REST.

BY ODYSSUS.

Rest is not quitting
The busy career;
Rest is the fitting
Of self to its sphere.

'Tis the brook's motion,
Clear without stife,
Fleeting to ocean
After its life.

'Tis loving and serving
The Highest and Best!
'Tis onward unswerving,
And that is true rest.

The Culture of Sweet Potatoes.

I recently notice frequent inquiries on the culture of the sweet potato. Having had some little experience in this branch of horticulture, I will state the mode and the results.

Source or Seed.—This I always procure from the city of New York, to which it is, I suppose, in all cases, brought from further south. I sometimes send directly there for it, and at other times procure it here from grocers who have recently procured it for retail here. Potatoes raised here are always too imperfectly mature to be preserved; they perish with a dry rot even when stored in small quantities in dry sand, and in a cool and airy place.

Soil.—I have cultivated them in a light sand, a sandy loam, both of moderate fertility, and in a moist rich sand. I prefer the former, because it secures a slower growth and results in the earlier formation of tubers, and of course in a more perfect maturity than either of the others.

Mode or Growth.—The vine and leaf some what resemble a bean trailing over the ground. Perhaps it still more resembles wild buckwheat, though its leaf is larger and a yellower green. The vines often make eight feet in length in a rich and moist soil, though usually four feet is as long as is desirable. In rich soil and moist weather they frequently throw down roots at intervals along the vines, which produce tubers at these points, and so fill the whole soil with tubers. This, however, is not desirable, as these scattering tubers are usually very imperfectly ripened. The tubers almost always stand up lengthwise in the soil, instead of lying horizontally, as in the case of the common potato.

Preparatory Culture in the Hot-Bed. Having procured your seed tubers, bury them in an ordinary hot-bed, about the 20th of April, in Central New York. Place them lengthwise, and nearly end to end, in rows across the bed, the rows about six inches apart, covering them about three inches deep with soil. In two or three weeks, according to the heat of the bed, each tuber will throw up from five to thirty sprouts close to the side of the parent. As soon as these are three or four inches high, take up the tuber carefully and break them off close to the parent, so as to save the side roots. The tubers may then be replaced for the production of a second and even a third crop of sprouts. Some prefer breaking them off in the ground, but I have always found it safe to take the tubers quite out of the ground for this purpose. This method of procuring plants is practised even in the southern States, since otherwise too many shoots would be produced. With us this mode becomes further indispensible as the only means of getting our plants sufficiently early.

Mode of Culture in the Field.—Plow your ground, and throw it into ridges five or six feet apart. This is needful—first because your tuber, needing to spread sideways, will form more readily than when penetrating deep into the soil;—and secondly, they will thus be less likely to form roots along the vine. Set the plants on the ridge, about fifteen inches apart, inserting them in the soil just as though they were tomato or cabbage plants. Should the weather be hot, cover the newly set plants with any large leaves, as of pie-plant, balm of Gilead, &c. Hoe frequently until the vines cover the soil, but without increasing the hight of the ridge. In wet and hot weather, it might be useful slightly to lift up the plants with a long, smooth pole, to prevent them from rooting.

I have not observed that the sweet potato is not liable to disease, otherwise than, as a tropical plant, it fears cold and rainy alternations of weather.

Digging, Yield, Mode of Preserving &c.—Dig as soon as the vines are killed by the frost. Spread the tubers thinly on a dry, cool floor, where they may be preserved for gradual use until mid-winter.

I am not prepared to speak very positively of the yield. Undoubtedly it will usually be less than that of ordinary potatoes. In the hot, moist season of 1851, however, the yield was very large and the whole cost of production not more than that of ordinary potatoes by the bushel.

Quality.—Here, after all, is the failing point of this crop. In a dry, warm season, when grown in rather poor, sandy soil, they are often quite eatable, and are very acceptable to those not accustomed to those produced at the south. Often, however, they are quite watery and stringy—so much so to be utterly uneatable to all who have ever used a good article. For this reason I would not advise their culture as far north as Central New York; not at least until you strike the shores of the western lakes, where the summer is from two to four weeks longer, and allows the plant a proportionally longer period to mature its tubers.

I have written the preceding directions, not to encourage their culture, but to aid those who are determined to try that culture for themselves. Some of my directions will seem quite unnecessary to those familiar with their culture.—C. E. Goodrich, in Horticulturist.

DR. JOHN BULL.

SOMETHING NEW AND VALUABLE.

This most powerful King on the face of the globe now reigns supreme in the American Republic. The power of the crowned heads of Europe sink into insignificance when compared to that of our American King.

European Kings employ the power vested in them to increase the riches of the rich and lordly, and to reduce to greater misery and degradation the poor and dependent. Our American King goes forth with equal willingness to the lordly mansion and humble cabin, ready alike to administer relief and to offer health and happiness to the lofty and lowly, the rich and the poor.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

is the TENTH WONDER OF THE WORLD, and the greatest blessing ever offered to afflicted humanity; to the suffering millions, the Doctor can say, relief is at your command. You have only to use this magical remedy. All those who still suffer, and will not accept the proffered balm, deserve not the pity of their families.

This wonderful medicine, during the brief period since its introduction, has carried happiness to the hearts of thousands, and made life a charm to many who heretofore regarded it only as a painful and miserable existence.

To the winds with all Liniments, Embrocations, Pain Killers, and Pain Extractors, and let millions of glad tongues proclaim the merits of the great "American King of Pain," a preparation composed solely of vegetable and roots, produced by America's own rich and bountious soil.

We would ask the Ladies, who are always competent judges of what is and what is not a valuable family medicine, to do us a special favor by giving the King of Pain a single trial, and if satisfactory, exert their influence in its behalf, recommend it speak well and often of it, and see that it is used by their afflicted neighbors. The Ladies are always charitable, and when they induce their suffering friends to use this really valuable medicine, they will be doing an act of benevolence that they can well be proud of. This is a powerful and truly magical remedy for all external diseases, sores, swellings, burns, &c., and for many internal affections, it is a certain cure, yet it is perfectly harmless, and incapable of producing the least injurious effects in the most delicate cases or the weakest constitution.

It is entirely useless to follow the old and worn-out system of publishing to the public thousands of certificates of wonderful cures wrought by this medicine. It costs but twenty-five cents to try it; and Dr. Bull stakes his well-earned reputation on the King of Pain doing all and more than is claimed for it.

We would ask, have you the Rheumatism or Gout; these are not pleasant companions, and we know that you would like to drive them away as soon as possible. Then use

"BULL'S KING OF PAIN."

Would you be cured almost immediately of Bowel Complaint, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cramp Colic, Head Ache, Tooth, or any other ache or pain, the remedy is simple and the cure certain.

USE THE GREAT KING OF PAIN.

Would you have your Sores, Swellings, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Bruises, or any other wounds healed, we repeat it, use the MAGICAL KING OF PAIN.

Would you be cured of Scald Head, Stiff Joints, Sore Throat, Neuralgia, Sore Breast, Lumbago, Tetter or Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Bites of Poisonous Insects, Chapped Hands, and all other Sores, either dry or running, we say again and again, YOUR SAFETY is Dr. John Bull's

"KING OF PAIN."

Would you be cured of King's Evil, Cancer, Tumors, Eruptions, or any disease of the Skin caused by impure blood, then use Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla internally, and the King of Pain externally, nothing can be more certain than a speedy and effectual cure.

It is a remarkable fact, that among the hundreds of eminent physicians who have examined the recipe by which Bull's Sarsaparilla is prepared, not one has condemned it, but all approved it, and commend it in the highest terms, many physicians express themselves strongly to the belief that it is decidedly the best preparation of Sarsaparilla that has ever been placed before the public. Although there are many physicians who feel a reluctance to having their names appended to the recommendation of any particular remedy, notwithstanding this; may approve of it in the highest degree, there are others who frankly yield their support in favor of a remedy which they know is capable of doing so much good in an afflicted community. As an evidence, read the following from old and respectable physicians, of high standing in the community in which they live:

TESTIMONY.

☞ Testimony like the following renders superfluous all comments on the efficacy of Bull's Sarsaparilla. From Dr. L. P. Yandell, Professor of Chemistry in the Louisville Medical College:—I have looked over the list of ingredients composing John Bull's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, and have no hesitation in saying that they form a safe compound, and one that promises well in chronic diseases, to which it is applicable. L. P. YANDELL, M. D.

Louisville, June 6, 1848.

Wm. Gibson, physician by appointment to the Louisville Marine Hospital, says of Bull's Sarsaparilla:

LOUISVILLE, March 20, 1848.

I have examined the prescription for the preparation of John Bull's Sarsaparilla, and I believe the combination to be an excellent one, and well calculated to produce an alterative impression on the system. I have used it both in public and in private practice, and think it the best article of Sarsaparilla now in use. M. PYLES, M. D.,

Resident Physician Louisville Marine Hospital.

Better Testimony than was ever Offered in favor of any Medicine.

Rev. E. W. Schon, Rev. E. Stevenson.

LOUISVILLE, May 20th, 1849

We have used John Bull's Sarsaparilla, and have known it to be used, with entire satisfaction; and we have no hesitation in stating our belief, that it is a safe and valuable medicinal compound, and calculated to produce much good and relieve much suffering; and therefore would cheerfully and most earnestly recommend it to the afflicted. E. W. SHION, (Signed) E. STEVENSON.

We earnestly invite all persons who are suffering with any of "the ills that flesh is heir to," to call on Dr. John Bull's agent, and get a copy of Bull's Family Journal GRATIS; and for the sake of humanity, we hope that a single individual will not be found unwilling to give Bull's Sarsaparilla a TRIAL after reading, and receiving, at the same time, that it is impossible for the Doctor to publish the tenth part of the number of certificates of astounding cures performed by his Sarsaparilla. The amount of testimony voluntarily showered on Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla from well known and distinguished individuals, both in public and private life, has been perfectly overwhelming.
