JANUARY AND JUNE.

A Chicago Millionaire Falls in Love With a Corry Maiden—He Proposes—Is Refused—Touching Tableau.

The passengers on one of the trains from Buffalo to Brocton last week were treated to a love scene of an unusual character. Occupying one of the seats was a fair young maiden from our neighboring city of Corry, and a gray-headed benevolent looking gentleman from Chicago. She was handsome, and not above twenty-two. He was on the shady side of sixty, with flowing white hair and beard, and a pleasant expression on his countenance. He had been in her company from Rochester, and the few hours passed in her society had again awakened the dream of love in his old heart. It was evidently a case of love at first sight on his part. With her 'twas not. But he told his tale—

"The money matters rest
On the lips that he has pressed
In their bloom,
And the names he loved to hear
Have been carved for many a year
On the tomb."

His wife was long since dead; his children had grown up, married and passed from his home. He was alone in the world. He had wealth at his command, but he longed for some companion to share it with him.

This was spoken in a low tone but sufficiently loud to be heard by those in the seats near him, and the words were conveyed from one to another until each passenger in the car was anxiously waiting the denouement. It is not often that a person is allowed to witness a love scene, much less when that important part of "popping the question" comes in, and these people many of whom knew how it was themselves, caught every word uttered and the excitement grew.

At last the important moment came. The old gentleman said: "Will you share this fortune with me; will you be my wife?"

Then spoke this noble oil maiden, "I cannot. I shall never marry save where I love. Your riches are nothing to me. If I loved you I would accept; but that I can never do, and must therefore refuse your offer."

This answer was told among the passengers, and the ladies, "Poor old man, how I pity you," and the gentleman said, "Good girl, you are the right sort."

But the old man still pleaded. He asked to be allowed to accompany her to Corry and see her parents. She declined. And then, in the low tones of love, he once more pressed his suit with all the eagerness and importunity of a youthful lover. But the maiden remained firm.

At one of the stations two blind children entered the cars, and the young lady arose, and going to them spoke in gentle tones of their affliction and strove to press some money upon them. Returning, she related a tale of her own narrow escape from a similar bereavement, and her sympathy for all who were thus shut out from the enjoyment of sight.

"Then," said January, "marry me and you shall have all the wealth I possess to use in making the lives of such persons more bright, and you shall be called the Lady Bountiful."

"I do not love you, and all your wealth cannot tempt me to give my hand without my heart," said June.

His pleadings were continued until the train arrived at Brocton, when she again refused to let him accompany her to Corry. His train arrived and they must part. He threw his arms about her neck and kissed her fervently, unmindful of the gazing crowd. Then springing upon the platform of the car he took off his hat, and with his white hair and beard streaming in the breeze and tears running down his cheeks, this aged lover blessed the fair maiden, and swore to see her once again.—Oil City Derrick.

Care of the Feet.

The experiences of a citizen of Wilmington, Del., are thus set forth by the Commercial of that city: "The Times urges that in Winter warm woolen stockings should be worn instead of the light cotton ones used during Summer, and for most people this is probably good advice. Yet, in keeping the feet warm, experience does so differ. Our attention was recently called to a gentleman of this city, who for twenty years has worn no stockings at all, having dispensed with them in order to keep his feet warm. He had been a sufferer with cold feet until he tried this plan, but he finds it to work admirably. He wears closely fitting shoes, buttoning well up to the ankle, and he carefully washes his feet twice a day, not necessarily, however, in cold water, the object being simply to remove the excretory deposits from the skin, and keep the circulation quickened. This is a case extraordinary, yet the gentleman assured us that others who had had cold feet in Winter have followed his plan with equal success."

Potent Love Powder.

[From the Syracuse Standard.]

A man had his wife arrested yesterday, charging her with assault and battery. The court endeavored to repair damages by urging a family reunion. The woman said no, she wouldn't live with him another minute; that she had ceased to love him.

Lady—"Why he's threatened to put love powders into the tea-pot, just to make me love him, an' I won't do it!"

Court—"Oh! that love powder business is all nonsense."

Lady—"No it isn't nonsense. I had a sister who hated a feller like poison, and he gave her some candy with a love powder in it, an' right off she couldn't bear that feller out of her sight! You can't come that on me. I won't have anything to do with him, and if you make me, why, I'll come up missing some day, that's all."

BALTIMORE young men never become President. A woman writes to them: "With all my woman's prejudice in favor of men, I must say that the young men of Baltimore are the dullest, the flattest and most uninteresting that it has ever been my fortune, or rather my misfortune, to encounter. Their conversation rarely ever ascends higher than the last party, the last wedding or the next ball. All their clothes seem to be cut out of the same patterns, all their faces shaved by the same barber. They pay the same stale compliments; they use the same slang, one and all."

NEW YORK.

THE CITY DEBT.

NEW YORK, January 4.—Mayor Wickham, in his message to-day to the Common Council, says: What the liabilities of the city really are I am not at present in position to inform you. He says the Comptroller gives a statement that the total debt is $110,187,980, but in addition to this there is a floating debt of from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. The Mayor adds that the time has come when the actual financial condition of the city should be definitely ascertained and published.

PRONOUNCED INSANE.

The detective who accompanied R. J. Dallas, the defaulting cashier of the Toronto Bank, to Canada, states that Dallas was examined by two doctors, who pronounced him insane, and he was committed to the lunatic asylum.

LETTER FROM GEN. CUSTER.

Gen. Custer, commander of the Black Hills expedition, has written a letter on that part of the annual report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs in which he refers to the expedition and effect upon the Sioux and whites. He says if the Commissioner had either truth or justice on his side he might furnish a plausible excuse for his conduct. The criticising statements were made by another department, but he has perverted the truth to the extent of stating in an official document that which is only not true, but he had no reliable information even upon which to base his voluntary misstatements. If the Commissioner will confine his attention to his own department and correct such evils as a conscientious discharge of duty might find therein, he will have no time left to interfere with other departments, much less to publish unwarranted, because untruthful statements concerning the official condition of others.

BEECHER-TILTON.

The case of Tilton against Beecher was called this morning in the Brooklyn City Court, before Judge McCue. Mr. Beecher and his counsel were present, but Tilton's lawyers were absent. Shearman, one of the counsel for defendant, urged that the case go on at once, as the counsel had a case in the Supreme Court of New York in which Mr. Beecher was pecuniarily interested. Judge McCue finally determined to call the calendar in the regular order, and directed the jury to be sworn in the case down immediately before the scandal case. At noon, James H. Drake, of Staten Island, who is going to Europe, appeared, and his examination was taken in the case. He testified that he was a grain exporter, and two or three days after the publication of the notorious article in Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly he met Moulton in the Produce Exchange and had a conversation with him in regard to the matter. He asked Moulton what he thought of it, and he replied that it was a falsehood and that if Mr. Beecher's career was not sufficient to give it the lie he was much surprised. This testimony will be received before the jury when empanelled. Beecher was in the court room again this afternoon with his counsel, but the case begun in the morning had not been concluded.

Owing to the engagements of one of Tilton's lawyers, the scandal case will not be called until 2 P. M. The jurors will be sworn in by fifties and any excuses which may be offered will be heard by Judge Neilson, who is to preside.

DIAMOND SWINDLERS.

Some time ago two men swindled a number of firms by false witness, out of sixty thousand dollars worth of diamonds. They went to California and an officer was sent in pursuit of them. He is on his way to this city with the men.

REMOVAL.

Rufus Hatch, managing director of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, has removed Charles C. Niedbur from the office of accountant and treasurer, on the ground of retrenchment. Niedbur has appealed to the Board of Directors of the corporation.

WM. M. TWEED.

The counsel for E. Delefield Smith, has received letters from ex-Judge John K. Potter and Geo. Ticknor Curtis, expressing their willingness to cooperate with him in his efforts to procure restitution from Wm. M. Tweed and others of the amounts stolen from the city treasury.

Nettleship, implicated in the safe burglary case at Washington, has returned to his home in Newark, N. J., after an extended absence.

Tennessee Legislature.

NASHVILLE, January 4.—The Legislature of Tennessee assembled at noon today.

The House was called to order by Neil S. Brown, Jr., Speaker of the former House.

The oath was administered to members by T. J. Freeman, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Judge John E. A. Davidson was elected Temporary Chairman.

After the first ballot for Speaker, it was suggested by Judge East, of Davidson, that in the oath taken, the clause to support the Constitution of Tennessee and of the United States had been unintentionally omitted, and that before proceeding further it be administered.

The balloting was suspended, and the clause to support the Constitution of Tennessee and of the United States was then administered to each member by Judge Jos. Guild, of the Davidson county Law Court.

On the tenth ballot Hon. Lewis Bond, of Hayward, was elected Speaker of the House.

The Senate failing to elect a President on the tenth ballot, adjourned until to-morrow.

For this reason the two Houses cannot meet in convention for the election of a United States Senator before Tuesday, the 19th inst.

Sentence Affirmed.

PHILADELPHIA, January 4.—The Supreme Court has affirmed the sentence of Ortwein, convicted of murder in Allegheny.

STOCKS—Have been weak and lower. At the opening Erie sold at 30a30¼, the closing quotations on Saturday being 28¾, but later a decline to 24¾ took place. The remainder of the list fell off ½ to 1¾, Western Union heading the downward movement. Stocks were dull during the last hour of business, and the market was unsettled. Western Union and Lake Shore were especially weak and closed at about the lowest point of the day. There were free sales of both these stocks, particularly Western Union. Pacific Mail was weak and declined to 36¾; St. Paul dropped to 38½. In the balance of the market there was very little change from the morning depression, except a rally of 1¼a½ per cent in a few shares. At the close the transactions aggregated 200,000 shares, of which 45,000 were Pacific Mail, 53,000 Western Union, 24,000 Northwestern, 9,000 Rock Island, 14,000 St. Paul, 13,000 preferred, 23,000 Erie, 21,000 Lake Shore, 7,000 Ohio & Mississippi, 5,000 Wabash and 17,000 Union Pacific.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC, AND MANDRAKE PILLS.—These deservedly celebrated and popular medicines have effected a revolution in the healing art, and proved the falsity of several maxims which have for many years obstructed the progress of medical science. The false supposition that "Consumption is incurable" deterred physicians from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients afflicted with it resembled themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a doom which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now proved, however, that Consumption can be cured, and that it has been cured in a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate ones) by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone; and in other cases by the same medicine in connection with Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one or both, according to the requirements of the case.

Dr. Schenck himself, who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed at one time to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and, since his recovery, many thousands similarly affected have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists. oodaw

The Mind Dependent on the Body.

Hypochondria is a far more common malady than is generally supposed. It has its degrees; it is true, progressing from mental depression, or the "blues," to mental hallucination; but they are all forms of the same malady. It is a significant fact that this mental ailment is invariably accompanied by dyspepsia and nervousness, and the fact that it readily yields to the alterative action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which are peculiarly adapted to the eradication of indigestion and nervous debility, proves that it originates in those complaints. It will then be seen how dependent the mind is upon the body for the preservation of a cheerful equilibrium, and also how readily the causes of mental gloom may be removed. There is no sane, or permanent way of shaking off a fit of depression brought on by indigestion, than by swallowing a dose or two of this agreeable medicine. sodaw
