Upon the request of Delegate Lawrence J. Brown, of Progressive Painters' Union No. 1, L. A. 2,888, K. of L., the Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union yesterday instructed its Secretary to request the steamfitting firm of Baker & Smith to employ none but union painters.

Typographical Union No. 12, Baltimore, Md., has elected George T. Nichols, President; E. J. Mullen, Vice-President; James H. McDowell, Secretary; William Fleming, Treasurer; E. J. Shiel, H. C. Hitchcock and J. M. Tait, Trustees; E. J. Kilduff, Sergeant-at-Arms; O. J. Mealy and John Roach, Delegates to the International Typographical Convention.

The Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union yesterday appointed a committee composed of Delegates William Ivory, L. J. Brown, John Metzger, R. McPoland and A. Elosen, to inspect buildings being erected by Canda & Kane, the non-union firm building the Bricklayers' Union. The committee will report at the next meeting, when the Section will discuss the advisability of a strike on one of these buildings.

Cabinet-Makers' Union No. 8 gained eight new members this week. The initiation fee has been fixed at $3. Members in arrears will be reinstated for $10. Resolutions were adopted censuring the C. L. U. for electing a K. of L. clothing cutter to preside last Saturday, as their organization is fighting the striking cutters of the A. F. of L., to whom the Cabinet-Makers have pledged their assistance.

The Arrangement Committee of the May Day demonstration of organized labor in Philadelphia is making active preparations on a large scale. It was announced yesterday that the following speakers would address the big meeting after the parade: George Chance, Mahlon Barnes, L. Werner, Abraham Cahan and Herr Kaiser. Two singing societies will render choral selections at the meeting. All unions will be requested to bring their union banners.

The Building Trades Section of the Central Labor Union received a communication from the Foundrymen's Association yesterday protesting against the action of Iron Moulders' Union No. 25 in refusing to organize the non-union helpers and coremakers in the shops it controls, unless the Foundrymen's Association agrees to work with none but members of the Iron Moulders' Union of North America. The communication was filed. A lively debate followed the reading of the letter, and a delegation of Union No. 25 stated that his union would not recognize the Foundrymen's Association. The delegate of the Foundrymen's Association was asked to appear at present grievances against Union No. 25 if a settlement of the difficulties between the two unions cannot be effected.

A report from Stony Creek, Conn., states that the big monument for West Point, calculated to be worth nearly $20,000 when finished, has been spoiled by non-union granite-cutters after eleven months of cutting. The contractors for the monument are the Norcross Brothers, one of the most active firms of the New England Granite Manufacturers' Association in the recent lockout against the National Granite Cutters' Union. The union men state that the Norcross Brothers will be heavy losers by the spoiling of the monument, which could have been averted by the employment of union men. The status of the granite-cutters' strike in the New England States remains practically unchanged. Five hundred men are still out. Only two men have deserted since the beginning of the strike.

DELMONICOS PAID THE FINE.

Cost Them $450 to Serve Woodcock Out of Season.

The Delmonicos have just settled a suit, brought against them by Game Protector Willett Kidd, of Newburg, for serving woodcock out of season, by paying a fine of $350 and $100 costs.

Dr. Kidd, B. B. O'Dell, jr., and Gardner Van Nostrand, of Newburg, dined at the Fifth avenue restaurant in July and August, 1890, and the menu on these occasions included woodcock. Twenty-four birds were served. Dr. Kidd knew the law, and brought suit to recover the penalty, which is $25 for each bird, for the person who serves woodcock out of season in Halls and as much as the law allows in the Delmonicos.

Finally a compromise was agreed to. The Game Protector gets half of the fine, and the remainder goes to the State. Dr. Kidd has evidence against other restaurant proprietors in New York, it is said, and proposes to try several other cases. Woodcock is a great delicacy, especially when obtained out of season, and only first-class restaurants and hotels can afford to serve them to their patrons. Nearly all the birds killed out of season are sent to New York, where the highest prices can be obtained for them, and Dr. Kidd is determined to break up the practice.

Sentenced to Take the Keeley Cure.

LEMARS, Ia., April 6.—Lemars has adopted the gold treatment in the police court. For a second offense of drunkenness Mayor Aldine gives the prisoner his choice of ten days on the street with ball and chain or a course of treatment. The first subject took his dose of the bichloride yesterday.
