A Texan Gives Battle to Bank Robbers and Is Hit Thrice.

GREENVILLE, Tex., Jan. 23.—While passing the First National Bank yesterday, W. T. Ward saw a man in the doorway, and the door open behind him. He heard voices inside, and suspected robbery.

At the second command to stop, Ward drew a six-shooter from his pocket, and turned on the man who was following him. The robber fired and ran. Another robber fired at Ward, wounding him in the left thigh.

One bullet struck his left thigh, another hit him in the right breast, ranging downward and outward, and another lodged in his necktie. His wounds are painful, but not fatal.

When the bank was examined it was found that the safe door was blown to atoms and $10,000 in silver stacked at the east door of the building, but $150,000 in gold and currency in the steel chest was not reached.

The robbers were frightened away, and only obtained $780. They left all their tools behind. Twenty-five shots were exchanged between Ward and the robbers. Ward's nerve saved his own life and the bank's funds.

ANOTHER WHISKEY SLUMP.

Manhattan "L" Also Takes a Big Drop This Morning.

WALL STREET, Monday, Jan. 23.—The week opened with a renewal of the activity and excitement which characterized last week's operations at the Stock Exchange.

Whiskey furnished a big sensation right at the start. It broke nearly six points to 50 1-2, and many speculators were forced to unload. Large blocks were thrown overboard, and the stock made little recovery.

After quite a struggle the bulls succeeded in putting the price above 53.

The reason for the heavy selling movement was the circulation of a report that there is no chance of the passage of the Whiskey Tax bill by Congress.

The general market improved 1-4 to 1 per cent. owing to the receipt of heavy buying orders for local and out-of-town account. The drop in Whiskey, however, led to a reaction which was helped along by the dyed-in-the-wool bears and sold-out bulls.

Manhattan broke from 170 to 165 1-2. Hocking Coal from 22 3-4 to 18, and Consolidated Gas from 142 1-2 to 138.

The remainder of the list yielded only 1-4 to 1-2 per cent., and after midday a firmer feeling set in, with some recovery all around.

Transactions up to noon reached the large total of 310,000 shares, of which 284,000 were regularly listed stocks.

Explorer Chanler Writes that He Is Going Search for a Lake.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A letter has been received from William Astor Chanler, dated at Hameye, on the River Tana, Africa, Nov. 28, 1892. This was the starting point of the expedition on its exploration.

Mr. Chanler's health was good. He proposed, with Lieut. Hennel, to go in search of a supposed lake in the Northwest. They would be absent for two months on the search, and would leave a servant and ninety men to protect the caravan during their absence.

Margaret Foster's Fall May Also End Her Life.

A beautiful woman of thirty years, who gave her name as Margaret Foster, was brought in an ambulance to Bellevue Hospital early this morning, suffering from peritonitis, brought on by alleged unlawful treatment.

She was taken from 110 East Forty-fifth street, where she had been stopping since last Wednesday.

On the front door of 110 East Forty-fifth street is a plate, with this inscription: "Eliza Landau, Doctor on Obstetrics."

Mrs. Landau answered the bell when an "Evening World" reporter called there this morning.

"Miss Foster," said she, "came to my house last Wednesday night. She told me that she wanted to stay here only for a week, at the utmost. I had no objection, as I have a license to practise as a midwife.

"Last Saturday, however, Miss Foster had a chill. I then knew that she must have been taking something to get rid of her trouble prematurely. She denied this.

"Next day the woman had two more chills, and I sent for two physicians. They refused to come. I didn't ask the person whom I sent for these doctors' names, nor do I know where they live. I myself then went to Dr. Coakley's, at 125 East Forty-fifth street. He came at once and found that Miss Foster was suffering from peritonitis.

"He advised me to send the woman at once to a hospital. The doctor and I then went to the police station on Forty-fourth street and asked for an ambulance. We told the police all that we knew about the case.

"When we returned to my house with two policemen, Miss Foster made the statement that she had been taking pills all Summer at her home in Altoona, Pa.

"She accused a doctor of Altoona, Pa., of having given her the pills. She would not, however, say who was responsible for her condition.

"Miss Foster said that she was a teacher of physical culture in Altoona."

At the East Forty-fourth street police station the Sergeant said to "The Evening World" reporter:

"We have not made any arrests as yet in this case.

"Dr. Coakley came here last night and said in a straightforward way that he had been called in to attend Miss Foster, and, finding that she was suffering from peritonitis and blood poisoning resulting from unlawful treatment, refused to have anything to do with her until after he had notified the police.

"Mrs. Landau, the obstetrician," continued the Sergeant, "claims to have a license to conduct a lying-in hospital. We are inclined to believe that she tells the truth, although, of course, we will continue our investigation. The Foster girl did not admit to us that any physician had prescribed or given her pills. She said that she, herself, had taken them, without prescription."

Dr. Washburn, who has charge of the lying-in department at Bellevue Hospital, said that it would be necessary to perform an operation upon Miss Foster.

"She told me," said Dr. Washburn, "that she had taken pills to get rid of her trouble. I have not yet ascertained whether or not a criminal operation has also been performed.

"It is hard to foretell what the result of our operation will be. The chances are favorable that she will live.

"If I find the least indication, however, that she cannot pull through I will notify the Coroner to take her ante-mortem statement."

At the hospital Miss Foster gave the following description of herself:

"Margaret Foster; thirty years old; born in the United States; daughter of John and Margaret Foster; time of residence in New York, four days; teacher in Altoona, Pa.; friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, near Altoona."

To a question sent to her by "The Evening World" reporter she replied:

"I did not come directly to New York from Altoona, but stopped at a hotel in Harrisburg, Pa., over last Tuesday."

She would make no other statement.

DRIFTED FOR THREE YEARS.

The Message in a Bottle Picked Up at Bermuda.

Supt. Houghton, of the Maritime Exchange, has received a communication from a Government official at Bermuda, stating that a bottle had been picked up from the sea, near the Government dock, which contained the following message:

"This bottle is cast into the sea from the steamer Ville de Metz Dec. 18, 1888, bound for Brazil from Havre, while crossing the equator at longitude 30. We four young men old good-by to our mother country, France, and seek our fortunes in new lands.

"As tired of the struggle for fame and fortune in Paris and hope to make our names renowned in South American countries, should the finder of this bottle to whom chance may cast it in this way, send the message to the Paris Figaro he will do us a favor."

The bottle had been drifting about the ocean for three years. It must have travelled more than 4,000 miles, and was carried to the Gulf Stream up to Bermuda. The message was sent to the Figaro. The message was signed.

FRICK COACHING CARNEGIE.

Fearful of Interference with His Homestead Plans.

Among the passengers on the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II., which arrived this morning from Genoa, were Mr. Andrew Carnegie and wife.

There was a great crowd on the pier to greet returning voyagers when the Kaiser Wilhelm was made fast at her dock.

Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie and Miss Whitfield, Mrs. Carnegie's sister, were among the first to land. They at once entered a carriage and drove away.

Waiting to see Mr. Carnegie at his mansion, 5 West Fifty-first street, was Henry Clay Frick, the company lieutenant of the second capitalist, whose boast is that he never lost a labor fight.

To all reporters, Mr. Carnegie sent out word he could not be interviewed until after he had attended to private business, which would engage his time during the entire day.

The fact that Frick was on hand to coach his chief before the latter had a chance to express his opinions for publication, a formality in which he takes great delight, is looked upon as a neat move by Mr. Frick, who is quoted as having said that everything at Homestead was just as he wanted it, and would continue so, provided Carnegie did not "put his foot in it" after returning home.

Another Pittsburg man, who is in New York to greet Mr. Carnegie, is James B. Scott, who has charge of Mr. Carnegie's philanthropic movements in the iron city.

After the Homestead strike an effort was made by the labor leaders to prevent the acceptance of a free library Mr. Carnegie had offered to build the city at a cost of $400,000.

It was reported that Carnegie would withdraw the offer. Scott is supposed to be on hand to argue against the withdrawal.

BELIEVES CALLAN FREE, TOO.

Egan Says his Fellow-Convict Was Invisible at Portland.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—James Francis Egan, the alleged dynamite conspirator, who was released from penal servitude at Portland Prison on Saturday, telegraphed to-day to Timothy Healy, M. P. for South Louth:

"John pulled me through Portland Gate on Saturday. I will see you in Dublin before the end of the week."

Healy telegraphed back: "Heartiest my hearty congratulations. Welcome to freedom."

It is believed that Dynamiter Callan was released from Portland Prison some days ago. Egan says that Callan had not appeared in the prison chapel for several days, that he cell usually occupied by him was empty and that he was not in the hospital. Egan is of the opinion that Callan was released quietly and given a free berth to America.

The John alluded to in the above despatch is John Barry, M. P. for South Wexford, who went to Portland and met Egan at the prison, accompanying him to Birmingham.

Egan was sure of a hearty welcome at his home, where his wife had been waiting many years for his release. A correspondent who recently called upon Mrs. Egan describes her as carrying on a Boarding business near the house in which the sensational drama was enacted, having, as she stated with a touch of pride, lived down prejudice.

The correspondent found her a firm believer in her husband's innocence. She said: "I should be hardly surprised to see Mr. Egan walk in any day. In of his last letters he told me not to go and meet him, but to wait till he came quietly home."

SENT $400 TO GREEN-GOODS MEN.

Brosius Wanted to Sue the Express Company When His Box Arrived.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 23.—H. Brosius, one of the oldest business men of this city, sent $400 to Charles Warren, of 7 Albany street, New York, to get $5,000 worth of counterfeit money that would defy detection.

An express package was delivered to Brosius last Tuesday. On opening it the victim found it stuffed with waste paper, on the top of which was half a sheet of note-paper, bearing the words: "We know this package."

Brosius supposed the package had been robbed in transit, and rushed to the express office, where he threatened to bring suit to recover the amount.

SELLING COAL BELOW COST.

346 Customers This Morning at Mr. Strauss's.

The charitable enterprise of Park Commissioner Nathan Straus in furnish coal to the poor people of the city at cost price is proving both popular and successful.

Although not so many people as were expected came to buy coal yesterday at the market, which has been established at the foot of East Third street, a rushing business was done between 9 o'clock and noon, and the falling off after that is attributed to the fact that most of the people in the tenement-house neighborhood had not learned of the opportunity which was offered them.

Still, they came here all directions, provided with all sorts of receptacles, and for a time the storekeeper had all they could do to keep the crowd moving.

The dealers had five basket measures, containing 20, 40, 60, 80 and 100 pounds respectively, which they sold at 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents, respectively, represented by a different colored ticket, which was presented by the purchaser.

Mr. Straus has contracted to purchase 5,000 tons of coal, which will be dispensed on the following terms: Tickets will be issued at the following stations, and he will be ready to open also other stations on the west side, some where between Canal and sixteenth streets on the North River, in the order of demand: Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday. Mr. Straus is thoroughly familiar with the wants of the poor, and knows that few poor people can come and buy.

Tickets will be given out on hand at an early hour, and it was feared that the news of the opening would leak out. Two canal-boats, each containing four tons of coal, are now moored to the wharf, and a big mule has already been moved to their cargoes.

John Snader is the manager of this floating coal yard. William Green, as cashier, and Thomas Burke and two other men to wait on customers.

These three shovellers were very busy today, and they will have a church man at work to-morrow. There were 346 customers between the hours of opening the new little office on the pier and 1 o'clock.

They were all customers, every one of the 346. They were poor men, young men, boys, women and girls. They came from as far away as Fourteenth street, north, and Allen street, south.

They brought bags, baskets, pails, barrels, wheelbarrows, children's toy carriages, handcarts and every other conceivable vehicle the human mind could think of for carrying away the coal.

On the last customers 150 bought forty pounds apiece for 20 cents, as the bright red tickets on Cashier Green's spindle showed. There were 100 who could but buy 20 cents worth of the coal, and 50 who forty bought twenty-pound baskets, thirty took 60 cents worth each and twenty-six took 100 pounds each, paying 25 cents for the last.

Nobody has yet called for the highest priced coal to be had at this yard—400 pounds for $1.

Some youngsters have established themselves as common carriers and considerable profit is made and Alec Goldberg, showing excellent energy in the business.

He had drummed up twenty customers this morning, delivering to each of them 40 cents worth of coal, for which he charged 50 cents a ticket for delivery, his sturdy donkey being matched cart and his sturdy limbs.

The idea of coal coming in a big success. The people on the east side show their lively appreciation, and business is increasing daily.

No protest has been made against the coal peddlers taking away any other labor organization, and the men on the pier say they do not see how any labor organization can find fault with an effort to lighten the burdens of the poorest of laboring people.

The coal goes at the rate of $5 a ton, while the customers say that they pay for the grocer or peddler from to 7 to 10 cents a pail, which is at the rate of from $7 to $10 a ton.

Truck Driver Killed.

George Davis fell from his truck in James slip, this morning, the wheel passing over his head. He was removed to Chambers Street Hospital, where he died in a short time. Davis was twenty-six years old and lived at 5 Leroy street.

LAND AND SEA QUARANTINE.

But the National System Not to Have Supremacy over the State's.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The House this morning continued the consideration of the Quarantine bill, and adopted an amendment by Mr. Warner (Dem., N. Y.) extending the quarantine to land boundaries.

An amendment prohibiting interference between States was rejected.

An amendment offered by Mr. Brosius (Rep., Pa.), giving the National quarantine supremacy in cases where it exists at the same place with State quarantine, was rejected.

THEY ARE NOT QUARRELING.

Rapid Transit Commissioners Deny Current Rumors.

Rumors were current to-day that the Rapid Transit Commission had split up into two hostile factions, one led by Mr. Steinway and the other by Mr. Spencer, over the question of giving increased facilities to the Manhattan Railway Company.

This was denied very emphatically by several members of the Commission.

Mr. Bushe said that there was not the slight ground for any such rumor.

In regard to the absence of Mr. Steinway at the last meeting Mr. Bushe said that it was due entirely to his colleague's indisposition.

Mr. Spencer and Mr. Inman both declared that the commissioners were all working in harmony, and that there was not the slightest danger of a split in the board.

At the meeting to-morrow it is expected that the protest of the property-owners along the Boulevard and Broadway will be presented.

REPORT ON NORTHERN PACIFIC.

It is Believed to Deal Harshly with the Villard Management.

The Investigating Committee of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company will confer with President Oakes and a Committee of the directors of the Company to-day. The Committee's report is ready for distribution, and its secret presentation to the Northern Pacific officials was considered due as a matter of courtesy.

The Committee have obtained a list of the stockholders of the Committee, and a copy of the report will be sent to each one of them. It is understood that the report deals rather harshly with the Villard management in the matter of the purchase of the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern and the Canadian roads.

The Committee speaks favorably of the financial condition of the property, and commend the conduct of the road by President Oakes. It is not unlikely that some changes in the executive and directorate of the Northern Pacific will follow the publication of the report.

MORE GOLD GOING TO-MORROW.

The Steamship Dresden Will Take Out Nearly a Million.

The steamship Dresden, sailing for Europe to-morrow, will take $[illegible] in gold for Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., and $[illegible] for Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.

The Bank of France is again allowing gold to be taken out in transit. The gold taken out by La Champagne was allowed the interest.
