AGRICULTURAL.

He that by the plough would thrive,
Himself must either hold or drive.

VALUE OF CARROTS AS FOOD AND MEDICINE—THEIR GREAT YIELD.—At the last meeting of the Farmer's Club in this city some interesting information was elicted concerning this nutritious vegetable. They are now worth 50c a bushel, and ten times as many bushe's per acre may be grown as corn. There is no more healthy food for man or beast. They are especially good for children in the summer, as they prevent summer complaints. They are now used by many persons to feed horses, as they are cheaper than oats; and keep the animal healthy. Nearly all physicians concur in the opinion as to the advantage of using carrots for human and animal food. The poor of this city are now paying $2 50 and $3.00 a bushel for potatoes, while they do not contain any more nutriment than carrots, at a good deal less than half the price. The reason is that it is fashionable to eat one and not the other. Carrots are good cooked in various ways, but seldom used except for soup. There is another value of carrots that ought to be known. They are the most healthy vegetable that grows. Grate or cut a carrot fine, and stew it in lard until all the substance is cooked out and then strain it, and you have a salve or ointment of the very best kind for all sorts of old sores of man or beast. It is excellent for sore backs of horses.—N. Y. Paper

WET LANDS.—These should be drained as speedily as you can make arrangements to have the work done. Wet lands tend to render your place unhealthy; they yield indifferent crops; they are later by three or four weeks than they will be after being drained; and, in fact never can be thoroughly improved while they remain in a wet condition.

The Chinese Yam.

There has been introduced into France from China, a new species of yam, (Dioscorea batatas.) which bids fair to supersede, or at least serve as a substitute for the common potato.

This yam appears to be adapted to the climates of all parts of the United States, growing a vine above ground, and sending perpendicularly into the earth large tubers, two or three feet in length and half the size of a man's arm. These tubers are dry and farinaceous, quite as much so as the potato, and may be used for the same purposes.

A very small number has been procured and distributed at the Patent office, chiefly among members of Congress of the several States and Territories.

To Keep Birds from Pecking Fruit.

As the season is coming for the depradations of birds, I beg to report my experience of last year, when I saved my cherries by hanging up several pieces of tin with strong threads in the different trees two pieces being hung near enough together to clash with the wind, which sounds, with the bright reflection of the tin in the sun, certainly frightened them away. I had my due share of the fruit, which the preceeding year I was obliged to relinquish to them.

So says a farmer of the State of New Jersey.

The Crops.

The Sandusky Register says:

In this vicinity, and generally throughout the Reserve, the promise is fine for grain.—Wheat never promised better. Of fruits the prospect is said to be quite fair; peaches are not all killed, and apples and cherries are in apparent plenty. It is quite generally remarked by farmers and gardeners that no spring, for several years past, has given better promise for the summer yield. That we may have plenty in the field is the earnest petition of all.

SABBATH READING.

LIFE AND DEATH.

We went a day or two ago to visit an old and dear friend, between whom and ourselves for many weary years there had been little communication. We found him where we sought him.—but there was a guest at his hearth we had not thought to meet. Death was there. In a little back room, about whose casement heavy palls were twined together, excluding the gay sunlight that lay so lovely upon the outer sill, there were two coffins—one little and one large. And within these two coffins, clothed in whitened raiment there were two corpses, the one that of a babe, in the same hour infancy and age—the grandsire and his youngest darling—had broken away from the earth-anchorage, and drifted out upon the Stygian waves towards the Better Land.

It is often thus that the old and young go together to their long home. Daily, almost, we behold the scythe of the dark Reaper cutting down alike the growing flower and ripened grain, gathering them in one sheaf into the upper garner. He, of all harvesters, is the most remorseless, his the daily scythe whose edge is never dull. Yet he that commissions the stern old Reaper doeth all things well—and will make the dark things clear and the crooked straight in that day, when the scythe and the shroud together shall be put away forever from the presence of the ransomed.

The old man and the babe were friends—each a treasure to the other—during life, and in death they were not divided. The same dark bore them to the pearly strand—the same angel led them through the golden gates; and now, over one harp they sing together in Heaven.

A Sermon for Children.

"Silver and gold have I none; such as I have give I thee."

If you turn, my young readers, to Acts, 3d chapter, sixth verse, you will find the above written words.

This the Apostle Peter said to a poor lame man who was sitting at the gate of the temple called Beautiful. As Peter and John went up thither together, this lame man asked alms of them; and he expected to receive something of them. Then Peter said "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk." And he took him by the right hand and lifted him up, and miraculously cured him, so that he leaped and walked, and entered into the temple with them, praising God.

Though this was said to the poor lame man hundreds of years ago, yet it is so expressive a sentence that it may often be used now under far different circumstances. Yes, my children, each one of you, though you may have neither silver nor gold, can say, "what I have give I thee." You may each one, in your own little sphere, do a great deal of good. You can speak a kind word; you can do a kind act for some poor, sick person.—Many of you can amid your mother's arduous duties, lend a helping hand, and thus lighten her cares—taking care of your little baby brother or sister, moving quietly about, and doing a great many little useful deeds; and always remembering, by being obedient, kind and attentive, how much, even in this way, you can accomplish of good.

Some children think because they are young and small they cannot do much; but you know, "little by little the bird builds its nest," and almost everything great and wonderful in this world has come from very small beginnings.

"What if the little rain should say,
So small a drop as I
Can ne'er refresh these thirsty fields;
I'll tarry in the sky!"

This is the same principle you act out when you think, because you can do so little, you have no responsibility, and are required to do nothing for others. Then again, the hymn says:

"Doth not each rain drop help to form
The cool refreshing shower,
And every ray of light to warm
And beautify the flower?"

So will you help to warm and beautify the hearts of those around you, if you each in your own sphere endeavor to be the kind sister, the helpful and affectionate daughter, and the sympathizing friend of the poor: not passing them thoughtlessly by, but giving them a gentle look, a kind word, and bestowing upon them something from your own little store.—Child's Paper.

THE BETTER LAND.

Our relatives of eternity out number our relatives in time. The catalogue of the living we love, becomes less, and in anticipation we see the perpetually lengthening train of the departed; and by their flight our affections grow gradually less glued to the earth and more allied to heaven. It is not in vain that the images of our departed children, and near and dear ones, are laid up to memory, as in a picture gallery from which the ceaseless surge of this world's cares cannot obliterate them, they won't there for the light of the resurrection day, to stand forth holy, beautiful and happy—our fellow-worshippers for ever.

STEAM MUSIC.

A Worcester (Massachusetts) paper says one of their enterprising mechanics has invented the art of rendering steam whistles musical, thus making those nuisances quite as ornamental as useful. What an improvement that will be when it comes in general use. For instance, suppose we are a young married man (requires some imagination, we admit) and have to leave the endearments of home for business elsewhere. We get into the cars feeling dreadfully, if not worse; the bell gives the parting tinkle, the wheels rumble slowly out of the depot, and at that moment the whistle strikes up. 'Oh, Susannah, don't you cry for me!' shouldn't we be touched and yet consoled! Then further along, an ignoramus, as ignoramuses will, is seen walking on the track, and immediately 'Git out of the way, Old Dan Tucker!' starts him one side as promptly as the hiss of a rattlesnake, but still with an agreeable exhilaration. But a dog is just to be run over—the thing is inevitable—but there is some consolation in "Old Dog Tray' played as a complimentary requiem. When not otherwise employed, didactic strains might be given, as—'Wake up, Jake, the fire wants poking'—or the night train night soliloquize: 'We won't go home till morning.' And one instance more—the young married so ingeniously imagined above, having got through his business, is returning; as the cars begin to slacken their pace, what would be more touchingly appropriate than 'Home again, home again' played whith a forty horse power pathos! We have said enough; hurry up the musical engines.

CELEBRATED
PILE LINIMENT.
FOR
Internal and External Piles.

THIS Liniment has been long used only as the private prescription of an eminent Physician. It has been used in this way more than eight years, during the whole of which time, although prescribed in a great number of cases, it has never, in any instance, been known to fail.

Many of the cases which have been effectually cured by this Liniment, have been of more than thirty years standing, causing great suffering and producing considerable ravage upon the system. These chronic cases have yielded as readily to the virtues of this remedy as those of recent date. Experience warrants the assertion, that there cannot be a case of Piles, uncomplicated with other diseases, which will not be forced to yield before the well-tested powers of this medicine.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS.
PREPARED BY
DR. C. M. JACKSON,
GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,
No. 120, Arch St., 1 door below Sixth, Philada.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most secreting powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are, without, sale, certain and pleasant.

TESTIMONY FROM OHIO.

JOHN HOFFMAN, Jeromesville, Ohio, May 30th, 1853 said: "I write to state for your satisfaction, and also for that of others, that your German Bitters is what you recommend it to be, a highly valuable medicine, which I know from having used it in my own family to my entire satisfaction. All who have used it give the same recommendation."

STEPHEN A. MEALY, Canton, Ohio, May 11, 1853, says: "Having heard your German Bitters highly recommended from sources in which I placed much confidence, I ordered four bottles from Cleveland. One of them I gave to my daughter who has derived great benefit from it; two of the others I sold immediately, and I would like you to send me a supply of it to sell."

JOHN CLARK, Brunswick, Ohio, May 26, 1854, says:—"Your German Bitters have proved successful in every case that has come to my knowledge, and has opened for itself a great demand."

THOMAS LEPCHORD, Covington, Ohio, December 27th, 1853, says: "My wife has been affected with the Liver complaint and Dyspepsia for a number of years, during which time I have spent a great deal for doctoring, but she received very little benefit therefrom, and finally the doctors said she could not be cured. Last spring she concluded to try your Bitters, she took two bottles and ever since taking them she has been able to attend to her business, until very lately she had a new attack, but has again commenced the Bitters. I have sold quite a number of bottles through her recommendation, and as far as I can learn, it has given satisfaction to all."

DAVID ARNOTT Austinsburg, Ohio, December 5, 1853, says: Permit me to bear testimony to the remarkable efficacy of your German Bitters in the cure of Liver complaint. For years previous to taking it, I was severely afflicted with disease of the Liver, so much so that I did not expect to live, but by a free use of the Bitters, thanks to a kind Providence, I find myself entirely restored to health and able to resume my usual employment."

These Bitters are entirely vegetable and free from Alcoholic stimulant and all injurious ingredients, mild in their operation, they strengthen, the system, never prostrate it.

They are entirely vegetable and free from all injurious ingredients.

DR. WM. HALL'S
BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS,
—FOR THE CURE OF—
CONSUMPTION, DECLINE, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, WASTING OF THE FLESH, NIGHT SWEATS, SPITTING BLOOD, WHOOPING COUGH, DIFFICULTY OF BREATHING, —COLDS, COUGHS, INFLUENZA,— PHTHISIC, PAIN IN THE SIDE, AND ALL
DISEASES OF THE CHEST AND LUNGS

Dr. Hall's Balsam contains no OPIUM, CALOMEL, or any mineral poison, but is composed mostly of those Roots, Herbs and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the lungs and their connected organs. IMMEDIATE EFFECT is to allay all irritation and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air Passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It also stimulates and imparts a healthy tone to the Lungs themselves, thereby enabling them more thoroughly to remove from the blood those impurities and diseased particles, which, if retained, do so much mischief in the system, and lays the foundation for incurable CONSUMPTION. It also exerts a decided action upon the skin, and assists nature in expelling through the Exudents, much of that morbid matter which would otherwise be thrown back upon the Lungs, thus relieving them of a part of their work, and rendering the system pure and healthy. When torches are forming, it checks their development and further progress; or if ulceration has taken place, it assists the lungs in throwing off the corrupted matter, soothes the irritation, heals the ulcerated cavities, and restores them again to healthy action. This medicine, therefore, is not a palliative merely, which only relieves for the time being, but is a THOROUGH CURATIVE, as it strikes at the very root of the disease, and by removing it, removes at once all its remote and attendant consequences. This is its DISTINGUISHED CHARACTERISTIC—a property possessed, in equal power, by no other medicine of like nature, now before the public.

GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.
THE MOST VALUABLE
Spring and Summer Medicine in the World!!
DR. HALSEY'S
FOREST WINE.
PATRONIZED BY THE NOBILITY AND MEDICAL FACULTY OF ENGLAND, AND ESTEEMED THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

Medicines containing molasses or liquorice, like the boasted Sarsaparillas, require many large bottles to produce the slightest change in health. The FOREST WINE is altogether a different article. It contains no syrups to give it consistency, but acquires its excellent flavor, and powerful medicinal properties from the vegetable plants of which it is composed. The FOREST WINE combines the virtues of the Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Yellow Dock, and Sarsaparilla!

with other valuable plants whose properties are still more effective.

Its high concentration renders it one of the most efficient medicines now in use. Sometimes less than a single bottle restores the lingering patient from weakness, debility, and sickness, to strong and vigorous health. Every dose shows its good effects on the constitution, and improves the state of the health. The FOREST WINE is recommended, in the strongest terms, for all complaints of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nervous Disorders, Bilious Affections, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Female Complaints, Scrofula, and all Disorders arising from BAD BLOOD and impure habit of the system.

Saved from Death!

Testimony of Mr. NATHAN MATHEWS, a highly respectable and wealthy citizen of Newark, N. J.

DR. G. W. HALSEY:—I believe your Forest Wine and Pills have been the means of saving my life. When I commenced taking them I laid at the point of death with Dropsy, Piles, and Asthma. My physicians had given me over as past cure, and my family had lost all hopes of my recovery. While in this dreadful situation, your Forest Wine and Pills were procured for me, and before I had finished the first bottle of the Wine and box of Pills, I experienced great relief; my body and limbs, which were greatly swollen, became sensibly reduced. Hopes of my recovery began now to revive, and after continuing the use of your medicines for about a month, the Dropsy and Asthma were completely cured. The Dropsy, with which my life was placed in such great danger, was also nearly gone. I have continued the use of your medicines until the present time, and I now enjoy as perfect health as ever I did in my life, although I am more than sixty years of age.

Yours, respectfully,
Newark, N. J., Dec. 19, 1847. N. MATHEWS.

Great Cure of Liver Complaint of Ten Years Standing.

New York, Jan. 9th, 1849,

DR. HALSEY, Dear Sir:—Having taken your Forest Wine and Pills to remove a disease of the Liver, from which I have suffered severely for upwards of ten years; and having adhered closely to the directions which accompany the medicines, I have recovered my health notwithstanding all who knew me thought my case incurable. Previous to taking the Wine and Pills, I had recourse to the best medical treatment, but continued to grow worse to an alarming degree. Some of my friends spoke despairingly of my case, and tried to persuade me from making use of any advertised remedies; and I doubt not, but what there are hundreds who are dissuaded from taking your excellent medicines, in consequence of the deception and inefficiency of many advertised remedies put forth by unprincipled men, in flaming advertisements. But, what a pity it is, that the deception practised by others, should be the means of disuading many laboring under disease, from making trial and being cured by your excellent remedies. Humanity speaking, they have saved my life; when I commenced making use of them, I was in a wretched condition, but began to experience their good effects in less than three days; and in six weeks from the time I purchased the medicines, to the great surprise of all my friends, I was entirely cured, and had increased fifteen pounds in weight, having taken one box of the Pills, and two bottles of the Wine. Would to God that every poor sufferer would avail himself of the same remedies.

Yours, &c., JAMES WILSON.

Nervous Disorders

Are diseases of the mind as well as of the body, are usually brought on by troubles and affliction, and are most common to persons of delicate constitutions and sensitive minds. Low spirits, melancholy, frightful dreams, and fearful anticipations of evil from the slightest causes, generally accompany nervous disorders.—The Forest Wine and Pills are an energetic remedy in these complaints.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Joseph C. Paulding, dated Philadelphia, Sept. 7th, 1848.

DR. G. W. HALSEY:

Dear Sir, Your Forest Wine and Pills have cured my wife of a dreadful Nervous disorder, with which she had been affected for many years. Her body was almost wasted away. She was frequently disturbed in her sleep by frightful dreams, awakening quite exhausted and covered with perspiration, and at times laboring under the delusion that something dreadful was about to happen to her. By the use of four bottles of the wine, and a box of the Pills, she is now in perfect health.—She has regained her flesh and color, and enjoys society as well as ever. J. C. PAULDING.

DR. DAVID MARTIN, a celebrated practitioner of New York, declared publicly, that one bottle of Halsey's Forest Wine contained more virtues than fifty of the large bottles of Sarsaparilla. Messrs. S. S. LAMPMAN & Co., one of the largest and most respectable Druggists in Syracuse, in a letter, say: "From what they have heard & seen of Halsey's Forest Wine, it is an excellent and good medicine, and will undoubtedly become the leading medicine of the day."

The Forest Wine is put up in large square bottles, with Dr. Halsey's name blown in the glass; $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5 Gum-coated Pills, 25 Cents per box. Agents are authorized to retail as well as wholesale to on as favorable conditions as the proprietor, No. 161 Duane St., corner of Hudson, N. York. Appointed Agent in St. Clairsville, J. W.
