ZEPPELIN IN FLIGHT

THOUSANDS SEE MARVELOUS FLIGHT OF AIRSHIP.

Count Zeppelin Through Long Series of the Most Difficult Maneuvers, Covering a Distance of About 230 Miles During the Day.

Count Zeppelin, at Friedrichshafen Wednesday, outdistanced all world records for steerable balloons. He remained in the air for twelve hours, traversed the greater part of northern Switzerland and visited Zurich, Winterthur and Lucerne, attaining an average speed throughout of 34 miles an hour. His airship displayed splendid qualities of dirigibility and answered the slightest movement of the helm, while its stability was quite up to the greatest expectations.

In the most desirable weather conditions, almost a dead calm, the airship, manned by a crew of fourteen, under the leadership of Count Zeppelin, left its floating home on Lake Constance at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Less than five minutes later Count Zeppelin shouted, "All clear," and the balloon rose about 1,000 feet in the air and turned her bows towards Constance. By 9 o'clock it had disappeared on the western horizon.

Telephone messages from Frauenfeld, Winterthur and other towns soon reported the appearance of the airship and her passage over the canon of Zurich. The giant craft remained ten minutes hovering over the town of Zurich and the lake and then vanished from view at a rapid rate in the direction of Lucerne.

It was about 1 o'clock when the airship came into view at Lucerne and the thousands of astonished tourists from all parts of the world, including hundreds of Americans, greeted her with loud cheering as she sailed quickly over the waters of the lake. With the greatest precision Count Zeppelin guided his airship and proceeded to carry out a long series of evolutions which included complicated circles, the figure 8, sharp turns, descents and ascents.

The case was called Tuesday and while it was being heard M. Baudelot slapped M. Jouvelet in the face. The latter retaliated by smashing his cane over M. Baudelot's head, and a challenge followed.

REBEL "ARMY" LOSES.

Unknown Bystander Killed in Mexican "Battle."

The first revolutionary outbreak in the republic of Mexico, beyond the border of Coahuila, occurred Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, when the garrison at Palomas, Chihuahua, seventy miles west of El Paso, was attacked by a band of fifty men, who were repulsed with a loss of one killed and one captured.

There were fourteen guards stationed at the Mexican post when the attacking party surprised the town. The most of the insurgents were armed with crude weapons and homemade implements of warfare. According to a dispatch received from Columbus, N. M., across the river from Palomas Juan Correon, the Mexican general arrived there from Palomas bearing dispatches to his government concerning the attack. It began when a bomb was thrown into the telegraph office, thus shutting off communication with outside points. In the fight which followed several hundred shots were fired and many bombs were thrown at the headquarters of the officers.

Owing to the fact that the bombs were ill-timed, the officers were able to throw them away before they exploded, thus saving the building and their own lives. The fight lasted one hour, after which the attacking party fled to the mountains west of Palomas. One man was killed, but it seems that he was a non-combatant.

One revolutionist was seriously wounded and captured. He speaks good English, and the Mexican authorities believe he is a native of New Mexico. The idea is confirmed by the report of the section foreman from Mimbros, seven miles west of El Paso, to the effect that a band of from thirty to fifty men assembled there Tuesday. They would not allow him to leave the yards during the day. They had two large bundles of rifles and bought provisions. They left Mimbros, a station on the El Paso and Southwestern, about midnight Monday night.

Hundreds of police are guarding the house in view of the projected raid.

SAILS AIRSHIP SIX HOURS.

Zeppelin's Machine Makes Remarkable Record.

Count Zeppelin's airship Monday stood brilliantly the longest and most searching test it has yet undergone. It remained in the air for six and three-quarters hours, attaining a speed of thirty-four and one-half miles an hour throughout, although for a short period the speed reached thirty-eight miles an hour, the highest speed yet accomplished. The apparatus successfully underwent severe experiments, working without a hitch during the entire period. Count Zeppelin was at Friedrichshafen to supervise the test.

The balloon left the floating shed shortly before noon and was towed a mile by a motorboat. Then utilizing its dynamic force and without ceasing any ballast it ascended slowly and majestically to a height of 1,000 feet. It started off toward Constance at full speed and then turned in the direction of Romanhorn, in Switzerland, where it went through a long series of maneuvers, all the apparatus working to the utmost satisfaction. It then made a descent to the surface of the water, and after communicating with the accompanying motorboat it arose again and proceeded to Rotarsch, at the end of the lake, propelled by the full force of the engines against a rather brisk wind. It was slowed to drift back to Friedrichshafen, where it made a dash for a long stretch at top speed, with the wind in its favor as far as Constance, where further maneuvers were gone through. The trip ended within two miles of the balloon shed. It was towed home, arriving there at 6:30 o'clock.

Count Zeppelin expressed the opinion that he would be able to undertake a 400-mile journey soon.

DEATH IN CLOUDBURST.

Five Persons Drown in Sudden Flood at Wellington, Kan.

A cloudburst at Wellington, Kan., resulted in five deaths by drowning. Five inches of rain fell within an hour, and five feet of water flowed through the town, taking houses from their foundations.

The flood came without warning and carried houses and other buildings away before the people could reach places of safety. The first warning of the flood was when the water began to seep into the houses along Harvey and Lincoln streets east of Main street. Within an hour it had reached its crest. Numbers of people floated away in their houses or on the roofs, many of them seizing the limbs of trees as their houses floated by and pulled themselves to places of safety. During the entire night men and boys worked industriously in canoes rescuing people from tree tops and tops of houses.

THAW'S PLEA IS DENIED.

Not to Be Removed from the Mattawan Asylum.

Justice Dowling, of New York, Monday denied the application of Harry K. Thaw to be removed from the Mattawan state asylum for criminal insane to some other institution. The decision says: "If after sufficient observation it is found proper to remove him to some other institution the state authorities can so act."

Justice Dowling's decision further declared Thaw dangerously insane "who is not to be punished, but to be kept under proper restraint; that he may neither injure himself nor anyone else," and says the affidavits submitted set forth absolutely no reason why the change desired be made.

Dowling's order is not operative for the present at least, as Thaw now is in custody under orders of Justice Mills, at White Plains.

STATE LEGISLATURES SCORED.

Live Stock Laws Condemned by E. E. Overstreet of St. Louis.

State legislatures, composed of members from the rural districts, were criticized in scathing terms for attempts at "trust busting," which have resulted in legislation adverse to the interests of live stock growers by President Edgar E. Overstreet, of the St. Louis Live Stock exchange, who addressed the delegates at the opening session of the National Live Stock exchange at South Omaha.

President Overstreet commended the many good federal measures, which have benefited the live stock and packing industry but with his criticisms aimed at the state legislatures and "Monte-bank" politicians in the state legislatures, should keep their hands off legislation until they have made a study of the conditions. He said the live stock business was too large and important directly to be a part of the business of the United States and the world to have "small" legislative bodies tampering with it. The federal legislature—the congress of the United States, he said, was the only body which should pass laws to regulate the live stock and packing industry, as the products are almost all turned into interstate and export commerce.

Commercial and Financial

CHICAGO.

The weekly review of Chicago trade, published by R. G. Dun & Co., says:

Payments through the banks show the moderate shrinkage which usually precedes the July distribution of interest and dividends. The latter will approximate largely and seek reinvestment. Financial conditions generally reflect increasing ease in and ample supply of money, and the tone is more distinctly favorable toward advancing enterprises. Banks are freely for desirable discounts on favorable terms to borrowers.

The currency drain to move crops is likely to expand earlier this season, but provision is made against demands, and the average of bank deposits compares encouragingly with that reported in May last.

Developments in trade circles impart more confidence to the outlook. Production and transportation of finished products and general merchandise exhibit steady recovery, and new orders for iron, steel and various factory outputs add to assured period of forward work. Bridges, track elevation and other heavy construction involve notable expenditures and additions to labor forces. Increased movements of grain, live stock, hides and wool sustain the recovery noted last week, and prices show more stability.

Hot weather has greatly stimulated the absorption of light-weight apparel, the improvement in aggregate sales being particularly encouraging in the leading retail lines. Personal buying of fall and winter staples expands satisfactorily, and an advance in the cost of some goods in short supply appears in textiles.

Agricultural prospects become brighter when the winter wheat harvest and excellent condition of other grains. Crop marketing conditions are heavier, and prices sustain a high average for live stock, despite liberal arrivals. The total movement of grain at this port, 8,703,819 bushels, compares with 8,037,338 bushels last week and 5,749,402 bushels a year ago. Compared with 1907, decreases occur in receipts of 18.5 per cent and in shipments of less than 1 per cent.

Live stock receipts swelled to 311,538 head, against 293,723 head last week and 271,335 head a year ago, although this week's gain has not extended to hogs. Cattle clearings, 820,045,103, are 12.4 per cent under those of the corresponding week in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 32, against 33 last week and 20 a year ago. Those with liabilities numbered 25,000 numbered 8, against 6 last week and 5 in 1907.

NEW YORK.

Trade this week has taken on most of the characteristics of a midsummer period. Retail business has been helped by warm weather in most sections and by widespread reduction sales. Jobbing houses have received moderate filling in orders and made the usual clearance sales. Fall buying has been and is cautious, but feeling is conservatively optimistic. Such lines as leather, staple worsted wools, agricultural implements and a few lines of steel products are more active, but the great majority of lines are below normal activity and summer shut-downs promise to be more widely indulged in than for some years past.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending June 25 number 238, which compares with 254 last week, 150 in the first week of 1907, 146 in 1906, 186 in 1905 and 204 in 1904. Failures in Canada for the same period number 31, which compares with 23 last week and 29 in the week ending June 25, 1907.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.
