Searching the Scriptures.

"My dear," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, glancing up from the letter she was writing, and pressing the nib of the pen on her thumb nail to see why it didn't work any better. "Say, my dear, do you know where to find that text, 'For the unbelieving husband is sanctified in the wife?'"

"In Exodus, isn't it?" replied Mr. Spoopendyke. "It sounds like Exodus. Where's the Bible?"

"I was looking for it to-day," returned Mrs. Spoopendyke, getting up and preparing for another search. "I don't think it is in Exodus, because it sounds more like Paul. I think some one must have stolen the Bible, for I haven't seen it since we came from the country."

"That's kind of curious," soliloquized Mr. Spoopendyke, arousing himself to assist in the investigation. "I don't know who would want to steal a Bible. Don't you remember where you put it? Think it's in here?" and Mr. Spoopendyke upset the bandbox containing his wife's new hat, and then made a lunge for the fancy coal scuttle behind the stove. "You had it last, what did you do with it?"

"It wouldn't be apt to get in there, would it?" suggested Mr. Spoopendyke, trying to divert her husband's attention by rattling the vases on the bureau.

"If it's the orthodox Bible, it's liable to penetrate anywhere and everywhere!" retorted Mr. Spoopendyke, abandoning the coal scuttle and making a dive for the button bag. "Strikes me that Bible is keeping pretty quiet for the Word," he ruminated as he tipped the buttons out on the floor, and darted across the room to try the bureau drawers. "Be in a fine fix if a minister should happen to drop in now and ask for family worship. Have to tell him to go on his recollection or start a new theory of his own," and Mr. Spoopendyke pulled the shams off the bed and then got down on his hands and knees to look under it. "I'll bet a hat it's where I said it was."

"Where's that, dear?" asked Mrs. Spoopendyke, supposing he had found it.

"In Exodus," snorted Mr. Spoopendyke, wiping the ornaments off the mantel piece and looking behind the clock. "Can't you remember what I say from one moment to another? If you had any memory, with your habits of classification, you'd only need the coat of arms of all nations and a little more incoherence to make a first rate dictionary! I know, though," continued Mr. Spoopendyke, ruminating on this proposition while he tore the things out of the wardrobe. "I don't know but what you would have to get a new binding and have your sides marbelized. You don't suppose that Bible got lonely and went off into the country on its own hook, do you?"

"I'm sure I don't know," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I can't imagine it would do a thing like that. "I think it's only mischief. We'll find it."

"Well, I should remark," replied Mr. Spoopendyke, without meaning the slightest irreverence. "There may be only one small fish or a crust of the bread left, but we'll find what there is before we go to bed! Unless that Bible's gone to get itself revised there'll be no sleep in the Spoopendyke apartments until we lay our hands lovingly on that dear old family Bible! Maybe it's hid under a bushel!" and he capsized the waste paper basket and scattered the contents over the room.

"I don't know but what it is in Exodus," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, with her finger in her mouth. "Now I come to think it over I'm sure it's in Exodus, so you needn't look for it any more."

"I know it's in Exodus," said Mr. Spoopendyke, kicking his wife's work basket across the floor and turning the contents over with the toe of his boot. "But I'm going to find out which end of Exodus it is in before I go to business again! How do you suppose any one's to know when we were married or when the baby was born or when we died if we don't find that Bible? Think I'm going through life without a Bible to refer to when I'm lonely and depressed? Got some kind of notion because I'm good and pious that religion comes natural to me, haven't ye? Well, it don't. I've got to keep posted just as well as any one else! Where's that Bible?" demanded Mr. Spoopendyke, rising in wrath as the book seemed to evade his search. "What's become of the pious injunctions of my youth? How'm I going to be able to tell Solomon's wives from the rest of his family unless I have the book before me? Where's my Maccabees and my Zaccheus? Where are the friends of my boyhood?" and Mr. Spoopendyke straightened up in the middle of the room and glared at his wife as though she had inflicted on him a mortal injury.

"They've been dead some time," replied Mrs. Spoopendyke, who always took everything literally. "Anyway, you don't care about them to-night."

"And my Abraham begat Isaac, and Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat Judah and his brethren! Where are they? Suppose some fellow asks me to-morrow who Judah's brethren begat, what am I to say? What're ye standing there for, looking like a hole in the fence for? Think that helps you any?"

"Say, dear," commenced Mrs. Spoopendyke. "Don't you remember the night you and Mr. Speckleworthy got into a dispute as to whether the prodigal son was thrown into the pit, or was the one whose ear Peter cut off for hiding his talents in a napkin? I haven't seen the Bible since then. You had it out, and when you got through you put it in your silk hat, and there it is now!" and Mrs. Spoopendyke held up the missing volume, her face wreathed in smiles of delight that things had not been any worse.

"Found it, didn't you?" growled Mr. Spoopendyke, snatching the book out of her hands. "Another time, when I get through with it, you remember what I do with it. Now, let's find that passely text you were so anxious about." And Mr. Spoopendyke pored through Exodus and then laid down the book in disgust. "There's no such thing in the Bible," he said. "I knew there wasn't all the time, but I wanted to prove it to you."

"Let me look," suggested Mrs. Spoopendyke, and, turning to 1 Corinthians, vitdd. she found and read it to him. "I had an idea it was in some of Paul's writings," she remarked as she shut the book and put it away.

"That's what you always have!" roared Mr. Spoopendyke, enraged by his defeat. "If you should ever run short of ideas you'd be a comparatively smart woman! Some day I'm going to put a spigot in your dod gasted mouth and start a public school with you, unless I change my mind and conclude to open a branch college for the proposition of married women for the lunatic asylum!" and immensely pleased with this business outlook Mr. Spoopendyke dropped his clothes in the middle of the floor for his wife to pick up and tumbled into bed.

"I don't care," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke, as she took down her back hair and screwed herself around to see if it reached to her waist. "I don't care. He can poke fun at me all he likes, and he can upset everything in the house, but I know that Mrs. Speckleworthy wears a switch, and he can deny it all she wants to, she can't deceive me," and with this consolatory reflection Mrs. Spoopendyke hopped into bed, and after thinking for awhile got up and puttered around in the dark, putting the room in order in case anything should happen to herself or husband in the night.

"Wake up, husband, the day is breaking," said the fair wife. "Just break, it don't one man crak" growled the heavy sleeper.

ARE YOU GOING WEST, NORTHWEST OR SOUTHWEST?

To parties who contemplate a trip to the West, Northwest or Southwest this coming spring, we desire to suggest the advisabilty of making some inquiry enquiry as to the route they ought to take.

In this connection we want to call the attention of those interested to the real inducements offered by the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railway, Pan Handle Route in the way of quick time, prompt connections and unequaled facilities for the safe and comfortable transportation of passengers of all classes.

By this route you are carried over the safest and best constructed system of railways in the West. You are not subject to any annoying omnibus transfers, but landed in Union Depots, at Chicago, & St. Louis from which the trains of several of the leading Trunk Lines depart for points throughout the West, North west and northwest. You can purchase tickets and have your baggage checked through to destination, avoiding all vexatious trouble while en route. If you are going to travel it is to your advantage to secure the best, and if you are ticketed via the Pan Handle you are sure to get it. Application for rates of fare, time tables, ect., should be made to the nearest Ticket Agent or to E. A. FORD, general passenger and ticket agent, PITTSBURGH, PA.

THE TRUE TEST.

If a man is hungry within an hour more or less after a meal he is a dispeptic, it shows his stomach is not able to dispose of what he has eaten, but to eat again and thus impose more work, is absurdity. Take Dr. Jonses' Red Tonic Clover which cures dyspepsia, and all stomach, liver, kidney and bladder troubles. It is a perfect tonic, appetizer, blood purifier, a sure cure for ague and malaria diseases. Price 50 cents of Reber & Co.

IT NEVER FAILS.

People are startled by its wonderful cures. The fact that Dr Wheisel's German Cough Syrup for Coughs, Consumption and Lung diseases is daily curing thousands of this terrible diseased, has caused all who have tested its merits to pronounce it a never failing remedy, speedy in affording relief, effectual in arresting further progress of diseases. Try it and be convinced. For sale by F. Harrington.

How Watch Cases are Made.

In 1875, thirteen men comprised the entire working force used in the manufacture of the James Boss' Gold Watch Case. Now over five hundred are employed, and the number is constantly increasing. The reason of this increase is this: In the James Boss' Gold Watch Case all the metal in sight and subject to wear is solid gold, while the remainder, which only lends strength to the case, is of stronger metal than gold, giving gold where gold is needed, and strong, elastic metal where strength and elasticity are needed, a combination producing a watch case better than solid gold and at ONE-HALF the cost.

Over 200,000 of these cases have been sold, and every jeweler in the country can testify to their quality and merit.

LUDINGTON, MICH., Dec. 5, 1882.

E. W. March, of the Democrat, bought a Jas. Boss' Gold Watch case 18 years ago, and carried it until a short time ago, when I purchased it, and sold it to a customer. The case showed no signs of wear, except that natural to any case, and I am satisfied can be safely guaranteed for at least ten years more. I have sold the James Boss' Gold Watch Case for many years, and the parties who bought the first ones are carrying them to-day, as well satisfied as though they had bought a solid gold case costing twice the money. I regard them as the only cases of this kind a jeweler should sell who desires to give his customers the worth of their money or values his reputation.

WM. J. CUSHWAY, Jeweler.

The Leading Magazine for Boys and Girls

ST. NICHOLAS.

Edited by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, nourishing vitally wholesome and justly attractive magazine is required for them, and St Nicholas has reached a higher platform and commands for girls service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries. The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by St Nicholas was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which the magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge, Capt. Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton, Chas. Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Julian Hawthorn, Colo. Thomas, Mary Mapes Dodge, Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, E. S. Brooks, George W. Cable, Chas. G. Leland, Susan Fenimore Cooper, John G. Whittier, "H. H.," W. O. Stoddard, C. F. Crosby, an scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of St Nicholas is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In no other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and absorbed me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FARNSWORTH."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

130 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. H. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSIAH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. L. BRADDOX."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
