

SAUNTERINGS

THE friends of Charlie Stanton, who is now Brigadier-General C. E. Stanton, were more than pleased to hear of his well earned promotion. Charles was formerly city recorder and county clerk in Salt Lake, later joining the army and going through the Philippine campaign, and upon his return was stationed first at San Francisco and then at Governor's Island, New York. He was then sent abroad with the American expeditionary forces on General Pershing's staff.

In Paris, shortly after their arrival, when the American officers assembled to honor Lafayette, General Stanton was called upon for a speech, which he opened with the words, "Lafayette, we are here." The depth of meaning in that one sentence has made it immortal. While it was attributed to General Pershing, it was really said by General Stanton.

Besides being a Brigadier-General, Charlie Stanton is one of the best of good fellows, his ready wit, whole-heartedness and ability to mix on all occasions make him one of the most popular and sought after speakers at every gathering of fun-makers where his presence is available.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. GROESBECK, now of New York, but formerly of Salt Lake, have spent the week here and will remain for about ten days more. During their stay they have been quietly entertained by a number of old friends who have given some smart little dinners in their honor, and Mrs. Groesbeck has been the guest of honor at an afternoon affair or two.

While living here only a comparatively short time, they became extremely popular and their departure caused general regret in society and club circles. Both express themselves as being very happy, even for a short period, to renew acquaintances, and enjoy the good sunshine and fresh air of the west after several months of life in the big city.

LOUIS C. CATES, who with his wife, who was formerly Miss Helen Gillispie of this city, are very popular locally, is known as the Republican boss of Pinal county, Arizona, and general manager of the Tom Campbell gubernatorial campaign in Arizona. As manager of the Ray Consolidated, he occupies a prominent place in the mining world, but as a political factor, we believe this is a new departure for Mr. Cates. However if he goes at it with his customary energy, he will probably be highly successful.

DOWN in Arizona the girl soda dispensers are now wearing white trouserettes and, according to Dunbar's Weekly, in the places where this innovation is in vogue the baldheaded soda trade is being monopolized. Certainly. It would be an excellent idea if put into local effect, for with the theatres all closed and most of the usual excitement on the blink it would be really more refreshing than the soda to be waited upon by a cluster of Yama-Yama girls.

A FEW evenings ago one of our younger society lights, who had evidently collided with a bottle of boot, was waving down Main street in the Saturday night crowd. Upon approaching a friend he asked, "Can you tell me where the ozer side of the street ish?" "Right over there," replied his informer. "You must be mistaken," said the gilded youth, "man over there jusht told me it was over here."

CAPTAIN AND MRS. WALTER E. BUCHLEY have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hooper during the past fortnight. Captain Bushley left during the week for Fort Hill, but Mrs. Buchley, who was formerly Miss Marian Hooper, formerly one of Salt Lake's most popular society girls, will remain here for several weeks.

JOHN S. CRITCHLOW was entertained at dinner by his wife the other evening in honor of his sixty-ninth birthday. There were a dozen convivial friends about the board joining in making the evening one to be remembered by all of the favored ones present as well as the neighbors. This is the first of a series of dinners to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Critchlow during the winter unless the quarantine on the Spanish flu continues in force. Those present accepted for the next time and wished the guest of honor many happy returns of the night.

MR. MILES VARIAN of Los Angeles is visiting in this city for a short time. Dr. Varian lived here for many years and has a host of friends who are welcoming him home. Since locating in Los Angeles he has become one of that city's most prominent physicians, his popularity being limited only by the number of his acquaintances.

THE marriage of Miss Anna Mary Ritzler to George Wall of Ogden took place in St. Patrick's church on Tuesday, the Right Reverend P. M. Cushnahan officiating. A wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's sister, Miss Katherine Rotzler, who acted as bridesmaid. They are now on their honeymoon and upon their return they will be at home in Ogden.

JUST think of it, girls, we are going to dance again! There has not been a real honest to goodness dance for so long, outside of the little informal affairs at the Country club, that most of the people have forgotten how to dance. It is being planned for Thursday evening at the Hotel Utah and is under the auspices of the younger members of the War Work depot. However, there will be nothing doing if the influenza quarantine is still on. Providing that is over there will surely be a mob in attendance, but otherwise the dance will be indefinitely postponed. Let us all hope that by that time no quarantine will be necessary in Utah or anywhere else.

Tom Nolan, the counsellor, for years kept the New York bar laughing at his drolleries. Once he was arguing a case in behalf of some sailors, and in the midst of an exhaustive display of nautical lore he was interrupted by the court. "How comes it, counsellor, that you possess such vast knowledge of the sea?" "Does your Honor think," responded Nolan, "that I came over in a hack?"

She joined Mr. LaVielle here, his business interests making him as much a resident of Salt Lake as Evanston. They will be here several weeks before returning to Wyoming.

ONE of the well known American writers who is to make a survey of the work accomplished by the War Camp Community Service in Boston is Mrs. Gertrude Franklin Atherton, great-grandniece of Benjamin Franklin, who has lived abroad a great deal in recent years, until the war started. Mrs. Atherton is a Californian, whose field of work is broad, embracing widely separated activities. Two of her notable works are "An Intimate History of California" and "American Wives and English Husbands."

THE GREATEST NUT

A certain member of the crew of a tank deserves promotion for his answer to an inspecting officer's question.

"What is the most important nut on a tank?"

"The driver, sir," he replied blithely, and all was once again beans and benevolence.—Town Chier.
