NO MORE TYPHUS TO-DAY.

Police Station Lodgers Sent to North Brother Island.

No new cases or deaths from typhus were reported to the health authorities this forenoon. The outbreak reported yesterday came as a surprise to Chief Inspector Charles F. Roberts, of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, and his corps of inspectors, but they are not at all alarmed.

"We expect," said Dr. Roberts, "that there cases of typhus will crop out now and then, but we are well prepared and on the alert to cope with the disease at any moment."

Yesterday's outbreak, however, made matters more lively than usual about the Health Department to-day. All the inspectors were given special instruction by Dr. Roberts. The nature of the instruction could not be ascertained, but all the lodging-house inspectors were directed to report to Commissioner Bryant at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Shortly afterwards a general order, sent to all police stations to detain all persons who sleep in the lodging-room of the last Twenty-second street station house Tuesday night last, when Patrick Reilly was found there suffering with typhus, was a success. Sixteen of twenty-seven men who were there applied at the same station for lodging last night, and were promptly detained and sent to North Brother Island as suspects. Another one went to the Madison street station and was detained like the others.

SELF-WILLED MRS. MUNIER.

Her Husband Didn't Mean She Was in Love with Dr. O'Malley.

Has She Gone to the Doctor, Who Is Wounded in Texas?

Residents of the fashionable section of Williamsburg were busy discussing two news items this morning. There appeared in a Brooklyn newspaper yesterday an advertisement, stating that Charles Munier, jr., the stock superintendent of John S. McKeon's clothing manufactory, would not be responsible for bills contracted by his wife, who had left his bed and board. It was learned that Mrs. Munier left her husband's flat, at 56 Harrison avenue, last Monday night, taking her two children with her. She left a note, saying that she had gone South, and that her address would be Houston, Tex.

The Munters moved in good society. The husband is a son of Dr. Munier, of Willoughby avenue. The wife is a sister of Mrs. Dr. Andrew O'Malley, and Dr. O'Malley is a son of one of the wealthiest women in Williamsburg.

The sisters and their husbands kept house together until four months ago, when Dr. O'Malley and his family moved to Port Stockton, Tex. The doctor gave up a good practice in Williamsburg. He said he needed a change of air for the benefit of his health.

It was generally known that a coldness existed between Munier and his wife. She wanted to join her sister and brother-in-law in Texas, and people who discussed the disappearance this morning said they believed that Mrs. Munier left her husband because she thought more of Dr. O'Malley.

It was said that Munier had given his friends reason to suppose that his wife had transferred her affections to another, and John S. McKeon, the employer of Munier, was said to have stated that Munier had confided the true state of affairs to him.

A despatch from San Antonio, Tex., this morning states that Dr. O'Malley was stabbed and seriously injured by a Mexican horse thief confined in prison at Port Stockton.

The thief feigned sickness, and when O'Malley was called to treat him, the fellow drew a dagger and hacked at the doctor, who was rescued by a deputy sheriff after a desperate battle.

The despatch states that Dr. O'Malley has an ugly cut across the face, reaching from the eye and penetrating the nose bone, and some minor cuts. The thief was shot twice before he ceased hacking Dr. O'Malley.

Mr. Munier said to a reporter for "The Evening World" this morning:

"I have been misunderstood. I did not mean to give out the impression that my wife was in love with her sister's husband. She is self-willed, and she went away without my consent.

"My troubles are personal. Wanting people that I would not be responsible for her debts, because my business friends advised me to do so.

"The Dr. O'Malley referred to in the San Antonio despatch is my brother-in-law. I know nothing more of his being stabbed than is told in the despatch."

Servant Robs Her Employer.

Jena Schmidt was held for trial in the Essex Market Court to-day on a charge of systematically robbing Henry Reinehcart, of her employer. One bundle which she was caught carrying away contained goods worth $70, and in a room she occupied property valued at over $100 was found.

ESCAPED FROM THE ISLAND.

A Prisoner Takes Advantage of the Bridge Formed by Ice.

CITY ISLAND, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Cries of help attracted the attention of residents along the east shore of City Island just before daylight this morning.

Several persons who ran in the direction from which the cries came, saw a man struggling in the river. The fellow, who wore the garb of a Hart's Island prisoner, succeeded in crawling out on the ice before his would-be rescuers reached him, and immediately headed for the mainland.

It is supposed that under cover of darkness he took advantage of the bridge of ice between the islands to make a dash for liberty, and in his haste ran into an airhole near the shore.

The Montana Senatorship.

It is also stated that Beecher is not averse to voting for Dixon whenever it shall be needful to end the deadlock.

UNEMPLOYED MEN OF BRUSSELS.

They Make Another Parade and Threaten the Rulers and the Rich.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 19.—This city was the scene to-day of another demonstration by the unemployed workingmen, whose misery is beginning to make them desperate and ready for any wild act of lawlessness.

The Socialists are actively at work sowing the seeds of discontent and quietly hinting that force will have to be used if the workingmen expect to compel the Minister of Public Works to keep the promises he made to delegates who visited him Tuesday.

To-day a large number of the unemployed marched in procession through the principal streets of the city, clamoring for work. Many threats were made against the authorities and the rich.

THE LETTER WENT SAFELY.

Held $9,000, Was Prepaid for Registry, but Went as Common Mail.

None of the postal officials here has any idea how a registered letter, mailed here, containing $9,000 in stocks, came to be delivered in Hartford, Conn., as common mail.

The General Superintendent of the Registry Department says that no such letter has ever been through his department. He explains the matter by saying that the messenger who was sent to mail the letter, instead of bringing it to the registry window, simply dropped it in one of the boxes downstairs, and the clerks did not notice that it was marked for registry.

Such a thing has happened many times before, and when such a letter is found among the ordinary mail, it is sent up to the Registry Department, and forwarded in the usual way, provided it bears the requisite amount of postage stamps.

Then notice is sent to the person to whom it is addressed.

A record is kept of every registered letter, and no such letter as the one described appears on the list. As the letter apparently reached its proper destination, nothing more will probably be done about it.

The Scope here the headlines of the "Western Union Telegraph Company," but no one at the office of the Company this morning knew anything about it.

AUBURN AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

Now Charged With Selling Theatre Passes Upon False Pretenses.

John Frank Auburn who, the police say, is known to them as "Mug 867" in the Rogues' Gallery, and who, they allege, has done time in various occasions, having been recently released from Blackwell's Island, was held this morning, in the Jefferson Market Court, in $500 for examination to-morrow morning, charged with obtaining theatre passes on false pretenses, by personating a deputy sheriff.

Prof. Herrmann, J. M. Hill, George Lederer and other theatrical managers, before charges against Auburn. His name appeared on the court docket this morning by Treasurer Hirsch, of the Manhattan Opera-House.

"Yesterday," said Treasurer Hirsch, "Auburn asked Manager Lederer for a pass for himself and another of the boys' down at the Sheriff's office. He held a handful of summonses, where Mr. Lederer would have to see them, in order to impress him the more with the truth of his assertion that he was a Deputy Sheriff.

"Mr. Lederer made out the pass; but when it was presented to me at the ticket office, I thought I recognized Auburn as an old offender. After consultation with Mr. Lederer, I sent to Police Headquarters. Detectives Carey and Mulkeefand responded, and when Auburn sat down to the play last night he was arrested."

ALL AT SEA ON ANTI-OPTION.

Perhaps the Senate Will Vote on the Washburne Bill To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Senators were all at sea this morning in regard to the Anti-Option bill.

Yesterday a partial understanding was reached that the bill would be allowed to run along until next Tuesday; but that understanding appears to have vanished over-night. Many Senators on both sides of the Chamber were averse to further delay, and wanted to hit it out to-day.

Mr. Washburn is confident of passing the bill, but some of the opposition say that many Senators who voted with Mr. Washburn against hostile amendments will in turn vote against the bill.

Mr. White, who has been the leader of the opposition to the bill, said that he could not say whether a vote would be taken on the measure to-day or not.

Large Iron Ship Afire Off Panama.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The British ship Goodrich, from Liverpool, reports that on Dec. 27 it came up with a large iron ship off the Isthmus of Panama. Coal smoke was issuing from her hatches, and to all appearances the fire had been burning for several days and perhaps weeks. She is thought to be the Hawaiian ship John Ena, a new vessel out 152 days from Cardiff with coal.
