BENNINGS UP TO DATE.

Washington Track to Be Made a Thoroughly Modern Course.

The recent meeting of the Washington Jockey Club was so successful that the management contemplates extensive improvements next year. It is not likely, however, that any changes will be made until after the spring meeting, because the work could not be carried on very well during the winter.

It is said that among the improvements will be an iron grand stand patterned after that at Brighton Beach, so that spectators will be enabled to see every point of a race.

The grand stand now used at Bennings is antiquated and rickety and is not placed at an angle that permits a good view of the races.

A new club-house is also in contemplation. The stables on the hill will be removed, it is said, and the new club-house, a composite edifice in structure and appointments, will be removed to the other end of the grand stand.

In a word, Bennings is to be made an up-to-date, model race course, complete in every respect. President Howland is well pleased with the success that has attended the revival of racing in Washington and says that the meetings show an improvement each year.

The club is now in good financial standing and any surplus will be spent on track improvements and in the betterment of racing on the lines originally laid down by the projectors of the club.

"At no time has there been the least friction between the two committees. I feel certain that the races will prove an unqualified success."

BOXING GAME DOWN AND OUT

Republicans Say Barrel of Money Couldn't Buy New Law.

The boxing game is down and out, and it will take a long count to bring it back. It is deemed safe to say that the next Legislature will not legalize the sport. Even Gov. Odell is said to be opposed to its resurrection and would veto any measure making it legal again. Barrels of money could not buy a new law, say prominent Republicans, and any fund being raised for the purpose of influencing legislation will never reach Albany.

It is said a fund is being contributed, and former club managers, saloon-keepers and all-round sports are among those assessed. A certain few have undertaken to see the money gets into the proper hands. This few are put down as bunco men and have no intention of ever trying to use the money for the promised purpose. They are reaping the "pile" for themselves by a systematic robbery, and the contributors can hope for no return.

The evident eagerness of these sporting men to contribute to the fighting fund pleases the politicians beyond measure. It is needless to say that the latter are not members of the party in control at Albany. They can't run a "fake-out" on the shows, so they plan to get money under false pretenses—the next best scheme.

Gov. Elect Odell said it was absurd to think the measure would even reach him. Granting, however, that it did, he would kill it. He said he stands to-day where he did a year ago on boxing. He is in favor of good, clean sport, but is unalterably opposed to fighting as it was conducted here under the Horton law. The series of fakes pulled off during the last week or so in August satisfied him, according to a friend, as to the failure of the men who were in control.

Mr. Odell said that in a year or so he would be in favor of a law permitting boxing, but that it should not be such a measure as the late one, and that a different set of men would have to be in charge. He has seen much of the game here in recent years and has very decided views on the subject.

The better class of sporting men agree with him. They deplored the awful state of affairs under the Horton law. And were really glad when it was killed. They say it was the old story of the fool and the rope. They want to see boxing here, but under much more auspicious circumstances.

"The old gang must go," said a widely known racing man yesterday. "They stepped at nothing, countenanced and took part in all kinds of jobbery, and they got their deserts. We must have no more of them."

JOCKEY CLUBS IN REVOLT.

Chicago Racing Associations Protest Turf Congress Awards.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Secretary Hopper of the American Turf Congress, has issued a call for a meeting of the Congress in this city Dec. 28, to consider the question of racing dates arbitrarily fixed by the Congress last September.

The call was issued at the request of the Harlem Jockey Club, Chicago; the Chicago Jockey Club (Hawthorne), the St. Louis Jockey Club and New Louisiana Jockey Club.

MANY PRIZES IN THIS RACE.

World's Fastest Bikers in Garden's Novel Event Thursday Night.

Every lap of the twenty-five-mile professional race which takes place at Madison Square Garden Thursday night promises to be just as thrilling as the finish of the six-day grind last Saturday evening. There will be prizes for the first four men at the finish, for the leaders at 5, 10, 15 and 20 miles and for the man leading the greatest number of laps. Altogether more than $500 will be divided among the winners.

Some of the fastest riders of both continents will compete in this race. Gougoltz and Simar, the French team that showed such sprinting ability in last week's affair, will start. Louis Gimm, Oscar Babcock, Floyd McFarland and Tom Cooper have entered, and it is likely that Pierce and McEachern, winners of second prize in the six-day grind, will take part. Other events the same night will be the battle for the supremacy of the Police Department between Scheussler, the crack rider of the Manhattan force, and Haussler, Brooklyn's star pedaller among the bluecoats; the one-mile amateur championship and exhibitions behind motors by Jimmy Michael and Harry Elkes.

Jimmy Michael, the peerless follower of pace, broke the world's indoor record for a mile yesterday at Madison Square Garden in a practice spin for his 1-mile race with Harry Elkes which takes place next Saturday night. The Welsh midget went the last mile of a ten-mile trial in 1.39 flat, according to the timekeepers of half a dozen spectators. The previous record was 1.39 2-5, made by Michael in Chicago.

GREAT GATHERING OF STARS.

Many Champions Will Perform at Benefit in Grand Central Palace To-Night.

A great gathering of sportsmen is expected at the Grand Central Palace to-night, where the friends of the late sporting writer, Hugh S. Hart, will join in a testimonial benefit. So many champions have volunteered their services that the management will have hard work to put them all on the stage between 8 P. M. and midnight.

John L. Sullivan will act as the master of ceremonies and will introduce the many celebrities. "Sparrow" Robertson will be in charge of the stage arrangements.

The entertainment will comprise many competitive features, chief of which will be the attempt of Ernest Roeder, the champion wrestler, to throw Jim Jeffries, the champion pugilist, in a catch-as-catch-can bout; Paul Pons, George Bothner, Hugh Leonard, Phil Brown, the "Irish Giant," and many others will also appear on the mat.

Sparring will be conducted without a ring or officials, but some lively work is expected. Among the stars who will put on the gloves are Jim Corbett, Tom Sharkey, Gus Ruhlin, Peter Maher and Mike Donovan.

Water Polo Investigation.

Chairman W. M. Brittain, of the Registration Committee of the Metropolitan Association, has called a meeting of his Committee for to-morrow evening. He has requested the captains of the Knickerbocker A. C. and New York A. Six-Round Bout in Philadelphia Was Fast and Interesting from the Tap of First Bell to the End.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—Gus Ruhlin, the Akron Giant, who is matched to fight Jim Jeffries for the championship of the world next February, met Peter Maher in a six-round bout at the Penn Art A. C. in this city to-night and had no trouble whatever in outpointing the Irish champion. Ruhlin simply outclassed Maher from the beginning of the go to its finish, and although there was no decision rendered, Ruhlin would have surely been declared the victor.

The Akronite outfought Maher at every point and landed so hard and often on his face and body with both hands that he had him in queer street at least three times. For some unknown reason Ruhlin failed to follow up his advantage, allowing Peter to recuperate by bluffs at feinting and side-stepping.

Ruhlin did this thing so plainly in the last round, when he had Maher groggy, that the crowd hissed him him for not finishing his man.

It looked as if Maher and Ruhlin had an understanding between them not to knock each other out.

Tom Sharkey, dressed to the limit and wearing a silk ulle denoting prosperity, was present at the fight and also assisted Maher in his corner between rounds.

Before the fight started Madden announced that he was willing to match his big, black burly colored heavyweight against Sharkey. The latter evidently could not stand for this, and after making a speech in which he said he would never fight a colored man, he handed his silk tile to his friend, Andy Hughes, and started in working over Maher after the second round.

When the fight started it promised to be interesting. Both men slugged each other as hard as they could and never for a minute lost the chance to get in a blow. Neither, however, seemed to have their usual force in their blows.

After three six-round preliminary bouts had been decided, Billy Madden, manager of Ruhlin, and Pete Lowery, representing Maher, held a consultation, and decided that the club officials would have to put up the money before they would let the men fight.

The officials were informed of this fact and in a few minutes the managers of the fighters were informed that the money would be posted. After a short wait Matchmaker McCarthy handed a Philadelphia sporting man $5,000.

Was Found Dying in His Room This Morning.

Judge Thomas C. Lathrop, a prominent Elizabeth, N. J., Democrat, was found dying in bed at 11 o'clock this morning at his residence, 94 West Jersey street, and expired a few minutes later. Bentz was a sailor on the Monongahela and had shore leave. He went to a house in West Twenty-seventh street, where he met and married a woman named "Dolly." During the festivities that followed Bentz was shot and died two days later in the Roosevelt Hospital. Lowe confessed last night at Police Headquarters that he had shot Bentz in self-defense, as the man had attacked him with a knife.

DAMPER PUT ON CHICAGO BOUTS.

If Mayor Signs Resolution Boxers Will Be Out of Work.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—The fighting game here is in danger of being knockedout, and if Mayor Harrison signs the resolution offered by Alderman Patterson the scrappers will have to confine themselves to a snowball diet or skip the town.

The anti-fight resolution directs the Mayor and the Chief of Police to take all precautions and to use all means necessary and advisable for the purpose of preventing the holding or giving in the future of any so-called boxing exhibitions, sparring contests or prize fights at any place in the city of Chicago.

This was Alderman Patterson's resolution, but Alderman Novak put in a stinger in the shape of an amendment which directed the Mayor and Chief of Police not to issue any permits for such sparring and boxing matches wherein admission is charged. The amendment was carried with the resolution.

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 18.—Drs. Santey and A. O. Douglas have performed an autopsy on the body of Margaret Jennings, of Little Falls, the woman who is supposed to have been killed by knock-out drops. They refused to give any information of their findings until the Coroner's inquest, which will be held the latter part of the week.

The death certificate states that death was caused by "exposure and unknown stimulants."

District-Attorney Smith visited Little Falls and was in consultation with Coroner Evelette and the physicians who attended the woman.

MAY LOSE DEPEW'S PICTURE

Could Be Taken for Costs from Secretary of State's Office.

Secretary of State McDonough is exercised over the possibility of losing the handsome oil painting of Senator Depew, which hangs in his office. It represents the Senator as he was in 1864 when he was Secretary of State. Some weeks ago Secretary McDonough refused incorporation papers to the Madchenheim Verein because of its foreign nomenclature. The Verein's attorney secured a mandamus with costs against the Secretary. He has issued the incorporation papers, but the State has no funds to pay the costs, and if the attorney forces their collection the handiest things to levy on will be the pictures in the Secretary's office.

Ban Johnson will depart to-morrow, going to Baltimore and then to Washington to get things in shape in those cities. Mr. Johnson will go to Chicago for the Christmas holidays and will then return to this city, which may be the winter battle-ground between the two leagues. It was expected that the Philadelphia Club of the American League would be incorporated to-day, but no such action was taken.

Col. Rogers, of the National League's circuit committee, is reported to have held two conferences since the league meeting with one of the prime movers in the association's attempt to build up a league last Winter.

Matthews, Handler a Manager Dunn Mak Debuts Saturday.

J., next Saturday night in a scientific exhibition of the art of self-defense, so near the real thing in fisticuffs as to leave no room for comparison.

The hard-hitting ex-Jerseyman is now matched to meet Joe Walcott, the "Black Demon," the bout to take place before any responsible club offering the best inducement.

At Coney's Isle the rollicking farce-comedy in which Matthews and Handler appear, is a masterpiece of wit and humor and a laugh-maker from start to finish. The first scene is laid in Ben Cooper's Hotel on Surf avenue, Coney Island, and deals with the love troubles of Gen. Stanton and his son Tom, whom the old warrior would have marry his ward, of whose estate he is executor. Tom, however, is smitten with the coquettish charms of the ward's hired housemaid, with whom the General has had several endearing scenes, resulting in ridiculously funny situations and squabbles between all four.

Johnny Dunn appears at the end of the third act as Arthur Thorndyke, an exactor of repute, who aspires to replete his lost capital, likewise his standing, by posing as an elocution teacher, a theatrical manager and an authority on possess culture all combined. In this scene Matty Matthews looks and acts the part of Jimmy Hardman, a local tough, and Jimmy Handler appears as "no-good boy."
