A NEW SONG OF THE SHIRT

By T. G.

O fellows! The inventive mind
Of some man milliner has saved
The lives of lovers of our kind;
For with the heat I simply raved
Until I walked right in a store
To get some polish for my nails,
And there—unblushing—say no more—
They showed me shirts without the tails.

Sport shirts, they said, and I'm a sport,
The sweetest things, O, Percy, say!
The comfort of them—to cavort,
Is bliss divine the live long day.
They take the place of camisoles,
With collars wide and devilish;
So colorful in graceful rolls.—
Wear one and you will get your wish.

I simply knew we horrid men
Were bundled up too much and so
I'll buy a combination—then
My B. V. Ds. will have to go.
We fellows know not what we've missed
—My powder puff has gone astray—
Your lip stick Harold, I've been kissed;
O! What will Mrs. Hudnut say?

Today I went out on the street
With my sport shirt and everything;
And one rough man said, "Ain't she sweet?"
— Another yelled: "For — sake, sing."
I think it's simply a disgrace (Sweet peas! my wrist watch nearly dropped)
A fellow cannot show his face
And powdered chest, and not be stopped.

HAUNTED

By Hildegard Hawthorne.

Have you a garden where you walk and see
The golden flowers of Spring
Crown the new greenery
With newer blossoming?
A garden all green growth and witchery.

And does the purple evening come for you
Slow star by slow white star,
Trailing its robe of dew,
With not a sound to mar
The peace, save bird-calls falling faint and few?

Ah, well, I have no garden for my feet
To tread! The walls of stone
Press on the bitter street
Where I drift by, alone,
Dreading the wolf's glare in the eyes I meet.

And yet, have you not sometimes turned your head,
Just bending to a rose,
Thinking you heard the tread
And stir of one who goes
Down old remembered paths—but now is dead?
—Harper's Magazine.

The newspapers all over the country are wondering if Bryan will accept a proposition made him by a leading film company. Tell us the price offered and we will give you the answer.—Seattle Argus.

If Harry Thaw never was insane, as many witnesses have testified, he should have been sent to the electric chair. He killed a man over a woman he now believes was not worth it. The worst he can get out of the present trial is the best of it.—Seattle Argus.

FIFE SERVICE

—Service is a beautiful word.

—But it is undergoing so much misuse and abuse that it will soon be in a class with "bargain," "biggest in the world," and other such high-sounding, but meaningless expressions.

—However, in the Fife Shop "service" has a distinct meaning and must be experienced in order to be fully appreciated.
