The Ultimate End of the Watch.

A prominent watch manufacturer is said to be continually deluged with questions as to where all the watches go. This country makes them at the rate of 8,000 a day, and this rate is kept up year in and year out, added to by countless importations.

"I never was able to answer the question," said the manufacturer. "Nobody in the trade ever tries to. We find that the life of a watch is but five years, yet if you will stop fifty men and ask how long they have carried their watches forty-nine of them will say they have only had one watch in their entire lives.

"We cannot explain the disappearance of watches. They do not go into the ash bins. I remember when the New Jersey watch factories closed that in ten years we could not find one of their watches anywhere. They had disappeared off the face of the earth, yet millions had been made. Look at the key watches. Up to some twenty years ago we made nothing else. In that twenty years these millions and millions of key winding watches have disappeared, and the question asked unremittingly, 'What becomes of the watches?' remains unanswered to this day."—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

Fine Flour and Teeth.

Why do colored people as a rule have such splendid teeth? Mostly because they have lived on coarse food, which made demands on the teeth. People as a rule now do not want to do any chewing. They demand meat which is so tender that it will melt in the mouth, etc. Nature, prodigal as she is, never bestows anything where it is not used, and the result is that the civilized races are losing their teeth. If the style continues to forbid our teeth to do any grinding, our progeny of, say, 2902 A. D. will be born toothless or with only rudimentary teeth. As individuals we cannot grow good teeth in our heads by eating coarse food. We are beginning to get bad teeth by heredity. But there is almost no tooth or bone forming material in fine white flour, and the avoidance of coarse foods undoubtedly hastens the decaying of our teeth. Perhaps the millers and the dentists are in a secret league to work for mutual interests. Who knows?

Balzac and Black Coffee.

Balzac was addicted to the use of strong black coffee and depended upon it as a nervous stimulant during the hours which he devoted to composition. Its effect he has himself described in these words:

"The coffee falls into your stomach. Immediately everything starts into action. Your ideas begin to move like Grand Army battalions on the battlefield, and the battle opens. Memories arrive at a run, standards flying; the light cavalry of comparisons breaks into a magnificent gallop; the artillery of logic dashes up and unlimbers; thoughts come rushing up as sharpshooters; characters spring up on all sides; the paper becomes covered with ink, for the struggle has begun and ends in torrents of black water like the battle in black powder."

That Number 13.

So prevalent is the prejudice against the number 13 that car companies in many cities have been obliged to omit it, as the car bearing it did not "earn its living." In St. Joseph, Mo., No. 13 happened to be the car oftenest run over a certain line in a locality chiefly inhabited by negroes. It was discovered after a time that these would walk blocks out of their way to take the cars of a rival line, but as soon as No. 14 was sent down in their district the company's receipts resumed their previous figure. Thirteen as a house number also is looked upon with suspicion, and the expedient of 11, $11\frac{1}{2}$ and then 15 is often employed.—New York Tribune.

One of the Great Dinners of Venice.

Perhaps the most expensive banquet ever given in Venice was that to Henry III. of France. He was feasted in the great hall of the doges' palace, and there were silver plates for 3,000 guests. At another time the same monarch was entertained at a sugar banquet—the napkins, plates, knives, forks and even the bread (so called) were all of sugar. The Venetians were mightily pleased when Henry took his napkin in his hands and to his surprise found that it broke to pieces. At this feast 1,260 different dishes were served, and 300 sugar effigies were distributed among the ladies.

All Amateurs.

Cultured Mother—My dear, your sister Clara is an amateur pianist, Dora is an amateur photographer, Edna is an amateur painter, and Elvira is an amateur astronomer, but you don't seem to be anything.

Pretty Daughter—Oh, yes, mamma, I am an amateur fiancee. Here's my first engagement ring.

His Class.

Augustus (no longer the young)—Well, there's one comfort—they say at forty a man is either a fool or a physician.

Angelina (nearly swallowing a yawn)—And are you a physician, then?

Augustus—No.

Angelina—Oh!

What Jarred Her.

Mother (soothingly)—You mustn't mind what he says about his mother's cooking, my dear. All men do that.

Married Daughter (warmly)—I don't, mamma; it's the things he says about my cooking that annoy me.

Slow Starvation

is the fate of sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion. If your food remains undigested it can't build up the body. In fact, it does actual damage by decaying in the stomach and poisoning the system

KODOL Digests What You Eat.

Kodol is the sensible remedy. By digesting what you eat it strengthens the body and at the same time rests the stomach. This rest soon restores perfect health. Cathartics and stimulants only reach the symptoms. Kodol cures. It is Nature's tonic.

Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such a hold on me that I could scarcely go. I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines, but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grasps at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once, and after a few bottles am sound and well. GEORGE S. MARSH, Attorney-at-Law, Nocona, Tex.

It can't help but do you good.

Jumped on a Ten-Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and one nail was thrust entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Richard Gibson, Druggist.

One Minute Cough Cure

Is the only harmless cough cure that gives quick relief. Cures Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough Pneumonia, Asthma, La Grippe and all Throat, Chest, and Lung troubles. I got soaked by rain, says Gertrude E. Fenner, Muncie, Ind., and contracted a severe cold and cough. I failed rapidly; lost 48 lbs. My druggist recommended One Minute Cough Cure. The first bottle brought relief; several cured me. I am back to my old weight, 148 lbs. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, relieves the cough at once, draws out inflamation, cures croup. An ideal remedy for children. E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.
