DRAGGED TO A STABLE

Lahler Farris's Story of Brutal Assault and Robbery.

Three Men Under Arrest on Her Complaint.

They Deny the Woman's Story, but Are Held.

James McEverly, twenty years old, a printer, of 114 East Fifty-second street; Thomas McGuire, a driver, twenty years old, of 125 East Fifty-third street, and Patrick Nolan, a coach-washer, twenty-four years old, of 225 East Fifty-third street, were arraigned before Judge Burke in the Yorkville Police Court this morning on a double charge of criminal assault and robbery.

The complainant is Lahler Farris, a Bohemian woman, employed as a domestic at Third avenue and Forty-second street. She is twenty-five years old.

She alleges that last night she met McEverly and McGuire on Third avenue and Fifty-third street, and that they seized her by the arms and forcibly took her to the stables at 225 East Fifty-third street, where they dragged her upstairs to the second floor, after locking the door of the stable.

Shortly afterwards Nolan came upstairs, and all three men assaulted her brutally, and no assistance came in answer to her outcries.

When she persisted in shouting for help the men, she says, gagged her by stuffing a piece of cloth into her mouth.

After a time she was permitted to leave the building. She met Policeman Phillips, of the Fifty-first street station, in Fifty-third street, and told her tale to him. He went to the stable and arrested all three men.

After Miss Farris left the stable she discovered she had lost a gold ring, a pair of gloves, a handkerchief, a garter and a pocketbook containing $10.

She told the officer of this loss, and he found the handkerchief and glove in Nolan's possession, but the other property had disappeared.

Nolan told Judge Burke that the woman came to the stable last night with McEverly and McGuire of her own accord, went upstairs of her own free will, and made no outcry or resistance at any time.

He said he found the handkerchief and gloves on the floor after she went out, and that he knew nothing about the rest of the property.

The prisoners were held in $3,000 bail each for the action of the Grand Jury.

AFTER "MUD-GUTTER" BANDS.

Liberty Musical Union Trying to Oust Them from Brooklyn.

A circular has just ben prepared by Liberty Musical Local Union No. 5,097, American Federation of Labor, which within a few days will be distributd in Brooklyn, calling attention to the unfair competition of the itinerant musicians generally known as "mud-gutter bands," against which the resident musicians have to contend.

The residents of Brooklyn are asked in the circular to aid the Union in ridding the Union of these bands, on the ground that they are composed of foreigners, and are brought here under salary from Germany or Austria by leaders, who take such orders from societies as come along at prices that are simply ruinous.

GOSSIPY PARIS PASSENGERS.

A. M. Palmer and Others Tell What They Will Do.

Lottie Collins Has a New Song to Sing to the Americans.

There was a big crowd of celebrities ranged along the rail of the American liner Paris when she was warped into her dock about 9.30 o'clock this morning.

Almost the first to step ashore was Manager A. M. Palmer, who has returned from an expedition devoted to the capture of some of the best things that Paris which have been delighting the whole of the other side.

Mr. Palmer said he had got several new plays in his trunks, but the best, in his opinion, was a comic opera, "Madame Boniface," which he thought was the best thing in London. Mr. Palmer said he should put "Madame Boniface" on at the Garden Theatre very soon.

He said there was no truth in the reports that he was to take the Lyceum Dramatic Theatre from Mr. Daly, who intended to give up his American clientele.

E. S. Phelps, of the Boating Sea Commission, granted "The Evening World" now a short interview. He said:

"The preliminaries are necessarily tedious, but there is every probability of the decision being given on within a week.

"Senator Morgan intended to sail with me on the Paris, but learning that the decision was so near at hand he decided to wait until Aug. 16 so as to be on the ground.

"There is no friction whatever between England and America in this matter, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary.

"I have reason to hope that the decision will be in the nature of a compromise.

"I shall remain in New York for three days and then start for Vermont."

Comedian James Lewis, of Daly's company, found time while getting the inspection of his baggage to clap his hands on a hasting broken with Daly and his intention of not going back.

"That is all wrong," said he. "The most pleasant relations exist between Mr. Daly and myself.

"I have merely come over for the pleasure of the trip and to take a short vacation, during which time I shall attend to some personal matters. I shall return to London and Mr. Daly's company in a very few days."

Miss Isabelle Irving, who came over with Mr. Lewis, will also return to Mr. Daly's company with the comedian.

Concerning Mr. Daly's affairs in London, Mr. Lewis said that there was nothing to complain about in the matter of the treatment Mr. Daly's theatre had received at the hands of the London public.

"Mr. Daly told me a day or two before I came away that he was perfectly satisfied with his venture.

"Of course there is the difficulty of establishing a new theatre to be overcome. The caterers, however, are learning where it is now, and that is a big step towards insuring its ultimate success.

"If a London cabby can't tell you where to find a theatre, it's a good sign you don't want to go there."

Herbert Standing, late leading man at the Criterion Theatre, London, was also a passenger on board the Paris, together with his son, Guy Standing, and the latter's wife, Isabelle Urquhart.

Mr. Herbert Standing has come over to be Charles Frohman's leading man in an American adaptation of "Cyrano, Lord Manfre Ltd." by the French playwights M. Fredeau and M. des Vallieres.

Mr. Standing will open in Washington on Aug. 28.

"This is my first trip to America, you know," he said. "I thought that as my brother, Will Carlton, of Lillian Russell's company, had been so kindly received by the Americans, I would try it myself."

It is evident that Mr. Standing is anxious to please, and he appears to be the kind of a man American theatre-goers like. He is stalwart and cheery in his manner, seems a thoroughly good fellow and brings with him the good wishes of numerous theatre-goers in London.

Tall and stately Isabelle Urquhart has returned after having been away for two and half years. She said her husband, Guy Standing, have been members of Charles Wyndham's company.

Miss Urquhart said that she was glad to get back to her first love, the Garden Theatre. She says she and her husband will do a twenty-minute dialogue named "A Morning Call," by Charles Hanger, with Lole Fuller's company.

Paul Bourget, the French writer, author of "Cosmopolis," was a conspicuous figure on the pier. He is short and stout, with a sunburned face.

He wears a big mustache, a monocle and an air of being very much disgusted with everything. He complained about the fatigue of the trip, but would not talk about himself or his plans while here.

The ever-charming Lottie Collins, of Ta-ra-ra fame, had a great time over her baggage. She brought along her little daughter and a horse. Miss Collins has gained in flesh since she was last seen here.

She says she will head Rich & Harris's Howard Athenaeum company, and will do a twenty-minute turn and sing a new song of the medley order.

She will not sing "Ta-ra-ra," she says, except in cities where it has not been heard. She laughed when she said it.

Another theatrical gentleman who has brought over a novelty is Edwin Cleary.

He will produce the French musical comedy, "L'Enfant Prodigue," a Play Without Words." It has been a great go in London and Paris, and will be produced at Daly's Aug. 21. The company which will bring it out will arrive on the next French steamer. It is the same company which has been giving "L'Enfant Prodigue" on the other side.

The Paris made the trip from Southampton in 6 days, 12 hours and 10 minutes, 2 hours and 23 minutes behind her record.

Among other passengers were the Shogoi Atsushi Matsura, Percy McKeirath, United States Consul at Turin; Mrs. McKeirath, William C. Heine, President Clarke, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad; Major A. H. Reginald, R. E.; Col. D. E. Hungerford, Thomas E. Shearman and J. N. Phelps Stokes.

THOUGHT HE SAW LEE.

Crazy Veteran Early Said the Dead General Wanted to Surrender.

William E. Farly, a war veteran, was sent to Bellevue Hospital from Jefferson Market Court this morning in a strait jacket, violently insane.

He was found in West Twelfth street by Policeman Fagin, of the Mercer street police station, last night acting in a peculiar manner. Farly, who is tall and angular, with a black mustache and imperial, was inviting the crowd which surrounded him to come up and kiss his feet.

When arraigned in court this morning Early broke out again. He imagined he saw the late confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee among the spectators, and he struggled desperately to get away.

"There he is! There he is!" he yelled. "Let me get to him! He wants to surrender!"

Four officers were needed to drag him to the prison, where he was put in a strait-jacket and immediately sent to the hospital.

Ten Insane Go to Ward's Island.

Mary Neary, thirty-three years; Anna Buggler, forty-six years; Martha Deltchman, forty-seven years; Jennie Domino, Bridget Scheidan, fifty-six years; Frederick Moffett, thirty-four years; Harris Goodman, twenty-two years; Patrick Mcgrath, forty-nine years; William Emmons, thirty-nine years, and Abraham Goldstein were adjudged insane at Bellevue Hospital to-day and sent to Ward's Island.

Fish and Fruit Seized.

The Fruit, Meat and Fish Inspectors of the Health Department did some raiding in the east side markets yesterday, and, according to the record in the Chief Inspector's office this morning, 2,500 pounds of fruit, 200 pounds of meat and 50 pounds of fish were seized and sent to the offal dock for destruction.

Robbed by an Old Employee.

Jerry O'Leary, one of shoe Manufacturer J. S. Coward's oldest employees, at 270 Greenwich street, was held in Jefferson Market Court to-day for stealing ladies' fine shoes from his employer.

SHOT AT POLICEMAN QUINN.

"Bad Man" William Smyth Had Clubbed John Mitchell.

He Led the Bluecoat a Desperate Chase and Tried to Kill Him.

William Smyth, a bad-looking colored man, twenty-eight years old, of 26 West Sixty-first street, was held in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning for trying to shoot Policeman Quinn, of the West Thirty-seventh street station, and for assaulting a coal dealer named John Mitchell.

Smyth is a desperate fellow. Mitchell, who is over fifty years old, and resides at 329 West Forty-first street, was standing in Fortieth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, at 6.40 o'clock this morning when, without warning, Smyth came up behind him and struck him a violent blow over the head with a heavy cane.

Mitchell staggered for a moment, and then turned and ran after Smyth, who was flying towards Tenth avenue. At the corner Policeman Quinn joined in the chase. Quinn is tall and athletic, and is known to fame as the star pitcher of Capt. Price's aggregation of ballfossers.

Smyth dashed down Tenth avenue to Thirty-seventh street and through Thirty-seventh street to Eleventh avenue, with Quinn in hot pursuit. Smyth turned up Eleventh avenue and ran as far as Thirty-eighth street, where he turned, and whipping out a big bulldog revolver, fired a thirty-eight calibre bullet at Quinn's head.

Then he ran through Thirty-eighth street to Tenth avenue, and Quinn, who was the better runner, finally came up with him at Fortieth street and Tenth avenue.

Smyth pulled his revolver again, but with one blow of his club Quinn knocked the gun into the gutter and put Smyth under arrest.

The latter showed fight at first, but after surveying Quinn he decided that he was no match for the bluecoat and walked quietly to the station-house, where he was locked up.

Smyth is under $2,500 bail for examination Monday afternoon.

Another Polluted Well.

Sanitary Supt. Roberts, of the Health Department, reported this morning the location of another well containing polluted water, a considerable quantity of which is sewage. It is on the corner of Alexander avenue and one hundred and seventy-third street, and very close to a dwelling-house. It has been condemned and entered on the list of diseased wells.

Ministers on the Midway.

The dances at the Chicago Fair have raised a storm of denunciation from Anthony Comstock and the Lady Managers of the Fair. Self-Sacrifice for $5,000.

A surgeon advertises for a subject, who, for $5,000, will agree to submit, in the interest of experimental science, to an operation that may maim or kill him. He gets hundreds of answers from men goaded by poverty, by misfortune, or who are willing to sacrifice themselves for their families, or for the good of their race. The whole makes a strange story of misery, wretchedness, pathos and "nerve."

The Snail-Like Broadway Cable.

The cable-car system on Broadway presents a problem that interests all the citizens of New York. So far it is a failure. In other cities it has been relatively a success. New York is entitled to the men and the methods which have made the system a success elsewhere. A candid article profusely illustrated, attacks the problem, marshals all the facts and shows New Yorkers why and where the cable has been a failure and how it may be made a success.

The Earth's Gold Supply.

Silver is the topic of the hour; gold the necessity. From what sources does the yellow metal come? How long will they hold out? Where are the mines and placers? What is the annual output? These are questions of importance. They will be answered in THE SUNDAY WORLD.

Night Scenes in City Parks.

The parks at night are lodging-houses for the homeless, trysting places for lovers. They are weird, wooded spots in the city's midst. An artist and reporter have penned and pictured night-tide scenes in the parks for THE SUNDAY WORLD. The result is worth reading.

Cartoons by Well-Known Artists.

No need to spend 10 cents for a weekly illustrated paper when THE WORLD has such an array of comic artists as are now sketching for this paper. A page cartoon on street scenes in New York.

Girls Who Sail Yachts.

Nothing can stop the progressive girl of the period. After crowding her brothers out on terra firma, she is trespassing on their playground in the water. She rows, reefs and steers; she is learning how to handle a yacht. THE SUNDAY WORLD will describe the prowess of several fair navigators, with illustrations.

What Should a President's Message Be?

Numerous eminent Americans who have tried to reach the President's chair, or who are intending to try, have put themselves in the place long enough to give THE SUNDAY WORLD their own notions of what a message ought to be in form, facts and suggestiveness. These are mere opinions, but they are good ones.

Miss a-Becket's Most Interesting Experience.

Miss Marie a-Becket, the distinguished artist, will contribute the "Artist's Story" to the series of experience papers now running in THE SUNDAY WORLD. No aspiring young artist, and no woman interested in the upbuilding of a successful professional career can afford to miss this paper, or this series.

Thrilling Stories of Romance and Adventure.

There is a school of writers called realists. These writers hold that life is commonplace. But real life is full of excitement, of humor, of emotion, of heroism undreamed of by the realists. THE SUNDAY WORLD will make a feature of stories, some of them true, in fact all true to life and true to the higher self, that the struggle for life often conceals, but never crushes. Among the latter class will be a story entitled "The Mystery of Karina Donimirska," a romance of Nihilism, of music, mystery and madness which rivets the attention of the reader from the beginning and holds it to the end.

More Than This, THE WORLD Will Gather the News from Every Corner of the Globe, Near and Remote, Neglecting Nothing That Comes Within the Definition.

THE SUNDAY WORLD COVERS THE EARTH!
