WHEELING NAILS A SPECIALTY—we keep no other kind.

WE ARE AGENTS FOR THE

Improved Dayton Steel Tooth, Self Lock Horse Rake,

Having the HIGHEST WHEELS, and BETTER MADE than any Rake offered to the people. When the teeth are on the ground for raking, they are locked firmly to their position, and the operation for unlocking is so simple that a boy of ten summers can operate it easily. By a slight change in the lock it will rake the roughest meadow as clean as any other rake will even ground, as each tooth is independent of the others. We have the best $33 Lock-Lever Rake sold in town, and what others say of their Rake is applicable to ours.

WE ARE AGENTS FOR THE

WORLD MOWER AND REAPER AND BUCYRUS BUCKEYE,

Which can be seen at our Store. Both machines have been fully tested, and not found wanting. Also Agents for the Springfield Separator.

We are selling the OLD JOHN LONG pattern of FOSTORIA PLOW, (made by Bonnell & Bro.), both Cast and Steel, and we warrant them to give better satisfaction generally than any other plow sold in Fremont.

As the season advances Farmers will find our store well stocked with such goods as they need for Summer use. Fostoria Cradles, Sythes, Hand Rakes, Grind Stones and Fixtures, Horse Hay Forks and Rope and Pulleys, Double Shovel Plows of different styles, including the Bettsville Double Shovel Plow, &c., &c.

Last but not least, the largest assortment of Children's Carriages in the city. CANFIELD, HEDRICK & BRISTOL.

Lock-Lever Hay and Grain Rake.

OVER 300 SOLD IN THIS COUNTY.

The Attention of Farmers is Called to this Rake,

Which is considered the most simple and durable, besides the CHEAPEST AND BEST in the country. It has been THOROUGHLY TESTED by the most practical farmers, and has in every case given perfect satisfaction.

Complete in Construction, No Labor is Required While Raking.

The teeth of the LOCK-LEVER RAKE are made of Refined Cast Steel, made expressly for this purpose. Tempered in oil; each tooth tested at the factory, and in passing over uneven surfaces,

Readily Adjust Themselves to Their Places.

Cast Steel Spring Coils, made with the body of the tooth, as these are made, have been found by use in the field, much stronger and more durable than the small separate wire-coil springs often used in some rakes. The rake can be instantly regulated for any kind of ground by lowering or elevating the teeth, which is done by moving the lever forward on the post on the front cross-bar. As the tilting of the rake is done by the driver's weight, only the slightest effort of the hand is required to raise and lower the lever discharging the hay. The lever being down, the rake is held firm to its place

Without Using the Hands or Feet.

The moment the leverage is unlocked the Rake is relieved of its contents. A boy ten years old can work the Rake with ease. You can Rake twenty acres per day, and save enough, usually lost from twenty-five acres of stubble, to pay for the Rake.

The Lock-Lever Hay and Grain Rake is Well Known

Throughout the Eastern and Western States, and is acknowledged to be superior to all others. Those wishing to buy a Hay and Grain Rake will find it to their interest to examine the LOCK-LEVER. With it the farmer can rake his grain stubble fields as well as his meadows.

THE JOURNAL.

The Valley of Death.

A spot almost as terrible as the prophet's valley of dry bones, lies just north of the old Mormon road to California, a region thirty miles long by thirty miles broad, and surrounded, except at two points, by inacessible mountains. It is totally devoid of water and vegetation, and the shadow of bird or wild beast never darkens its white glaring sands. The Kansas Pacific railroad engineers discovered it, and also some papers which show the fate of the "lost Montgomery train," which came south from Salt Lake in 1850, guided by a Mormon. When near Death's valley, some came to the conclusion that the Mormons knew nothing about the country, so they appointed one of their number a leader, and broke off from the party. The leader turned due west; so with the people and wagons and flocks he traveled three days, and then descended into the broad valley whose treacherous mirage promised water. They reached the center, but only the white sand, bounded by scorching peaks, met their gaze. Around the valley they wandered, and one by one the men died, and the panting flocks stretched themselves in death under the hot sun. Then the children, crying for water, died at their mothers' breast, and with swollen tongues and burning vitals the mothers followed. Wagon after wagon was abandoned, and strong men tottered, and raved and died. After a week's wandering, a dozen survivors found some water in the hollow of a rock in the mountain. It lasted but a short time, when all perished but two, who escaped out of the valley and followed the trail of their former companions. Eighty-seven families, with hundreds of animals, perished here, and now, after twenty-two years, the wagons stand still complete, the iron works and tires are bright, and the shriveled skeletons lie side by side.—Springfield Republican.

How Edgar A. Poe Died.

The true story of Poe's death has never been correctly told. It is this: In the summer of 1849 he left New York for Virginia. In Richmond he met Miss Elmira Shelton, whom he had known in his youth, renewed his acquaintance, and, in a few weeks they were engaged to be married. He wrote to his friends in the North that he should pass the remainder of his life in Virginia, where the happiest days of his youth had been spent. Early in October he set out from Richmond to fulfill a literary engagement in New York, and to prepare for his marriage, which was to take place on the 17th of the month. Arriving in Baltimore, he found that he had missed the Philadelphia train which he expected to take, and would have to wait two or three hours for the next train. He went into a restaurant near the depot to get some refreshments. There he met some of his old West Point friends who invited him to a champagne supper that night. He accepted the invitation and went. At first he refused to drink, but at last he was induced to take a glass of champagne. That set him off, and in a few hours he was madly drunk. In this state he wandered off from his friends, was robbed and beaten by ruffians and left insensible in the street all night. The next morning he was picked up and taken to the Maryland Hospital. He was delirious with brain fever. He was well cared for by the physicians of the hospital, but he was beyond the skill of the doctors. He lingered two or three days, and died on Sunday, October 7th, 1849, in the thirty-eighth year of his age. His funeral was attended by the Hon. Z. Collins Lee, Dr. Snodgrass, Nelson Poe (his cousin,) and Henry Herring (his uncle).—Appleton's Journal.

From the Philadelphia Star, May 14.

An Eagle Attempts to steal a Child.

A letter from Copake, New York, of a recent date, says: Jacob Decker, living near Rhode lake, about two miles from this place, has a little daughter, about three years of age. Yesterday afternoon, while she was playing in the yard, her shouts attracted her mother. Going out, Mrs. Decker found a large eagle attempting to carry off her little one. Almost frantic with fright she seized her child and rushed toward the house. No sooner had she caught the child in her arms than the eagle showed fight.

It followed Mrs. Decker, pecking savagely at the little girl, several times touching her hair with his beak; but by running rapidly and shielding the child as best she could, she managed to reach the house in safety. Enraged at being thus cheated of its prey, the eagle flew against the door and beat furiously at the windows, as if determined to effect an entrance, until Mrs. Decker fearing it might break in, hid her child in a closet for greater security. At nightfall the bird flew away.

Early this morning the eagle made its appearance. After flying wildly around, it perched upon a tree hard by the house, apparently waiting an opportunity to renew the attack. As soon as she discovered the bird Mrs. Decker notified the neighbors, and it was shot. It proved to be a bald American eagle measuring seven feet between the tips of its wings.

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S.T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

JURUBEBA.

Is a powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the LANGUID and DEBILITATED system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, strength to the weak, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the MOST POWERFUL tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a SPECIFIC in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine and Urinary Organs.

Dr. WELLS' EXTRACT of JURUBEBA

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutricious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, and acts directly on the secretive organs, and, by its powerful Tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.
