New York Stock Market

New York, December 22.—Operations in the stock market to-day bore the familiar holiday aspect. Business was restricted even more than usual to the better known issues, and in these fluctuations generally were so narrow as to rob them of any significance. The room was bearishly inclined, but the failure of pressure to bring out stocks during the early session caused the short interest to halt. Several efforts were made to depress United States Steel, but that stock held firm above 72. Lehigh Valley held barely steady and the theory was advanced in some quarters that yesterday's increase in the dividend from 6 to 10 per cent. annually not only showed a lack of conservatism on the part of the new interests in control of that property, but might perhaps prove harmful to the cause of the railroads generally in their demands for increased freight rates.

Reading was under pressure the greater part of the day, falling over 2 points from the previous day's high level. Selling of this stock was said to come largely from Philadelphia sources, and the failure of the directors to increase the dividend on the common shares yesterday was given as one of the reasons for its weakness.

The increased reactionary tendency of the metal stocks was traceable more directly to the well known conditions prevailing in the copper markets and reports that agents of the leading selling companies were making further price concessions were generally credited.

Lowest prices of the day were recorded in the final hour, and were accompanied by circumstantial rumors that the independent iron and steel companies were making further cuts in prices. Advices from the various centres of activity in this industry were generally discouraging, and one of the recognized trade authorities announced that greater dullness than usual characterizes present conditions. It was semi-officially stated that the United States Steel Corporation contemplates shutting down more blast furnaces in the near future, and this move, it is believed, will be of brief duration.

Further gains in cash were made by local financial institutions and the easier money conditions were attested in both call and time accommodations.

The bond market was barely steady and less active, reflecting the market for stocks. Total sales, par value, $2,233,000. United States bonds were unchanged. Total sales stocks for the day were 213,200 shares.

New York, December 22.—Money on call steady, 3 1-4@2; ruling rate, 3 1-4; closing bid, 3 1-4; offered, 3 3-8. Time loans easier, rates nominal; sixty and ninety days, 4 per cent.; six months, 4. Prime mercantile paper, 5 to 5 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange, steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8240@4.8250 for sixty day bills, and at $4.8545 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.81 3-4@4.82. Bar silver, 54 3-8. Mexican dollars, 45.

COTTON MARKETS

New York, December 22.—No change of importance occurred in the cotton market to-day, fluctuations being even narrower than they were yesterday, with the close steady, net 1 point higher to 1 lower. The opening was steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 1 point on the steady showing of the Liverpool cables and a little covering by sellers. There was no aggressive buying, however, and during the middle of the day prices worked off to a net loss of 3@5 points under scattered realizing or local selling in anticipation that there might still be some speculative liquidation before the close to-morrow night. But no important lines of long cotton came on the market; there was some support from trade interests, a little Southern buying, and with the bulls taking a little cotton on a scale down prices soon steadied, later rallying to about the closing figures of last night. Some attention was attracted by a report that New England spinners would organize an extended curtailment of production after the first of the year if business did not improve in the meantime, but the influence of this on sentiment was partially offset by reports that the inventories of leading Western dry goods houses showed very light stocks and continued favorable trade advices from abroad.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 44,676 bales against 72,984 last week and 52,260 last year. For the week 300,000 bales against 426,465 last week and 224,740 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 12,115 bales against 8,458 last year, and at Houston 8,819 bales against 8,648 last year.

Cotton futures opened and closed steady.

Futures quiet and steady, unchanged to 1 point lower compared with yesterday's close. After the call the trading months showed a range of only a couple of points, first being a point above and then a point below yesterday's close. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were at a net decline of 1 point. The market was dull, but steady throughout the morning session. Private cablegrams from England were bullish, and the first of the weekly statistics from Liverpool were encouraging, as they indicated that mills were taking large amounts of cotton. These were supporting features of the market. Around the middle of the morning the trading months were 4 points under yesterday's last quotations. At noon prices were 1@3 points under yesterday. In the afternoon session very little business was done. At 2 o'clock prices were a point under yesterday's close. The market closed steady at a net decline of 2@3 points.
