, around which revolved the lesser lights, and many a miserable lunatic felt a glow of pride as the sunbeams of the luminous Coxeian smile fell upon his opaque countenance. Fashionable society adored him. Mr. Whyte Kid thought him perfectly "chawming." Miss Arabella Honiton Hauton pronounced him "so nice and pious." So that to the olfactories of the Philadelphia "loil" aristocracy, his presence gave out

"Sabean odors from the spicy shore
Of Arabie the blest."

The politicians, too, admired Coxe, As many of them are "roosters," doubtless, "a fellow feeling made them wondrous kind." They, according, prevailed upon President Grant to give him an office. He was appointed Consul to Marseilles. We can imagine what a flutter this created among the Leaguers and in Philadelphia "upper ten" society. How the saints of Broad street praised Grant for his piety in selecting this eminent Christian to represent the government abroad! How the fat dowagers of the "loil" aristocratic circles smiled serenely at the thought that the President and the politicians are under the control of their social set! How Boker felt the divine afflatus raging in his breast, and how "Morton McMichael" gloried in the luck of his fellow fisherman! But the joy of the League and the exultation of the best Philadelphia society were, in this instance, suddenly terminated. The cup was rudely, almost violently, dashed from the lips of unsuspecting "loilty." Mr. Coxe, Mr. Frederick Coxe, Consul to Marseilles, Director of the Union League, was discovered to be the smallest kind of a thief, and was arrested the other day, while on his way to his house, with a box of stolen cigars under his arm! He at once confessed his guilt, acknowledged that he had been engaged in similar pilfering for years, and on consideration that the merchants from whose store he had abstracted the articles, would not push legal proceedings against him, he paid them the sum of $500.00. And thus the Union League and the haut ton of Philadelphia "loilty" have lost an idol and Grant his Consul to Marseilles.—Patriot.

Backing One's Friends.

The Scranton Republican is responsible for the following slashing onslaught upon the extravagant members of our Radical Legislature.

"What little shreds of virtue the Legislature has boasted, seem to have been mainly in the Senate. But they are few and weak at best, and make but a feeble stand against a determined cabel of corruptionists. The bold front which the Senate on Wednesday presented against the pasting and folding iniquity turned to base complicity yesterday, and the Appropriation bill was put through, carrying in its belly the whole crew of illegal pasters and folders—the Forty Thieves of this thieving session. There was no shadow of legal authority for the appointment of these twenty-seven fellows, and they have never earned a cent for the State. Paying them is simply bare-faced robbery, in which every member who voted with the majority on the Appropriation bill is a shameless accomplice. We shall print the list of Ayes and Noes as soon as we can get hold of it."

The beauty and strength of the above "opinion" are enhanced by its extreme truthfulness. But the Republican, and other Radical journals, advocated the elevation of the very men who are now so openly accused of robbing the people, while the Democratic press was warning our citizens against the corruption and extravagance which was in store for them. In the history of our State there has never been a more licentious and unscrupulous body of men brought together than that which compose the Legislature of Pennsylvania. Each day furnished evidence of the fact, and the people can form a just estimate of the characters of their legislators from such paragraphs as we have reproduced, from time to time, from the Radical papers. Thing must be peculiarly bad at Harrisburg when they offend the sensibilities of such journals as the Scranton Republican. But "when things are at the worse they mend," and we have reason to hope that the experience of the past will not be lost upon the people at the fall election.—Luz. Union.

ARE WE TO HAVE A FOREIGN WAR.—It would appear from the doings and sayings of the "powers that be," at Washington, that we are soon to engage in several gigantic wars with foreign nations. First we are to take Cuba from Spain, and to that end the Secretary of the Navy is fitting up all the monitors and other war vessels belonging to Uncle Sam, and in addition, we are told that the President has sent an agent on a secret mission to Cuba, we presume for the purpose of confering with the "traitors." Then again Old Zack Chandler, of Michigan, of "blood letting" notoriety, electrified the country, on Monday, in a speech in the Senate, in which he declares we must seize and confiscate Canada to satisfy our claims against England for damages done by the Alabama. Upon what meat do the Cæsers feed.—Ex.

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Tiers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Nicholson, Wyo. Co., Pa.

THE WYOMING METALIC PAINT HAS BEEN THOROUGHLY TESTED by competent chemists and first class MASTER PAINTERS, and ALL TESTIFY TO ITS SUPERIOR QUALITY. It has a GOOD BODY, MIXES READILY, requires BUT LITTLE OIL, TAKES TINTS, AND IS VERY DURABLE.

In view of the great abundance of material and the SMALL COST OF MANUFACTURING, and the SUPERIOR QUALITY OF OUR PAINTS the Company expect to supply the market with a BETTER ARTICLE and at CHEAPER RATES than any other company in the country.

OPINIONS OF PAINTERS.

The undersigned, a practical painter, hereby certifies that he has used most of the mineral paints in use for years past, and that he regards THE WYOMING METALLIC PAINT superior to all others for durability and finish.

Nicholson, June 27th, 1868.

PIERCEVILLE Aug. 25 1868.

O. L. HALLSTEAD, ESQ.—DEAR SIR: I have used the Wyoming Paint, and believe it to be the cheapest and most durable Metallic paint in use. It has good strong body, works easily, and requires but little oil.

Very Respectfully,
PERRY SPICE

NICHOLSON, Oct. 5th 1868.

O. L. HALLSTEAD, ESQ.—DEAR SIR; I have used and otherwise tested the WYOMING METALLIC PAINT, and am clear of the belief that it is superior to any other Mineral Paint in the country. It has a good color and mixes readily; but its strong and best features are its heavy substantial body combined with an extremely oily nature, in consequence of which it requires at least a third less than any other paints in use.

J. L. POST.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 1868.

O. L. HALLSTEAD ESQ.—DEAR SIR: I am a practical painter. Have been extensively engaged in the business for over thirty years. During that period I have used every variety of paint known to the trade, and without hesitation pronounce the WYOMING METALLIC PAINTS, the best I have ever seen. It has a heavy body, mixes easily and takes from a half to a third less oil than ordinary paints. It can be used successfully, either for cottage purposes, rough out door work, roofing, or as a fire-proof paint.

Respectfully &c.

O. L. HALLSTEAD ESQ.—Dear Sir: I have tested the Wyoming Paint, by using it in my shop and believe it to be superior to any other Metallic Paint in the market, has an excellent body, mixes readily, and requires only about half the usual amount of oil of other Paints. Respectfully &c.

O. L. HALLSTEAD, Dear Sir: I gladly add my testimony in favor of the excellent qualities of the Wyoming Metallic Paint. From practical tests I believe it to be superior to any other mineral paint in use. It has a substantial body, mixes easily requires but little oil and makes a handsome finish.

Letter from Mayor Hill.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Scranton Pa., June 23d 1868.

O. L. HALLSTEAD ESQ.—Dear Sir: Having made a personal examination of the properties of the Wyoming Mineral Paint, and tested it in a practical manner, I am convinced that it is inferior to no article of the kind to be found in the country.

Very Truly Yours,
E. S. M. HILL

TOWANDA, August 1st, 1868.

O. L. Hallstead, Esq.—Dear Sir. About thirty five years ago my father purchased a quantity of the Wyoming Mineral Paint, with which he at that time painted a building, and after the lapse of a Quarter of a century it is fresh and good. Better evidence of quality can hardly be required.

Truly Yours, E. REED MYERS

Scranton, Sept. 8, 1868.

O. L. Hallstead, Esq.—Dear Sir: I have used the Wyoming Metallic Paint, and have great pleasure in saying that it is superior to any other mineral paints in the market. Its heavy substantial body makes it durable for outside work, roofing and, and the readiness with which it takes tints recommends it an excellent article for cottage purposes. Altogether I regard it as the best paint in use.

Very Truly Yours,
DAVID BAILLE, House and Sign Painter
