The Democratic Campaign Fund Total is Now $33,528.56.

How the Fifty-nine Clubs Stand in the Banner Contest.

[From This Morning's World.]

HOW THE FUND STANDS NOW.

Grand total acknowledged in Yesterday's "World"	$33,476.96
Total yesterday	51.60
Grand total	$33,528.56

LET THE CLUB TOTALS BE SWELLED.

The Contest for the Ten Prize Banners to Close in Three Days.

Clubs participating in the banner contest have only three days more in which to send in subscriptions. The books will close on Saturday night, and the ten organizations which by that time shall have contributed the most to the Western Democratic Campaign Fund will receive the prizes offered by THE WORLD.

Although the time is short the present ten leaders could easily be displaced by some of the clubs further down on the list if their members only did a little hustling. No organization should despair, but from now on until the contest closes every Democrat should see to it that his club total is increased. The fund is worthy of loyal support. By spreading the truths of tariff reform among the farmers of the West splendid results will be obtained and Cleveland's election made a sweeping national triumph.

BLUECOATS SHOWED GALLANTRY.

They Bravely Stopped a Runaway Team in Yesterday's Crowd.

The most exciting incident of the daylight parade yesterday was the runaway of three horses attached to Engine No. 9. They ran through the easterly side of Union Square, round the corner of Seventeenth street and fourth avenue, and on to the corner of Broadway, where they were brought to a standstill by the united efforts of two dozen policemen.

To the latter too much praise cannot be given for their conduct in lining up in front of the maddened animals and blocking their further progress, just in time to prevent certain loss of life.

The horses took the bits in their teeth as they were passing Sixteenth street on Fourth avenue. Through the lines of engines and trucks the driver guided them with steady hand until they rounded into the open plaza facing the Everett House and the Century Building. Then, as he looked at the human wall which faced him at Broadway and Seventeenth street, he shouted to a policeman, "They've got the bits."

Policeman Edward E. Griffenhagen, of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station, who first heard the driver's cry, jumped at the bridle of the off horse and caught it neatly, but the galloping bay snorted and shook his head high in the air, lifting Griffenhagen clear off his feet. The animal slackened speed not a whit.

Then it was that the other policemen, all of Capt. Brooks's command, saw what Griffenhagen had done, and a score of them at once drew into line across the street. The officers stood firmly until the foam from the animals' nostrils almost flecked each bluecoat's badge, when they broke just in the middle of the line and in a jiffy half a dozen officers were hanging on to either side of the bridles. Then the horses were stopped, but the crowd was only twelve feet away and well nigh panic-stricken too.

In a few minutes all was quiet again. The officers deserved all the good things said about them.

Used Them All Up.

[From the Cloak Review.]

Wife—My dear, you haven't seen anything of all those Summer neckties of mine, have you?

Husband—Yes. I tied them together and used them to do up your hotel bills with.

Lots of Entertainment.

[From Truth.]

Tom Barry—Confound that girl in front of me! I can't see through her hat.

Penelope Peachblow (knowingly) — Just whisper to her that it's not on straight.

Jack Dashing—But then she'll fix it.

Penelope—But as it is on straight now she'll fix it crooked, and that is more fun than the play.

ROW IN BELLEVILLE CHURCH.

Sunday-School Superintendents and a Pretty Teacher Involved.

There is no end of trouble in the Reformed Church at Belleville, N. J., whose disagreement has got to such a pitch that Elder White tried to stop Brother J. Hardman, jr., the rubber manufacturer, from entering the church because of his alleged suspicion that Brother Hardman drank, and Brother Hardman resented this by shaking his fist under Elder White's nose with the declaration: "You're a liar!"

The row has been going on for some time. It began by a division of the church into the factions of Brother Brett and Brother Browe. The Browes were strongest, and Supt. Brett, of the Sunday school, resigned and Browe became Superintendent. Some of the pretty class teachers were still faithful to their old leader, and presently Supt. Browe charged one of the prettiest, Miss Katherine Bradel, with defying his authority and failing to show proper respect for him. He demanded her resignation.

The young woman spunkily refused, demanding that if she had sinned she be given a fair trial. Supt. Browe induced the teachers' meeting to vote to ask for Miss Bradel's resignation. Again Miss Bradel refused, and at another meeting, Tuesday night, she moved that the whole action of the former meeting be wiped off the record. This was lost by two votes.

It was at this junction that Elder White and Brother Hardman had their tilt. After the meeting the Browe faction yelled taunt-ingly as Miss Bradel emerged—"Here comes the martyr." The "martyr" says:

"I'll teach that Sunday school class till I have been confronted by my accusers and their charges."

A Matter of Necessity.

[From Tid-Bits.]

Cholly Sniffers (out with Dolly Dimple)—Pardon me for bowing to that shabby old codger, but I feel obliged to do it.

Dolly—Who is he, Cholly?

Cholly—He is the head of our firm.

Even Up.

[From Tid-Bits.]

She—A pretty time of night for you to come home!

He—A pretty time of night for you to be awake!

She—I've stayed awake for the last four hours waiting for you to come home.

He—And I have been keeping myself awake for the last four hours at the Club waiting for you to go to sleep.

Keep Off the Enemy.

A foe who lurks in ambush is a more dangerous antagonist than one who attacks us in the open field, and for whose assaults we are, in a measure, prepared. That dangerous enemy to health, malaria, must be encountered fully armed. Its thrusts are sudden, unexpected and deadly, and can only be guarded against with certainty by fortifying the system by a course of defensive medication. The surest defense against chills and fever, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is also an eradicator of the most obstinate forms of malaria which resist the action of ordinary specifics, and the virus of which remains in the system even when the more violent symptoms are subdued. Constipation, liver complaint, dyspepsia and kidney troubles are always relieved by this genial remedy.

There is ease for those far gone in consumption—not recovery—ease.

There is cure for those not far gone.

There is prevention—better than cure—for those who are threatened.

is that a suit by this Company is now pending against a dry goods house on 14th St., based on the ground that they have advertised and offered for sale goods which they have wrongfully endeavored to make the public believe to be Genuine Jaeger Goods.
