CHICAGOS WIN

GIANTS' HOPE WAS CARRICK.

Third Round with the Wild Westerners Began with an Even Break, but the Giants Are a Bit Shaky After Recent Experiences.

(Special to The Evening World.)

LEAGUE PARK, CHICAGO, May 14.—Having gone through the regular performance of losing a game, then nearly winning another, the itinerant Giants were due to realize that they had got to town and to make the other fellows appreciate that fact.

It was conceded in advance by the local talent that New York would just about take two of the four battles scheduled, but it wasn't figured that it would take a couple of days to get down to business.

There weren't any more Hawleys in Ewing's stock, fortunately, and Wee Willie Carrick's two innings yesterday had not bothered him or made his nervy arm brittle, so he was ready to take his own turn after having taken another fellow's, all of which seems also to be part of the programme of the touring Harlemites. Usually Bill wins and Chicago isn't any stronger than Boston, so it was reasonable to expect that the Giants would be one point further away from the tail end when Dewey ove dewed.

First Inning.

Van flashed a little jumper at McCormack and never reached the cross roads. Garvin reached up several miles into the air to yank down Mercer's high jumper, which he passed to Everett handily. Selbach bumped a husky single to left lawn. He stole second like an accomplished burglar. Davis tried for the necessary hit, but struck out. No runs.

Childs bumped a tiny fly into Doyle's large mit. It was no effort for Davis to spin Merte's sharp jumper to Doyle ahead of "Sandow." Ryan poked the sphere into an awkward spot in right and got two bags by his lively foot work. Gleason hopped on McCarthy's quick roller and shied it to J. Doyle, Esq. No runs.

Second Inning.

Ryan scampered prettily to Doyle's high fly and kept it from denting the earth. Bradley made a nice job of Gleason's rub to his corner, tossing the "Kid" out well ahead. McCormick's running stop and throw of Grady's jumper were fine baseball and answered the purpose. No runs.

Gleason tackled Everett's teasing grasser like a little man and flung big Bill out by a yard. Bradley hadn't recovered from his hitting spell that began yesterday and licked a single over second. Gleason plucked McCormack's roller, but couldn't make a force, barely getting Mac out at first. Bradley scooting to second on a hit and run manœuvre. Bradley took too free license, and Carrick's throw to Davis found him off the kopje, George blocking and holding Bim to prove the point. No runs.

Champion Brooklyns and Tebeau's Terrors Meet Again.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BALL GROUNDS, ST. LOUIS, May 14.—Getting out to the scene of action made it another day of torture for the Perfecto rooters. Like Saturday and Sunday all the new and ancient vehicles of Ascriptions were out on the public thoroughfares picking up the faithful at rates from 10 to 25 cents, and those who couldn't afford the minimum price walked and looked contented with coats under their arms and hats in their hands and great beads of perspiration standing out on their brows.

It was the hottest day of the season in this locality and the atmosphere was filled with a sultry mist. The sun was visible continuously during the forepart of the afternoon, but later a fierce looking procession of clouds advanced and a thunderstorm looked probable. These dark bodies of threatening wind and rain had no terrors for the coherts of Hanlon and Tebeau, however, and the men on both sides were out on the field with a determined air.

When two such evenly balanced teams as the St. Louis and Brooklyns meet it

New York is the hottest place in the country to-day.

Hudnut's thermometer on Broadway, downtown, registered 92 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The weather man this morning absently asked the price of a dozen limes used in the seductive rickey and then announced that this Monday would be by many degrees the hottest May 14 ever recorded by the Signal Service.

Yesterday, with its 86 degrees, made itself a record breaker. And at 10 o'clock this morning the record for May 14 was broken by one degree. The thermometer registered 81. The day which had previously held the palm was in 1889.

The most remarkable feature of the mercury's performance to-day was the long jump it made between 8 and 10 o'clock, a clean space of eleven degrees, and showing an eagerness to go higher.

While New York is the hottest place still life is bearable, for the humidity is not great and all the cafes seem to have an inexhaustable supply of limes and ice, the demand for which has increased a hundredfold since yesterday.

Jupiter, Fla., is the next hottest place. The thermometer there at 8 A. M. marked 78. The coldest spot is a little place hardly on the map in Wyoming, where it was 36.

Over on the crowded east side the babies have begun to suffer. Mothers with the little ones in their arms were out early to get a breathing space, and hundreds of rear fire-escapes that were in the shade were peopled with them.

Meanwhile ice is selling at 60 cents a hundred.

SUCCUMBED TO HEAT.

The first heat prostration of the year 1900 was reported to the police of the Macdougal street station this afternoon.

At 2.20 o'clock John Walsh, a clothing buyer for Nicoll &Taylor, thirty-one years old, of 673 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, was overcome by hat at the corner of Bleecker and Mercer street. He was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital.

John Hannerschaeser, sixty-seven years old, of 23 Second street, this city, succumbed to heat and fell on the sidewalk in front of 157 Broadway, Brooklyn, unconscious, this afternoon. He was taken to the Eastern District Hospital.

BRITISH TROOPS VICTORIOUS IN NATAL.

BULLER WINS FIGHT

Lord Dundonald's Cavalry, in a Splendid Charge, Breaks the Boer Centre and Turns the Tables—Reports by Roberts.

LONDON, May 14.—Gen. Buller, it is believed here, occupied Dundee, in Northern Natal, to-day. The Biggarsberg position held by the Boers has been forced and the British are pushing on north.

A despatch received by the Associated Press from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, timed 12.05 P. M. to-day, brings the first intimation of the success attained by Buller. The sender of this despatch evidently assumes that news of the affair has been received direct from the scene of hostilities, for he merely says:

"Gen. Buller's official telegram notifying his success at Biggarsberg, received here an hour ago, has given keen satisfaction. It is confidently anticipated that Dundee will be occupied by the British to-day. The residents of the north country are delighted, as forcing the Biggarsberg means that they will speedily be enabled to return to their homes."

Another despatch, dated Stone Hill Farm, 8.20 this morning, says:

"After four days' march eastward at the foot of the Biggarsberg ridges, in the direction of Helpmakaar, which was occupied by the Federals, the Second Brigade, Sunday, led the attack.

"Dundonald's Cavalry broke the Boers' centre and Bethune's Horse advanced on their extreme right. In the direction of Pomeroy a small party of Burghers occupied a ridge overlooking Helpmakaar, but they did not wait for the assault."

A later despatch from Stone Hill Farm says:

"Gen. Buller's advance commenced Thursday, when he left Ladysmith in strength. When within two

WORK ON THE TUNNEL UNDER WAY AT LAST.

Ground Broken in Harlem by Corporation Counsel Whalen ---Big Crowd Cheered.

The real work of digging the underground rapid transit tunnel began late this afternoon, when Corporation Counsel Whalen broke ground at One Hundred and Fifty-seventh street and Broadway. This is sections 13 and 14 of the tunnel, which E. L. McCabe, the Baltimore contractor, has undertaken to dig.

An elaborate programme marked the beginning of actual work. Mr. Whalen was selected as the particular star of the occasion because it was due to his urging, so it is said, that the Rapid Transit Commissioners required that the digging of the tunnel be done simultaneously at both ends.

Mr. Whalen took an ordinary pick and with it took up the earth, while thousands of residents of Washington Heights who have known him for years made the air vibrant with their cheers.

SALUTES THEIR GREETING.

The arrival at the river front and the march of Mr. Whalen, the Mayor and Rapid Transit Commissioners to the scene was proclaimed by salutes fired at both points.

There were more than 3,000 people about the spot, and the occasion closely resembled a county fair, for there were hundreds of conveyances that had brought men, women and children from Fort George, Spuyten Duyvil, Inwood, Marble Hill, Dyckman's Meadows, Carmenville and other points. And in the crowd, like ordinary citizens who had no distinction, were Lawson N. Fuller, the patriarch of Washington Heights; Perry Belmont, Borough President James J. Coogan, who owns a big slice of the neighborhood; Councilman Eugene Wise, F. T. Hummel, of Marble Hill, and Gen. Michael Kerwin.

There were also 166 orphan boys with a drum corps from the Sheltering Guardian Society's Home.

ACTUAL WORK BEGUN.

When Corporation Counsel Whalen took the pick in his hand Frederick Doane, the sub-contractor, ranged his foreman, John J. McMahon, and twelve men of as many nationalities across the street. When the earth had been formally broken these men fell to work and cut a streak thirty feet in length across the broad roadway. That will be the total width of the tunnel, including the walls.

During the operation the band played and the crowd yelled itself hoarse.

Mr. Whalen lives in an old mansion on One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, and this morning he was awakened by a hammering which sounded as though a hundred men were assailing his home from all sides with hammers. He looked out to see what was the matter and he found the outside of the house almost covered with flags. The workmen were under the direction of ex-Police Inspector Thomas F. McAvoy, his friend, who had planned the surprise. Later nearly all the houses on Washington Heights bloomed into waving color.

SAIL UP THE RIVER.

At 2.30 o'clock Mayor Van Wyck, the Corporation Counsel, Chief Engineer William B. Parsons, of the Rapid Transit Commission; John B. McDonald, the chief contractor of the Rapid Transit Commission; Alexander T. Orr, August Belmont, the Police Commissioners, Chief Devery, Deputy Chief Mackellar and one hundred invited guests, went aboard the police patrol at Pier 8, Battery, and steamed up North River to One Hundred and Fifty-ninth street, where they debarked.

The guests were met at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street by a body of 100 policemen under Capt. Cortright, and a band of ninety pieces from the Hebrew Orphan Asylum. The procession moved to the spot selected for the inauguration of the work, where a large platform was erected.

It was a half holiday for the school children of the district, and many of them were assembled at the scene to sing patriotic airs.

The programme was in charge of a Committee of Arrangements which is composed of Washington Heights men known as the Committee on Public Opinion and Rapid Transit Agitation, who want four tracks to Fort George, which scheme will not interfere with the present tunnel plans. They were:

COMMITTEE OF HUSTLERS.

Newell Martin, Chairman; Charles L. Guy, Vice-Chairman; Corporation Counsel Whalen, Thomas F. McAvoy, Willard Brown, Macomb George Foster, George Bird Grinnell, Robert J. Hoguet, Sol Moses, John Markle, J. C. Reiss, J. C. Rodgers, John Lee Seybel, David Stewart, W. J. Van Pelt and others.

Under their direction this morning at One Hundred and Fifty-sixth street and Broadway, just where the Boulevard Lafayette begins, workmen were busy erecting a stand for the speakers. Workmen began to arrive as early as 8 o'clock, and by 10 o'clock fully 200 men were lying along the green roadway opposite
