RUDOLPH EASILY.

Captures the First Race from Raceland in a Canter at Gravesend.

DOBBINS WINS THE SECOND.

Wah Jim Gets the Third Event To-Day and Fidelio the Fourth Race.

RACE TRACK, GRAVESEND, Sept. 25.—The track here to-day was as dry as a bone. Not a drop of the heavy shower that passed over the city this morning reached Gravesend, and the track employees had to get out the sprinklers to lay the dust.

This upset all the calculations of the talent, who had been figuring upon most performers' chances all the morning. However, they made out fairly well during the afternoon.

The attendance was fairly large for Monday, nearly 4,000 persons being on hand.

The weather was clear and pleasant.

Rudolph was made an even money favorite in the first race, despite the fact that he had a hard task before him. He had up 118 pounds, and was conceding from one to thirty-two pounds, according to the scale.

Nevertheless he won in a canter. Trying lay behind his field until the stretch was reached, when he went to the front, and it was all over but the cashing of tickets.

Raceland and Victorious were even money second choices. Raceland got the place easily, but Terrifier, the lightweighted character, slipped in and got third money.

The second race was merely an exercise canter for Dobbins, who went to the post as favorite at odds of 1 to 5.

Discount carried considerable money for the place, but he seems decidedly sour, and has not a particle of his former speed.

Flirtation, the Saratoga mare, got the place from St. Pat, at 40 to 1 chance. Mobsby was heavily played in the pool place books, but was unfortunate in getting away late.

The third event resulted in a huge surprise. Chesapeake was played heavily. His rider, Jack McDonald, turned his slate and played the horses all over the place.

Mike Dwyer and Richard Croker sent in a heavy commission on Fairy, and from all appearances the fairy was to win easily.

Wah Jim, who was entered at 4 to 1, and who was only nibbled at, opened up a big gap in the first quarter and was never caught. He was pulled to a walk. The favorite was second, easily beating Fairy.

Longstreet started in the fourth race. He pulled up so lame that Sims had to get off and lead him back to the stand.

The crowd showed their disapprobation of Mr. Croker's gambling by making Fidelio, the old horse by holding his own. Fidelio, at 8 to 1 chance, won the race.

Tulla Blackburn went away at a great rate and soon opened up a gap of six lengths. Fidelio lay second and Candelabra third. This order held for seven furlongs, when Tulla Blackburn went all to pieces and dropped back last. Candelabra then went after Fidelio, but the latter, under Taral's vigorous riding, drew away and won by two lengths. Candelabra beat Longstreet a head for the place. Time—1.50.

EMBLEM, IN A FIERCE DRIVE.

Defeats the Good Things in the Opening Event at Clifton.

RACE TRACK, CLIFTON, Sept. 25.—An unusually large crowd attended this track to-day, all things considered. Monday being generally an off day with passengers.

The card, however, was an attraction that the talent could not resist.

The track was rather heavy.

For the feature, a five-furlong dash with such good ones as Tartarian, Grey Eagle, Little Fred, Watterson, Marguerite, Mabel Glenn and Toano in it, was drawn for decision.

Tom Welch has exchanged Climax for McCormack, with Sam Hildreth. Both horses started for their new owners to-day.

The talent could not select a decided favorite for the opening event, a five-furlong dash. Tom Karl and Lumberman closed about equal choices at 4 to 1 each. McCormack, Berwyn and Emblem were also heavily backed.

WALKED INTO A TRAP

Two Wou'd-Be Train-Robbers Killed and Three Captured.

They Held Up a "Dummy" Train Filled with Police Officers.

Fought Fiercely When Called Upon to Surrender.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 25.—The Kansas City, St. Jo and Council Bluffs road foiled an attempt to rob a passenger train at Francis, one and a half miles from this city, early this morning.

Fred Kohler and Hugo Engel, two of the robbers, were killed. Three others, named Charles Fredericks, N. A. Hurst William Garver, were captured.

Train No. 2 left Kansas City at 9.05 last night and arrived here at 12.30 this morning. Officials of the road had been warned of the intended robbery, and they notified the police.

When the train arrived here a dummy train was made up and sixteen police officers, under command of the Chief of Police, were put on board.

In order thoroughly to deceive the robbers the train was made an exact duplicate of the train No. 3, and consisted of an engine and tender, an express and baggage-car and the usual coach and Pullmans.

When the dummy reached a point two miles north of St. Joseph the engineer's attention was arrested by a lighted lantern moving to and fro between the rails. He obeyed the signal, and six masked men surrounded the engine.

One of the men mounted the engine, and, presenting one revolver at the engineer's head and another at the fireman's, held them in subjection while the other five men hastened to rob the express car.

They ordered the messenger to open the door. Three of the bandits at once entered the car, leaving two without to keep guard.

The policemen who were guarding the train were distributed in the various cars, the majority of them being concealed in the express car. When the three bandits entered the police ordered them to surrender. The robbers were completely taken by surprise, but opened fire at once upon the police.

The police returned the fire and a general fusillade followed. About twenty-five shots were fired on both sides. When the smoke cleared away the lifeless bodies of Kohler and Engel were found lying on the floor of the car. Both men had been shot through the head.

The bullet which pierced Kohler's head produced instant death. Engel was still breathing, but he died shortly after he was brought here.

Fredericks, the third robber engaged in the fight in the car, was uninjured and was placed under arrest. None of the officers was injured.

While the fight was going on the policemen not engaged in it were looking after the two robbers who had been left outside the engine watch.

They were quickly placed under arrest. The bandit who had been detailed to guard the engineer and fireman realized the situation when he heard the battle going on in the express car, and promptly made his escape. A detail of officers were put on his track. His name is Henry Gledtze.

A remarkable feature of the fight in the express car was the escape of all the officers from injury. The three robbers in the car were armed with a brace of revolvers and used them freely, but still they did no damage.

The bodies of Kohler and Engel were brought here on the dummy train, which returned to the city soon after the encounter. They were taken to an undertaker.

The prisoners, Fredericks, Hurst and Garver, were brought here on the same train with their dead comrades and were locked up at the police station. All of the train-robbers lived here.

The members of the gang all belonged in this city. Kohler married an estimable young lady a short time ago.

Gletze was captured later by the pursuing posse.

The bandits had two sticks of dynamite, to each of which was attached a fuse about three feet long.

It was known to the officers on the bogus train that dynamite might be used, and it was at first proposed to let the robbers explode some of it before firing on them.

Before leaving St. Joseph, however, Chief Broder decided it would be a dangerous risk, and he instructed the bogus messenger to open the door before the robbers had a chance to explode the stuff.

Chief Broder says there was enough dynamite to blow the car into splinters.

RACE TRACKS IN POLITICS.

New Jersey Reformers May Nominate an Independent Ticket.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Sept. 25.—A large mass-meeting was held in the Presbyterian Church at this place last night to protest against race tracks. R. V. Lindabury, of Elizabeth, made the chief address. On the platform were several clergymen from towns in Monmouth and Union Counties.

Mr. Lindabury made an earnest appeal to the citizens to do all in their power at the coming election to defeat the race-track men. He advocated the nomination of an independent ticket on which will be the names of men who are known to be strongly opposed to the granting of licenses to race tracks.

Prayed in the Depot.

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 25.—A man entered the Erie depot at this place this morning and attracted the attention of the passengers by getting down on his knees and praying. BROCKWAY WEAKENS

Afraid to Stand Trial on Grossman's Charges in This City.

Files His Answer and Asks for a Change of Venue.

Wants the State to Pay Damages If He Is Convicted.

Z. Reed Brockway, Superintendent of the Elmira Reformatory, against whom a suit for $25,000 damages has been brought by William Grossman as guardian of Charles J. Cleere, filed an answer to-day through his attorneys, in which he asks that the case be tried at Elmira.

The plaintiff, through his attorneys, Friend & House, of the Pulitzer Building, has alleged that Brockway assaulted Cleere, who was an inmate, without justification and contrary to law, because paddling and all corporal punishment in prisons has been abolished.

Brockway, in his answer, makes no specific denial, but claims that if the assault took place they were committed by him as a matter of discipline while acting as Superintendent of the Reformatory, and in no other capacity, and he pleads the fact of his being Superintendent as a right to commit such assault.

He also, in mitigation of damages, if any should be awarded, seeks to place responsibility on the institution, and accordingly suggests that the State should pay all costs.

Mr. Brockway's request that the case be tried by some other than a New York court is looked upon by Attorney Friend as evidence that he fears the result.

"He cannot get a change of venue," said Mr. Friend, "because the Court has given the plaintiff leave to sue as a poor person, and all the officers of the court have been instructed to permit the suit to continue without costs. Of course, the county will not defray our expenses to Elmira, and there can accordingly be no change of venue."

The answer is also considered a remarkable document, because before the case is tried the defendant is trying to find some channel to dodge costs. Mr. Friend considers this evidence of weakness almost equal to an admission that the case will be decided in his client's favor.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—James R. Rathbone this morning assumed control of the Elmira Reformatory. He will act as Superintendent during the investigation of the charges of cruelty by the Committee of the State Board of Charities. The investigation will begin tomorrow.

CORONER M'KENNA ACCUSED.

Isabella Rodgers Says He Tried to Conceal a Murder.

In the Coroner's Court this afternoon Isabella Rodgers, a colored, of 19 Charles street, charged Coroner McKenna with attempting to hush up a murder.

The court room was crowded. The woman was finally sworn by Fellowman Hoehn.

She took up a fine-tooth comb found in the river off Governor's Island on July 29 and sent to the Morgue. There it was subsequently identified by Miss Rodgers as that of her brother, William Rodgers, formerly a clerk in a dry goods store, who lived in a furnished room at 25 Fourth avenue. Since then the sister has continually haunted the Coroner's office, asserting that her brother was murdered. She had been summoned several times to enable the woman to produce witnesses. A few days ago she secured a dozen subpoenas and to-day all the witnesses were on hand.

When questioned by the Coroner, they absolutely knew nothing about the case. The jury returned a verdict that Rodgers came to his death by drowning in a manner unknown.

Miss Rodgers threatened to assault several of the witnesses and created a disturbance.
