ULSTER OVATION TO BALFOUR.

People Draw His Carriage Through the Streets of Belfast.

He Will Support the Irish Dissenters Who Fight Home Rule.

BELFAST, April 3.—The Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, and formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland, arrived in Belfast to-day to deliver addresses in support of the opposition of the Ulster Unionists to Home Rule.

A vast concourse greeted Mr. Balfour on his arrival, and the thousands of Unionists cheered loudly as he made his appearance. The multitude was so enthusiastic that they took the horses out of the carriage which bore the Conservative statesman and eagerly sought the honor of drawing the vehicle through the streets.

There was an extensive display of flags, and bands played Orange and Loyalist airs. Numerous deputations presented a formal and cordial greeting to the ex-Secretary, dwelling upon the loyalty of Ulster to the union with Great Britain and extolling the services of Balfour to the cause.

Mr. Balfour replied with an earnest declaration of the resolution of the Conservatives to resist Home Rule to the utmost.

At Larne, seventeen miles from Belfast, Mr. Balfour also had an enthusiastic greeting, and listened to an address in behalf of the Ulster Unionists, to which he delivered a reply appropriate from the Conservative standpoint.

MUTINY IN A ROMAN PRISON.

Convicts Burn Bedding and Furniture—Riot Subdued by Troops.

ROME, April 3.—A mutiny that threatened to have serious consequences broke out yesterday evening in the St. Michael Prison.

The prisoners have been discontented for some time on account of the poor quality and meagre quantity of the rations allowed them. They have also had other grievances.

On Easter Sunday evening their discontent reached such a high pitch that they openly defied the prison officials and made a wreck of the place, burning the furniture and bedding and working all the destruction they could.

The military was called to assist the wardens, and the revolt was then soon quelled.

MRS. JAMES J. CORBETT SUED.

Judgment Entered by Default for $190 for Newspaper Clippings.

In Part III., of the City Court, to-day Mrs. Olive Corbett, wife of the champion pugilist, was called to answer a suit instituted against her by Henry Remelke for the payment of $190 for clippings from different newspapers anent her distinguished husband.

She did not answer, and the Court decided that an inquest should issue against her. The decision, in other words, means that a judgment was obtained by default, because of her non-appearance.

The next move, in a legal way, in this case will be the levying by a deputy sheriff upon any or all of Mrs. Corbett's effects since she steps foot within the confines of New York County.

Mrs. Corbett is not likely to come within that jurisdiction for many months, as she left New York yesterday for Montreal, where she is to appear in her husband's play, "Gentleman Jack." After the Dominion Canadian engagement the company will travel by easy stages to the Pacific coast. It may be months before that execution is served.

KANSAS WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Large Female Registration for the Battle at the Polls To-Morrow.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 3.—The women are taking the town by storm in the election contest that is to take place here next Tuesday. The registration is large, and the women are taking an interest in their own candidate, Mrs. Anna Potter.

A new law in Kansas provides that liquors, cigars and carriages cannot be used to secure votes, and this will keep a large foreign element out of the contest. When foreigners are seen electioneering and their candidates working hard for their votes, the majority of which, however, will go to Mrs. Potter.

The law provides that foreign-born women whose husbands are naturalized may vote if registered. This in itself has been an bone for bitter strife.

E. H. NEBEKER NOW IN CHARGE.

He and His Experts Relieve Sub-Treasurer Roberts.

Over $897,224,000 Left for His Successor to Count Up.

E. H. Nebeker, Treasurer of the United States, took charge of the Sub-Treasury in this city, after the business was done at the Clearing-House to-day. He assumed this duty under instructions from Secretary Carlisle, and in accordance with the precedents established on the retirement of Mr. Acton and the death of Judge McCue.

Mr. Nebeker handed this statement to the reporters:

"The retiring Assistant Treasurer, Mr. Roberts, had called the attention of the Department to the fact that his commission for four years ran only until April 1, and asked to be relieved as soon as the smooth working of the Treasury and the public interests would permit. It is understood that but for his urgency his term would have been construed by the Department to continue until four years from the date of taking the oath of office, which was April 12. He was, however, unwilling to hold the treasurer of the Government under a doubtful authority longer than was absolutely necessary. As it is he has served three days beyond the term of his commission.

"In directing the transfer, Secretary Carlisle writes to Mr. Roberts: 'The Department appreciates fully and commends the admirable manner in which the affairs of the office have been conducted during your incumbency.'

"Treasurer Nebeker arrived in New York yesterday, accompanied by six experts from the Treasury Department. They were met at the Sub-Treasury by a detail from the force of that office, and, under the supervision of the officers, the vaults were opened and the cash necessary for beginning business on Monday morning, about $1,000,000, was taken out and counted.

"The amount which Mr. Roberts turns over, according to the books of the Sub-Treasury, is $897,224,030.19, but the count of the remainder of the cash will not be entered upon until Mr. Roberts's successor has been appointed and qualified.

"In the mean time such sums as may be necessary to transact the business for the Sub-Treasury will be withdrawn from the vault under the supervision of the representatives of the Treasurer and the outgoing Assistant Treasurer.

"This is the third time in the history of the Sub-Treasury that the Treasurer of the United States has been designated to take charge of the office at interim until the appointment of a successor. It first occurred at the expiration of Mr. Acton's term, when Mr. Jordan took charge, and the second time when Judge McCue's term expired by his death, when the late Mr. Hyatt took charge.

"As at present, in each case the force of experts was in charge of Major J. F. Meline, one of the veterans in the Treasury service and a kinsman of F. J. Meline, who has just been selected Premier of France by President Carnot. The gentlemen accompanying him on the occasion are George H. Smith, Jas. A. Sample, Robert H. Forsyth, William H. Sterne and W. J. Mandoe.

"After the appointment of a new Sub-Treasurer it will take about three weeks to finish counting and weighing the money on hand, when the usual receipts will be passed.

"The following report, made by Assistant Treasurer Roberts Saturday night, shows the financial condition of the Sub-Treasury at close of business, April 1, 1893:

| | |
|---|---|
| United States notes | $19,164,737.00 |
| Coinage, interest checks, &c. | 270,650.50 |

Treasurer Nebeker said this morning that he expected that the new Sub-Treasurer for New York will be appointed most possibly this week. He had not the slightest idea who the lucky appointee would be, but said that a long list of names had been presented for the position.

SHOT BY SALOON-KEEPER POND

Violation of the Excise Law Leads to a Lively Row.

An Alleged Member of the Frying-Pan Gang Wounded Twice.

The police did not make a report until this morning of a shooting affray which occurred before 10 o'clock last night in Frederick Pond's liquor store, 487 Canal street, corner of Hudson street. Joseph Kennedy, twenty years old, who claims to live at 559 Hudson street, was shot twice in the thigh and left leg by the proprietor of the place, who was subsequently arrested.

It is stated that Kennedy and a friend of his named Michael Forrester, who is a bike rider and lives at 46 Laight street, went into the saloon about 10 o'clock last night and ordered drinks. Kennedy claims that after he and Forrester had their drinks, Pond, the proprietor, came from behind the bar and, without any cause whatever, fired two shots at him from a 38-calibre revolver. One of the bullets struck him in the thigh and the other punished the high calf of his left leg.

This occurred at about eleven o'clock. According to Sergt. Parry, of the Prince street station, it was not reported to the police at midnight when a revolver was somewhat under the influence of liquor, rushed into the station house and said that a man had been shot in Pond's place. Sergt. Parry ordered Policeman Kehoe to make an investigation, Kehoe went to the saloon, which was locked and barred. Kehoe knocked and the door was finally opened by Pond himself. He refused to open it because the street door was barred and he was afraid they would try to burn him out.

The door was finally opened by Pond himself. When Kehoe went in he found the place in full blast and a number of people at the bar drinking. Kennedy, the wounded man, was there too, off for Kehoe arrested Pond and took him to the station-house, together with Kennedy and Forrester. He also made every one that was in the place go along. At the station-house Pond said that Kennedy and Forrester came into his place drunk and picked a quarrel with him. Forrester, he says, threw a beer glass at him. Both Kennedy and Forrester denied this and said that Pond shot without cause or provocation.

Pond was held on a charge of felonious assault and additional charges of violating the Excise law were lodged against him.

Kennedy was attended by an ambulance surgeon, but he refused to go to the hospital. He was held at the station-house, and Forrester was detained as a witness. The others were let go.

Kennedy gave his description as a laborer. It is said that both he and Forrester are members of the "Frying Pan" gang, who hang out on the corner of Canal and Hudson streets, where Pond's saloon is. It is said that the "Frying Pan" gang has of late made quite a name for itself. Only a few months ago two members of the gang were arrested for stealing a pocketbook from a woman.

Justice Grady, in Jefferson Market Police Court, this morning held Pond for trial in the Court of General Sessions on a charge of assault, and for special sessions on the charge of violating the Excise law.

Unfortunate Tots Will See the Big Show Next Week Tuesday.

Not the least attractive novelty introduced into Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth this season is the excellent music provided by General Manager Director Carl Claar and his orchestra of six pieces. It is a very pleasant thing to-day to note the improvements made in orchestras, and Prof. Claar deserves no little praise for the good judgment displayed in the selection of the music as well as for the number in which it is rendered by his players. # FIERCE FIGHT IN A TENEMENT

Husband Cruelly Beaten by His Wife and a Boarder.

The Men Sent, Bleeding from Their Wounds, to Bellevue.

Rudolph Hemminger and William Neu were taken to Bellevue Hospital early this morning bleeding from injuries which they inflicted on each other. While Policeman Muldoon sat between them in the ambulance to prevent further trouble.

The men lived in the big tenement known as "whitechapel," at 400 East Forty-eighth street.

Neu is luncheonette in a saloon downtown. His wife, Hannah, a good-looking woman, of about thirty, and they have three children.

Several weeks ago Hemminger, who is considerably younger than Neu, had trouble with his wife and came to live with the Neus.

Last night Neu's suspicions of his wife's chastity, with the boarder, culminated in a bloody row. Neu had been drinking all day and had worked himself into a state of frenzy when Hemminger came home for the night.

It was midnight when Neu, after a wordy war with his wife, cried "I'll kill him!"

He then picked up a loaded rifle and dashed into the bedroom where Hemminger was asleep.

Mrs. Neu screamed and awakened the boarder, who jumped out of bed. Neu accidentally pulled the trigger of the rifle while going out of the front room.

It went off, and the bullet lodged in the wall.

Hemminger wrenched the rifle out of Neu's hands and pounded him on the head with the butt, cutting open Neu's scalp in several places.

Neu ran back into the front room, where Hemminger struck him again over the head with the butt end of the rifle, smashing it and knocking Neu down.

Hemminger and Mrs. Neu then jumped on him and kicked and scratched him. Mrs. Neu shouted that she didn't care for him any longer and emphasized her remarks with blows.

Finally Neu got up on his feet, and, picking up a pair of shears, passed as the boarder and jabbed them in both knees, in the left arm and in the neck.

Mrs. Neu then open the window and cried "Police!" As soon as she saw that Hemminger was injured, Policeman Patrick Muldoon ran back from before Sergt. Kelly, at the East 47th street station.

While the men were waiting for an ambulance they came near to blows again, but were separated.

Mrs. Neu was seen at her house this morning. She was anxious about Hemminger, but said that her husband had probably cut himself on the head.

LOSS WILL REACH $750,000.

Duke's Cigarette Factory Fire a Disastrous One.

The insurance people who will have to stand the loss on the cigarette and tobacco factory of W. Duke, Sons & Co., which was burned yesterday morning, have figured up the damages at $750,000.

It took just an hour from the time the first alarm was turned in, a few minutes after 3 o'clock, for the amount of money to go up in smoke.

The fire was discovered by Policeman Miller, of the East Thirty-fifth street station. The building was a six-story brick structure, with a frontage of 125 feet on West Thirty-fourth street and 50 feet on Second avenue. Chief Bonner is authority for the statement that it was the hottest fire New York has ever seen.

The flames originated in the cellar among such inflammable material as molasses, rum, whiskey, glycerine, paper and tobacco and communicated with the upper floors by means of an elevator in the centre of the building. The Second avenue "L" structure was damaged by the falling of the east wall. Benjamin Hogan and John Walker, colored men, who slept in the factory, had narrow escapes from death.

Two hundred employees were thrown out of work by the fire, but they will all be given work in other factories of the Cigarette Trust.

CHARRED BODIES IN THE RUINS

Four Tramps Burned to Death Near Hackensack.

Coroner Cass Is Looking for Other Bodies.

HACKENSACK, N. J., April 3.—A barn belonging to Mr. G. L. Jaeger, the millionaire resident of Maywood, situated on the old Voorhis homestead, was burned to the ground early this morning. One of the sons of G. L. Jaeger discovered the flames about 3.30 A. M.

He awakened the other inmates, and hurried to make connections on the fire hydrant. A strong wind was blowing at the time, and the barn burned like dry grass. The remains of four tramps have been taken from the ruins, and Coroner Cass, of Englewood, is said at work with a force of men, thinking other unfortunate men have met a horrible death.

It is thought that Jake A. Holland, farm laborer, who has been around Maywood the last few days looking for work, is among the dead. The barn was valued at $2,500. There were several farming implements in the barn, and thirty odd tons of hay. All were destroyed.

It is thought the tramps set fire to the barn by smoking or carelessly dropping a lighted match.

TWO RIVALS AT THE WALTZ.

Sergt. Kelleher and Fire Chief McGill to Meet at a Ball.

Their Prize Contest a Feature of To-Morrow's Dance.

If the Marion Club's ball, which is to be held at Tammany Hall's Wigwam, on Fourteenth street, to-morrow night, isn't a success, it won't be the fault of Sergt. Jack Kelleher, of Police Headquarters, or Deputy Chief Joe McGill, of the Fire Department, both of whom are members of the organization.

The Marion is the old, crack club of the Fourteenth Ward, and was the late Justice Daniel O'Reilly's pride when he was at its head.

There has been a long-standing rivalry between Sergt. Jack and Chief McGill, growing out of claims set up by both that the other fellow is the inferior waltzer. Sergt. Jack, or "Black Jack," as Joe McGill affectionately terms the policeman whenever they meet and exchange their peculiar courtesies is long, dark-skinned and fat, while the fire chief is fair-skinned, fat and short.

Intimate friends of both insist that neither can waltz, but both of them declare that they are proficient waltzers and mean to substantiate the statement to-morrow night. The champions of the officials have offered a prize of unknown value, which will be awarded the best man. The referee is to be Jimmy Monaghan.

Jack was crack-full of conceit until it occurred to him yesterday that Jimmy Monaghan, the prospective judge of the contest, is the private secretary of his antagonist.

"Ever since we were boys and went to school together, he has been up to some of his tricks. But you wait; I'll get square with him at the ball," wound up Sergt. Jack, with a wink to an "Evening World" reporter to-day.

"I'll get even with him," remarked Chief McGill, "don't you think differently for a moment," and the good-natured assistant to Chief Hugh Bonner hurried into a nearby cigar store, lit a cigar and walked away to rehearse for the contest.

WANTED A KISS.

Justice Simms Got a Candid Reply from Prisoner Polleschack.

Otto Polleschack, aged forty-eight, a clothing-cutter, at 2402 Second avenue, was before Justice Simms in Harlem Police Court this morning, charged by Mrs. Rosie Rosenthal, a widow, aged fifty-years, who lives at 1670 Madison avenue, with annoying her by following her on the streets and watching her windows for hours at a time.

Justice Simms asked Polleschack what he meant by doing such things, to which the accused, who is said to be a married man, replied:

"Oh, I wanted a kiss."

"Don't you think that was wrong?" asked the Justice, as soon as he recovered from astonishment.

"No, sir," he said.

He was sentenced to a fine of $500 or three months in the Island.

LOESCH ARRESTED FOR ARSON.

Charged with Burning His Father's Hotel and Barn Near Keyport.

KEYPORT, N. J., April 3.—Henry Loesch has been arrested in Jacksonville, near here, charged with having set fire to and destroyed his father's hotel and the barn connected with it in that place yesterday morning.

The hotel was completely destroyed, with all its furniture, and two horses, two ladies and a cow, and an ox perished in the barn. The loss is estimated at $7,500.

Henry Loesch was the black sheep of the family, and had been turned away from home. He returned last week, and when his father denied him admission to the hotel, and even refused to let him sleep in the barn, he swore to be revenged. He was seen in the vicinity of the barn a short time before the fire, which originated in that structure, was discovered.

ELOPED WITH THE SCRUB BOY.

Another Theory About Mamie Mitchell's Disappearance.

Detectives Looking for the Sixteen-Year-Old Runaway.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Mitchell, who have charge of the Alpine apartment-house, at 55 West Thirty-third street, have not heard any news of their sixteen-year-old daughter, Mamie, who disappeared last Friday evening after shopping for her mother and having the goods sent home.

Mr. Mitchell was out this morning looking for his daughter. Mrs. Mitchell, who is almost prostrated with grief, said that her husband and Detectives Lang and Sullivan, of the Thirty-fifth street station, are doing all they can to find Mamie.

It is thought she ran away with Arthur Bricken, the scrub boy, instead of Arthur Barr, the elevator boy, as was first reported.

Bricken's mother was very indignant this morning, and threatened possible revenge on the persons responsible for circulating the report that he had eloped. Bricken has acted in the various capacities of scrub boy, bellboy and elevator boy in the Alpine. He was discharged last Wednesday. He returned for his pay on Thursday, and was seen about the building until Friday afternoon. He lived in Brooklyn, but neither Mr. Mitchell nor the detectives found the boy at his home.

Miss Mitchell is a very pretty girl. She dressed well, and is said to have had many admirers.

NEW JERSEY ELOPERS CAUGHT.

Phillipsburg Negroes Arrested in the West for Stealing $2,550.

DENVER, April 3.—Charles Norton and Stella Jones, both colored, were arrested at Manitou yesterday for stealing $2,550 from J. A. Petri, of Phillipsburg, N. J.

They went from Phillipsburg to Chicago, where they remained until two weeks ago. A negro named Dobos learned of their crime and got Norton to draw $1,000 out of a bank on the pretense that the police knew where it was. Norton gave the $1,000 to Dobos for safe keeping, and the latter bought him two tickets to Denver.

While walking on State street a man claiming to be a detective stepped up to arrest Norton. Dobos told him to run and he would fight the detective. Norton ran, and the other two grappled until he got around the corner. Then they went off together.

Isabella Green Missing.

Mrs. Hannah Green, colored, of 345 West Forty-fourth street, called at Police Headquarters this morning in search of her fourteen year-old daughter, Clara Isabella Green. The mother said that Clara went out to buy some groceries yesterday, and after making the purchases did not return. Clara is described as tall, slender, with short, curly hair and nose slightly retroussez. She was clad in a navy blue dress.

Riley's Body Recovered.

The crew of the police boat Judge Moore to-day recovered the body of Frank Riley, of 232 Van Brunt street, Brooklyn, who either fell or jumped overboard from the wharf at Franklin stores at 10 o'clock last night.
