CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY,.....MARCH 3, 1875.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Ventura sails for San Francisco to-day.

The Constitution sailed for Nanaimo yesterday.

The Board of Supervisors have adjourned.

Downey shipped yesterday 125 sacks of corn and 41 bales of hay.

C. Brode—a son—everything serene.

The Santa Barbara Index has been enlarged to a six-page sheet.

Go to the new Postoffice building for your mail this morning.

Five hundred boxes of oranges were shipped from the depot yesterday.

Social circles are all agog over the coming masquerade ball.

Mr. Will R. Bettis has been appointed deputy poll-tax collector.

San Bernardino is having bonanza balls and parties.

Judge Gray took in several new recruits for the chain-gang yesterday.

A slight shower commenced falling about 7:30 last evening.

The air grew quite chilly yesterday afternoon—a premonitor of rain.

Our old friend Will Tell, of seaside notoriety, is now happy in a lager beer saloon in San Bernardino.

There are only a few more chances left in the thousand dollar diamond ring at the Fashion Saloon.

Judge Widney expects to christen his new line the East Los Angeles and San Pedro Street Railroad.

A meeting of Los Angeles Lodge, No. 35, I. O. O. F., of special importance will be held to-night. A full attendance is expected.

A party of Councilmen and one reporter took a ride over the line of the newly projected street railroad yesterday.

Bear in mind that Williams will sell forty-six valuable town lots on Friday. They go at auction and are a rare chance.

The iron of the Main Street and Agricultural Park Railroad is expected to arrive next week, when active operations in track-laying will be commenced.

The proprietor of the Merced Theatre, Mr. Abbott, is making arrangements to put in a new gallery and make other important improvements in the building.

The iron for the Main street railroad left San Francisco on Monday. Governor Downey will go up on the next steamer to select the plan of cars to be used on the road.

The shipments from Anaheim by railroad during the month of February were as follows: 3,764 sacks barley, 173 sacks corn, 715 sacks rye, 200 sacks potatoes, 22 pipes wine, 29 sacks wheat, 19 sacks beans, 39 boxes eggs.

There is a man in San Bernardino so mean that he refused to buy a three cent postage stamp for his wife the other day. It may be that she was writing to his mother-in-law, and in that case he was excusable.

J. C. Wallace entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of manslaughter, in the District Court yesterday. The trial was set for the 25th inst., and a venire issued for 50 jurors.

The Disciples of Christ formed themselves into a Church last Sunday with 29 members. The organization will hereafter be known as the Christian Church.

Miss Jennie Leys, by request, will relate some of her experiences in the transition from Orthodoxy to Spiritualism at Merced Theatre, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

It is now thought that the second sale of Centinela property, advertised for the 12th of April next, may not come off, as the lands are being sold very rapidly at private sale, and may be entirely disposed of before that time.

The attention of our business men is directed to the fact that J. L. Ward makes collections on Panamint safely and promptly. Mr. Henry G. Houston, late of Los Angeles and well known and respected here, is his agent at that place.

Rumor hath it that a couple of Los Angeles lawyers had an interesting little set-to at Anaheim last Monday. They were both drunk; they went at it tooth and toe-nail; they clinched and fell, and rolled over and over and over, but neither one was much hurt.

A spiritualist of this city who is far gone in the faith has a sleeping apartment about ten feet square raised on timber to the height of twenty feet from the ground. To this he repairs at night for repose, and the spirits, finding great difficulty in climbing the posts, let him alone.

Mr. A. J. Davidson made his appearance in town yesterday for the first time since his late accident, by which he lost the thumb of his left hand. He carried his arm in a band-box and looked a little demoralized generally, but said that he was getting along finely.

A subscriber writing from Baldeye, Miss., says: "I have received three numbers of the WEEKLY HERALD, and am well pleased with the paper. I now want a copy of the HERALD pamphlet, and enclose stamps. Documents or papers relative to California are in such demand here that a man must keep his having one a secret if he wishes to be able to refer to it himself.

Mr. John Donahue of the Training Stables on Main street has associated with himself as partner Mr. Henry, better known as "Hank," a vetran trainer. The present company keep in connection with the training business, a general livery and boarding stable. They board trains and let horses on the most reasonable terms. Parties having promising colts would do well to put them under the care of these experienced hands in the business.

Board of Supervisors.

TUESDAY, March 2d.

The Board met at 10 A. M.

The District Attorney, in the application of Ignacio Del Valle for release from tax on mortgage, gave his opinion that the tax could not be collected. Sheriff ordered not to sell property.

The petition of J. C. Hickey and others, for a road from Newport to Santa Ana, granted. L. Seebold, Mr. Lockhart and G. Morgan appointed viewers.

Petition of S. D. Smith and two others, asking to have their names stricken from a petition to open a road through the lands of Chapman and Newmark, above the Mission. Petition granted.

Petition and remonstrance for road through Mr. Stout's land, at Los Nietos, near the college—four disinterested parties selected to view premises and determine whether road should be opened or not.

Petition of J. W. Clark and others for road from Westminster to Anaheim depot. Granted. L. Seebold, B. F. E. Kellogg and D. W. C. Cowan appointed as viewers.

Petition of F. A. McNeil asking to be refunded money paid for a double assessment of taxes. Granted.

A. Langenberger petitioned to be refunded taxes on mortgage released three years ago, but release not on record. Granted.

The petition of Wm. [illegible] Rowland and others for a bridge across Vega Honda creek, was read, and the application ordered to be advertised, as required by law.

The bonds of the Commissioners, elected for the Cajon Water District, were approved, and those of J. E. Tipton, for Road Overseer of Azusa, were also approved.

The Clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for medicine and medical attendance for the County Hospital and County Jail; also for the county printing and advertising.

Adjourned till the first Monday in April.

That Odious Word, "Uncertain."

The San Diego Union is peculiarly sensitive now since the last misfortune of the Texas Pacific Railroad Bill, and comes after us like an aggravated tarantula, in this fashion:

The Los Angeles HERALD is in a witty vein, and forecasts the future of San Diego in one word—"uncertain." Let us see: In 1870 this county had about 2,000 population; assessed valuation, about $1,000,000; bee ranches, none; farms, none to speak of; mines, none opened; the town, just beginning to be built. In 1875, population over 10,000; assessed valuation over three millions; honey export last year, nearly 500,000 pounds; wool export over 1,000,000 pounds; wheat production, 200,000 centals, etc., etc.; a town with permanent improvements that will compare well with anything Los Angeles has to show and public buildings that Los Angeles cannot begin to equal; and a people who have no such word as "uncertain" in their vocabulary.

But perhaps the HERALD is witty at the expense of our railroad prospects. We may well retort that, if there is a place in Southern California whose railroad prospects are "uncertain" it is Los Angeles,—uncertain, that is, as to the realization of the anticipations of her people. The distressing question even now is, "main line, or branch?" Los Angeles is unfortunately situated in this respect. At the very best, even on the "main line," can be but a way station. On the other hand, San Diego is built upon the shores of the second harbor in California, to which the railroads must come; and while her people may have to endure some trial of patience in waiting for their advent, and her productive wealth is increasing with really marvelous rapidity. Here, if anywhere in California, the future may be counted upon with certainty.

The same old tune—"harbor"—harped to the one thousand and first variation! Of course San Diego harbor is good—or will be as soon as they get the sand deposted by the river scooped out of it. And San Diego will always he a good shipping point for local freights, perhaps a first-class town some day. Her people, though they may not be "uncertain," as the word goes, are still on the fence dividing their faith equally between Providence and Tom Scott, with a little hesitation as to which one of the deities they shall address their prayers to. The question of "main or branch line" for Los Angeles has long since been settled and fixed in a contract beyond the disposal of any railroad company, as shown by the striking out of the objectionable clauses in the Southern Pacific Bill. Los Angeles will have not one, but two, main lines, and already has three branches. Our city will be the focal point for shipment at three ports—Wilmington, Santa Monica and Bolsa Chica—either of which will answer for practical purposes as well as San Diego harbor. But we do not wish to inaugurate a newspaper warfare with our San Diego neighbors and, besides, it is mean to kick a man when he is down. Perhaps we had better say that we consider the prospects of San Diego certain—for a very good town.

The New Postoffice.

Between four o'clock last evening and midnight, Postmaster Bent and his efficient deputies removed the Postoffice from the old location in Temple Block to the new office, next door to the HERALD office, and this morning everything will be ready for the prompt delivery of mail matter as usual. The office is a great improvement on the old one. There is a great deal more room, a large number of lock-boxes have been added, and a number of other improvements made which will lighten the labor of the clerks and facilitate the delivery of the mails. Los Angeles now has a first-class Postoffice, a first-class Postmaster and a corps of active and efficient clerks.

A three-year-old youngster saw a drunken fellow "tacking" through the street. "Mother," said he, "did God make that man?" She replied in the affirmative. The little fellow reflected for a moment, and then exclaimed, "I wouldn't have done it!"

Boy on Uncle's knee: "Uncle, what's that in your throat?" Uncle—"That is an Adam's apple." Boy—"Adam's apple! Has it got a stem?"

Unwelcome Information.

EDITOR HERALD: It is an old and well known adage that gratuitous information is not well received. Persons who have sacraficed everything to the hurricane sweep of their own unbridled passions, come, when too late, to conclude that any price would be paid for immunity from disease and consequent dissolution. But the only bank on which they might draw with hope of their drafts being honored has been depleted; their vitality has been squandered, and Nature, the chief cashier, does not know the needy applicant. We pay fabulous sums to employ valient knights, who, mounted on their fancy steeds, make feints of charging down upon error, while they are secretly scattering the seeds of disorder. Why? Simply that under the abnormal conditions, disorders are the best paying crops to cultivate. The temper must be drawn from the human steel in order to make it subservient. All the back bone, all the moral stamina, it is an absolute necessity for the tyrannically inclined to annihilate. How better can this be done than to encourage and foster the use of narcotics and stimulants that unfailingly deplete the vital sum? "Oh, I would rather enjoy myself while I do live than to be eternally depriving myself of these indulgences," say the victims of tobacco, tea, coffee, alcohol, drugs, etc. And, of course, they will never be taught a better policy, so long as the weighty influences of damnable rings and monopolists are on the side of their constant use. How else could the whole world be kept in subjection, if it were not by the potent assistance of these enervating habits that come to be second nature and are transmitted from one generation to another? Once admit the entering wedge of these heresies against the universal indulgencies, and "Othello's occupation's gone. My doughty knight, that now amuses himself and the unthinking crowd by charging hither and thither at errors of his own creation, would have to dismount and harness his steed to cart or plough to earn his own bread, if the "dear people" were once educated in the fundamental laws of health of body and mind. Therefore, by all means, let us suppress these meddlesome emancipationists who are constantly annoying us with their gratuitous information.

F. M. SHAW.

February 24th, 1875.

San Bernardino Items.

[From the Argus.]

Whooping cough is quite prevalent among the children in town.

Sixty-seven additional Chinamen just from San Francisco were put to work on the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad Wednesday.

Senator Jones writes from Washington that he will return to California about the middle of March and will at once look into his Panamint interests.

Chief Engineer Crawford has sent to San Francisco for a steam Burley drill, for use upon the rock in Cajon Pas, and it will be forwarded immediately and set to work.

The matter of constructing a good wagon road from some point on the railroad up the Santa Ana to Bear Valley is being mooted and like every other measure finds some enthusiastic friends.

Mr. Thorn returned from the front yesterday, and reports that the camp of the grading party is not more than six miles from San Bernadino. There is no iron at Spadra but three vessels sailed from New York some months ago, and when they arrive track laying will commence.

Anaheim Items.

[From the Gazette]

The Los Angeles and San Bernardino Land Company are about to lay off two sections of land into town lots. The site is near Costa Station, about five miles from Anaheim. It is probable that the new metropolis will be named Northam.

Mr. Hansen, the gentlemanly conductor on the Anaheim Branch, is the messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co., and can be relied on to transact business in Los Angeles with accuracy and attention at a very small charge. He has access to the banks in the afternoon, and will transact any banking business.

A company is being formed for the purpose of erecting a fine hotel, of sufficient capacity to meet the wants of the public in this prosperous section for some time to come. It was at first the intention to build it on the west side of Los Angeles street, opposite the Presbyterian Church, but being unable to procure the necessary land for the purpose, the company talk of building on Center street a short distance from the railroad depot, if they can procure a suitable site. We will be able to obtain the full particulars of this enterprise in a few days.

It will be remembered that a few days ago a shock like that of an earthquake was felt. It wasn't an earthquake, however, but merely the concussion of the atmosphere produced by the rapid descent from a high altitude of the four-year-old son of Al. Steinhart. He was playing on the porch of Phil. Davis' house, when he toppled over and fell a distance of eighteen feet to the ground, the only damage being the loss of some skin from his little nose. It was some time before his parents could ascertain from him the cause of his damaged probocis, as he dreaded that his escapade would get him a licking. He didn't get it.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

When a boy is sitting on the sunny side of a barn, waiting for his father to come and "lick" him, you might talk astronomy to him for four straight hours, and not excite his interest."

A Dubuque boy was rather troubled for for fear he would not know his father when they both reached heaven, but his mother eased him by remarking: "All you will have to do is to look for an angel with a red nose on him."

SundaySchool teacher—"What do you understand by suffering for righteousness sake?" Boy, promptly—"Practicing hymns in the morning, teacher, and Sunday School in the afternoon, and Bible class in the evenin'!"

They are again telling of Anna Dickinson's probable debut on the stage. This time it is to be in the Spring at Boston, and in the role of "John Dark," as the lecture committeeman called it in naming Miss D.'s subject, "Joan d'Arc."

California Wheat.

Ten years ago California produced only wheat enough for her own consumption, if, indeed, enough was raised in the State for that purpose. The immense proportions which that crop has reached in a single decade, is one of the most astonishing events of the century. The Chronicle well remarks, that "if this immense mass of of wheat had come down upon us in a shower from heaven, it could not have been more unlooked for than it was a few years ago. The surprises in California, in an agricultural way, have been greater than those of the mineral, astonishing and bewildering as they have been."

The amount of the surplus is stated in figures at 20,000,000 bushels, or about 600,000 tons. To form a definite idea of what these figures mean is a very difficult matter. The New York Herald, in order to assist the understanding, says that, loaded in carts, each containing a ton, to be hauled to New York, the first would be at its destination when the last was leaving San Francisco. This, at first thought, seems extravagant; but in order to travel comfortably, not much more than two hundred carts could be ranged upon a mile, and hence the statement is not very wide of the mark.

Political Economy.

There is a good deal of wisdom to be found in the by-ways. A recent English book mentions some lines, known as the "Seven Conditions," which appear beneath a series of old designs to be found in almost every house on both banks of the Rhine:

The first is the emperor, who says, "I levy tribute."

Next comes the nobleman, who says, "I have free estate."

The priest says, "I take tithes."

The merchant says, "I live by my profiits."

The soldier says, "I pay for nothing."

"The beggar says, "I have nothing."

The peasant says, "God help me! for these six other men have all to be supported by me."

IT IS SELDOM THAT WE NOTICE anything in the medical line, nor would we now, unless we could be convinced that we are not doing our duty as journalists in recommending to the public the celebrated botonical preparations of Dr. Henry. Whoever induces the victim of Scrofula or any other disease of the blood, to use Dr. Henry's Extract of Sarsaparilla, has begun a good work. There can be no question as to the result of this medicine if persevered in. It is a sure cure for Scrofula, Rheumatism, Salt Rheum, and indeed all complaints arising from vitiated and impure blood. It is just what a good physician would prescribe for these complaints, and we confidentially recommend it as being the best article now in use. Dr. Henry's Cough Balsam is the most effective remedy for any affections of the Throat or Lungs that we have ever known. It contains no deleterious drugs, and can be taken with impunity and certainty of relief. For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, etc., it stands without a rival. Dr. Henry's Linament as an alleviator of pain, is unrivalled by any preparation before the public; the most skeptical will be convinced by a single trial. It will prove itself a "friend in need" which no family should be without
