FIRE BUGS AT WORK.

Fifteen False Alarms during Darkness of Night.

Apparently an Organized Attempt to Draw Away the Firemen.

It Recalls the Similar Work of a Gang in 1883.

The police and fire authorities are convinced that desperate attempts were made last night and early this morning to start a number of incendiary fires in the territory from Twenty-eighth and Eighth streets to Twenty-eighth and Fifth streets.

This opinion is based on the theory that the fire in Lavelle's, 127 East Twenty-eighth street, was not the result of accident, but was set by an incendiary.

The fire in question started in the rear of the building, and was well under way when the first alarm was sounded. The fire was quickly extinguished, however, and the damage was slight.

At 5 A. M. the grocery frame building at 1 Seventh place, 1312 Fifth avenue, was afire. Damage $500.

Died at the Age of 102.

Sarah Baldwin Hicks, who died last night at the home of her son, John H. Hicks, at Westbury, L. I., claimed to be the oldest woman in this part of the country. She was born Sept. 10, 1790, at Cedar Swamp, L. I., and has always lived in Westbury. Years ago she fell and broke a leg, and never recovered from the shock.

SNEAK THIEF MAINE HELD.

Police Believe He Is a Member of a Gang.

John Maine, aged forty-six, was remanded in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning, charged with grand larceny.

Maine called last night at the residence of Charles Scribner, the publisher, 12 East Twenty-eighth street, and asked the servant girl to take a note which he presented to Mr. Scribner. The girl did so, leaving the caller standing in the hallway.

The note was an appeal for assistance from a man named Mrs. Fox, who had lost her husband and two children by typhoid fever.

Arthur H. Scribner happened to the door hall as Maine entered and overheard his story. Though not satisfied with the shadow to satisfy his curiosity.

The police data Sessions and [illegible] Maine, who gave his name as John Stone, a native of Ireland, who had been in the United States for 15 years, and who had been a resident of Jersey City for the past year.
