Tammany Braves Off to the Inauguration

Nine Trainloads of Democrats to Honor Cleveland and Stevenson.

Scenes at the Depots at the Departure of the Trains.

"Tammany's March to Victory" began this morning when the 3,000 braves who will assist at the inauguration of Cleveland and Stevenson started for Washington.

Famous Mr. Dunn, of the Equitable Building, provided beautiful weather for the start, but Mr. Brennan, who stayed at home to look after the streets, evidently decided to wait until the Indians got away before he would clean the pavements. The streets were dirty, as usual, and in bad condition for marching.

The different district organizations started early from their headquarters for the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio depots, where the start was made. About one half of the Tammany men went by the Baltimore and Ohio Road, and the others went by way of the Pennsylvania.

They began to arrive at the depots singly and in groups. They were easily distinguished from the rest of the travellers by their shiny silk hats. Alike white blue coats and trousers of dark material were the uniform outfits. Some of the organizations carried canes, others umbrellas. All wore kid gloves. It was the biggest and finest body of men Tammany ever turned out on a ceremonial occasion.

At the Pennsylvania Depot in Jersey City, Section A was the first to receive its quota of passengers. Next came the Oriental Club, which had a special train of its own. Its members came 200 strong, under the leadership of Congressman Timothy J. Campbell. They wore gorgeous badges of blue and gold. If the train of the Orientals should be snowbound for a week they would neither starve nor die of thirst. The Orientals were fortunate in the selection of the commissary.

Mr. Campbell himself looked after what he called their "refreshments" and precious weight it was. There were dozens of cases of champagne, whiskey and beer, large juicy hams and rumps of corned beef.

The Orientals' train and the first section of the Tammany trains rolled out of the depot at 10.15.

Police Justice Divver was in charge of the Wigwam train, which carried the braves of the second, Fourth and Seventh Districts, in charge, respectively, of Aldermen Brown, Senator Ahearn and William Fiske.

Their commanders included James Divver, James Mackey, Francis J. O'Connor, John Sullivan, Senator W. L. Brown, Jacob Pelser, William Smith, Charles Auffarth, Edward Copper and Martin Galvey.

It took twelve trucks and two large express wagons to carry the supplies to the trains.

"No Democrat shall want for anything," said Justice Divver, referring of course to the wet goods and not officers.

All the trains were on their way by 11 o'clock. Section B was in command of Assemblyman Timothy Joy Dollar Sullivan. This section included the patriots from the Third, Sixth, Sixteenth and Twenty-first districts. Among them were Thomas Leamy, Walter Keech, Thomas J. Doran, Quarantine Commissioner Charles F. Allen, William J. Duggett, James Kerr, Charles Brown, Peter Ledwith, Michael Burke, Nelson Smith, Charles A. Jackson, Police Commissioner James J. Martin, J. A. V. Arnold, Barton Weeks, Walter Storms, ex-Judge Spencer and Charles J. Doran.

The first special inauguration train to leave the New Jersey Central station in Jersey City this morning was that which is to carry President-elect Cleveland and his party to the Capital. It left the big depot at 9.10 o'clock for Lakewood, where the Presidential party was to be taken on at 12.30.

The train was drawn by Engine 386. It was in charge of Engineer George B. Houston and Conductor A. B. Prawl, and consisted of the special coaches Baltimore, Oriental and Monmouth with one ordinary coach.

On the train were Col. and Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont, Gen. and Mrs. Don M. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Benedict and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Williams, Miss Williams and Private Secretary O'Brien.

The first two of the four Tammany trains on the B. & O. Railroad, left the Jersey Central station at 10.20 sharp. All the trains were composed of Jersey central and Philadelphia and Reading cars, seven each to a train, and loaded down with plenty of wet-goods as well as more substantial sustenance to keep the braves from starving or thirsting on their long ride to Washington.

It is estimated that fully 2,000 braves took the journey via the Baltimore and Ohio. All of them wore shiny silk hats of the latest block, boutonnieres and brilliant shines on their boots.

Their hand baggage varied in size from the smallest 4x12-inch grips to handbags of the dimensions of theatrical trunks.

Train A was in charge of Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan and carried the braves from the First District, under Daniel E. Finn; those from the Thirteenth, under Louis Munzinger, and those from the Fifteenth, under ex-Assemblyman William G. Byrne.

Train B was under the control of John E. Donnelly, with the Fifth's Indians under Patrick Farley, the Ninth's under John P. Haley and the Tenth's under Mr. Donnelly's own leadership.

Train C, which left at 10.53, was under Police Justice Daniel F. McMahon's direction.

In the first two cars were 125 men from the Twelfth District, under Charles F. Murphy, and almost the entire Anawanda club.

Third and fourth cars carried ninety-five men from the Twenty-first, under George E. Best, including ex-Judge D. O. Desar, City Marshal Engelhardt and Inspector of Weights and Measures Michael S. Kelly.

In the fifth and sixth cars were 100 braves from the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Assembly Districts, under Paul Jones. Among them were County Clerk Henry D. Purroy, Coroner Shea, Street Commissioner Louis J. Heintz, Assistant Fire Marshal McGrath and Alderman Peter Gechs.

The seventh car contained sixty Thirtieth District men under James J. Berry, Fire Marshal Mitchell, Chas. A. Sorenson, John N. Dempsey, Owen Flanigan, Police Justice Chas E. Simms, Jr., and his father were among them.

Three of the Races Apt to Be of Interest—Betting.

The entries to the six events at Gutenburg to-day are quite liberal, yet they are not of the class that racegoers like to see struggle for purses. Nevertheless, those entered to-day may furnish some interesting sport.

I. O. U., Gray Rock, Ville Marie, Bon Voyage, Salisbury and Lucy Clark ought to go well, at five and a half furlongs, in the third race and Kirkover, Virgie, Fagot, Marguerite and McMurtry should make an interesting race at six and a half furlongs.

The closing event is at a mile, and as it has Stonington, Eleanor, Firefly, Peralto, Xenophon and Allan Bane entered, it ought to prove a good contest.

The track will be soft and deep.

The entries and selections, together with the betting as quoted in the poolrooms this morning, are:

First Race—Purse $400, of which $50 to second and $25 to third; for maidens; five furlongs.

Honeymoon	94	8 to 1 and 3 to 1
Willie Morton filly	105	5 to 1 and 2 to 1

The writer will not attempt to select a winner in this race. There are several new ones entered, and either of them may do the trick.

Second Race—Purse $400, of which $50 to second and $25 to third; for maiden horses; the winner to be sold at auction; five furlongs.

	Weight.	Betting.
Glitter II	108	3 to 1 and even

Midget looks to have a good chance to win this event. Bolivar may get the place, and Narbonne colt should beat the others.

Third Race—Purse $400, of which $50 to second and $25 to third; the winner to be sold at auction; five and a half furlongs.

	Weight.	Betting.
I. O. U.	115	2 to 1 and 4 to 5

Lucy Clark	96	3 to 2 and 4 to 5
Avery	95	10 to 1 and 4 to 1

Lucy Clark and Salisbury look to have this race between them, and they may finish as named. Ville Marie should beat the others.

Fourth Race—Purse $500, of which $50 to second and $25 to third; for maiden two-year-olds; three furlongs.

	Weight.	Betting.

J. Bird	98	10 to 1 and 4 to 1
Nocturn	88	2 to 1 and even
Unfaithful	96	7 to 5 and 1 to 2

Nocturn and Unfaithful seem the best of the lot in this race. The former should win. Barbiche gelding ought to be third.

Fifth Race—Purse $400, of which $50 to second and $25 to third; winner to be sold at auction; six and a half furlongs.

	Weight.	Betting.

Xenophon	100	2 to 1 and 4 to 5
Eleanor	87	4 to 1 and 7 to 5

Xenophon looks the likely winner in this race if he runs up to the form display by him in his last race. Firefly ought to be second, and Stonington third.

NEW YORK FEDERAL OFFICES.

Republican Placeholders' Resignations Already Filled Out.

Speculation as to Successful Applicants for the Positions.

It has been a long wait for Democrats. Republicans who were on the waiting list four years ago know how it is. They were eager, when it came their turn, for the Cleveland office-holders to get out, and they are courteously ready to let the victors take their places as soon as Mr. Cleveland has made his selections. The resignations of the leading Republican Federal officials will be sent to Mr. Cleveland next Saturday, and the distribution of political plums will be begun by him at once.

The most important appointment in this city will be that of Collector of the Port. That office pays a salary of $6,000 a year. The resignation of Collector Hendricks is one of the first official documents that President Cleveland will receive. It is whispered that Mr. Cleveland's choice for the place is ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild. William A. Poucher, of Oswego, one of the most enthusiastic Anti-Snapper leaders in the State, and Senator Charles P. Mecklenburg, of Westchester County, who was Special Deputy Collector under Collectors Magone and Erhardt; Joseph J. O'Donohue and Hans S. Beattie are also spoken of.

Sub-Treasurer Hedden's friends is also prepared to surrender his office. He is going to take the presidency of a bank.

Charles Davis, of Binghamton, formerly Deputy Collector under Hedden and Magone, would like to be Surveyor of the Port, and ex-Naval Officer John W. Hunt is trying to win for his old place.

The Anti-Snappers have a candidate for every place, but, as announced in "The Evening World" yesterday on the authority of a politician who knows, the distribution of patronage is not to go by factions. Tammany will get some of the offices, probably the United States District-Attorneyship, United States Marshal and one of the Internal Revenue Collectorships.

Excise Commissioner W. S. Andrews, who is said would like the place of Collector Kerwin.

Candidates for Appraiser are keeping in the background.

Peter B. Olney is the Anti-Snapper favorite for District-Attorney, and ex-Police Justice Maurice J. Power, the leader of the County Democracy, for Postmaster.

Col. Robert Grier Monroe, Secretary of the Anti-Snapper organization, is ambitious to be a deputy Cabinet official. He and Assemblyman Dwight Morgan, of Ogdensburg, are mentioned for Assistant Secretaries of the Treasury.

Robert Maxwell, of Batavia, is given by common consent the First Assistant Postmaster-Generalship. The First Assistant Postmaster-General no longer be the axeman. The Fourth Assistant will be assigned to duty as the Administration headsman. Who the Fourth Assistant will be under Mr. Bissell is a matter of speculation. Vice-President-elect Stevenson was the official executioner during Mr. Cleveland's first term.

There is a report that Frederic R. Coudert is Mr. Cleveland's choice for Minister to France. Mr. Coudert will leave for Europe next week to participate in the Behring Sea arbitration, and if he is willing, according to the best information, his credentials as Minister to the French Republic will follow him.

ONE SAT DOWN IN THE SNOW.

Outcome of an Encounter Between an Actor and a Manager.

Broadway theatre-goers were treated to a spectacular encounter between two lights of the profession last evening, the rumpus, it is said, growing out of a recently instituted action for divorce.

The contentious ones were F. Charles Gayler, son of the late Charles Gayler, the playwright, and Actor Charles Butterfield. Mr. Gayler was entering Palmer's Theatre, escorting a young lady, when Butterfield passed. Gayler left his companion to follow Butterfield. At Thirty-fourth street Gayler overtook Butterfield, and in two minutes a crowd of half a hundred had seen it all. Probably the greatest injury was done to Butterfield's dignity, for by a pushing blow Gayler had forced him to sit down on a heap of dirty snow.

Butterfield rehabilitated his dignity a little afterwards by refusing to discuss the affair. Gayler accuses Butterfield of ingratitude for favors received and decrines that his stories have had much to do with Mrs. Gayler's suit for separation.

STABBED WHILE PLAYING CRAPS.

Colored Men Quarrel and One of Them Has a Rib Severed.

Richard Webster, colored, is lying in Harlem Hospital this morning with a stab wound in the right arm and another in the side which severed the seventh rib, the result of a game of "craps."

Andrew Frederick accompanied Webster to the hospital. Later Frederick was arrested as a suspicious person.

He said that Webster and some other colored men, including himself, were "shooting craps" at 76 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street, where they live, when Charles Lewis got into a row with Frederick and pulled a "black jack." Then Frederick threw a pail of hot water and Webster took a hand in the fight, a general scrimmage ensuing in which Frank Harris pulled Webster out into the hall, stabbed him and ran away.

Frederick was remanded by Justice Simms, in the Harlem Police Court, this morning.

Good Government Club A.

Justice Andrews, in Supreme Court, has approved the articles of incorporation of "Good Government Club A," whose object is announced to be "to promote social intercourse among people specially interested in the good government of the city of New York, . . . and to take such action as may tend to the honest, efficient and independent government of the city of New York." Among the incorporators are A. Bayard Cutting, W. J. Schieffelin, E. S. Dabigren, George Converse, Edmond Kelly, W. E. Montgomery, Talbot Olyphant, W. B. Boome, Thomas C. Cliff and W. F. Crockett.

Accidentally Shot Himself.

Frank E. McGuire, a bartender, living at 1470 Second avenue, accidentally shot himself in the right leg with a pistol which he was handling at Second avenue and Seventy-first street early to-day. He was removed to Presbyterian Hospital. The wound is slight.

Fire in a Printing Office.

Early to-day the occurred on the fourth floor of the freestory building 140 West Twenty-third street, occupied by Nathan Bros., job printers. The damage to the stock was $2,000 and to the building $500.

Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!

TEARS IN THE FATHER'S EYES.

Delwyn Heidenheimer Prattled on His Mother's Lap.

Pathetic Scenes in the Suit for the Boy's Custody.

Seated in his handsome mother's lap this forenoon, pretty little Delwyn Walter Heidenheimer looked the picture of contentment, while lawyers wrestled with habeas corpuses and other things of law in the Supreme Court Chambers, all of which were argued with a view to ascertaining which of Delwyn's parents should be his custodian.

The black-eyed youngster, who is only five years old, was dressed in the cutest of gray and blue sailor suits, and he looked at a big book filled with highly colored pictures of dogs, birds and other things calculated to win infantile admiration.

His father, Charles Herdenheimer, sat at the lawyers' table, and scarcely removed his eyes from his boy. When Delwyn came in with his mother, to whom he was given yesterday, the sire threw his child kiss after kiss with feverish intensity.

He is much older than his wife, the mother of the boy. At a father's love welled into his eyes as he gazed upon his child.

Although Delwyn screamed and kicked like a little manor yesterday, when taken from his papa's side, to-day he appeared thoroughly satisfied to be in his mamma's lap. She was surrounded by several ladies, and flanked by big David Heidenheimer, the massive brother, who rushed Delwyn from the court yesterday after the Court's order.

The sweet-faced, ebony-eyed little bone of contention in this drama of discordant domesticity did not lack for maternal attention. He prattled on in a childish treble and was coddled and fondled by his mamma and her friends. Papa Heidenheimer looked on, and his face grew sad.

It was easy to see that a repetition of the painful scene of yesterday might be expected, whatever the Court's decision.

FIRE IN JERSEY CITY.

Three Buildings Destroyed and the Loss Is Over $13,000.

At 12.30 o'clock this morning Policeman McGuire, of the Oakland avenue station, Jersey City Heights, discovered a fire under the stairway of the three-story frame building 716 Newark avenue.

By the time the firemen got to work the flames had extended through the hallway to the roof, and soon after spread to the three and two-story frame buildings, 714 and 712, adjoining, all of which were destroyed.

Nos. 714 and 716 were owned by Mrs. Annie Berol, of New York, whose loss is $5,000. No. 712 was owned and occupied as a dry-goods store and dwelling by F. Buch, whose loss on building was $5,000 and on stock, $1,200.

The first floor of No. 716 was occupied by T. J. Enwright as a liquor saloon. His loss is $1,500, and William O'Donoghue, tenant, loses $300 on furniture. Thomas Flinn and Mrs. Johnson, tenants of No. 714, lose $400 and $200 respectively on furniture.

On investigation it was discovered that the fire had been started in some paper under the stairs of No. 716, and the police have no doubt that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

PLOT AGAINST CLEMENCEAU.

Conspiracy to Drive the French Statesman from Public Life.

LONDON, March 2.—The Paris correspondent of The Times says: "The recrudescence of Panama revelations shows a systematic plot to hunt M. Clemenceau out of public life. It appears now likely to succeed.

"French detectives have concentrated their efforts in their search for Arton upon the movements of the Viennese music hall singer who was his supposed mistress.

"The lady, when interviewed, declared that she had been offered large bribes, but would not betray Arton, with whom she had been in constant communication.

"Arton, she said, did not fear arrest, as he was an expert linguist and artist, was an adept at disguising himself and had even travelled and talked with detectives who were searching for him. At the same time she expressed surprise at the anxiety to arrest him, as he possessed papers that would greatly embarrass the authorities."

TO PACK PORK AT LOS ANGELES.

Cudahy to Erect an Establishment on the Pacific Coast.

OMAHA, March 2.—Michael Cudahy will erect a large pork-packing establishment at Los Angeles, Cal. He has also bought the Nadeau Ranch, about four miles from the city, for $186,000, and a ranch of 50,000 acres adjoining it.

The land will be sown with alfalfa, on which hogs thrive in that country as well as on corn here.

There is some opposition at Los Angeles to the venture, but it is not thought it will avail anything. Mr. Cudahy expects to supply all the coast with its pork within a few years. He has bought a $20,000 residence in Los Angeles, where he will spend half the year.

G. Harry Lester Gets a Stay.

Justice Beach, of the Supreme Court, has granted a stay in the case of G. Harry Lester, a trustee of the Nepera Park Land Company, who was committed until a fine of $67,500 for contempt should be paid. Lester, having failed to pay this sum as directed, was fined the amount and ordered to be committed to close custody until it was paid.

Outlaws Shot by Deputy Marshals.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 2.—United States Marshal Grimes received word this afternoon of a desperate battle in the Osage country between Deputy Marshal Marx and a posse and a gang of whiskey peddlers. One of the outlaws was killed and another wounded, but he managed to escape. There is no clue to the identity of the dead man.

Theatre at Anderson, (Ind.) Burns.

ANDERSON, Ind., March 2.—The Olympic Theatre burned last evening. The theatre was used as the armory of the Columbia Rifles, which lose all its guns and other effects. The loss is $30,000.

TRAVEL IN SUNSHINE.

Glorious Day for Mr. Cleveland's Journey to Washington.

All Lakewood Turns Out to Bid His Party Good-By.

Arrangements for Quick Transit of the President-Elect.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 2.—President-elect Cleveland has a magnificent day on which to make his journey to Washington. Everything was in readiness at an early hour for Mr. Cleveland's departure, and the programme which he has arranged for his journey will, unless something unexpected occurs, be carried out without a hitch.

There were signs of activity about "the little White House" early this morning, and before 9 o'clock a big truck stood in front of the door of the cottage loading up with the Presidential baggage. There were five or six big Saratoga trunks, containing, undoubtedly, Mrs. Cleveland's wardrobe, which she has prepared especially for her opening season at the White House, and a worn and battered-looking leather receptacle which looked as if it might belong to the President-elect, and had accompanied him on many an outing in the woods. One dainty little trunk was allotted to the belongings of Baby Ruth, while several large hampers were piled upon top of the load until it seemed as if it would topple over.

Some of the people in the town wanted to give Mr. Cleveland a serenade last evening, and had arranged to take the orchestra from the Lakewood House over to the cottage with a big crowd, and ask the President-elect for a speech. He frowned on this plan, however, and gave the committee to understand that he preferred to have no such demonstration. He wanted to take his departure as quietly as possible.

One of the gentlemen of the party told Mrs. Cleveland that there would certainly be a big crowd at the depot to-day to see them off, and he was afraid that Mr. Cleveland's wishes would not be regarded in this respect.

"I do not see how we can prevent that," she replied, with a laugh, "and I do not think Mr. Cleveland would try to do so."

Farmers from the surrounding country began to straggle into town in their carts and wagons, accompanied by their families, early in the morning. The townspeople and the guests at the hotels also began to be astir in full force to assist in giving the Presidential party a rousing send-off. The picturesque little depot is the centre of attraction to-day, and an hour before the expected arrival of the special train there was an immense throng assembled.

During the forenoon several camera fiends, disregarding the painted signs stuck up all along the boundaries of the Cleveland cottage warning trespassers to keep off, entered the grounds and surreptitiously took snap-shots of the Presidential-elect as he stood in the hall steps directing the disposal of the baggage.

At last the family effects were safely stowed away in the trucks, and shortly after 11 o'clock the carriage drove up to the door to take the party to the train.

Mrs. Cleveland entered first; followed by the nurse carrying little Baby Ruth, completely enveloped in a robe of white fur, so that even the tip of her nose could not be seen.

Mrs. Cleveland was dressed in a dark travelling suit and a bewitching hat, with black ostrich plumes, which made her appear more charming than ever.

She wore no veil, and as the carriage passed the entrance of the grounds to the street, where a large delegation of hotel people were congregated, and all along the boardwalk fronting the Lakewood, she smiled and bowed graciously to her friends as she recognized them.

On the way to the depot the Lakewood Hotel is passed, and there on the piazzas and on the lawn were gathered a big crowd of guests.

They cheered the President-elect and his family as they drove by.

Mr. Cleveland, who looked as if he wished the whole thing was over, raised his silk hat and his wife bowed and smiled.

ELOPED WITH HIS NIECE.

Inventor Rich and the Girl Paroled and Both Disappear.

The Jersey City police are looking for Adam Rich and his niece, Elizabeth Hewlett, who were paroled Tuesday to appear for examination yesterday, on the charge of living together as husband and wife.

Rich is about forty years old, and the inventor of a saw file, for the sale of which he receives a royalty. On Tuesday a woman, giving her name as Mrs. Hannah Jane Rich, and her residence as Valley Stream, L. I., appeared before Justice Wentz in Jersey City and entered complaint against Rich and his niece, who were living at 34 Jewett avenue. She said that two years ago her husband eloped from Valley Stream with his niece.

When the married couple were brought before the justice, each carried a child, one two years old and the other one year old. They admitted the truth of Mrs. Rich's charges, and claimed the two children as their offspring. They blamed her for their action.

Justice Wentz paroled them for examination yesterday on account of the children, and when they did not appear he sent a policeman to the house. The couple had disappeared, leaving their furniture undisturbed.

Charged with Watch Stealing.

Matthew John Ryan, aged twenty one, a glass and crockery packer, living at 304 Sullivan street, was held in $500 this morning by Justice Smith in the Tombs charged with stealing a gold watch from his brother-in-law, Edward P. Snellgrove, of 320 Bleecker street, and breaking open a cash box belonging to his sister, Mrs. Maggie Snellgrove, and taking $15 from it.

She Had Promised to Disclose It to Her Brother.

Perhaps the Autopsy Will Reveal It to the Coroner.

The young woman who committed suicide yesterday afternoon by throwing herself in front of an uptown elevated train at the Twenty-third Street station of the Third Avenue Elevated road has been positively identified as Augusta Ericson, servant in the Carlton household, 120 Stone avenue, Brooklyn.

The girl's brother, Carl Ericson, who lives at 46 Third avenue, and has a shoeshop at 30 East Twenty-ninth street, called at the morgue this morning and satisfied himself with one look that the dead girl was his sister.

He said that his sister had come from Soedermanland, Sweden, last June.

"I wrote for her to come to America," he said. "Soon after her arrival here a young man called Ross, who is now living in Brooklyn, followed her from Soedermanland. She sometimes spoke to me about him. She said he was her intended. I never saw him, however, nor do I even know his given name.

"I had an idea my sister was working for a family in Passaic until last week, when I received a letter from another sister, Sophie Ericson, who lives in Morristown, N. J., telling me that Augusta had written to her about some trouble she was in, and that Augusta had also expressed a disgust with life. I immediately called at the address given in Sophie's letter and begged her to tell me what her trouble was. She refused to say, but promised to visit me last Sunday.

"As she failed to keep this appointment," continued Ericson, "I wrote to her, entreating her not to conceal her trouble from me.

"The next I knew about her was when I read in this morning's papers about her suicide.

"Augusta had always been a very cheerful girl. She was greatly changed when I last saw her. She seemed to be in a very agony of spirit. Our parents are still living in Soedermanland where I also have brothers and sisters. Besides my sister Sophie, I have one brother living in America.

"Augusta was twenty-one years old. After she came to this country she worked for six months for a family named Paulsen in Tenafly, N. J. She left them shortly after last Christmas. Then, after stopping for a while at an employment bureau on Fourth avenue near Twentieth street, she got a place in Red Bank, N. J., where she remained for an onth. After leaving that place she told me she had secured a situation in Passaic, and from that time until I received the letter from Sophie, I did not hear from my sister."

Before calling at the Morgue Ericson went to the Yorkville Court, from where he was sent by Justice eMade to the Coroner's office.

Adanson A. Ralph, of 684 East One Hundred and Thirty-ninth street and Jeremiah Cunningham, of 1562 Second avenue, the engineer and fireman, respectively, of engine No. 21, which ran over and killed Augusta Ericson, surrendered themselves this morning to the police at the East Twenty-second street station-house. They were sent from there to Capt. Gallagher's Yorkville Court, under the escort of Policeman Lawlor.

Justice Meade, before whom they were arraigned, said that he did not wish to interfere in the case, and told Policeman Lawlor to take them to the Coroner's office.

It is believed that the Coroner's autopsy will disclose that the girl had been in a delicate condition.

A BUREAU OF INQUEST.

It Is the New Idea of the Academy of Medicine.

The proposed act to abolish the office of Coroner in this city after the expiration of the terms of the present incumbents, is causing considerable discussion among physicians.

At a meeting of the Committees of the New York Academy of Medicine, 19 West Forty-third street, last night it was proposed that the office be not abolished, but that coroners should be lawyers. It was also proposed that a Bureau of Inquest be created consisting of three physicians at an annual salary of $3,000 each, who should decide whether an inquest was necessary before the Coroner could take cognizance of any case. Should the Coroner not be able to hold an inquest within twelve hours after a reported case, this duty would devolve upon a police justice.

FIFTY FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Seven Buildings Destroyed by Fire at Constable Hook.

Inmates Escaped in Nightclothes—Loss About $60,000.

BERGEN POINT, N. J., March 2.—A fire at Constable Hook early this morning destroyed seven buildings and rendered fifty families homeless.

The fire broke out at about 2.30 A. M., in one of a row of frame buildings used for stores and tenements, the occupants being mostly Hungarians.

The flames spread rapidly and the inmates, aroused from their sleep, had barely time to escape in their night clothes.

The fire departments of Bayonne, Constable Hook and Bergen Point did not arrive at the scene of the conflagration until the fire had made great headway. The firemen were also handicapped by a scarcity of water.

The business places burned out included Newmann's dry-goods store, Cohn's Opera House, Otto & Fetzko's grocery store, Zellers butcher shop, Sturner's bakery, Gielsch's shoe store and Cleiesenstein's barber shop.

The total loss is estimated between $50,000 and $60,000. The business places were mostly insured, but the tenants, who lost nearly all their household effects, had little or no insurance.

WISCONSIN'S SNAKE LIAR OUT.

His Weird Tale of a Boy Choked Out of a Boa Constrictor.

BARABOO, Wis., March 2.—A circus which is wintering here was putting a lot of pythons and boa constrictors into new quarters yesterday when in some way a little Norwegian boy stepped into the cage of a boa constrictor 22 feet long.

The snake sprang from the cage with distended jaws and gobbled the youngster. The attendants were horrified to descry a fast disappearing pair of legs sticking out through the monster's jaws. The great serpent's eyes were aflame with excitement, and in another second or two the poor little Norwegian boy would have disappeared from view forever.

It happened that Henry Ringling, a giant in strength and stature, was present. He is a man of quick impulses, and without counting the cost or foreseeing the danger he grasped the serpent around the neck and commenced to shake it. With one swipe of its muscular tail it sent Ringling scurrying heels over head across the floor.

At Ringling took in the situation at a glance, and grasping a long chain lying on the floor he passed it around the serpent's body at a point about six inches below where he thought the child's head would be.

Directing several attendants to grasp either end of the chain and pull with all their strength, he was gratified to notice a relaxation of the snake's effort to swallow the child.

Then this chain was made fast. The snake's tail was fastened around a post and the whole body drawn to its greatest tension.

This rendered His Majesty inert and powerless. He still continued to gulp, but his game was up. Two men inserted a wagon jack between his jaws and, by degrees they were pried open and the boy pulled out.

His head and body were covered with a thick saliva of a peculiarly offensive odor. The boy gasped for breath and then burst into tears. Then he looked around in a wondering way and ran out of the house and across the show lot to his father's wagon. The boy will recover, unless blood poisoning sets in.

The wounds are about his shoulders.
