BARON WINS AN HEIRESS.

He Is Penniless and Horsey, but Will Wed Miss Sherman.

She Is the Daughter of the Kentucky Racing Man.

Baron B. F. Grunebaum has captured an American heiress. He is to wed Miss Lilly Sherman, of Gallatin, Tenn., the daughter of the famous horse-breeder of Lexington, Ky. She is about nineteen years old, very handsome, and is said to have an income in her own right of $25,000 a year.

The Baron met her at Hot Springs, Ark. Their acquaintance began in a romantic way, and the Baron was not slow to press his suit.

The marriage is to take place at St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Fifth avenue, on the afternoon of Friday, Oct. 20. A special dispensation is to be obtained, as Miss Sherman is a Protestant and the Baron a Catholic.

Baron Grunebaum's life has been an eventful one. He has attracted considerable notice in this city since he first came here three years ago. On his first visit he was received with open arms by the Four Hundred. His title, his mustache, and his companionship with the nobility of Europe obtained for him an entrance into New York's most exclusive society. He spent and soon was reduced to the plebeian too fond of horses and horse racing, and soon was reduced to the plebian necessity of toiling for his bread. He was at one time an inspector at Ellis Island.

He once sued the proprietor of the Hotel Victoria for $20,000 for an alleged insult.

Before coming to this country Grunebaum led a gay life, and his father disowned him. His father was a wealthy Austrian nobleman. Young Grunebaum, now about thirty years old, was in the suite of the Austrian Empress when she went to Ireland on a steeplechasing tour.

He has the reputation of being a duellist. He is said to have engaged in four duels in Austria and two in Paris, one of the latter with the son of Deroulede, the fighting Deputy of the French Chambers. The Baron carries Deroulede's pistol bullet in his body.

Grunebaum went to England and ran in sixty steeplechases, forty of which he won. He was a guest of Lord Spencer, Master of the Pytchley Hounds. Afterwards he went to Ireland as the guest of various Irish lords of sporting blood.

He returned to England and followed the races. At the end of the season he owed £100,000 to the bookmakers, having lost £8,000 at the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase. His father was almost ruined in paying the debt, and refused to further recognize his son. Then Grunebaum came to America.

After the marriage the Baron is to take his bride to Europe, and will visit his father at Grisern.

Capital and Patience.

These make a queer combination apparently, but they have been of the utmost importance in the furniture and carpet trade for many months. For instance, practically all of the customers of the Cowperthwait concern, on Park Row, near Chatham Square, have lately asked extensions of time, and the firm needed a great deal of both capital and patience to grant it.

Some smaller dealers have been forced to the wall, and others have been forced by their own necessities to push their customers to extremities, but the old Cowperthwait house have let everybody pay them when convenient, and so made hosts of friends.

When you buy household goods on credit you take the chances of the future, and it is safest to have a strong old firm to lean on. If you have agreed to pay $5 a week and cannot pay over $3, you would be in a bad fix if your sellers either could not or would not be accommodating. ***

FIVE NEW STEAMSHIPS.

Hamburg-American Line Will Have More Freighters.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company has just made contracts for the construction of five large steel twin-screw steamers for transatlantic freight and steerage traffic. Three of the new steamers will be built by Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, one by the Vulcan Shipbuilding Company, of Stettin, and one by Blohm & Voss, of Hamburg. The steamers will be 465 feet length, 52-54 feet beam, and 35 feet depth and of 7,800 tonnage each.

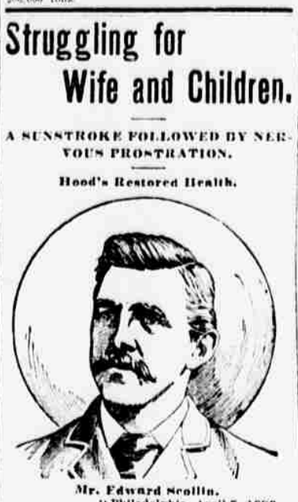
These new steamships will have all the latest improvements in steamship engineering such as double bottom with water chambers, two sets of engines, boilers, shafts and screws.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company now owns a fleet of 54 express and other mail steamers. When these five new steamers are completed the Company's total tonnage will be over 206,000 tons.

Struggling for Wife and Children.

A SUNSTROKE FOLLOWED BY NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Hood's Restored Health.



Mr. Edward Scollin.

"Philadelphia, April 7, 1893.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—On Aug. 10 I was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital unconscious from the heat; my temperature was 106 degrees. I remained in the hospital two weeks. I was unable to work for four weeks after that, but then felt compelled to turn in, as I have a wife and five children. I soon began to feel as though undergoing continuous shocks from an electric battery.

Every Nerve and Fibre of my body seemed in a constant state of quivering agitation and tremulousness. Heat flashed from the calves of my legs up through my thighs and body; my left arm and hand felt as though on fire, and my head ached as if it would split when I stooped down. I had great pains in my back around the base of the spine. I continued through all this to stick to my work, feeling that if I must again go down I would do so.

Struggling for My Family.

I have always been athletic, but I had lost all appetite, and my strength failed me; I was on the point of giving up. I had read much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, and concluded to give it a trial. Before I had taken half a bottle my appetite became so voracious that I would be compelled to eat between meals.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Sarsaparilla has now fully restored my strength and general health. That terrible nervousness is entirely gone. I feel as hearty and vigorous as ever. The pains in my back have greatly decreased." EDWARD SCOLLIN, 1532 Ogden st.

MUST HAVE PURE ELECTIONS.

Ex-President Harrison Bemoans the Federal Election Bill's Fate.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Ex-President Benjamin Harrison arrived in this city last night to attend the National meeting of the Loyal Legion. Over his after-dinner cigar in his room at the Grand Pacific Hotel he chatted freely about the repeal in the House of Representatives of the Federal Election bill.

"We are sowing the seed of discord," he said. "In breaking away from the National laws. The people of this country will not submit to choice of their officials by the dice-box or the juggler's hat. Above all this we must have pure elections.

"In my messages to Congress I said nearly all that could be said upon this necessity. Our elections must be above suspicion of taint or fraud. Citizens will not respect officials whose selections are questioned or known to have been secured by palpable or open fraud.

"That the colored vote in the South is suppressed or counted out is a notorious fact.

"Take, for instance, the State of Tennessee. Had I received as many votes in the five black counties in West Tennessee in 1888 as Mr. Blaine received in the same counties in 1884, I would have secured the electoral vote of Tennessee by a majority of 5,000 or 6,000."

Willie Turner Found.

William Turner, the three-year-old colored boy who was reported as having been kidnaped from 251 Seventh avenue last Friday, and for whom a general alarm was sent out from Police Headquarters, has been found. James Tonn, the boy's godfather called at the West 47th street station last night, and said that an old woman whom he met on the street took him to a house in the Hundred and Twelfth street, where he found the lad.

HEIR TO $20,000 IS MISSING.

Hatfield Thinks His Stepson Has Been Kidnapped.

His Sisters Indignant at the Charge Made Against Him.

Inquiry to-day has done little towards clearing up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of twelve-year-old Fred Hatfield, heir under a will to $20,000.

Mrs. Dora A. Wilson, of 251 Ninth street, Brooklyn, and Mrs. Lucilla K. Cole, of 411 Lexington avenue, this city, are sisters of the boy's stepfather. He hints that they have kidnapped "Fred." Both women are indignant that any such charge should be brought against them.

The boy's stepfather, Charles W. H. Hatfield, is an engineer on the "L" road, and lives at one Hundred and Thirty-fifth street and Eighth avenue.

He says through his counsel, Lawyer Henry Knox, of one Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and Park avenue, that when his mother died she willed to him the house and real estate, No. 23 East Canton street, Boston, valued at something like $20,000.

To Henry Stone, William Paine and Alfred B. Cole, some to-day, the deceased, Mrs. Hatfield, devised the house and real estate, No. 23 East Canton street, Boston, to them and their successors in trust to manage and lease and generally the net income to my son Charles for and during his natural life.

On the decease of my son I give and devise said house and real estate to his children living at the time of decease, their heirs and assigns, subject to the order of trust, but in case he should die without leaving children living then I give and devise the same to those of his sisters who may be living at the time of the decease of said Charles, their heirs and assigns, subject to the order of trust.

Hatfield married Mrs. Emma Kenworth, a widow of English birth, who had a son, the boy who has disappeared. As the wording of the will does not specify that Hatfield's children must be his own offspring, he has been advised by counsel that the boy should come into the Boston property when his stepfather dies.

The boy's name, Charles Kenworth, was thereupon changed to Fred Hatfield.

April 23 little Fred disappeared and an active search by the police and his parents has failed to find any trace of him.

The child is weak-minded, the result, it is said, of an accident. Fred found a railroad torpedo and pounded it with a stone until it exploded. The child's hands were badly lacerated and he received a wound in the head, which is said to have affected his mind.

Both Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Wilson have been served with summonses to appear in Harlem Court to explain, if they know, where the boy is.

Those ladies were seen by an "Evening World" reporter to-day. They professed entire ignorance of the child's whereabouts, and Mrs. Wilson denied the statement made by Mrs. Hatfield that she had tried to gain the boy's confidence by gifts of candy.

Both ladies moreover deny ever having seen the child since their brother's marriage to the English widow.

Whiskey Trust Distilleries Resume.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 11.—Orders have been given by the managers of the Whiskey Trust to start operations in the distillery here, which at a capacity of 3,200 bushels a day, about half the full capacity. Other distilleries in the Trust are starting up. Incident with the order to resume was the call of Senator Voorhees on Senator Carlisle and the latter's request for the resignation of Collector Thorp, a Republican holdover.

IS STRALUCKE A DEFAULTER?

Treasurer of Two Societies Said to Be $2,600 Short in Accounts.

He Is Missing and His Relatives Suspect Foul Play.

The family of Carl Stralucke, the missing Treasurer of the German Krieger Bund, and the German-American Schutzen Bund, are still in the dark as to his whereabouts. He disappeared on Saturday last, and his accounts are alleged to be about $2,600 short.

The day before his disappearance he was seen in the saloon of Louis J. Ernst, at 56 East Fourth street. He spent several hours there playing pool, and appeared to be in a jovial mood.

The police and his friends have made a tour of the hospitals, but no trace of him can be found. Mr. Stralucke's daughter said this morning that she had gone over his books and found that they had all been paid. Her mother, she said, was prostrated over her father's absence and they suspected foul play.

The trustees of the two societies will meet to-night and examine the books, which were in Stralucke's possession. The missing man had been treasurer of the Schutzen Bund for ten years. It is a benevolent organization composed of about 200 members. At the last meeting of the society his accounts were considered correct.

This was on Friday night. On the following morning he left his home, and when he did not return on Monday his wife informed the officers of the societies.

The books of the Schutzen Bund show a deficit of $1,200. To them Stralucke had given a bond of $1,000, so they will only lose a trifle over $200. The Krieger Bund's loss is about $1,300, protected by his bond of $1,500.

It is not probable that either society will take any action in the matter, but it is said that if he is found the men who went on his bond will prosecute him.

SAYS HE WAS TWICE ARRESTED

Gracie's Queer Story Following an Early Morning Visit.

Some time after 4 o'clock this morning Policeman Hart, of the 13th Twenty-second street station, arrested Thomas Gracie, thirty-four years old, of 338 Third street, in a room at 334 Third avenue on complaint of Abraham Fisher, of 335 Third street.

Gracie was awakened at 3 o'clock this morning by a female climbing into his bedroom window. Gracie said he thought it was Josephine Fisher, and he invited her in. He was on a visit to Josephine, whom he met in a dance hall.

Gracie said Justice Burke in the Yorkville Court this morning that the policeman took him out of bed at 3:30 o'clock, and after questioning him for half an hour he again pulled him out of bed and locked him up. Justice Burke held him in $2,000 bail.

Another

of OUR "Jaeger" Underwear is in the New Improved smooth Seams, equal to "Regular Made," which cannot be obtained from our competitors.

All factors considered, viz., the quality of yarn, the skill of manufacture, the perfect smooth seams, the genuine natural gray undyed wool, the strict adherence to the "Jaeger" system and the moderate charges make OUR underwear conspicuously of the highest rank and the most advantageous for the consumer.

The President of the Dr. Jaeger's S. W. S. Co., testified in court under oath that his company sold as genuine "Jaeger" goods, underwear which contained dyes; was not made of Stockinet, and was not natural gray; and which, therefore, was not according to the system as taught by Prof. Dr. G.
