DEMOCRATS READY FOR NEW FIGHT, SAYS COX

ASSAILS G. O. P. POLICIES IN HIS FIRST PUBLIC SPEECH SINCE 1920 CAMPAIGN.—"AMERICA NEARER LEAGUE"

Dayton, O., Jan. 25.—James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for President in 1920, and former Governor of Ohio, tonight told Democrats gathered here at a Jackson Day banquet, that their party stands just where it did "when the votes were counted" and is "ready for the next fight."

Public opinion, he declared, has steadily borne the destiny of America nearer each day to the seat of the League of Nations at Geneva."

In his first public address since the campaign of 1920 Mr. Cox assailed the policies of the present Administration, condemning the work of the Washington Armaments Conference, declaring America had refused to accept world leadership, and that financial depression was due to the "treachery of Lodgism."

Thousands of Republicans, he declared "now realize that the leaders of their party in the making of policy have profaned Republican history by thrusting the spoil of Abraham Lincoln for the spleen of Henry Cabot Lodge."

"As I interpret proprieties," he continued, "the defeated candidate for the Presidency should hold to the unspoken word until time has brought the unmistakable evidence of payment or default by those in power on campaign pledges.

"Almost a full year has elapsed and very properly can we apply an analysis of its developments. The ruins of war still mar the international perspective. Willing industry is without the aid of financial credits. Countries, convulsed, if not rich in natural resource are in poverty and misery.

"The reaction, true to prophecy, is upon us and every community is affected. The echoing cry of 'America First' is a mockery to human intelligence as unhappy experience tells us we are a part of the whole world in soul, by the will of Almighty God, and in practicalities by the logic of nature's laws. Republican dictum to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Farm products have diminished in price much below the labor cost of production. Vast inventories of shoes and mill have followed the downward trend until thousands of farmers and business concerns are hopelessly involved. Only the resiliency of our banking system has averted the most destructive panic in all history. In values have diminished in value, markets remain the same. There can be but one final result to this situation.

"And how needless it all has been. When years came Europe needed rebuilding, America had the supplies. Europe required credit. America had a prosperity which credit could have given. The distress in Russia is chargeable to the terrors of sovietism, the distress in America to the treachery of Lodgism.

"The first essential thing to our recovery is the formal recognition by our Government of the fundamental cure of depression. Since this would carry acceptance of the theories of Woodrow Wilson, there is hope only for the belated relief that will come from the pressure of public opinion.

"Every economist and statesman in the world whose mental processes are free from interior thought admits the peace of civilization cannot be put in order without the co-operation of America possessing both the leading gold supply and the facilities of free trade promptly.

"In the face of these fundamental truths, the Administration at Washington is vainly trying to bring better times by resort to the noisy methods of a circus.

"Thousands of Republicans now realize that present leaders of their party in the making of policy have profaned Republican history, and ignored every thought of an honored inheritance, by forsaking the soul of Abraham Lincoln for the spleen of Henry Cabot Lodge. Abject surrender has been made to Mr. Lodge.

"With deliberate industry the Administration at Washington for almost 12 months fixed the setting sun, and yet the currents of public opinion have steadily bore the destiny of America, eastward, eastward, nearer each day to the seat of the League of Nations at Geneva.

"Of the present treaty between the Governments of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, prudence might suggest that judgment be reserved until we know what the treaty means and the extent of Mr. Lodge's secret understanding.

"The President gave interpretation of the written word. Mr. Lodge instantly corrected him with the statement that the real meaning was in the unwritten word, in the understanding between the representatives which Mr. Lodge had refrained from mentioning when he addressed his countrymen and when nations seemed committed to open diplomacy, Mr. Lodge, in the name of America, resorted to the diplomatic methods of old.

"In its behalf it is said of the treaty that it recognizes the principle of arbitration, and gives protection against external aggression. On the other hand, it creates a group of nations and thus may encourage the establishment of other groups. The treaty creates division of moral purpose. The League of Nations contemplates the merging of purpose. This treaty sets up a new enterprise that may lead to other like projects.

"The League of Nations assembles all nations deserving of name. If the present pact, after mature reflection, is to be accepted by America, it should be provided that whenever America joins the League of Nations then the Washington treaty shall be null and void.

"Our faith in the official pronouncements of 1920 is unaffected by the result of the election of that year. We stand in our very tracks, just where we were when the votes were counted. We have not retreated a step. The flag, still flies, and we are ready for the next fight."

Joining with the former Ohio Governor in criticizing the Harding Administration were Senators Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, and Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio; Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to former President Wilson, Mrs. Gertrude Breslau Fuller, of Pittsburgh, and A. V. Donahey, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio at the last election.

"The record of the Republican Administration during the last 10 months is enough to arouse the ire and cause not only a blush of shame but of resentment to those of progressive and independent principles," Senator Harrison declared.

DISABLED SOLDIER MAKES $2,000 ON TEN ACRE FARM.

At Congress Heights, a suburb of Washington, D. C., there is a disabled former service man who made a profit of $2,000 on a ten acre tract of land during the past year. This man, John Pierce by name, is a government trainee of Maryland Agriculture College, and although he has not finished his course ,last year was by far the biggest year that he and his father have ever experienced on their farm. Young Pierce took over full management of their place for the first time in 1921.

According to his service record Pierce is suffering from the after effects of gas and from a gun shot wound in his right forearm. He is one of a group of 36 disabled men being retained in "project" farm work at the Maryland Institute. Although there are a total of 106 men being re-trained at the college, Pierce is recognized as the leader of the "project" working group and is considered one of the most successful students among all the disabled men at the College.

The principle product of the Pierce farm was tomatoes, of which more than 700 boxes were raised, selling in the Washington markets for a total of $1,155. In addition to these Pierce sold twenty-two barrels of string beans and eight barrels of peas for a total value of $190; a quantity of beets for $250, and a lot of lettuce for another $250, together with 550 worth of cabbage, making in all a total of $1,595. Besides these products Pierce also raised 2 acres of late beans, 2 acres of corn, 1½ acres of spinach, 1½ acres of turnips, one-half acre of sweet potatoes and one-half acre of kale, most of which were sold and went to make up for the cost of labor of two men hired for about two months during the summer. Pierce also painted the house on his farm during the year.

The plan under which Pierce and the other 35 "project" men worked was to take the lecture and demonstration course for special students in poultry farming and horticulture. This is a two year course and during the summer each student is required to select a farm site or project. He begins the purchase of this farm and goes to work on it. The same success is not expected of each student as Pierce, who already had possession of his own farm, met with, but each man during the past year showed a marked degree of success.

That Knife-Like Pain

Is Only One of Nature's Warnings of Weak or Disordered Kidneys.

Have you a lame back, aching day and night? Do you feel sharp pains after stooping? Are the kidneys some of their action irregular? Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the medicine recommended by so many Westminster people. Ask your neighbor! Read this case:

Mrs. Oliver Myers, 42 Bond St., Westminster, says: "I had a bad case of kidney trouble and my back bothered me. It seemed as though I were being cut across the small of my back with a knife. My feet would swell badly and my eyes became affected. My kidneys acted too often and caused annoyance. My mother recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and I procured a box. I had immediate relief after using one box and I kept on taking them until I had used three boxes. I am now entirely cured of the trouble. I owe a great deal to Doan's."

Mrs. Myers gave the above statement October 10, 1916, and on December 11, 1920, she added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has been a lasting one. I have had no return of the trouble and will always recommend Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Myers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Persecuted Armenians.

In 1914, there were about 7,000,000 of these peace-abiding people. Since then, through the ravages of the World War and the cruel, merciless Turks, the number has been decreased to 500,000.

The Turks kill them for pleasure, being stronger in body and number. The Armenians are forced by starvation and other methods to submit to all the barbarism and inhumanity that the Turks can contrive. Slaves, to do the hard work are saved, and the pretty Armenian women, used to gratify their carnal lusts. They appealed to the Allied Nations for help, and not being noticed, some of them are trying to come to peaceful America to live.

East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.
