

Women Leech-Fishers.
One of the most peculiar industries in which women ever engaged was that of leech-fishing. Sixty years ago leeches were in much greater demand than they are to-day, and their capture and sale proved so profitable that women were willing to make martyrs of themselves for cash. It was mostly Scotch women who engaged in the business. They would wade in the shallow pools of the Lincolnshire carra, with their legs bare, until the entire surface of their limbs was covered with the slimy, clinging creatures. When this stage of the fishing was reached, they would go ashore, drag the leeches from their feet, and put them in small wooden barrels, which were then strapped on their backs and taken to the Scotch markets, where they were readily disposed of at good prices.

Libby, McNeill & Libby.
The visitor passing through the plant of Messrs. Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, is not only deeply interested in the cutting rooms, cooking kitchens, canning department and the wonderful mechanical contrivances for accomplishing the work speedily, but is greatly surprised by the vastness of their industry of packing and preserving dairy meats and specialties for consumers all over the world. Some idea of the enormous business of this firm can be obtained from the fact that they require capacity for 300,000 cattle and 100,000 sheep per annum, manufacture forty millions of cans a year or an average of 100,000 cans a day, and require 2,000 employees to meet the demands of their trade. Reward for Honesty.
When you ask for CASCARETS, Candy Cathartic, and the man offers you tablets in bulk or "something just as good," be it trying to swindle you. We are looking for dishonest dealers like that, for they not only steal our reputation and business, but endanger your health with cheap, unreliable and fraudulent substitutes in order to make a few more cents at your expense. Write us and furnish us with the evidence to convict such frauds and receive a liberal reward, at once. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

"A Miss is As Good as a Mile."
If you are not entirely well, you are ill. Illness does not mean death's door. It is a sense of weariness, a "tired feeling," a life filled with nameless pains and sufferings. In 90% of cases the blood is to blame. Hood's Sarsaparilla is Nature's corrective for disorders of the blood. Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla NEVER DISAPPOINTS.

Tom—What do you think she did when I asked her to let me be the light of her life?
Dick—I don't know. What?
Tom—Turned me down.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Would Come Around All Right.
They were seated side by side on the parlor sofa and there wasn't room for a word between them for an argument.
"George," murmured the maid, after a blissful silence extended over a period of several minutes "I'm afraid your arm must be very painful."
"Why do you think so, dear?" he asked.
"Because," she coyly replied, "it seems to be out of place."
"Oh, well, never mind," said George. "It will come around right."—Chicago News.

A Precious Gem Story.
The ten things had been cleared away, and the head of the establishment was trying to read the evening paper, while his better half busied herself with some fancy work, and at the same time endeavored to interest him in the gossip of the neighborhood.
"Maria," said he, glancing up from his paper, "did you ever hear the story of precious gems?"
"Why, no," she replied; "what is it?"
"It's an old-time fairy legend that my grandmother told me when I was a boy," he continued, "about a woman from whose lips there fell either a diamond or a ruby every time she spoke a word."
"Well, go on," she said.
"That's all there is of it, Maria," he replied. "But I was just thinking that if such things happened nowadays I'd open a jewelry shop the first thing in the morning."
And then for thirteen consecutive minutes silence reigned supreme.
The woman who marries a man to reform him seldom lives long enough to finish the job.

Georgie's Gab

"That's a Job some people might like," paw said when we were settling around waltz for it to Git time to go to bed late before last. "But there's where they don't no what the contract calls for."
"What job is that?" maw ast.
"Bein a Emperor," says paw. "Look at Willie over There in Gurneeny. Say, that Boy works overtime rite along without extra pay, and he don't git menny Saturday afternoons of neither."
"Why," maw Told him, "I thot kings and queans and Emperors didn't Haft to do nothin but sine state papers they never red and ride around in the park to git a nappytite for Dinner."
"That shows I done wuz not gain in fee a Diplomat career after I married you," paw says. "You'd make a nice wife of a Forren council with all your ignorance of sich affairs, wouldn't you? Sposen I was hired by the Government, tho, and was Sent over to Burlin to see the Emperor. I'd go up to the palls and ring the Bell, and purty Soon a Survent would come, and I'd say:
"Good mornen. Is the Emperor in?"
"No," the Survent would say, "he has went out already."
"Where is He?" I'd ast.
"I fertig whether He's openin a Canal or Unvalla a Statute of his grand-father this mornin," the survent would answer.
"Then I'd go in and set down and wate, and purty soon the Emperor would come hurryin in, dressed as a kernel of the Yoolans. After we would Shake hands he would say:
"You must excuse me for a few minutes. I Got to present a meddle to a feller what belongs to a Friendly power. He's waitin out in the Hall."
"So he goes into the Bed room and purty soon he comes out in the youniform of a Drum major in the Rooshen army, and Goes and pins the meddle on to the man From the friendly Power and then Comes back, and I Start to tell Him what I want, and He looks at his watch and Hollers:
"Holy smoke! Here it is a quarter past 10 already. I must go and lay the corner stone of a Chewin Gum factory. Here's the Famby album full of pictures of me what you kin look at till it git Back!"
"Then He Dresses Himself like a Judge of the Soup prann court hurries out so he won't miss the next car. When he comes Back he only jist has time to Dress up as a admiral and Go to Lavch a new tug Bote. Then it's Time to git his picture taken in six styles, and That Takes Him twenty minits, so when He Gits thru He makes a speech to the assembled multitood, sayin:
"My dear chldren, there's only one thing you got to Do to Be the greatest peopl on erth. That's pay your Taxes and Remember That There's jist one Red Thing worth while in this world and I'm it. Always Remember it's me That gives the word when the Whissel Blows and you'll Be happy. France has a great army. I want to see that sho in Paris next year."
"Then they holler 'Hook, Hook a few times and the Hired Gurl says a dinner's ready."
"Well," says maw, "you mite tell Him what you want while He's eatin."
"No," paw Told Her, "That's one of the Bizziest times of the Day for Him. While the medd is goin on he has to pose for a Bust of Himself and Dickitate the musick of an opry to Three tipe riters.
