SPURT MADE BY INDIANS PROVES EVENT OF WEEK

Cleveland and Washington Show More Class Than Any American League Teams; Superbas Cling to Top.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

New York, May 7.—The playing of Cleveland, which won every game it played in the American league, was the feature of the baseball battle in the week just closed. Starting in the fifth position Cleveland was in first place at the end of the week. The rise of Washington, also, was rapid.

Exert inning games marked the week in the National league. There were several shifts in the standings in the older organization, Brooklyn being entrenched in the lead when the week closed.

The first real test of the relative strength of the eastern and western contingents in the two leagues comes this week, when the eastern clubs in the National invade the west, and the western teams in the American come east.

Brooklyn gained first place in the National league on Monday, lost it again Tuesday and regained it Wednesday. The hitting of Daubert and Stengel and good pitching were factors. Dell held Philadelphia to three hits Thursday. Nap Rucker, the veteran left-hander, made his first appearance of the season Monday.

Playing steadily in every department, Boston held second place after being in the lead for one day. Chicago broke even on its games for the week but managed to retain third place.

The league champions, the Philadelphias, have had hard sledding and dropped four games during the week. Alexander won the only victory for his team.

The hitting of Cincinnati improved and as a result the Reds moved upward in the race, chiefly at the expense of St. Louis. The Cardinals batted poorly.

Both the Pittsburgh and New York teams batted hard but neither seemed able to win games consistently. One contest won and four lost was the record for each. The Giants have been unlucky enough to lose several extra inning games. Mathewson began his seventeenth season Thursday but lost to Boston, 7 to 6, in ten innings.

In the American league Cleveland played well in the field; the pitchers were in good form and the batters, especially Graney, O'Neill and Speaker, hit opportunely. Morton led the pitchers by holding Detroit to four hits on Tuesday.

Washington gained the lead in midweek by defeating Boston, only to lose it Saturday by losing to Philadelphia. Walter Johnson contributed his usual victory.

Ability to win only one game out of three from Philadelphia caused New York to break even on the week.

The end of Louisville's winning streak was the feature of the race in the American association. After winning twelve straight games the Colonels finally fell before the prowess of the champion Millers' pitcher, Richard Williams, and some good batting.

Indianapolis also suffered a check, losing to St. Paul on Friday, through Joe Finneran's good pitching, after winning eight straight.

Larry Lajoie Far From Through

Larry Lajoie, 42 years of age and with twenty years' service in professional baseball to his credit, is far from through as a player. Larry recently performed the nimble feat of stealing home on the New York Yankees, most of whom are young enough to be Larry's sons. His run, scored on the steal, gave the Athletics their first victory of the season over their New York rivals.

PRINCE OF WALES IS GUEST OF ITALY'S KING

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Paris, May 7.—The Prince of Wales now is in the Italian war zone as the guest of King Victor Emmanuel, with whom he is visiting various points on the front, according to a Havas dispatch from Rome.

The prince was reported to have arrived in Egypt in March, as a captain on the staff of the British commander-in-chief in the interior.

BIGGEST TUNNEL EVER BORED IS NOW COMPLETED

Marseilles Is Connected With River Rhine by Canal Which Passes Through Mountain Range.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Marseilles, May 7 (7:15 p. m.)—The canal under the mountain between Marseilles and the river Rhine, constituting one of the most notable achievements of modern times, was officially opened today in the presence of a distinguished gathering.

Hitherto Marseilles, although a great port of entry for the Mediterranean, has been walled in from central France by a mountainous ridge that sweeps entirely around the northern side of the city. The canal pierces this mountainous barrier, the waterway running for five miles in a tunnel under a mountain. It thus has the effect of linking Marseilles with inland cities and will give Marseilles a direct water connection with Havre and the North sea.

That an engineering work of such magnitude should have been carried to completion when France is in the throes of war, is considered a tribute to her perseverance and the stability of her public enterprises.

The canal and its tunnel have been under discussion for nearly one hundred years but the actual work on them was not begun until 1904. The total length of the canal is sixt miles and the five-mile section under the mountain is 75 feet wide and 70 feet high, constituting what is declared to be largest tunnel in the world. Vessels up to 600 tons can navigate the tunnel and canal, which it is believed will have strategic value in permitting the movement of small warcraft between the Mediterranean and the North sea. The cost has been about one hundred million francs.

ADELE PANKHURST IN ANOTHER DISTURBANCE

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Melbourne, Australia, April 9.—Adele Pankhurst, daughter of the English suffragette leader, has just figured in another "no conscription" disturbance in Melbourne during which she and other anti-conscription women speakers were struck in the face by stones thrown by soldiers and others.

The anti-conscriptionists held their demonstration on the banks of the Yarra river on a Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the socialist society, and the meeting attracted a crowd of about 3,000 persons, including some 150 soldiers. The latter set up a counter-demonstration after the meeting had adopted a resolution denouncing "the crafty attempt of interested individuals to foist conscription upon Australia, knowing it to be for the purpose of smashing down the working class organizations and for the cheapening of labor."

The soldiers mounted an improvised platform about ten yards from where Miss Pankhurst was speaking, and a corporal of the Australian expeditionary forces pleaded in strong language to the crowd to cease listening "to such rot as that woman over there is speaking." The corporal's speech was greeted with cheers by his comrades, and a resolution in favor of conscription at the earliest possible moment was passed by the soldiers and their sympathizers.

Later, when one of the socialist orators declared that "every man who went ot fight was a murderer," there was a general rush for the anti-conscription platform, which, with a speaker on it, was overturned and there was a general riot during which stones were thrown and the anti-conscriptionists were driven from the place.

INSANITY IN ARMY IS NOT INCREASED BY WAR

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Paris, April 25.—The war has not sensibly increased the number of cases of mental disorders amounting to insanity in the British army. Professor Regis of the Central Institution for Mental Diseases at Bordeaux gives figures showing that of 1,232 officers and soldiers sent to the establishment between August 20, 1914, and January 31, 1916, suffering from "mental commotion," there developed only fifty-nine cases of permanent derangement.

These permanently insane were mostly reservists and a third of them of the oldest contingents from forty years up. There was one officer, two subalterns and sixty-six privates. Forty-seven of them came from the front, twenty-one from the bases in the interior proving that insanity is as likely to develop in the barracks as in the trenches. More than a third of the cases are of melancholia with characteristic symptoms of imaginary accusations or self-accusations relating to army discipline, to courage and conduct in face of the enemy and various details of military duty.
