HALL'S
Vegetable Sicilian

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor and extended its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: its fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives—Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock—with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully combined that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it proves their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

How Watch Cases are Made.

Most persons have an ambition to carry a gold watch case, and yet few people know how a watch case is made, or the vast difference in the quality of them. The ROLLED GOLD WATCH CASE, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus is not only useless, but undesirable, because gold is a soft metal and cannot furnish the stiffness, strength and durability necessary to make the case permanently strong and close fitting. The perfect watch case must combine gold with some metal that will supply that in which the gold is deficient. This has been accomplished in the James Boss Gold Watch Case, which saves the wearer at least one-half the cost of useless gold, and insures the solidity and strength of the case, and at the same time reduces the cost ONE HALF.

Book containing 50 Engravings Watch Case Varieties, Watch Anecdotes, etc., free. Address Box 1, Philadelphia. Ask for the James Boss Gold Watch Case and take no other.

In the Lime Kiln Club.

Immediately after election word was received from the outer guard that a colored man giving his name as Professor Bygone Plunkett, and his residence as Memphis, had arrived in Detroit for the purpose of delivering a lecture on science before the club.

Brother Gardner replied that he had never heard of any such person, and asked if the name was known to any member. No one could recall it, but it was decided to admit the stranger and listen to his remarks.

The moment the so-called professor entered the hall a dozen members rose to their feet and shouted out that he was a white man in disguise. The usual length of heel in a colored man was missing, and he forgot to turn in his toes as he walked. In a minute the false wig was torn from the man's head, and it was plainly seen that he was white. Then a painful silence followed, broken at last by the voice of Brother Gardner as he said:

"White man, did you want anyfing in perticukler in dis hall?"

"I thought I'd have a little fun," was the sulky reply.

"An' so you shall have. De Committee on Sole Leather will escort the gem'lun down to de alley doah an' see dat he am given a proper send-off."

The committee consists of Gweadam Jones, Pickles Smith and Whalebone Hawker, three of the heaviest kickers in the club. They seized the base impostor and hustled him away, and in the course of two or three minutes there came a succession of thuds which jarred the hall from cellar to garret and put out six of the lamps. Detroit Free Press.

No Manuscripts Wanted.

During a recent stroll in the vicinity Rose street the attention of a reporter for the New York Mail and Express was directed to an enormous cnvas swung just inside of the doorway of a large publishing establishment. Fuller investigation disclosed the fact that the inscription which was painted upon the canvas warned those who entered the building that there were Positively No Manuscripts Wanted.

—and that, furthermore, all intruders should

Beware of the Bootbound.

—and lastly, the following verses were printed underneath those legends:

Who enters here with manuscript leaves love and hope behind;
E'en to the charms of maidenhood our bloodstained pup is blind.

After fully assuring himself that no hidden dangers lurked in the hidden recesses of the hallway, the reporter boldly ascended the stairs and entered a little office at the head of the first flight. A middle aged man, who sat before a desk smoking, was the sole occupant.

"I have come," faltered the reporter with a nervous glance around him, "with a little——

"Ah, yes," interrupted the gentleman, smilingly; "yes, yes. Tom (in a very low key), will you let Michael loose for a few minutes."

With a superhuman effort the reporter explained that he had simply come up stairs with a little request. He wished to know why that sign had been placed in the hallway.

"Oh! that is a different thing," remarked the gentleman; "sit down and I will tell you all about it. That sign is placed there to inform would-be-literary people who haunt publishing houses that their effusions are not required. I have counted as many as five hundred persons in one day who have visited this office with manuscripts for consideration. Aspirants for literary fame are of both sexes, all ages and conditions in life. Lately we got so wearied out with people coming up with matter that they wanted to submit to us that we had to do something in self defence. You will observe that all our loathsome contemporaries have adopted the canvas sign. All through this vicinity you can come across them. They are everywhere. For instance, a young lady in Brooklyn recently dropping down town with a romance which her mother declares an ideal composition. She reads the effusion aloud to the "blood-stained pup" on the sign down stairs. Fear overcomes ambition and she retreats in tears. You we said receive effusions through the mails. Every morning we send a messenger over to the postoffice, and twelve or fifteen sacks of the stuff are delivered to us. Do we examine them? Why, we should have to employ about thirty readers to do so. It would be rather an expensive undertaking. But there is a moral to all this. And it is, writing as a means of subsistence is played out. We could get all the manuscript we wanted without paying a cent for it. We receive excellent contributions daily, whose writers ask nothing but that their names appear in print. All the waste manuscripts are turned over to our poet—that thin gentleman in the next room. We feed him on them."

A Courageous Act.

There comes news from Macon, Ga., of a very serious injury to Tommy Downs, son of Mrs. Dr. Downs, of this city, says the Davenport Democrat, who with his mother is stopping with her father, Mr. Elam Evans, in Howard, about six miles from Macon. Tommy is 12 years of age. According to a long account received by Willis Downs, of this city, Tommy went into the woods near his uncle's house with his dog. The dog jumped a rabbit and Tommy followed in the chase, and finally saw the rabbit enter a hollow tree. About eighteen feet from the ground was a hole in the tree, and thinking to catch the rabbit he quickly climbed up and thrust his arm in. After failing to find the rabbit he attempted to withdraw his arm, and found that by some means or other it was securely fastened at the wrist. For an hour or so he hung on and halloed for help until he was hoarse and could call out no longer. In his situation, unable to make himself heard, almost benumbed with cold and with the prospect of being held prisoner all night staring him in the face, the lad did not know what to do.

Finally he took his knife out and with the freed hand deliberately set to work to cut off the imprisoned arm. He cut away to the bone, near the elbow, and finally, after having severed the muscles, he dropped from the tree in a swoon.

How long he was in an unconscious condition he could not state, but he came to his senses without assistance, and walked home. Two surgeons were summoned, and made a complete examination of the wound, the boy remaining calm and composed as they tenderly proceeded. They found the whole of the muscular portion of the lower and outer side, extending from the elbow upwards for about three and a half inches each way, completely severed and cut out down to the bone. At last accounts it was believed that the arm could be saved, but it must remain in a crippled condition, owing to the severing of the tendons.

A Dark Problem.

The question for debate at the Sewickley Colored Club last evening was: "Which is of most benefit to man, the steam engine or the horse?"

The horse senator grew pale when his opponent asked, vehemently: "What am de hoss, shwaay? Nuffin but a steam engine. Did my learned brudder never see a hoss on a cold day how de steam comes out on his nose? Keep dat steam inside an' de horse would bust."

"An' when we come to die," said the horse orator, "shoud we look goin' to de cemetery in a steam hearse? Dat would be perfectly 'diculous!" This turned the tide and the horse side won.
