FIRE BUGS AT WORK.

Fifteen False Alarms Rung During the Night.

Apparently an Organized Attempt to Draw Away the Firemen.

It Recalls the Similar Work of a Gang in 1883.

The police and fire authorities are convinced that desperate attempts were made last night and early this morning to start a number of incendiary fires in the territory between Twenty-eighth and Sixty-sixth streets.

The evidence in support of this theory is so strong that a thorough investigation is being made by both the Fire Marshal and the police.

The fire-bugs had evidently operated according to carefully prepared plans, the purport of which was to call the engines by a false alarm to some point distant from where it had been intended to begin their operations.

There were no less than fifteen false alarms during the night. At 12:35 A. M. box 576, at the northeast corner of Lexington avenue and Fifty-eighth street, was pulled. Engines Nos. 8 and 29 and Trucks 2 and 16 responded, but found no fire.

The companies were hardly back in their quarters when, at 12:9, signal 526 came in from the box at Third avenue and Forty-eighth street, which has a duplicate at Third avenue and Forty-fifth street. This signal brought Engines 8 and 21 and Truck Companies 2 and 7. As in the former case, this also proved to be a false alarm.

The police of the East Fifty-first street station found evidence that some malicious person was ringing the alarms, and at 1 o'clock Police Headquarters was notified.

Sergeant O'Toole, who was on duty at headquarters, acting under orders from Acting Inspector Thompson, sent out a general alarm to all stations, directing the police to arrest the man who was sending out false alarms. From the various station-houses the policemen on post were notified to watch for the man.

Notwithstanding this precaution an alarm was rung at 1:15 from the box at the corner of Sixth avenue and Forty-sixth street, which sent Engines 28 and 21 and Truck Companies 4 and 3 rushing to that corner. There was for the men they got there.

At 1:50 there was a fire in a closet on the second floor of 33 West Forty-second street. The damage was slight on account of the false alarms.

The next false alarm was rung at 3 A. M. from box 32, corner of Lexington avenue and Fifty-eighth street. Engines 21 and 29 responded and found no fire.

It was this time the men thought the alarm was sent out. It came from the box at Broadway and Fifty-seventh street. Engine 21 was ordered to Forty-second street to fire in West Fourteenth street, and a special call was sent to Fire Headquarters for a box for the Engine 29 alarms sounded as if someone was pulling box 35.

Nearly ten years ago a similar alarm was rung in the same district, resulting in a fire that had extended over a number of city blocks three years.

Postmaster Van Cott, in charge of Fire Commissioner Scott, and Battalion Chiefs Bailey and Dunn, detectives Haley and Doherty, Fire Marshal Dunn and District Attorney Fellows organized a false alarm investigating committee in 1883.

The gang was composed of William McCabe, William Dougherty, John Donnell, John Conroy, James Dougherty and Keefe. Dougherty, Conroy and Donnell were convicted and sent to prison.

Last night's false alarms were sent from keys to boxes.

Among the alarms which did not prove false was one at 1:55 which called a fire at 254 Fifth avenue, occupied by Nichols & Co. dealers in [illegible].

Albert Fox's restaurant, 1 Park avenue, which did a good business, was burned out early this morning.

At 5 A. M. the unoccupied frame dwelling of Joseph Loblton, at Forty-fourth avenue, was on fire. Damage $300.

Died at the Age of 105.

Mrs. Sarah Rushmore Hicks, who died last night at the home of her son, John B. Hicks, at Old Westbury, L. I., claimed to be the oldest woman in this part of the country. She was born Sept. 10, 1788, at Cedar Swamp, L. I., and has always lived in Suffolk County.

Three months ago she fell and broke a leg, and never recovered from the shock.

WHO SET THE HOUSE AFIRE?

Lodger Parker Says Mrs. Burroughs Did, and She Is Arrested.

She Accuses Parker and the Fire Marshal Is Investigating.

Two suspicious fires occurred at an early hour this morning in the house 244 West Thirty-ninth street, and the police are of the opinion that they were of an incendiary character.

At any rate, Kate Burroughs, who rents the house and lets furnished rooms to lodgers, has been arrested, while Fire Marshal Peter Mitchell is investigating the circumstances attending the two fires.

The first alarm was at 3:30 A. M., when a fire was found under a lot of old junk in the basement. This was discovered by John Parker, a young man who has a room in the house.

The firemen soon put out the smouldering blaze with very little if any damage.

During all this time Mrs. Burroughs was up and about the house and it is alleged she had been drinking. Just one hour and a half after the first fire another was discovered.

Parker, who had given the first alarm, was just retiring when his wife remarked that there was considerable smoke in the room. Nothing was thought of it at first, but as it increased in volume Parker opened his door and looked into the hall and found it filled with smoke.

He rapidly dressed and he and his wife grabbed what clothes they could and ran. When they got to the ground floor Parker found a lodger in the front parlor. When had been used as a doctor's office.

Parker and his wife ran to a neighbor's, and then he came back and rushed up to Mrs. Burroughs's room and gnatted her, but she was drunk, so he ran down and told the women who got her downstairs, where she was put under arrest by Policeman Gray, of the West Thirty-seventh street police station.

The three lodgers in the house, Parker and his wife, Nettie, and John Dufius, were in court this morning.

When Fire Marshal Mitchell came he questioned the three and also the prisoner, after which Mrs. Burroughs was remanded until to-morrow to give time for further investigation.

Fire Marshal Mitchell said the case was a queer one and would need considerable looking into before any specific charges were preferred against Mrs. Burroughs.

"There is room for doubt," he said, "the charges Parker makes being the gravest part, but I am not prepared to confirm anything yet."

SHE ACCUSES LAWYER BECKLEY

Mrs. Cook Says He Has Conspired to Defame Her.

She Says She Hasn't Been Hoodwinking Her Present Husband.

Mrs. Emily N. Cook, of Elwood, L. I., has been taking legal counsel with a view to bringing suit against lawyer I. H. Beckley, of 132 Nassau street, for an alleged conspiracy to defame her character.

Mrs. Cook is the woman to whom Mrs. Mary Snelling, of Elwood, made a bequest of $10,000 in 1890, and which has ever since been in litigation, the probate having been contested by Thomas Lomis, nephew of Mrs. Snelling, and by other heirs who were cut off by the will.

Lawyer Beckley has been conducting the suit for the contestants. He has taken as counsel, among other, ex-Surrogate Tuthill, who, when Surrogate of Suffolk county, decided the case in favor of Mrs. Cook and denied an application for a new trial.

That decision was appealed from and was sustained by the Supreme Court of Kings County. Another appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals where it was decided last week that although the merits of the case supported the claims of Mrs. Cook, a new trial should be granted on the technical ground that the evidence of an impeaching witness had been excluded at the trial before Surrogate Tuthill.

Into much of the will contest must necessarily be known in order to understand the nature of the accusations which Mrs. Cook now makes against Lawyer Beckley.

"An effort is being made to show that I have not a disagreeable,," said Mrs. Cook to an "Evening World" reporter this morning. "This is done in order to show that I am a woman who would hesitate at nothing to get and gather my end. The author of this [illegible] attack [illegible]
