ENTICED THE CHILD AWAY.

When Found She Begged the Officer to Take Her Home.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

PLAINFIELD, Sept. 3.—Arthur Randolph a farm hand forty years old, living at South Plainfield, was arrested at Phillipsburg in Hughes's Hotel yesterday. He is charged with abducting Annie, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Jacob Kline, of Washington Valley. The girl was with him and both were taken to Plainfield. Randolph was locked up and the girl was sent home with her father.

Randolph is married, with grown children. He has not lived with his wife for many years. Early in the summer he went to work for Mr. Kline, a well-to-do farmer. He fell in love with the girl. Six weeks ago, it is alleged, he betrayed her, and since then she has been at his mercy. Last Sunday afternoon he met her as she was coming from Sunday-school and coaxed her to run away with him. She refused.

Randolph had a confederate, Adam Stutt, also of South Plainfield, who agreed to help him. Last Sunday night Stutt drove with Randolph to the Kline place, and Randolph easily gained access to the girl's room. He awakened her and got her to go with him. They were driven to White-House, where Stutt left them. They walked in a roundabout way to Phillipsburg.

The girl's father secured an officer and searched the country. The couple were found in the hotel in Phillipsburg. The girl begged the officer to take her home.

Randolph has been sent to Somerville to await the action of the Grand Jury. He compelled the child to walk nearly a hundred miles in their efforts to keep away from places where he imagined the police could reach him. She is seriously ill.

GREAT BANKRUPT SALE OF GLOVES

ENTIRE STOCK OF HARRIS BROS., THE FASHIONABLE GLOVERS, OF BROADWAY AND 18TH ST.

THE STOCK. THE PURCHASE. THE SALE.

Everybody knew Harris Bros.—the most fashionable glove concern on Broadway. They carried none but the finest grades, and in addition to their vast retail business did a very extensive importing, manufacturing and jobbing business—in Gloves exclusively. The great five-story and basement building at Broadway and 18th st. had been stocked up liberally for the fall trade.

It is believed that through loans made to friends, or other causes foreign to the business itself, they got caught in the recent money stringency. At any rate, they failed for something like $100,000, though their stock, reputation and resources were such that under ordinary circumstances they could easily have swung a burden many times that size.

The entire stock has been sold to us and will be placed on sale here on Tuesday morning, Sept. 5. Some of the details will be found in this advertisement. It is reasonable to state that never before in New York or elsewhere has such a splendid glove stock been offered to the public on anything like so favorable a basis.
