TANNER OFF ON HIS LONG RIDE.

The Cowboy Cheered by Thousands as He Starts.

Around the World on the Back of a Bronco.

Young America was out in full force this morning to see Cowboy Tanner mount his bronco "Gip" in front of the Pulitzer Building at 10 o'clock, and start on his trip around the world in the saddle.

Youths with wild Western ambitions, from Harlem to the Battery, from Brooklyn and Hoboken, crowded into Park Row a half hour before the time Tanner was to appear, and watched eagerly to see the man they all envied.

Even men old enough to have cast ballots and some who may have voted for every President since Andrew Jackson's time were on hand to see a real, live cowboy, with enough of the love of truth in his heart to say he had never had an adventure.

A real good study of the man from the plains was reserved, however, for the lads who look upon every man riding a bronco as a hero, and who were active enough to crowd all others aside.

Gip was feeling as gay as her master, and pranced around in Park Row as if hugely pleased with the prospect of a tramp over the terra firma portions of these last days of her ride across the seas.

Her iron-gray coat was well curried and glossy and her eye as bright as a diamond.

She stood restlessly on the hard cobble stones, but Tanner said that when she reached New Jersey the roads will be more like Western plains.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the wandering cowboy stepped from the Pulitzer Building to the sidewalk to find that his bronco, which he had left with a friend, was surrounded by a crowd as large and as dense as was ever packed in Cooper Union.

The little pony had been crowded into Frankfort street, and it was all Tanner could do to push through to where he could mount.

"Here, shake hands," said one of the most persistent young Americans, and as he did so a thousand other hands were outstretched and a thousand tongues were crying, "Shake here," and the cowboy from the plains for the first time in his life learned what a wonderful thing fame is.

Just then he was almost carried from his feet by the rush, and grabbing his pony's mane, was pushed to her side, and with a good-by to the reporters swung himself into the saddle and rode through the gap that seemed to voluntarily open.

Then every one cheered, all waved their hats, and as Tanner acknowledged the ovation by removing his big white sombrero there was a shout almost as loud as on the night of Nov. 8, when Cleveland reached the top of the ladder, leaving Harrison away down below.

Tanner rode to the Cortlandt street ferry, from there went to Jersey City and then to Newark.

During the extremely warm weather he will travel principally at night, following the route as given in yesterday's "Evening World."

TANNER AND GIP.

HART'S CHARGES ENTERTAINED

The Bookie's Three Police Assailants to Be Tried.

Inspector Williams Hears the Complaint This Morning.

Frank R. Hart, the bookmaker, of 454 East Eighty-fourth street, the man who alleged in Harlem Court yesterday that he was cruelly beaten and clubbed by several policemen of the East Eighty-eighth street station, early yesterday morning, was at Police Headquarters to-day.

Inspector Williams consented to see Hart, and after listening to his story, which was told in "The Evening World," was obliged to take a complaint against Policemen Isaac Milhauser, Richard Finn and James F. Hannon.

The three policemen were called before the Inspector. They asserted that Hart was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Hart, when seen by an "Evening World" reporter, stated that he should leave no stone unturned to bring his assailants to justice.

Hart's right eye was badly blackened, and his face showed that he had been roughly used.

Frank Osborne, of 213 East Eighty-fourth street, who, because he said that he would be a witness for Hart against the policemen, was also abused, was not at Police Headquarters. He will, however, be on hand at the trial.

Milhauser, Finn and Hannon stood about in the corridor outside of Inspector Williams's office for an hour, and from their happy mood they appeared to consider the situation as a huge joke, rather than an outrage.

CHARLES FOSTER'S SETTLEMENT.

Many of the Ex-Secretary's Creditors Sign Off for 50 Cents.

FOSTORIA, O., June 20.—The Committee appointed by the creditors of Charles Foster have prepared blanks proposing a settlement on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar, and have left the same at about half a dozen places for signatures.

Thus far about two hundred persons have signed, but this is only a drop in the bucket, and it will be many days before a settlement can be made on that basis. Mr. Foster is confident he can pay out in time if the 50-cent deal is agreed upon.

Bank and Business Troubles.

A branch of the Linn County Bank at Lebanon, Ore., closed its doors yesterday, and the Bank of Oregon, at Albany, closed its doors during the afternoon. Cashier Blain says the assets are 50 per cent. more than its liabilities.

The creditors of Hamilton, Job & Co., of Corvallis, Ore., bankers, who failed a week ago, held a meeing yesterday. The available assets are $133,000 and the liabilities $224,000.

The City Savings Bank, Chattanooga, Tenn., made a general assignment yesterday to G. Jarnagin, its Vice-President. The bank had a paid-up capital of $200,000 and a surplus of $25,000.

Abe Steinberg, a clothing merchant, of Topeka, Kan., failed yesterday. The liabilities are $40,000, with nominal assets of about an equal amount. Chattel mortgages on the stock were given to various preferred creditors.

An assignment has been declared by the Engineering Company, of Harvey, Ill., and the American Loan and Trust Bank has been appointed receiver of the concern. John M. Sweeney, President of the concern, claims they will be able to pay all debts if they are only given a little financial assistance and time to fill contracts.

The Kansas State Bank Commissioner yesterday ordered the State Bank of Plainville closed. The officers claim that depositors will be paid in full.

J. & G. Butler, wholesale grocers, of Columbus, O., assigned yesterday to Charles B. Butler. Liabilities, $50,000; assets, $80,000 to $100,000. They had been in business since 1854.

SCHOOL-HOUSE BONDS FOR SALE.

$263,999, Bearing 3 Per Cent. Interest, Offered to Bidders.

Comptroller Myers has advertised the sale of $263,999 school-house bonds. He calls attention to the law of 1889 authorizing executors, administrators, guardians, trustees, and others holding trust funds to invest such funds in the bonds of the City of New York.

The bonds are exempt from taxation by the city, but not from State taxation. They bear 3 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually.

The sale will take place at the Comptroller's office, on June 29, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

Struck with a Beer Glass.

During an altercation at 1 o'clock this morning at 190 Seventh street, between Frank Neidhart and Bernard Pfeffer, both of 193 Seventh street, Pfeffer struck Neidhart with a beer glass, inflicting a severe injury over the left eye. Neidhart was sent to Bellevue Hospital and Pfeffer was arrested.

CURES RISING BREAST

"MOTHER'S FRIEND" is the greatest blessing ever offered child-bearing woman. I have been a midwife for many years, and in each case where "Mother's Friend" had been used it has accomplished wonders and relieved much suffering. It is the best remedy for rising of the breast known, and worth the price for that alone. MRS. M. M. BAUERER, Montgomery, Ala.

O'NEILL OPERA TROUPE DISBANDS

Professional Jealousies Cause a Disruption at Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 20.—The O'Neill grand opera company, organized in New York last April, and which has been playing a successful engagement here for six weeks, collapsed last evening.

The company had two prima donnas, Miss Bertini Humphreys and Miss Dellaporte. A cabal, it is alleged, was formed against Miss Humphreys by Miss Dellaporte, in which Richie Ling, the tenor, and Max Herschfield, the musical director, it is alleged, took Dellaporte's side.

Last week the company played in Savannah, and they were to open a return engagement here last night. There was some dispute between Manager L. Arthur O'Neill, proprietor of the company, and Max Herschfield, the director, as to the repertoire for the wee.

Yesterday afternoon Herschfield sent a letter to O'Neill, demanding his pay for last week. O'Neill claimed that the week's pay was not due till Tuesday. Herschfield thereupon refused to conduct the opera, and the manager announced that the director having refused to perform his duties, the company was disbanded and all salaries forfeited.

YOUNG MANZANELLO PUT AWAY.

His Father Said to Have Taught Him to Be a Thief.

Justice Goetting, in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day sent Michael Manzanello, seven years old, to St. Dominick's home.

Despite the boy's tender years he has been arrested on several occasions, and the police say that he is as well trained a little thief as there is in Brooklyn.

A few weeks ago Michael was arrested on a charge of stealing $375 from the till of a grocery at 24 Richardson street, and it was then alleged that the youngster had been taught to be a thief by his father.

Owing to the boy's youth he was not prosecuted, and when an attempt was made to prosecute the father it was found he had disappeared.

For the last week young Manzanello has been roaming the streets, and in court to-day he was convicted of vagrancy.

Colonia Not Ready for Her Trial.

PROVIDENCE, June 20.—The Rogers syndicate yacht Colonia will not make a trial trip to-day. The little alterations that have been in progress since her initial trip are not completed, but the work is being done with all possible despatch.

FOR LITTLE ROBBIE'S SAKE!

Can This Mamma Refuse to Heed This Appeal?

If She Will Only Come Back They Will All Be Happy Again.

Where is this "mamma?"

If her eyes read these lines and the little appeal photographed from the slip of brown paper, on which a schoolchild's hand had written it, her mother's heart will melt, unless it has turned to stone, and she will carry gladness to a disconsolate husband, a desolate home, a yearning family, ere the shades of night have fallen.

Now mama for little robbie sake who is dead do come back to your bob

This appeal was written at the end of a letter addressed to "The Evening World" as follows:

Dear Mr. Editor

My mama told me how good your paper was to the poor little children. I ask you to please do me this favor and I will pray for you every night before going to bed. Ever since my little brother Rob died my mama has been worrying all the time and she left home last week and we have not heard from her since, my papa is almost crazy and he loves my mama so much, and if she will only come back we will all be happy again. It would bring disgrace on us all if should tell her name. I hope dear sir you will do me this favor and help me my mama and would be ever so thankful to you.

Then followed that part of the letter reproduced in fac simile above. There is no signature, for the pleading writer wants to protect "mamma" and poor papa, who is almost crazy, from disgrace.

If not for the sake of little Robbie, dead, mamma should return to the living Bob, and the baby who pleads so eloquently.

Small Fires of the Morning.

Joseph Glogaus bakery in the rear of 356 Canal street was damaged $50 by fire early to-day. A fire in the rooms of Thomas J. Byrnes, at 220 East Thirty-seventh street, caused $25 damage. Some rubbish caught fire this morning on the fire-escape at the third story of the tenement, 206 East Ninety-fifth street, occupied by Stephen Deitz. The damage was trifling.

A Fatal Fall.

Louis Lazarus, a Russian, forty-two years old, fell at 10 o'clock this morning from a window on the second floor of his home, 132 Monroe street, into the yard in the rear and was killed.

Do you spend too much for clothes? Is your bank account surprisingly fat or surprisingly slim?

Some $20 Suits for $10

The reason why some people have their clothes made to measure is because they think they can't be fitted in ready-made clothes. We fit anybody—any shape—especially in these TWENTY-DOLLAR SUITS FOR $10. People that know this save lots of money.
