CANDELABRA WINS DRIVING.

After a Desperate Struggle Beats Copyright in the Third Event.

REIFF TAKES THE FIRST RACE.

Gutta Percha Wins the Second Event Easily---Other Winners at Sheepshead.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, SHEEPSHEAD BAY, July 5.--Racing was continued here today, with an attractive card, but before a very slim crowd of spectators. This shrinkage in attendance, however, is always to be expected after a holiday. The weather was cool and clear, and the racing all that could be desired

The sport began with a dash for maiden two and three year olds. Reiff, running in the colors of his new owner, won handsomely. The horse has been running prominently in races around the ring, but invariably belted on the straight.

However, he ran true and won very easily. He was second choice to War Bonnett, who was favorite at 17, to 5. May Day filly, a 12 to 1 chance, beat the favorite for the place

Prince of Monaco was the favorite in the second race. Sime was given the mount so that Mr. Dwyer could change on the colt, while Lamly glistened for Croker's Amsterdam. The best Prince of Monaco could do, however, was to run third.

Gutta Percha, the second choice, who should have been a legitimate favorite, won the race in hollow fashion from Midgley, whose recent poor form caused him to be at long odds.

In the third race Copyright was almost backed off the boards. Griffin had the mount, and the talent display a great confidence in him. Candelabra was second choice and the others went begging.

Copyright was beaten, but only after a hard fight. Candelabra ranged along side at the head of the stretch, and a furious drive to the wire gave the former a head victory. Kalsh "I" was third. The latter was ridden by John Lamly, and it was the first horse the little boy has ridden for Daly since the latter caused Jimmy Lamly to be refused a license.

They swung into the stretch in a close bunch. To the finish it was whip and spur at each jump between Candelabra and Copyright and the former won by a head though Doggett's superior strength, Capt. Gwendolyn and Jay Jack then dropped out of it, and Dorian and Henry of Navarre drew away from the others. The latter went to the front in the stretch and won cantering, by a length and a half from Dorian, who was ten lengths in front of Our Jack. Time--1.56 1-5.

RECORD BROKEN AT CHICAGO.

Sabine Runs 1 3-8 Miles in 2.18 3-4 and Defeats Senator Irby.

WASHINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, July 5.--The races were continued here to-day before a fair-sized crowd. Six races were down on the card for decision.

The feature of the day was the record-smashing performance of Sabine in the third race. This colt, who was an indifferent sort of an animal last year, has turned out to be quite a good one.

He ran a mile and three-eighths today in 2.18 3-4, which is one second faster than the record made on this track by Versatile last year.

Sabine is by Imp. Rossington--Lizzie Stone, and he had little trouble to-day in beating that real good racehorse, Senator Irby, owned by C. C. McCafferty.

The results were as follows:

First Race--Five-eighths of a mile.--Won by Eva L., 20 to 1, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, second, and Cottage Girl third. Time--1.02.

Second Race--Three-quarters of a mile. --Won by Maggie Gray, 7 to 1 and 3 to 5; May Day, 5 to 1, second, and King Bor third. Time--1.14 1-5.

Third Race--One and three-eighth miles. --Won by Sabine, 9 to 5 and 7 to 10; Forakhine, even money, second, and Senator Irby third. Time--2.18 3-4.

NICKALLS GETS THE SIXTH.

Easily Beats Wright, of Toronto, in the Diamond Scull Race.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 5.--At the Henley Regatta to-day, in the sixth heat, for the Diamond Sculls, Vivian Nickalls beat Joe Wright, the Toronto oarsman.

They pulled level for the first hundred yards, but Nickalls ended by one-half length at Top Island. Wright then put in a spurt, and clipped up level with Nickalls at the farm, but from there on Nickalls drew away and won easily by 2 3-4 lengths. Time, 9m. 25s.

The seventh heat was won by Guy Nickalls, with Guinness second.

In the first heat for the Silver Goblets the brothers Nickalls had a walkover.

Ryan and Wright were absent.

BRITANNIA WAS LUCKY.

Vigilant Lost the Wind Nearing the Finish Mark.

(By Associated Press.)

HUNTER'S QUAY, FIRTH OF CLYDE, July 5.--One of the most remarkable changes which ever occurred in a yacht race happened several miles from the finish. The wind was still fairly fresh on the run up the Firth as far as Cloch, where Vigilant had a lead of more than five minutes.

On the home side of Cloch, however, Vigilant dropped out of the wind, and Britannia, still holding the wind, began to draw up on her.

Britannia was lucky enough to keep the wind, and Vigilant was soon passed.

The story of the race will be found on the fifth page.

How Did Roundsman Graham Die?

The circumstances surrounding the death of Roundsman Alexander Graham, of the steamboat squad, whose body was found at the foot of Wilkins street, Brooklyn, yesterday, are so much a mystery as now. Capt. Allaire, commander of the steamboat squad, says he has not a single clue that might solve the question. There is no apparent motive for suicide, yet the body bears no marks of foul play.

$500 TO FIX A JUDGE.

Lawyer Epstein's Startling Charge in Supreme Court.

Mrs. Goldensen's Agreement with Lawyer Abraham Joseph.

She Seeks to Recover the Amount--Decision Reserved.

Lawyer George H. Epstein, in the Supreme Court, to-day, charged that Lawyer Abraham A. Joseph had secured $500 from Mrs. Sarah Goldensen, on a pretext that it was to "fix" a judge of the City Court, before whom she had certain lawsuits pending.

The statement came out upon the argument of a motion made by Lawyer Epstein, in behalf of Mrs. Goldensen, to compel Lawyer Joseph to pay over to her $[illegible].

Mrs. Goldenson had two suits pending in the City Court against the Bowery and Dry Dock Savings Banks. Both the suits were successful, and Mrs. Goldensen secured verdicts amounting to $2,715.

Lawyer Joseph acted as her attorney in these suits, and, it is alleged, retained $1,086 for his own services and disbursements in the actions.

Mrs. Goldensen, said that Joseph had retained $623 more than he was entitled to.

Lawyer Joseph set up the defense that there was $500 to be deducted from the amount claimed by Mrs. Goldensen, and that if anything was still due her, it was but $2[illegible]. The $500, he said, was covered by an agreement with Mrs. Goldensen by which she was to pay that amount to retain his brother, Herman Joseph, as counsel in the trial of the actions. He produced the agreement, which, he alleged, had been signed by Mrs. Goldensen. He further claimed to be entitled to the balance of $129 for his services.

In reply to Lawyer Joseph's argument, Lawyer Epstein stated that while the agreement produced on its face seemed to be an agreement to engage Herman Joseph as counsel, it was a matter of fact very different.

"Your Honor," said Lawyer Epstein, "I will state that my client was informed that if she wished to have any hope of winning her cases in the City Court she would have to pay $500 to be given to the Judge before whom the cases were tried.

"It was for that purpose she paid the money, and not to retain Herman Joseph."

Lawyer Epstein wanted time to file the affidavit of his client in support of his statements, which Justice Andrews granted.

Lawyer Joseph denied that there was any truth in Lawyer Epstein's charges.

Justice Andrews took the papers and reserved decision.

Although Mrs. Goldensen's suits were originally brought against the Bowery Savings Bank and the Dry Dock Savings Bank, the Court ordered that William H. Roos, Public Administrator, who had charge of the estate of John Melvin, who assigned the money to Mrs. Goldensen, should be substituted as defendant.

The records on file in the office of the Clerk of the City Court show that both cases were tried by Chief Judge Ehrlich. His decision in each suit was in favor of Mrs. Goldensen.

The facts show that John Melvin, in April, 1890 being ill, assigned to Mrs. Goldensen the moneys he had on deposit in the two banks named. He grew worse and was removed to Bellevue and later to Ward's Island Hospital, where he died May 14, 1890.

After making a demand on the banks for the money and being refused, Mrs. Goldensen began the suits.

Judge Ehrlich's decisions are dated April 14, 1893, and he decides in favor of Mrs. Goldensen, both as regards the "findings of fact" and the "findings of law." He could not be found to-day, and in the Chambers of the City Court Judges it was said he had not been downtown to-day.

An "Evening World" reporter called at Lawyer Joseph's office, 273 Broadway, this afternoon to inquire if he had any explanation to give, which was not made in court, of the charges against him.

It was said at his office that he had gone to the seashore and would not return to the city to-day.

Lawyer Epstein refused to add anything to what he said in court, beyond saying: "Until I submit the affidavits of my client in support of the charges to Justice Andrews, I do not think I should discuss the matter for publication."

WOULD NOT MAKE AN ARREST.

Mrs. Muhlbauer Lodges a Charge Against Two Policemen.

Lawyer Julius Lehman complained to Police Headquarters to-day about the action of two policemen, who refused to arrest a man who assaulted Mrs. Fanicia Muhlbauer, of 312 East Fourteenth street, Monday night.

Mrs. Muhlbauer was walking on East Fourteenth street at the time. Her sister, Mrs. T. Spero, was passing on the opposite side of the street and she hailed her. As Mrs. Spero was crossing the street, a big man, whom Mrs. Muhlbauer says she knows by sight, put his arms around her and asked her to come along.

The woman screamed, and Mr. Loesch, a barber, of 100 West Fourteenth street, who was with her sister, ran to her aid.

The man struck Loesch twice in the face, and as Mrs. Muhlbauer continued screaming he struck her also in the neck just as two policemen came up. Then he started off and entered the headquarters of the Tenth District Association of Tammany Hall, at Fourteenth street and Second avenue.

The woman complained to the police, who entered the club-room and found the man there who committed the assault. Mrs. Muhlbauer identified him, but the officer would not arrest him. They told her to go home.

Yesterday she went to John Reilly, the Tammany leader in the district, and asked him who the man was. She said that Mr. Reilly gave his name as Pat McKennan, of 323 East Thirteenth street, but as the woman does not speak English perfectly it is supposed she was mistaken.

Lawyer Lehman says a man named Pat McKenna, an officer, lives there. He will apply for a warrant for his arrest to-morrow.

One of the officers who refused to make the arrest is named Boyle. The other's name could not be ascertained.

Heavy Fog and Icebergs.

The American line steamship Chester, from Southampton June 22, came up the bay this morning. She reports continuous fog from the banks to Sandy Hook. On July 1 passed two icebergs. The Spree, which also arrived to-day, reports heavy fog and an iceberg.

A LIGHTER ON FIRE.

Her Cargo of Oil and Cotton Made a Fierce Blaze.

Taken in Tow by Tugs and Beached on Governor's Island.

Belief that Her Crew Escaped in Safety.

Late this afternoon a steam lighter, the name of which could not be ascertained, was sighted near the Atlantic Dock enveloped in flames, by the crew of the Moran Tugboat Company's tug James A. Dumont.

The flames evidently originated near the starboard bow and spread rapidly over her entire deckload of oil and cotton.

The Dumont started to the burning lighter's assistance, and the crew of the freboat New Yorker, having also spied the blaze, put out for her as she was steaming across Buttermilk Channel.

Before either could reach the burning vessel a series of explosions were heard and the flames leaped higher and enveloped the entire deckhouse.

By this time half a hundred tugs and other vessels had been attracted to the spot and began pumping water upon the lighter, with little apparent effect, meanwhile towing her towards Governor's Island.

The lighter was finally beached on the south shore of Governor's Island, where the fire was extinguished before she was entirely consumed.

It could not be learned whether any of her crew were injured. The captain was seen at his post in the pilot-house until the explosions shattered the deckhouse.

TWO DEAD, 14 BADLY HURT.

Fatal Fall of a Balcony at Hinton, West Virginia.

(By Associated Press.)

HINTON, W. Va., July 5.--At about 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning the balcony of the Opera-House fell, burying those beneath it in a mass of broken timbers and precipitating those upon it into the street thirty feet below.

A dance was in progress inside the building and a Fourth of July parade passing had drawn the dancers to the balcony.

The following are the dead: Newton Marsh, aged twelve years, head crushed and neck broken, instantly killed; Charles Lee, aged thirty-five years, back broken and lung punctured by broken rib; died about 1 P. M.

Fourteen persons were badly hurt and others less seriously.

PANIC IN PATTI'S HOME.

Fire in the Astor Flats Caused $100 Damage.

A small fire caused a panic this afternoon in the tenement-house at 269 to 279 Elizabeth street. The building is occupied by about 120 Italian families.

The fire broke out about 3:30 P. M. in a room on the third floor, over No. 269, occupied by Pasquale Patti. The tenants at once took alarm and crowded to the fire-escapes in the front of the building.

The escapes were blocked by the people and were useless. The police and firemen had great difficulty in preventing them from jumping into the street, so great was their fright.

The fire was quickly extinguished, and the damage did not exceed $100.

The flats are known as the "Astor Flats" belonging to the Astor estate.

While going to the fire George Dennett, driver of Fire Insurance Patrol No. 2 was thrown from his wagon, at the corner of Houston street and the Bowery, and was severely injured. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

HAD CHECKS PRINTED.

Young Auerbach Accused of Forging His Employer's Name.

Samuel Auerbach, twenty-two years old, of 418 East Eighty-fourth street, was held for examination in the Tombs Police Court to-day on a charge of forgery. He had up to the time of the arrest been employed by the Clark Thread Company, at 441 Broadway.

Last Saturday the prisoner sold a bill of goods to J. Balsansky & Son, of 40 White street. Payment was made by check. Before turning the check in to the firm Auerbach, it is alleged, took the check to M. J. Roth, a printer, at 1498 Third avenue, and ordered 500 duplicates.

On Monday he received a proof, and it is said made out a check for $[illegible] on the Cooper Savings Bank, in which his father, L. M. Auerbach, signed J. Bobtansky & Co.

The forged check was cashed by Solomon Kosner, Albert Weiss, of 1095 First avenue. Detectives Price and McCafferty, of the Central Office, arrested the prisoner.

ATTACKED BY HOODLUMS.

No Doctors at Chambers Street Hospital to Dress the Cut.

A gang of hoodlums raided a soda-water wagon of the Union Bottling Company, at Quincy slip at noon to-day. They stole several siphons of seltzer, and when Daniel McGowan, the driver, gave chase they knocked him down and cut a gash in his head.

He went to Chambers Street Hospital, but as the doctors were out to lunch and the attendant impertinently refused to send for them, he was taken by friends to the New York Hospital, where his wound was dressed.

Navy-Yard Men to Be Reinstated.

A despatch from Washington this afternoon states that Congress this morning passed a resolution authorizing Secretary Herbert to continue the work of the construction of new vessels at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, which was stopped last Monday. This resolution authorizes Rear-Admiral Meredith to re-employ the men who were suspended on Monday.

A. P. A. RIOT IN BUTTE.

One Man Shot Dead and Another Will Probably Die.

State Troops Ordered Out and Excitement High.

Fire Department Charges a Crowd with Lines of Hose.

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, July 5.--A special from Butte, Mont., says an A. P. A. riot broke out there last evening, and one man lead, one fatally injured and each a dozen more or less wounded are among the results of the outbreak. The militia has been called out and is stationed in one district of the city. All saloons have been closed as well as pawnshops and places where ammunition is sold.

Trouble was precipitated by two saloon-keepers displaying on the fronts of their places bunting forming the letters A. P. A. During the night some one set off a stick of giant powder under one of the windows, demolishing a pane of glass. This attracted a large crowd of people to the scene, which blocked the street.

After the parade the police could not disperse the crowd. Several fights occurred, and the first shot was fired by William Ferguson at William Page. This intensified the feelings, and the crowd started to tear down the buildings occupied by the saloon men who had the A. P. A. sign out.

Judge McHatton, of the District Court, appeared in a window and addressed the crowd, appealing to them to commit no act of violence, and gave assurance that the trouble would soon end. The crowd could not be calmed, but was held at bay by wire cables.

At 6:30 the riot broke out and the Fire Department rushed into the crowd, turning the water upon the rioters. The hose was then turned on Simon Hamsworth's saloon and the A. P. A. sign torn down. Several men inside the saloon began shooting. One man stood at the door and fired six shots into the saloon.

The Sheriff and posse then came upon the scene. Some of them were roughly handled and barely escaped with their lives. The Mayor then cried upon the Governor for militia, and several local companies were ordered out. Repeaters were drawn across the street and the militia cleared the blockade.

All was restored to quiet at the immediate scene of the riot, but at the other end of the block fights were numerous and more trouble was momentarily expected. The excitement ran high all the evening, and there was a lively interchange of shots.

At 8 Daly, a special policeman, was hit through the chest and instantly killed by Frank Munford, a baker. William Page received a glancing shot over the eye. Samuel Dunn was shot in the side and is probably fatally injured.

About fifty arrests were made and the taverns have been asked to send militia from Helena and other points in the state.

CORBETT AS SHORTSTOP.

The Champion Playing Ball in the English Cities.

James J. Corbett and his company have formed a baseball club in England and are playing the local teams in every city they visit. Five thousand people saw them beat the Sheffield team, score 16 to 5.

They play the Music Hall team in London before leaving for America.

Corbett started the football game recently in Liverpool between the Hibernian and Celtic teams. Twenty-five thousand persons were present, and Corbett was carried bodily to his carriage at the end of the game.

NEW YORKS IN LOUISVILLE.

They Battle for the Next Three Days with the Colonels.

BASEBALL GROUNDS, LOUISVILLE, July 5.--The New York team headed by Capt. Johnny Ward, appeared on these grounds this afternoon to play the first game of the present series with the Louisville team. At present the Colonels are playing splendid ball and will, no doubt make the New Yorks hustle to win the series. DEADLY BOMBS FOUND

Some Excitement and More Mystery in Police Circles.

Suggested that They Were for the Use of Railroad Strikers.

Inspector McLaughlin Very Reticent in the Matter.

The police at Headquarters have two bomb mysteries on their hands. Within the past four days two bombs have been taken there, having been found, it is said, in places where their explosion meant great loss of life and damage to property.

The first bomb was found on Monday, and after being inspected by Inspector McLaughlin and his men was sent to the Bureau of Combustibles.

The second bomb was carried to Police Headquarters to-day, and up to 5 o'clock this afternoon it was still there. The bomb brought in to-day was given to Detective-Sergeant Killilea, who was in charge of the Detective Bureau at the time. It looked like an elongated cannon ball. The police are silent as to where it came from.

When asked about it this afternoon Inspector McLaughlin said:

"Why, how did you hear about it?"

Then he became more guarded, and when further questioned said:

"See me later. I can say nothing to you about the matter now."

When seen later he had even less to say than he had before.

It was known that the first bomb which was sent to the Bureau of Combustibles resembles outwardly a plated piece of tin and felt, worked together by cement and other compounds, almost as compactly as iron. The people in the Bureau will not say whether they have put tested the tin and felt.

From remarks dropped in conversation at Headquarters who seem to know all about the bombs and the persons who brought them in, they appear to believe that the explosives were made use of in connection with the railroad strike.

Whether the bombs were meant for shipment West or whether they were intended to work destruction here is not known.

At any rate, they have worked up no small degree of excitement at Headquarters.

Later, it was given out at Police Headquarters that several days ago Supt. Byrnes received a message through the mail, stating that Henry Aschenberger, the assistant janitor of the flat-house, 903 Seventh avenue, had a dynamite bomb in his possession.

The matter was turned over to Inspector McLaughlin this morning and he detailed Detectives Krauch and Holland to investigate.

Aschenberger made no attempt to deny that he had some sort of a bomb in his possession, but declared that it was not a dynamite bomb.

He took the detectives upstairs and uncovered a large flower pot, which concealed the alleged bomb. It appeared to be a cartridge, such as are used in loading dynamite bombs. It was six inches long and about two and one-half [illegible] steel, with a copper cap in the centre, the whole weighing twenty-five or thirty pounds.

Aschenberger said he found it about one week ago in a vacant apartment at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street and St. Nicholas avenue, which is owned by Mr. Manning, his employer. Mr. Manning immediately discharged Aschenberger.

The bomb is now undergoing examination.

TWO ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

Charged in London with Inciting Murder.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 5.--Thomas Cantwell and Charles Quinn have been arrested here charged with inciting murder of members of the royal family. Prior to the recent opening of the Tower Bridge, the prisoners were found displaying the following placard:

TO THE WORKINGMEN OF TOWER HILL.

Fellow Workers: You expended life, energy and skill in constructing this bridge. Now come the royal vermin and rascally politicians, with pomp and splendor. They claim all the credit, while you are condemned to the workhouse and to the paupers' grave in order to glorify these lazy swine, who live by our labor.

The accused men also distributed leaflets explaining Vaillant's reasons for throwing his bomb in the French Chamber of Deputies, and made speeches declaring that the "murders abroad are not half bad enough." Upon searching the prisoners' lodgings a printing-press and a mass of Anarchistic pamphlets were found. The prisoners will be prosecuted by the Treasury officials.

CARNOT NOT MARKED ALONE.

Assassination of Crispi, Alexander III. and Others Plotted.

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, July 5.--The Popolo Romano states that the authorities are in possession of the proofs of an Anarchist plot directed against Premier Crispi, of Italy; President Carnot, of France; Alexander III., Czar of Russia, and other heads of European Governments.

The same authority states that all these were to have been killed in the same week.

BURDEAU BEATS BRISSON.

Chosen President of the French Chamber by 60 Majority.

PARIS, July 5.--M. Burdeau was elected to-day President of the Chamber of Deputies, in succession to M. Casimir-Perier, recently elected President of the Republic.

The votes cast were as follows: Burdeau, 296; Brisson, 157; scattered, 23.

Converted to Catholicism.

LONDON, July 5.--The Rev. Mr. Fischer, pastor of the American Methodist Episcopal Church in Rome, has become a Catholic and has been duly baptized in that faith.

O'DONOVAN ROSSA'S LATEST.

He Will Stand for the City Marshalship in Dublin.

LONDON, July 5.--Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa, whose twenty years of expatriation expired on Jan. 2, 1892, and who returned to the country last month, has announced his intention of standing for election as the City Marshal of Dublin.

THE PASSING OF RICHARD.

R. Welstead Croker Succeeds "Dick" Croker, Politician.

The belief that Mr. Croker meant what he said when he declared he was out of politics is more general to-day than it was yesterday. In fact, it is the opinion of many that his name will hereafter be found more frequently in the society column of the newspapers than in those columns devoted to political news, and that it will read like this:

R. WELSTEAD CROKER.

It is the fact that Mr. Croker brought back with him from his short trip abroad this high, aristocratic-sounding middle name that has wrought this great change in the popular mind regarding Mr. Croker's future career.

It is no longer "Boss." It is no longer the "Boss" of the attorney-generals of Fourteenth street. A transformation has taken place as complete as the change in the color of a chameleon. Nothing is left of the old associations but the "R."

Mr. Croker's mother's name was Welstead, and he was named for his uncle, Richard Welstead, who he is a well-known cattle breeder at Kellyvalley.

Mr. Croker knows that no man who parts his name in the middle has ever attained prominence in politics, and knowing this as well as Mr. Croker, his friends now are inclined to believe his oft-repeated statement that he is out of politics and will stay there.

But one man who splits his name in the middle now holds an important municipal place, and that he owes to the power which Mr. Croker possessed when he was plain "Dick." That man is President Sergeant Crum, of the Dock Department.

Should Mr. Croker conclude to return to politics, he may follow the example of Stephen Grover Cleveland or Jacob Whitelaw Reid.

As Mr. Croker has condescended to tell the source of his new cognomen, it will be unnecessary to ask him, in this connection, "Where did you get it?"

TARIFF BILL IN THE HOUSE.

Reported Back from the Senate, as Amended.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 5.--The Tariff bill was transmitted to the House at 1 o'clock to-day. The importance of the measure induced Gen. Cox, Secretary of the Senate, to depart from the usual custom of letting a subordinate bear the message of transmittal, and he personally performed the mission.

The House paused in its other business, and Gen. Cox, with measured sentences, reported that the Senate had passed House bill No. 4,864 with sundry amendments, and had appointed a committee of conference.

The bill then passed into the hands of House officials and was laid on the Speaker's desk, where it will remain, under the rules, until to-morrow.
