HAMILTON WINS.

Jeffcott's Colt Outruns Badge, the Favorite, in the One-Mile Event.

DETROIT SOLD FOR $1,500.

Midget, Lorimer and Dalsyrian Were Comparatively Easy Victors.

GUTTENBURG RACE TRACK, March 31.—The fact that free badges have been suspended permanently at Guttenburg had no apparent effect on the attendance at the hilltop track to-day. There were just as many people present as when passes were as plentiful as flies in a sugar barrel.

Those who could not borrow badges of their friends bought tickets at the entrance, and long lines formed in front of the boxes.

The weather was perfect for racing. It was almost warm enough to make heavy wraps uncomfortable.

The track was very fast. The card was a splendid one.

The opening event was a dash of six and a half furlongs. Spendoline was the favorite, and the talent played him heavily. Others who had tired of backing choices took fliers on Midget and Ben March.

Spendoline was never in the hunt. This was no surprise, because favorites are beaten with astonishing regularity recently.

Midget won, hands down, from Aunt Jane, a good thing that warmed up so well that all the rail birds had a bet down. She was played down from 25 to 1 to 15 to 1. Ben March was third.

Lorimer, the favorite in the second race, never gave his backers a moment's uneasiness. Hill got him off in front, and, helping him going to the end, won by a neck. Void came in fast at the finish and Hill had to hustle Lorimer a little. Strathmald was second by a furlong pole, where she quit badly. The rest of the horses were far away.

Starter Caldwell was absent from his post to-day. Mr. Carr officiated.

Dalsyrian was a hot favorite in the third race and he won easily enough. There were some people lucky enough to say that all the other jockeys were trying to "Sandy" around the turn to do much riding. Ray was second and Bryan third.

Bill Brien this afternoon sold to Mike Daly the colt Detroit for $1,500. This is the colt which caused Leavy to be suspended last night.

ARRANGING ATHLETIC GAMES.

Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania to Meet May 20.

Three delegates each from the Cornell University and the University of Pennsylvania met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this forenoon to make arrrangements for their annual athletic meeting. The men from Cornell were F. C. B. Darling, manager, '93; C. G. Shaw, captain Cornell Athletic Club, '94, and W. P. Belknap, '95; from the University of Pennsylvania, Parker Freeman, George Ashbridge and N. P. Neelle.

The meeting, it was decided, would be a track meeting and will be held on May 20 at Philadelphia. The rules will be the same as those governing the intercollegiate matches, and the events will probably be run in the same order. All the competitors must be qualified to compete in intercollegiate sports.

This will be the first athletic meeting between Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania.

The points will be scored as follows: First place, seven five points; second, three points; third, one point.

The entries in each event will be limited to four men from each college. There will be fourteen events, including all the important events usually held by the Intercollegiate Association.

This will be the first athletic meeting between Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania. The meeting next year will be at Ithica.

RAPID TRANSIT STILL SLOW.

No Headway Made at To-Day's Meeting of the Commission.

At the meeting of the Rapid Transit Commissioners this afternoon, at the residence of President William Steinway, no headway was made in determining the route to be adopted in the proposed elevated railroad extension.

Secretary Hushe, who yesterday advocated the Convent avenue route, to-day withdrew his resolution and substituted one which favored the following route:

Leaving Eighth avenue at One Hundred and Ninth street, thence through either the Boulevard or Eleventh avenue to One Hundred and Seventieth street, to Kingsbridge road, to one Hundred and Eighty-first street.

Hours were taken up in a wrangle over the advantages of the Boulevard route as against any other.

The Commissioner's engineer was finally ordered to prepare a plan as soon as possible which would provide a route to Fort George from one Hundred and Ninth street or any other point on Eighth avenue, leaving out Convent avenue and the Boulevard.

A member of the Washington Heights Association was present and said that he would get the consent of 70 per cent. of the property owners along the Boulevard to allow the tracks to be built through it.

The meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock to meet again to-morrow at 2.30 P. M.

MAY DISSOLVE THE CHAMBER.

President Carnot May Yield to Public Opinion in the Matter.

PARIS, March 31.—The Cabinent crisis is a subject of general discussion, both in the press and in public places. Most of the newspapers, including the Republican organs, concur in demanding that the Ministry shall be composed of new men.

The refusal of the Chamber to grant M. Tirard supplies for more than a month is regarded as clear proof that the Chamber desires dissolution to be deferred until after the budget has been voted, and the Legislature will have come into Entente with the new Cabinet, which, it is believed, is likely to be called upon to issue a decree for holding the general elections.

In the regular course of events the general elections would be next held in September. President Carnot, however, has the right to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies at any time upon the advice of the Senate, and the comments of the newspapers indicate a strong public tendency in favor of dissolution.

ILLICIT STILL IN A BREWERY.

Philip Klein & Son's $75,000 Plant Seized at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Internal Revenue Collector Brooke to-day seized the brewery of Philip Klein & Son at 2309 and 2311 Wallace street as a result of a discovery made yesterday that an illicit molasses rum distillery of 1,200 gallons' capacity was being conducted therein.

The plant is valued at $75,000, and the illegal distillery is one of the largest ever unearthed. Philip Klein, jr., the son, was held in $1,500 bail for a further hearing to-morrow.

RAEZKIEWITZ AVENGED.

Nephew of the Man Who Banished Him in Turn Becomes an Exile.

J. Raezkiewitz, a registry clerk on Ellis Island, to-day had before him Alexander Paskewitz, a Pole, bound for Philadelphia.

After a short consultation the registry clerk learned that the new arrival was the nephew of Gen. Paskewitz, formerly Governor of Warsaw, on account of whose tyrannical acts Raezkiewitz and a whole colony of other Poles, now resident in this city, were forced to leave their country.

The nephew is now an exile and the old Governor is dead.

A Purse Offered for Griffen and Fierce

The Coney Island Athletic Club sent a telegram to Jack Dempsey at Portland, Ore., last night asking him to meet the winner of the Williams-Smith fight. They offer a purse of $5,000, the men to weigh 142 pounds. The Coney Island officials will make no more efforts to match Griffen and Dixon, but they now offer a purse of $5,000 for a fight between Billy Plimmer and George Dixon, the men to weigh 114 pounds, and also a purse of $5,000 for a fight between Eddie Pierce and Johnnie Griffen at 122 pounds. Griffen's answer is expected to-morrow.

HE DEFIES MR. DALY.

Tavern-Keeper Ackerly, of Kensico, Declares He'll Not Move.

The Deputy Sheriff Will Oust Him To-Morrow Morning.

Brewsters, the Scene of Action To-Day, in Bad Shape.

BREWSTERS, March 31.—Commissioner Daly, of the Department of Public Works, and his party, who have been exploring the Croton water-shed during the last two days for the purpose of condemning and removing dangers to New York's water supply, reached here shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, on the last day of the present crusade.

The party spent the early part of last evening hunting for Sheriff Duffy for the purpose of conferring with him regarding the treatment of the first case of real opposition to the enforcement of the law met with since the crusade began.

Just before dinner at Lawyer Dykman's house in White Plains Commissioner Daly was notified that Tavern-Keeper Ackerly, who on Wednesday was ordered to move out of his saloon at Kensico by to-morrow, had decided to ignore the mandate and remain in possession of his property under all circumstances.

The trio of officials were very much perturbed over this sudden and unexpected turn of affairs, and it was deemed advisable to confer at once with Sheriff Duffy.

That dignitary was found to be in Albany, but Deputy Sheriff Verplanck was seen, and he assured the party that he would take care that Mr. Ackerley moved out according to orders.

Commissioner Daly was satisfied, and after spending an hour at the White Plains Hotel he returned to Mr. Lyman's home, accompanied by Chief Engineer Birdsall, to spend the night.

At 5.20 o'clock this morning the crusaders were up, and after a light breakfast drove to the White Plains station, where they boarded the 7 o'clock train for this place.

"I am very much pleased over the fact that this is the final day of this tour of inspection," said the Commissioner, "and everything has passed off smoothly. We will be back in New York to-night.

"Barring the little incident of Mr. Ackerly's refusal to obey the law, our trip so far has been highly successful, and although we have provided for opposition on the part of the people in Brewsters, we do not expect any trouble.

"This place is by all odds the worst we have yet encountered. There is a population of 3,000 here, whose refuse finds its way into the Tonnetta Creek, which flows into the Croton River, and the problem of eradicating this evil, and at the same time providing for a system of sewerage for the place, is a serious one.

"However, we will make a thorough inspection of the place and impress upon the people the fact that the law must be enforced. We expect to spend about four hours in the inspection, and then proceed to Carmel."

If Commissioner Daly at any time really anticipated trouble from the residents here his expectations were dispelled upon the very arrival of the train.

The same characteristic squads of gaping villagers were grouped around the depot, and they watched the party alight and proceed to their work of inspection.

Sheriff Burrett, who notified Commissioner Daly that he would aid him in enforcing the law, was not visible, and the general peaceful condition of things augured well for the day's work.

The crusading party attracted considerable attention as they passed up Railroad avenue, the main street of the place, carefully inspecting Tonnetta Creek, which flows parallel with that thoroughfare. It was observed that two hotels and residences innumerable emptied their drainage into that stream, the banks of which are dotted with shanties and outhouses. It was a decidedly discouraging condition of affairs, and it elicited the remark from the energetic Commissioner: "This is astonishing terrible."

Occupants and owners of houses were told that they must remove the nuisance at once. A number of houses were condemned. The great problem of effacing the Brewster's source of pollution never impressed Commissioner Daly as it did to-day.

No opposition was met with, and the party visited the notorious Kent distillery, bulb factory at Thomasville, which contributes largely with milk refuse to polute Croton River. It is estimated that to remove this menace from the stream will cost the city at least $50,000.

After this inspection they started for Carmel.

CARMEL, March 31.—Commissioner Daly and party arrived here at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon and proceeded to inspect the village.

About fifty residences, with stables, are located on the boarders of Lake Gleneida, which is one of the reservoirs of the city water supply, and these were in turn visited and condemned.

The two foremost dangers of pollution consisted of a milk bottling concern, owned by Reuben stone, and B. Lockwood's livery stable. Both buildings are right at the edge of the lake. An order was issued for the removal of both structures within three weeks.

A nearly new $10,000 school-house is included in the condemned property.

There was no opposition on the part of the villagers to the inspection, and these property-owners affected by the new Croton Water-shed law were apparently reconciled to the fact that they must move as soon as possible.

The party returned to Brewsters at 4 o'clock to prepare a public statement for the benefit of residents along the Croton watershed, outlining the policy to be pursued by Mayor Gilroy after the nuisances are abated.

Commissioner Daly will return to New York to-night.

NEXT THE TAILORS.

Rumored that They Will Strike to Aid Locked-Out Cutters.

Another Report Is that the Tailors May Be Locked Out.

Manufacturers Say They Are Getting Plenty of Help.

Following close upon the announcement that the Brotherhood of Tailors will meet to-morrow afternoon at Walhalla Hall, 52 Orchard street, to consider the feasibility of striking in sympathy with the locked-out garment cutters, comes the rumor that the tailors themselves may be locked out by their employers this afternoon.

President Hornthal, of the Clothing Manufacturers' Association, says that all the sub-contractors, who are the real employers, are K. of L. men, and that they are all strongly in sympathy with the Manufacturers' Association.

The locked-out garment cutters say, in reply, that the contractors cannot afford to be idle, and they intimate that this rumor of locking out the tailors to forestall the latter's strike is a baseless "campaign scare," gotten up as an effort to influence the tailors in their deliberations to-morrow.

Indeed, this view of the matter seems to be borne out by the admission made this morning by secretary Raphael Strauss, of United Clothing Cutters, No. 2,853, K. of L., who said:

"I have conferred with the contractors and their tailors, and both seem to be entirely conservative, and will probably not take any active part in the present struggle."

Much disappointment is expressed by friends of Labor that the meeting which was promised yesterday between General Master Workman Terence V. Powderly, K. of L., and President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, did not take place, owing to Mr. Powderly's unexpected departure from the city.

"We did not, however, anticipate much real good to come from such a conference," said Secretary Harry White, of the Federation Garment-cutters, this morning.

"What we rely on now is the assistance which is being daily assured us by other branches of the Federation of Labor. The meeting of Local Union No. 30, of Overcoat and Sackcoat Makers, at 130 Pitt street, will go a great way towards solving the present difficulty. It was resolved there that all unions of those mechanics in various parts of the state should be canvassed, with a view to ordering a general strike unless the rights of the locked-out garment-cutters are recognized.

"It is also proposed," continued Mr. White, "to order all Federation garment-cutters on strike in all shops which in any way handle goods turned out by the Clothing Manufacturers Association shops."

According to President Hornthal, of the Manufacturers, only 450 garment-cutters have been locked out.

"Their places," he added, "are being rapidly filled by Knights of Labor and non-union workmen, and we do not fear any results that may follow their threat of ordering a strike in Non-Association shops which handle our goods."

Secretary Strauss, of No. 2,853, K. of L., said that since the present trouble began twenty-five Federation cutters had come into the K. of L., and that they would be initiated to-night.

President Gompers, of the Federation, is expected to speak to the locked-out men in Beethoven Hall, Fifth street, near the Bowery, to-day.

National Trades Assembly 231, K. of L., has chosen for its new Master Workman James A. Wright, of Philadelphia.

The Board of Arbitration, which listened to the statements of the manufacturers and the locked-out men yesterday in the Broadway Central Hotel, has returned to Albany.

It is not positively known what action the Board has decided to take, but it is supposed that, in view of the irreconcilable discrepancies between the statements made by the two parties, the Board will order an investigation.

A committee from the K. of L. contractors called upon President Hornthal, of the Manufacturers' Association, this afternoon and assured him that the tailors would not be locked out, nor did he fear a strike.

Samuel Gompers and Herman Fromme made cheering addresses to the locked-out cutters in Beethoven Hall.

WHEN OLLIE CLEANS THE STREETS.

Oh, won't the streets be dainty?
Just too exquisite, old fel,
When Ollie and the chappies
Wield the broom and spade a spell?

There'll be ribbons on the lamp-posts,
Yellow scarfs on all park seats,
And cologne to lay the dust with
When the chappies clean the streets.

CONSPIRACY IN COSTA RICA.

Timely Discovery of a Plot to Overthrow the Government.

PANAMA, March 31.—A conspiracy to bring about a revolution was discovered in Costa Rica on the 27th instant, and was suppressed through the energetic and cautious action of the Government. It appears that the conspirators plotted to make an attack upon the cuartel, or quarters where the military stores in charge of the Quartermaster-General are deposited, and with the arms and ammunition found there equip the enemies of the Government and inaugurate a general revolution.

The leader in the conspiracy was Gutierrez, who recently returned from exile, to which he had been condemned on account of a previous revolt against the Government, and who has been impatient to overthrow those who had extended clemency to him on that occasion.

COULDN'T MAIL HER LETTER.

But Her Effort to Open a Fire-Alarm Box Called Out Two Fire Brigades.

A handsome, stylishly dressed woman tried to mail a letter in the fire-alarm box at Eighty-first street and Columbus avenue at 11.50 this morning. While she was blushing and pouting and mentally saying things about the "horrid thing that wouldn't open," turn the crank as hard as she would, two engines of firemen came rattling up with their apparatus and gathered around her.

She couldn't understand it for a time, but when it was made clear to her she nearly collapsed.

She was put under arrest, but was released after being taken before Chief Bonner at Fire Headquarters.

PRINCETON PLAYS THE GIANTS.

Crowds of Students and Base-ball Lovers See the Game.

Score Stood 7 to 2 at the End of the Sixth Inning.

POLO GROUNDS, March 31.—The spectators filed in by the carload this afternoon and the attendance betokened a revival of interest in the National game.

The attraction, Princeton against New York, was regarded as a strong one. The lads from Nassau's famed Varsity were a likely looking set and they made a capital impression in the practice play.

A large contingent of students was present from Princeton, and they cheered the tigers in true collegiate fashion.

The grounds were in excellent condition, and although it was a little chilly, the warming rays of the sun invigorated the players and made it a good deal of a pleasure to hustle and scamper over the grassy diamond.

The playing order:

NEW YORK.	PRINCETON.
Burke, l. f.	King, 2b.
Tiernan, r. f.	Woodcock, p.
Davis, s. s.	Trenchard, c.
Connor, 1b.	Mckenzie, l. f.
Ward, 2b.	Gobster, 3b.
Keeler, 3b.	Blair, c. f.
Mequade, c. f.	Brooks, s. s.
Fields, c.	Otto, 1b.
King, p.	Creigh, r. f.

Umpire—Grace Pearce.

First Inning—Capt. King led off for Princeton. He opened up right lively by slamming out a beauty—three-baser to left. On Woodcock's sacrifice to first King scrambled home, and the Princeton cohorts yelled like Pluto. Trenchard went out, Ward to Connor. Mckenzie, base on balls, stole second and third in audacious fashion, coming home on a poor throw of "Jocko" Fields. Gobster filed to Mequade. Two runs.

Burke gave a sample of what the Tigers might run up against by hitting the ball out to the left centre, and he never stopped until he made a complete circuit of the bases. It was a royal home run.

Tiernan's muff of Tiernan's third strike put him on first safely. Davis died easily, King to Otto. Connor looked too formidable to Woodcock, and he pitched four very queer ones, giving Roger his base. Johnny Ward was similarly treated. This filled the bases. Keeler fanned thrice and retired to the players' bench. Mequade out, king to Otto, who doubled Connor at the plate, but not before Tiernan scored. Two runs.

Second Inning—Blair's whizzing bounder was neatly stopped by Davis, who threw him out to Conner by a very close shave. Brooks out, Keeler to Connor. Ward ran out of his territory to catch Otto's high fly, and muffed it. But Otto was caught napping at second by King. No runs.

After Fields and King were retired in short order, Burke went to base on balls and scored on Tiernan's three baser to centre. Davis filed to Mckenzie, one run.

Third Inning—It was in one, two, three order that Creigh, King and Woodcock went out. No runs.

Connor made three bases on a fly to centre and scored on Keeler's hit, which Brooks fumbled. Ward and Keeler scored on Fields's single to right. Three runs.

Fourth Inning—Trenchard, Mckenzie and Gobster out in order. No runs.

New York failed to score.

Fifth Inning—Davis was put in to catch, relieving Fields. Princeton went out, one, two, three. No runs.

New York could not score.

FREEMAN AND WIFE ARE TWO.

The Separation Supposed to Be the Result of Old Difficulties.

Max Freeman, stage manager for "The Fencing Master" company, now playing at the Harlem Opera-House, to-day let the public into a secret that seems to have been known "under the rose" for some time.

It is nothing more or less than that he and his charming wife have separated by mutual agreement, and that each holds a written document to that effect.

This secret was exposed when Mr. Freeman caused to be published to-day an advertisement in which he notified tradesmen in particular, and the public in general that he would no longer be responsible for debts contracted by Mrs. Freeman.

The trouble between Mr. Freeman and his wife dates back, it is believed, to the time of his rupture with the Casino people, when the name of a chorus girl was connected with his in such a manner as to give great offense to his wife.

Mrs. Freeman at that time received many anonymous letters stating that her husband, who was then on the road with the "Uncle Celestine" company was living openly with the fair chorister, who was represented to be his wife.

TALK OF THE TURF.

Owner Brien Declares that Leavy Pulled Detroit in the Last Race.

THE BOY WAS SUSPENDED.

"Duke" Thompson to Drive All the Gamblers Out of Gloucester Town.

Jockey Tom Leavy, who some years ago was a jockey of considerable ability, rode Counsellor Bill Brien's bay colt Detroit in the closing event at Guttenburg yesterday. It was his first mount in over a year, and judging by the way the officials pounced on him after he returned from the scales, it will be his last for some time to come. He was accused of pulling Detroit and was suspended pending investigation. The entries of Owner Brien will be refused until the case is settled. Leavy's riding of Detroit was not bad except in the last furlong. He got away poorly with Detroit, but moved up steadily until on the turn he was running fourth and in an easy fashion. Up to this time no suspicion was entertained that Leavy was not trying. Detroit at that time looked to have an excellent chance to win. When they straightened out for home, Leavy went to work with the whip and spur. At the furlong pole he was third. Then, to the amazement of the spectators, he stopped riding and let Relief come along and beat him out of third place. There was a clear violation of the rule requiring boys to ride out for third place, and Leavy must have been aware of the existence of such a rule. Owner Brien declared before the Executive Committee that Leavy surely pulled the horse. He expected that Detroit would win easily. He put Leavy up because the lad had been training and reducing steadily for eight weeks, and as few were aware of Leavy's ability he would get a good price. Brien declares that he borrowed money from Mike Daly to bet on Detroit. He also asserts that he can prove that he sent telegrams to Louis Cohen, manager of the betting ring at the Roby (Ind.) race track; to Mart Demarest, at the Gloucester track, and to Henry Schultz in this city, asking them to play the horse for him. He also induced Johnny Campbell and Bookmaker Blackman to bet on the horse at the track yesterday.

The other races were free from suspicion, notwithstanding all the favorites save Violetta, were defeated. Hyacinthe, the favorite in the first race, belonged to Tammany Hall and Ben March, who were tipped by "The Evening World" to run first and second. Both were long chances. Innovation, Fagot and Blackburn, who carried most of the money in the third race, were easily beaten by Thiers II., a 6 to 1 chance. A string of long shots all beat Play or Pay in the fourth, and Griffin's weak finish on Polydora was the reason for Peralto, at 30 to 1, capturing first money. Then Allan Bane, at 5 to 1, beat the favorite, Cynosure. So ended a most disastrous day for the talent, but they could not complain, as the best horse undoubtedly won every event.

"Duke" William J. Thompson, owner of the Gloucester race track and nearly all of the town lots upon which the track is named, has been struck by a moral wave, and has announced that he intends to purify Gloucester. In other words, he will drive out the gamblers and disreputable people, and so improve the place that respectable people will have no fear of living there. Thompson will erect hotels and build electric railroads form the town to the ferry. About the hotels an immense park will be laid out.
