$20 FISH GUANO. $20
PER TON OF 2000 LBS.

I am now prepared to furnish the above valuable fertilizer at the low price of $20 per ton of 2000 lbs, delivered on cars or boats. It is in its crude state, and farmers in want had better order early, so they can prepare it for fall seeding. There is nothing in this guano but the pure fish with the oil extracted (which is said by all chemists to be the fertilizer.) I can refer to those I sold it to last spring, most of whom have already sent in their orders for more to use on their wheat.

Mr. Stephen's Retort.

The following has been told in many ways and from many quarters, but its true origin has been almost entirely lost sight of, and therein lies most of the pith. There is no doubt but that Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, is the smallest man, physically, that ever trod the floors of Congress. He never exceeded a hundred pounds in weight of body. His powers were all mental and magnetic, and of those, as we know, he possessed an abundance.

On a certain occasion, while party lines were closely drawn, and political feelings were running high, Mr. Stephens was on the stump for Congress, battling with a Mr. H., of Greensborough. Stephens was a Henry Clay man and a Whig. What hope had he that he could carry that old Democratic stronghold? Yet he battled away. And it was an odd and entertaining sight to see the two contestants on the stand together—Stephens five feet four inches high, weighing ninety six pounds; Major H., six feet two inches high, weighing two hundred and forty pounds.

They were in the strongest part of the Democratic camp; and here the major indulged in bits of pleasantry which he knew would be relished by his old constituency. Solid argument could not have been of much use there. Pet Stephens managed to get him heated; whereupon the gigantic major turned to his pigmy antagonist, and with considerable of a flourish, said:

"Why, you little wasp, I could button those big ears of yours back and swallow you whole!"

Before the multitude had time to laugh at the coarse, rude remark, Stephens retorted.—"If you did that thing, sir, you would have more brains in your stomach than you ever had in your head!"

The untutored electors of those districts could understand and appreciate a good thing. Stephens was elected to Congress by over three thousand majority in a district that had never before favored one of his political stripe.

VANITY OF MEN.—The late Harriet Martineau offsets in her autobiography, the vanity of men against the vanity of women. She says that during a visit to London, she saw the first men of the nation, she saw exhibitions of vanity in high places that women could not surpass.

There was Brougham wincing under a newspaper criticism, and playing the fool among silly women. There was Jeffrey, flirting with clever women in long succession. There was Bulwer on a sofa, sparkling and languishing among a set of female votaries.

There was Campbell, the poet, obtruding his sentimentalities, amid a quivering apprehension of making himself ridiculous. He darted out of our house and never came again, because, after warning he sat down in a room full of people (all authors, as it happened,) on a low chair of my old aunt's, which went very easily on castors, and which carried him back to the wall and rebounded, of course making everybody laugh.

Off went poor Campbell in a huff and, well as I had long known him, I never saw him again; and I was not very sorry, for his sentimentality was too soft and his craving for praise too morbid to let him be an agreeable companion.

There was Edward Landseer, a friendly and agreeable companion, but holding his cheerfulness at the mercy of great folks' graciousness to him.

To see him enter a room, curled and cravated, and glancing round in anxiety about his reception, could not but make a woman wonder where among her own sex she could find a more palpable vanity; but then all that was forgotten when one was sitting on a divan with him, seeing him play with the dog.

Then there was Whewell, grasping at praise for universal learning—omniscience being his foible, as Sydney Smith said—and liking female adoration, rough as was his nature with students, rivals, and speculative opponents.

A HUGGING GAUGE.—A very thoughtful young man on the West side, say the Chicago Tribune, has invented a simple little instrument which he calls the electro-galvanic hugging gauge. It can be attached to the dress of any young lady near the shoulder, and, by simply keeping her eyes cast down in an artless way while her lover is doing the hugging, the destroyer of man's happiness can see at a glance just which one of her admirers has the strongest right arm to protect and chop wood for her in case they are married, and make her choice accordingly. If the gauge comes in general use, the result will be to bar dry goods clerks out of our society circles and fill their places with graduates of the gymnasium.

MEDICINAL

DR. TUTT'S

EXPECTORANT.

IN 25 CTS. AND $1 BOTTLES.

Its properties are Demulcent, Nutritive, Balsamic, Soothing and Healing. Combining all these qualities, it is the most effective LUNG BALSAM ever offered to sufferers from pulmonary diseases.

Dr. J. F. HAYWOOD, of New York, voluntarily indorses it. Read what he says:

New York, Sept. 19, 1877.

Dr. Tutt: Dear Sir—During this year I treated nine hundred cases of lung diseases. In the lower wards of the city the cases were of a very severe type. It was there my attention was called to Tutt's Expectorant, and I confess my surprise at its wonderful power. During a practice of twenty years I have never known a medicine to act as promptly and with such happy effects. It instantly subdued the most violent fits of coughing, and invariably cured the disease in a few days. I cheerfully endorse it as the best lung medicine I ever used

J. FRANCIS HAYWOOD, M.D.

A NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER WRITES:

Office Evening News, Augusta, Ga.

Dr. Tutt: Dear Sir—My little son was attacked with pneumonia last winter, which left him with a violent cough that lasted till within a month since, for the cure of which I am indebted to your valuable Expectorant. I had tried most everything recommended, but none did any good until I used your Expectorant, one bottle of which removed the cough entirely. With many thanks, I am yours truly,

JOHN M. WEIGLE.

HAD TERRIBLE NIGHT SWEATS.

Memphis February 11, 1871.

Dr. Tutt: Sir—I have been suffering for nearly two years with a severe cough. When I commenced taking your Expectorant I was reduced to one hundred and sixteen pounds in weight. I had tried almost everything; had terrible night sweats. I have taken half dozen bottles. The night sweats have left me, the cough has disappeared, and I have gained fifteen pounds in flesh. I recommend it to all my friends. With great respect,

OLIVER RICE.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

Reader, have you caught a cold? Are you unable to raise the phlegm? Have you an irritation in the throat? A sense of oppression on the lungs, with short breath? Do you have a fit of coughing on lying down? A sharp pain now and then in a region of the heart, shoulders and back? IF SO, OUR ADVICE IS to take at once a dose of Tutt's Expectorant; you will soon be able to raise the phlegm. In an hour repeat the Expectorant, place a hot iron to the feet take two of Tutt's Pills. You will soon fall into a pleasant sleep and wake up in the morning cough gone, lungs working freely; easy breathing and the bowels moving in a natural manner. To prevent a return of these symptoms use the Expectorant several days.
