DECISION REVERSED IN STEEL CO. CASE

United States Court of Appeals Hands Down Favorable Opinion in Damage Suits

Hagerstown, Mr., May 21.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., has just handed down an opinion in the case of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, of Steelton, against the Washington and Berkley Bridge Company, of this county, reversing the decision of Judge A. G. Dayton rendered in the federal district court at Martinsburg in July, 1913. More than $40,000 is involved in the case representing damages paid to relatives of the steel company employes as the result of the bridge disaster at Williamsport, Md., in December, 1908, when five men were killed by a pier collapsing. Following the disaster suits were filed by relatives against the steel company in the circuit court here for damages for nearly $40,000, which were awarded. Later the steel company brought suit against the bridge company in the district court at Martinsburg and Judge Rayton held that the bridge company was responsible for the damages. The claim of the steel company was that the bridge company was liable and the decision of Judge Dayton threw the responsibility upon the defendant for the defective condition of the pier. Nearly all of the parties concerned in the damage suits were from Pennsylvania.

Quickest Relief Known For All Sore Feet

Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly and the feet feel so good you could sing for joy. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. It is not a patent medicine. Calocide prepared only by Medical Formula Co., of Dayton, Ohio.

Absorbs Skin, Chases Wrinkles—Young Again

"The shock at beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks abed, nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colson in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed twenty years older. Now, I thought, I could not attend my chum's wedding, eleven days off, to which I had looked hopefully forward.

"She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at the drug store, which she bade me spread on like cold cream, washing it off next morning. Applied nightly, this apparently absorbed the withered skin, so gently I experienced no discomfort. Upon the wedding morn the pallid complexion had entirely given way to one of youthful color and loveliness.

"And there wasn't a wrinkle. This due to a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. The daily face bath had dispersed every line."—Advertisement.

CONSTABLE SHOOTS COLLEGE STUDENT

Boys Make Bonfire to Celebrate Victories and Officer Chases Them Away

Special to The Telegraph

Annville, Pa., May 21.—As the result of a huge bonfire built by students of Lebanon Valley College in celebration of the victories of the past week, the town will take action against four students of the school. Monday night, as the fire was being built, the town constable attempted to break up the operations of the students and chased some of the boys to one of the side streets. Calling to them to stop, he fired at the fleeing students, one of the bullets taking effect in the arm of Ross Snavely, a freshman. Not being deterred by this, the boys ignited the materials collected. The constable ordered the fire bell to be rang and in a short time the campus was filled with townspeople, who attempted to put the students off the campus. A near-riot was averted by the arrival of members of the senior and junior council of the college and the crowd was dispersed. Snavely has entered suit against the town for the injury inflicted by the constable.

FARMERS LOSE MONEY

Special to The Telegraph

Dillsburg, Pa., May 21.—Fattening cattle during this last winter proved to be very unprofitable to the farmers of this section, on account of having had to pay an extreme high price for their cattle last Fall and the price of corn being very high. At this time when many of the farmers must sell their cattle the market price of fat cattle is very low and in many instances they are compelled to take less per hundred weight than paid for them last Fall. The increase in weight is not sufficient to cover the value of corn fed and the loss between the cost and selling price of the cattle.
