BISHOP POTTER'S CRY FOR VENGEANCE.

ish crime. We always have been prepared to do every thing possible to stamp out vice in this city and we welcome help from any source.

"I have given express orders to my detectives to follow up any evidence offered us.

"Whatever is found of this nature will be at once wiped out.'

Must Make a Record.

The Tammany Vice Committee has now effected an organization, Lieut. Lewis Nixon being the chairman. It has not yet been determined just what the scope of the committee will be, but under orders from Croker it is to make a record and it is the present intention to atack vice in every section of the city.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on Monday at Mr. Nixon's office, 255 Broadway. It will be an open session. The committee will have no powers. The result of its investigations must be first reported to the Tammany Hall Executive Committee, which will order action as it sees fit. This committee consists of the district leaders, and it will be interesting when they are called upon to act on the report. Some of the anti-Tammany men say they see a little joker in this provision.

The withdrawal of John J. Scannell from the committee caused some unfavorable comment in the Tammany ranks. He was formerly leader of the district including the Tenderloin. Scannell says he is too busy to serve on the committee. Warley Platzek, a lawyer who has long been looking for a Supreme Courtship, replaces him.

There was no general closing up of resorts reported to-day. In the tenement districts the disorderly characters were not so bold and the open flaunting of vice in the more notorious streets had been suppressed.

Gambling Goes On.

But the pool-rooms and gambling houses still went on. The guards, of course, displayed extra precaution and only known faces were allowed to pass within.

As a result of the complaint made in Bishop Potter's memorial to the Mayor, charging that when the Rev. Dr. Paddock, of the Pro-Cathedral in Stanton street, complained of vice to the police authorities, he was "met not only with contempt and derision, but with the coarsest insult and obloquy," two police captains will be summoned for trial. They are Herlihy, of the Eldridge street station, and Diamond, of the Fifth street station.

These officers will be tried on the charge by the Commissioners. Bishop Potter says he is ready at any time to submit the facts and justify his criticism of the two men.

POLICE BOARD IN A FERMENT.

Answered President's Call Hastily—Arose from Sick Bed.

That Mr. Croker's vice crusade has been conducive to police activity was shown this afternoon by the unusual bustle at Police Headquarters.

Mondays and Fridays are the regular days for Police Commissioners' meetings, but an imperative call sent out by Bernard J. York, President of the board, brought the four commissioners together this afternoon for a conference.

Every commissioner refused to speak of the meeting or account for the special calling together of the board.

Before the Commissioners assembled President York telephoned Chief Clerk Kipp to remain at headquarters and keep a stenographer with him.

A list of sergeants who have been promoted to captaincies by the Civil Service Commissioners was expected to-day, but it was not believed that the Police Commissioners met for its consideration.

Of the Commissioners who answered the call of President York Mr. Abell came from a sick bed and both Mr. Sexton and Mr. Hess from important business.

President York returned to Headquarters at 1.30 this afternoon from Brooklyn, where he had been presiding at trials. He said that a meeting of the board would be held, and that after it had come to an end a statement might be made.

The board, it was believed, met to discuss Bishop Potter's letter to Mayor Van Wyck, a copy of which was sent to President York.

Shortly after noon Elbridge T. Gerry called at Police Headquarters and was closeted with Capt. McClusky for half an hour or more. He rode up in his automobile. He said his visit had nothing to do with the anti-vice crusade.

I'LL DO MY DUTY, SAYS DEVERY.

Beyond This Vague Statement the Police Chief Emulated the Silent Oyster.

Chief of Police Devery came down to Police Headquarters shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. His usual hour for reporting for duty is 1 P. M.

The Chief had just finished reading an evening newspaper when a reporter from The Evening World visited him.

"Have you read Bishop Potter's letter, Chief Devery?" was asked.

"I have nothing to say."

"Are you going to make a charge against Capt. Herlihy, of the Eldridge street station, for using insulting language to Dr. Paddock, of Bishop Potter's Church?"

"I won't talk about that."

"Will Inspector Cross make any charge against Capt. Herlihy, the result to Rev. Dr. Paddock having taken place in the presence of the Inspector?"

"I won't talk about it now."

"Has the Police Board instructed you to make an investigation?" the reporter asked.

"I won't say."

"Will you pursue the usual course relative to such a case?"

"I won't talk about it any more."

"Are you going to do your duty?"

"I am," replied Chief Devery.

Inspector Cross refused to talk to-day when questioned about vice in the Eldridge Street Precinct, of which Capt. Herlihy is the commander. Asked if he would prefer charges against Herlihy for screening vice in his district, the Inspector said:

"My answer is that I have nothing to say."

When Inspector Cross was again approached by a reporter the police official in an angry voice yelled:

"I won't talk to you or any other damned reporter. There's the door."

WARRANTS OUT FOR 50 DIVES.

District-Attorney Acts on McCullagh Deputies' Evidence.

At the request of District-Attorney Gardiner shortly before noon to-day Magistrate Zeller issued about fifty warrants against keepers of disorderly houses and dives.

The warrants were issued on information received from McCullagh deputies. Shortly before election Supt. McCullagh gave the District-Attorney's office a long list of disorderly houses and pool-rooms, which his men had discovered were violating the law.

The warrants will be sent to the Detective Bureau and the persons arrested will be arraigned in Centre Street Court to-morrow morning. Supt. McCullagh filed two affidavits in each case.

HERLIHY SAYS "NOTHING TO SAY."

Arrives Early at Eldridge St. Station in Plain Clothes and Red Tie.

Police Captain Herlihy, of the Eldridge street station, who was charged with insulting the clergyman, arrived at the station-house shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

He was dressed in citizen's clothes. He wore a gray tweed business suit and a fiery red and black tie—symbolical of the "Red Light District."

He went to his desk and began writing vigorously. As an Evening World reporter approached him he said in a gruff voice:

"Well, what do you want with me?"

"The Evening World would like"—began the reporter.

"Nothing to say! Nothing to say!" thundered the Captain and he resumed his writing.

"The Evening World would be glad to publish any statement you may care to make in answer to the charges preferred against you by Bishop Potter," said the reporter.

The police captain kept on writing. Again he roared:

17 STREET WOMEN FINED.

None Denied in Court the Charge of Disorderly Conduct.

Detectives McLaughlin, Burns, Conway and Wortlauser, of the East Fifty-first street station, arraigned seventeen women in the Yorkville Police Court this morning.

The prisoners did not attempt to deny the charges of disorderly conduct made against them, and Magistrate Mayo fined them all $5 and said that if they came before him again he would send them to the Island. All but four of the women paid their fines.

POTTER DIDN'T MOVE CROKER

Politicians Say Bishop's Letter Came After He'd Acted.

Politicians at the City Hall this morning denied that Mr. Croker was forced to do something in the vice matter by a tip given him that Bishop Potter had sent a letter to the Mayor on Thursday, Nov. 15.

Inquiry at the City Hall showed that although the letter of Bishop Potter was dated Nov. 15 it was not delivered until yesterday.

The missive was sent from the episcopal house in Lafayette place directly to the Mayor's office.

Politicians said Mr. Croker had no inking of the letter and that his action on Thursday was after deliberation and not through pressure.

DOESN'T TRUST CROKER.

Another Clergyman Indorses Attitude of Bishop and Parkhurst.

At the close of the meeting of the General Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church this morning in St. Paul's Eighty-sixth street and West End avenue Dr. Carroll, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, in speaking of the vice crusade, said:

"I am deeply interested in the movement. Dr. Parkhurst has expressed my sentiments exactly and I trust that he and Bishop Potter will not act with Mr. Croker or be at all influenced by anything that he does. Mr. Croker says that this is not a political trick on his part or he would have inaugurated the movement before the election. While the national election is over, the municipal election is just coming on and is commanding a great deal of attention. The same kind of a movement on the part of Tammany preceded Mayor Strong's election."

Bishop Andrews said: "I am on the side of Bishop Potter in his matter, as every decent citizen should be, but I cannot discuss the matter further at this time."

STOLE BIG LOT OF OPIUM.

Two Men Arrested While Disposing of Drug.

Joseph Boesch, a cooper of 445 Third avenue, and Maurice Shea, a junk dealer of 13 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, were this morning held in $3,000 bail each in the Centre Street Court on the charge of having stolen opium valued at $3,888.60.

The opium was the property of Dodge & Olcott, of 85 William street. Aug. 9 last the warehouse was broken into and the opium cases on which the duty had not been paid were rifled. Boesch was arrested on suspicion soon afterwards, but was discharged. Some of the opium was traced to a Broadway commission house. Harry Howe, a clerk of Dodge & Olcott, was sent to buy some. As Boesch and Shea were on the truck delivering the goods they were arrested. The opium was seized by an officer of the customs.

BISHOP POTTER.

BISHOP POTTER'S CALL TO MAYOR VAN WYCK.

Bishop Potter's letter to Mayor Van Wyck on the vice of the city is generally regarded as one of the most forceful and eloquent documents ever addressed to a city official.

After calling attention to the good work and influence of the Church Settlement on the lower east side, and the indifference of the police to the dives that menace the respectable residents of that locality, the Bishop writes:

"But the thing that is of consequence, sir, is that when a minister of religion, and a resident in a particular neighborhood, whose calling and character, experience and truthfulness are all alike widely and abundantly recognized, goes to the headquarters of the police of his district to appeal to them for the protection of the young, the innocent and defenseless against the leprous harpies who are hired as runners and touters for the lowest and most infamous dens of vice, he is met not only with contempt and derision but with the coarsest insult and obloquy."

Declaring his willingness and ability to prove this statement, he continues:

"I affirm that such a virtual safeguarding of vice in the city of New York is a burning shame to any decent and civilized community, and an intolerable outrage upon those whom it especially and pre-eminently concerns. I am not, I beg to say, unmindful of the fact that the existence of vice in a great city is practically an inevitable condition of the life of such a community.

"I am not demanding that vice shall be stamped out by the police or any other civil authority. That is a desire which would demand for its achievement a race of angels and not men."

Protesting against the shielding of vice, he calls out in the name of those he seeks to save from corrupt influences:

"I know those of whom I speak—their homes, their lives, their toil and their aspirations. Their sensibility to outrage or insult is as keen as those who are in your household or mine; and, before God and in the face of the citizens of New York, I protest, as my people have charged me to do, against the habitual insult, the persistent menace, the unutterably defiling contacts to which day by day, because of the base complicity of the police of New York with the lowest forms of vice and crime, they are subjected."

Concluding his letter, the Bishop writes:

"Months have passed since the incidents occurred to which I have alluded in this communication. But in these months the condition of things in whole neighborhoods has not improved, but rather grown worse. Vice not only flaunts in the most open ribald forms, but hard-working fathers and mothers find it harder than ever to-day to defend their households from a rapacious licentiousness which stops at no outrage and spares no tenderest victim. Such a state of things cries to God for vengeance, and calls no less loudly to you and me for redress."

PLATT DOES NOT FALTER.

Says He Still Favors Passage of State Constabulary Bill.

Senator Platt was shown a statement to-day in which it was said that the State Constabulary bill proposed by him would be dropped and that he had recedded from his position.

"I have said nothing," said he, "that could be interpreted as meaning that the bill will be dropped or so drawn as to be anything but a strong measure. I have not backed down, and nobody has any right to say that I am letting up on the bill. A State constabulary bill will positively be introduced at Albany this winter, and I have every reason to believe it will be passed. It will be a strong measure and will provide for a single-headed State police commission, with headquarters at Albany.

"The head will be supplied from this city, and he will be a man in whom the public will have entire confidence. He will be a citizen of very high character. The bill will not be the identical one that was introduced last year, but it will resemble it in many essential particulars. Rest assured there will be no backing down."

DUNN IS C. O. P. STATE CHAIRMAN

Chosen at Ten-Minute Session To-Day as Odell's Successor.

The Republican State Committee met at noon and elected Railroad Commissioner Dunn, of Binghamton, as Chairman in place of Governor-elect Odell.

The session lasted only ten minutes.

Mr. Odell spent most of yesterday at headquarters closing up matters and preparing to turn the office over to his successor. He had many visitors, including members of the Senate and Assembly, who asked him to pick out agreeable committee places for them. Mr. Odell turned them over to Col. Dunn, saying he did not wish to interfere with the prerogatives of his successor.

Beasts of the Jungle Here.

A large consignment of wild animals from Singapore were brought by the British steamer Afridi, which arrived here last night. There are two black panthers, one leopard, one tiger cat, two wildcats, four kangaroo rats, one orang-outang, three loris, one porcupine, five squirrels, seven parrots, two New Guinea pheasants, two lizards and two Japanese dogs.

CROKER'S LAST WORDS ON VICE.

Before Starting for Europe He Again Instructs the Tammany Committee.

I have no comments to make on the letter of Bishop Potter. It was not sent to me.—RICHARD CROKER to an Evening World reporter.

After giving urgent instructions to the Anti-Vice Committee appointed by Tammany Hall Richard Croker sailed away on the Lucania to-day, having made the surprising revelation that the crusade was contemplated more than two months ago and was only deferred on account of the election.

The steamer sailed at 12 o'clock, and hundreds of Tammany men of high and low degree on the pier yelled themselves hoarse and frantically waved good-by to the chief.

It seemed as though the whole of the General Committee of Tammany Hall was there and many others besides. Among the crowd was Lawrence Delmour, Judge Herman Joseph, Senator P. H. McCarren, Senator Featherston, Nathan Straus, Capt. Louis S. Wendel, City Chamberlain Patrick Keenan, Justice Dugro, Fire Commissioner Scannell, Dock Commissioners Cram and Meyer, ex-Judge McQuade, Assistant Corporation Counsel Ridgway, William E. Wyatt, secretary of the Democratic Club; David McClure, Civil Justice Stiner, John Fox, Grand Sachem Feltner, De Lancey Nicoll, Edward C. Sheehy, Judge McKean and Warden Fallon.

Flowers for the Boss.

When Mr. Croker and his party arrived at the dock the army of the faithful sent up a vigorous cheering, and they followed the leader in an eager, pressing stream as he walked up the gangway.

He took stateroom F on the saloon deck. He found it decorated with hundreds of American Beauty buds. In the centre was a great bank of them surrounding a blue satin banner trimmed with gold and attached to a standard. On the banner was this inscription in gold letters:

"Perry Belmont, Thomas F. Hascall, John W. Keller, John F. Carroll, E. L. Busse, A. T. Kiernan, T. E. Crimmins, E. F. O'Dwyer, Cord Meyer, James Shevlin, John Fox, M. Warley Platzek, William F. Grell, William E. Wyatt and Asa Bird Gardiner wish the Hon. Richard Croker godspeed."

Horseshoe from Devery.

The music-room of the steamer was also filled with floral offerings for the boss. There was an immense horseshoe of red and white carnations from Chief of Police William S. Devery. Judge Joseph sent a large basket of fruit. A centrepiece of yellow chrysanthemums fully six feet in height bore the card of James J. Coogan.

Matthew Donahue sent a horseshoe only a little smaller than that of the Chief of Police. But the most remarkable offering of all was a little brown hobby horse covered with leather and fully two feet high.

It stood in a bank of crimson chrysanthemums, on one side of which was a bow of pale blue satin, on the other a bow of pale pink. The donor of this inclosed his card in an envelope, which, when Mr. Croker opened it, caused him to smile broadly. He seemed very much pleased, but would not divulge the name of the donor.

The Fight to Go On.

"The fight against vice will go on all right, as I have directed it," said he, as the last whistle sounded and all of the visitors went ashore.

The Tammany Chief was not disposed to discuss the new developments in the vice crusade at the Democratic Club this morning, but Lewis Nixon, the Chairman of the Tammany Anti-Vice Committee, after a half-hour's conference with Mr. Croker, made a statement which it is thought fairly indicates the position of the big boss.

Just as he was leaving the club at 11 o'clock to enter the carriage that was to take him to the steamship dock he was asked whether his inauguration of the vice crusade was made after he had a knowledge of Bishop Potter's letter to the Mayor or before that. He answered:

"I never heard of the letter. I never saw it until it was published this morning. This crusade would have been instituted two months ago if it had not been for the election. We feared that our intentions would be misconstrued.

"I told the members of the committee to-day that I was going abroad, but that I expected them to carry on the work and do their entire duty. I hope that all who are interested in reform will join with the committee and aid in its work."

Though Mr. Croker was up until after midnight saying good-by to his followers, who filled the club-house, he arose before 8 o'clock this morning. While at breakfast with Andrew Freedman, "Eddie" Cahill and Dr. John B. Crosby, his sons, Richard, Frank and Herbert, called and went at once to the breakfast room.

His Early Callers.

The next caller was Mr. Nixon, and others that followed included Surrogate Fitzgerald and David McClure. One of the visitors bore so close a resemblance to David B. Hill that the doorman almost collapsed in amazement.

It was 9.30 o'clock when Mr. Croker came out and faced the reporters. He was dressed in a mixed dark sack suit and a derby hat. He wore a deep blue tie with a ring fastening. He looked tired, as though he needed sleep.

"What do you think of Bishop Potter's letter to Mayor Van Wyck regarding the vice on the east side?" he was asked.

"I have no comment to make on that letter," decisively said Mr. Croker. "It was not addressed to me."

Some one suggested that apparently Bishop Potter, Dr. Parkhurst, Rev. Mr. Paddock and others interested in the purification of the east side were going to ignore the Tammany committee's invitation to meet them on the ground that it was a bluff and a "fake." To which Mr. Nixon replied:

"Well, I don't see how we can help that. We have extended the invitation in good faith. Letters have been addressed to a number of these people personally, and the story of our action has been published so widely that every one knows it.

Awaiting Developments.

"We can only wait until Monday for developments," continued Mr. Nixon. "If these people do not want to co-operate with us or assist with such evidence as they have collected for the stamping out of vice we shall go ahead independently. And if the results are not satisfactory the responsibility will rest upon them and not upon us, for we shall do all we can."

The nature of the interview between Mr. Croker and Mr. Nixon was revealed a few minutes later by Dr. John B. Cosby, who besides being Croker's family physician is one of his closest personal friends.

"Mr. Croker gave to one of the members of the Tammany Anti-Vice Committee this morning," said the doctor, "these instructions.

"'While I am away I want your committee to prosecute the work for which you have been appointed urgently and in earnest. And I want you to produce results.'

At 10 o'clock a cab drove up to the club and Mr. Croker's baggage was loaded upon it. There were ten pieces—two large steamer trunks, six fat gripsacks and two hat boxes. Mr. Russ, superintendent of the club, entered the vehicle and it was driven to the steamship pier.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Croker and the party that accompanied him left the club in three carriages. There were the Chief's three sons, Dr. Cosby, James J. Coogan and Andrew Freedman.

As Mr. Croker was seated in his carriage he was asked what he thought of ex-Senator Hill's anti-Croker scheme.

TRYING TO OUST COLLECTOR

Babylon's Tax Accounts in a Very Muddled Condition.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BABYLON, Nov. 17.—The Town Board met here to-day to take action in the case of Joshua H. Smalling, for sixteen years the collector of Babylon, who is short in his accounts. The Board previously demanded his resignation and made every effort to quietly secure his removal.

Smalling has refused to resign and laughs at the Board. Smalling was short $1,800, but paid a part. He is still short $600. He says everything will be all right. He has a year yet to serve and defies the Board to oust him.

Unless Smalling settles it is said his arrest will follow. The Board has passed a resolution asking the Supervisors not to give him warrants for the ensuing year and has voted to retain counsel.

He has been collecting taxes since June without a warrant and has returned property on which taxes were paid. His affairs are the most muddled in the history of the town.

SOCIETY WOMAN ARRESTED.

Mrs. Millie Chambers Accused by Atlantic City Hotel-Keeper.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Millie Chambers, a resident of Frankford, near Philadelphia, has been arrested here on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences.

The complaint is made by Mrs. Schwisford, of the Little Brighton Hotel, who alleges that Mrs. Chambers got $70 from her.

Mrs. Schwisfort says that Mrs. Chambers claimed to be heir to $80,000 and that she gave a fictitious address. It is said that Mrs. Chambers, who is twenty-eight years old, moved in good society in Philadelphia. It is said her husband now lives in New York.

Mrs. Chambers claims that she used the money obtained by her in the purchase of medicines. When arraigned she was held in $1,500 bail.

CIGAR "LESSONS" A FRAUD.

Steiner Arrested, Charged with Swindling His Pupils.

In Centre Street Court this morning was arraigned Abraham Steiner, a teacher of the cigarmaking art, as 1917 Second avenue. He was arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Steiner, the detectives said, would open a small cigar store and advertise in the newspapers for "help." Then he would exact a fee of from $5 to $25 from his pupils to "teach them the trade." He would then move from the place.

His victims are said to be not less than five hundred.

To Become Bride of Mr. Reed.

The marriage of Miss Mae E. Turner, daughter of Mrs. William J. Turner, to Mr. Joseph Britton Reed, will take place at the West End Presbyterian Church, corner One Hundred and Fifth street and Amsterdam avenue, on Monday next at 4.30 P. M. The bride will be given away by her brother, Mr. W. Irving Turner. Miss Alice C. Turner, a sister, will be maid of honor. On account of the recent death of the bride's father only a small reception will be held at the residence of the bride's mother, 223 West One Hundred and Twelfth street. The couple will leave for an extended Southern trip.

MIND AND FOOD.

Kind of Food That Affects the Mind.

"One of the most remarkable effects of the food Grape-Nuts is the effect on the mind; it makes one feel buoyant, hopeful and cheerful," says Alice L. Glunt, of 2422 Broad st., Altoona, Pa. She continues: "As result of prolonged mental work, I was stricken with paralysis of the right side about two years and a half ago. For about two years I was treated constantly with powerful drugs to stimulate the nerve centres, with only partial success.

"About six months ago I was threatened with nervous prostration again, when a friend advised me to eat Grape-Nuts food. I was entirely skeptical concerning any beneficial results, but finding the food very palatable, I bought package after package, and since beginning the use of Grape-Nuts have taken no medicine or nerve tonics of any kind, and the effect of this perfect food on my health is something very remarkable. All headaches, insomnia, and a disagreeable cough, and my symptoms of paralysis have disappeared.

"I am satisfied that all the ills that I have suffered were due to the fact that I lived just as thousands of others who think they are well fed, but are in a state of semi-starvation, owing to imperfect assimilation of food. The nerve centres cannot be properly nourished and rebuilt except by good food and food that can be digested and assimilated. Grape-Nuts food is the most perfect food I have ever seen, and I know of its value from practical results."

This is another evidence of the fact that Grape-Nuts food contains the phosphate of potash which unites with albumen to make the gray matter in the nerve centres and brain. Any brain worker who values health, strength and vigor should pay heed to the character of food he uses.

The output of the factory of The "Mobile" Company of America when in full operation amounts to more than a quarter of a million dollars per month. In order to secure working capital sufficient to keep the factory in full operation up to the time of the opening of spring business,

The "Mobile" Company of America Offers For Sale at its par value of $100 per Share $400,000 of its Preferred Stock.

Each share of $100, so subscribed, will carry with it an additional share of the Common Stock of the Company.

The Company will have No bonds, No indebtedness.

The President of the Company, Mr. John Brisben Walker, who owns a controlling interest in the stock of the "Mobile" Company—Mr. Walker is also the proprietor of The Cosmopolitan Magazine—guarantees to manage the Company without creating any indebtedness. He further guarantees to protect the interests of those investing while the Company is under his management by securing for them equal terms with himself should he determine to retire from the management of the Company.

The preferred stock of $2,000,000 and common stock of like amount will be issued upon the basis of the following property, to be turned over to the Company fully paid for:

1st. $400,000 cash in bank to be used as working capital.

3rd. A complete plant of the very best and most modern machinery, all new and guaranteed to be equal to the turning out of ninety carriages per week.

4th. 233 acres of the choicest manufacturing and residence land along the Hudson River, embraced in the site at Kingsland Point and Philipse Manor, upon which the New York Central has recently established for The "Mobile" Company a new station with a service of twenty-five trains a day. This property was carefully selected with a view to the development of the manufacture of "Mobiles" upon the largest scale.

5th. The rights to manufacture for the United States and Canada under the Francis E. and Froeland O. Stanley Patents—the "Mobile" Company owning a one-half interest in the original steam carriage patents of the Messrs. Stanley—The Locomobile Company owning the other half, and no other steam carriages having any rights under these patents. The two companies owning these patents turned out more than ninety-five per cent of all the steam carriages built in America during the past year.

This preferred stock constitutes a very unusual opportunity for investment. It is not in the nature of an untried experiment. The profits are proven to be large. The "Mobile" is to-day probably the best known automobile carriage in the world.

The Company has already in operation Branch Houses in Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, Denver and Chicago. Before the spring opens the Company will have in operation more than twenty branch houses and one hundred and fifty agencies. In Boston the sales amounted to over thirty thousand dollars within three months after opening the Company's Branch at 346 Boylston Street.

The Delivery Wagon business of the Company promises to be even more profitable than that of pleasure carriages.

Subscriptions to the preferred stock will be assigned in order of application unless for any reason it is deemed advisable to reject any subscription. They must in all cases be accompanied by check for the full par value of $100 for each share of stock; check to be made payable to John Brisben Walker, President of The "Mobile" Company of America, and addressed to Philipse Manor, Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.
