SHE HAD A BRUTAL DRIVER ARRESTED.

MRS. EVELYN MURRAY.

Mrs. Evelyn Murray Came from New Jersey to Prosecute Him.

Mrs. Evelyn Murray, one of the Vice-Presidents of the New Jersey Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, came from her home, Somerville, to-day to prosecute a New York driver who had been brutal to his horse. He was John Nagle, of 58 West Seventy-seventh street.

He was driving a team of horses attached to a coal truck on Friday last and was lashing them unmercifully as he passed 200 West Seventieth street, where Mrs. Murray was visiting friends. She rolled the window and rebuked him, but he laughed and swore at her.

Nagle was not arrested until Sunday morning and paroled until to-day. He was held in $100 in the West Side Court.

"He was beating the horse," declared Mrs. Murray, "and I could not stand it. Then he only laughed when I spoke to him, and I was determined to have him brought to justice. Yes, I have always been looking for cases of cruelty to animals and I always try to make the burdens of work horses easier.

"When I drive about over the city I always make my coachman stop to let truck horses or wagon horses go by, so that they will not have to stop with their heavy loads. Then I make my driver report any case of ill-treatment of horses that he sees when I am not looking. Once I saw a man sawing at the bit of his horse in a cruel way, and I immediately stopped him and looked at the horse's mouth. The man was right in front of a police station, and didn't know it until I called his attention to it, and then he stopped."

KRUGER SEIZED BROWN'S MINES

Congress Has Taken Up An American's Claim Against Boers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Senator Turner to-day offered a resolution requesting the President to transmit to the Senate, if not incompatible with public interest, information of what steps have been taken by the State Department to protect the rights of R. E. Brown, a citizen of the United States, in the matter of his claim against the South African Republic, together with copies of all correspondence and papers relating thereto.

R. E. Brown was an American engineer who went to South Africa eight years ago. He located a large number of gold mining claims in Witfontein, adopting up-to-date essentially American methods in his work. He was deprived of the claims by order of the South African authorities, and instituted suit against them for $1,550,000. The case was decided by the South African courts in favor of Mr. Brown, notwithstanding the order of President Kruger withdrawing the claims held by Brown from location.

The judgment of the court so incensed President Kruger and the Volks Raad that the judges were removed summarily from office.

Brown then appealed to the United States.

Senator Turner said the claim was now worth about $6,000,000. The resolution was adopted.

DIFFER ON THE ARMY BILL.

Congressmen Refuse to Agree to Senate Amendments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The House Committee on Military Affairs to-day disagreed to all the Senate amendments to the army reorganization bill and authorized the chairman to move similar action in the House with request for a conference.

HARLAN CONFIRMED.

Justice's Son Goes to Porto Rico Despite Opposition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of James S. Harlan, of Chicago, to be Attorney-General of Porto Rico.

Senators Pettigrew and Chandler opposed Harlan's nomination in the closing debate. Harlan is the son of Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court.

James E. Conner Dead.

Commissioner of Jurors Welde was informed to-day of the death of his first deputy, James E. Conner, which took place last night at his home, 155 East Forty-ninth street. Conner was appointed Deputy Commissioner of Jurors in 1883 and he held the office until his death, with the exception of Mayor Strong's three-year term.

ODELL GIVES PRIORI NO HOPE.

Condemned Man's Wife Ready to Oppose Plea Before Governor.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Vicenzo Garagusi, whose husband was murdered by Lorenzo Priori, sat side by side in the Executive Chamber to-day with Mrs. Priori, the wife of the man condemned to death for the crime. Both were in black and both wept when the tragic details of the shooting in 1898 were recalled.

Mrs. Priori appeared in the position of a woman helping to send her husband to the electric chair. She defended herself by pointing out that if she did not act as she did her own brother might be arrested for Garagusi's murder, as Priori had tried to throw the guilt on him.

Mrs. Garagusi was present with her little daughter to demand vengeance should Gov. Odell show any inclination to grant the plea of Priori's lawyer to commute his sentence to imprisonment for life.

Ex-Judge Morgan appeared for Priori and Assistant District-Attorney Delaney opposed the commutation plea. The condemned man's lawyer declared that he could produce a witness who would swear that after the shooting of Garagusi on the stoop of 539 Broome street, in New York City, he saw Priori standing on the stoop in a position that would make it impossible for him to have fired the shot.

Mr. Delaney told the Governor that the Court of Appeals had passed on that evidence and thrown it out.

Gov. Odell said that it was a grave matter to decide a man's life, but as the courts had heard the evidence he could not permit sentiment to run away with his judgment, and could not see his way clear to interfere. He, however, agreed to accept a brief from ex-Judge Morgan and reserved his decision.

To an Evening World reporter Mrs. Priori said:

"I would never swear that my husband committed a crime. That I could not. But the curse of my father and mother would be upon me if I let my brother of the same flesh and blood as myself be killed for a murder he never did. It is hard to seem to desert a husband, but we of Italy are bound by ties of blood and family stronger than by marriage.

"I pray night and day that Priori may not die, but to make him free and put my brother in his place—never. That is too much to ask even a wife."

ODELL'S TAX BILLS READY.

Legislative Measures Will Add $20,000,000 to State Revenues.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—The various tax bills to carry out the recommendations of Gov. Odell and do away with the direct tax will be introduced to-night.

It is expected that these bills will bring into the State Treasury from nine to ten millions of dollars, which, added to the liquor and inheritance tax, will be enough to pay the State tax.

In addition there will be a bill to amend the franchise tax law so as to make it more effective, and there may. It is estimated, be about $10,000,000 revenue from that.

PUSH WHALEN SAYS VAN WYCK.

Mayor Demands That New Bridge Be Hurried.

SHIFTED THE BLAME.

Commissioner Fairchild Says Delay Is Up to Corporation Counsel.

Julian D. Fairchild, one of the East River Bridge Commissioners, called on Mayor Van Wyck to-day to enter a protest against the latter's criticism of the Commissioners at the Board of Estimate meeting on Friday last.

"I consider your criticism of our Commission very unfair and uncalled for," said Mr. Fairchild when he found the Mayor alone at his desk. "If there has been any delay in pushing the work the fault lies with your Corporation Counsel, who has not secured the appointment of Commissioners to appraise the land."

"Why don't you get after the Corporation Counsel, then?" asked the Mayor. "Why don't you push him?

"We have allowed you nearly $9,000,000 to build this bridge. There is no reason in the world why you should be so long about it. You must make haste. That is all there is about it."

Two New Smallpox Cases.

Assistant Sanitary Superintendent Dillingham said this afternoon that two cases of smallpox were reported to the Health Board up to noon to-day. They were: John Smith, twenty-three years old, 218 1-2 West Fortieth street; George Bogel, one year old, 341 East Forty-sixth street.

DOMINIE'S WIFE WILL STUMP THE STATE.

Preaches Sermons for Her Husband and Will Aid in His Ambitions.

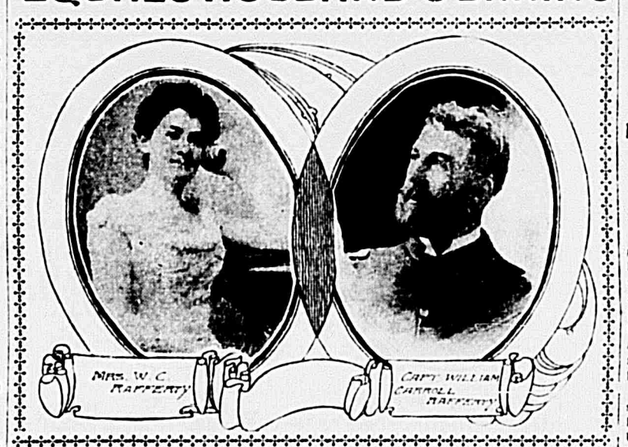
The congregation of the First Universalist Church, of Jersey City, had the scriptures expounded to them yesterday by Mrs. Nina Vail, while her husband, their former pastor, the Rev. Charles H. Vail, sat in a rear pew and nodded approvingly.

He has resigned to stump the State in his own behalf as the Gubernatorial candidate of the Social Democratic party, and yesterday was to have been his last sermon. But a severe hoarseness upset his plans at the last moment, so Mrs. Vail quietly took his place.

She preached a sermon of her own, too. Not the one her husband had prepared. She kept her congregation thoroughly interested, and spoke on the interdependence of husband, wife and child.

Mrs. Vail is not ordained, but she is a graduate of the theological school of St. Lawrence University. She expects to soon join her husband on the stump.

MRS. RAFFERTY'S PLUCK EQUALS HUSBAND'S BRAINS



She Saved the Children at Galveston While the Captain Saved the Guns.

Capt. William Carroll Rafferty, U. S. A., who has become distinguished as the inventor of the Rafferty range-finder, is at the Waldorf-Astoria with his family. Mrs. Rafferty, who is the daughter of the late Gen. Henry Judson Kilpatrick and inherited the courage and intrepidity of that famous civil-war veteran, was a heroine of the Galveston flood. For the last year Capt. Rafferty has been stationed at Galveston. On the night of the fateful flood, while the water was rising higher and higher, Mrs. Rafferty took her children and climbed to a parapet of Fort Crockett, where her husband joined her later.

For a time it looked as if the water would sweep them away. Then it began to fail, leaving the whole family wet through and clinging to the big guns. When daylight broke it showed that their home had been swept away, leaving them without shelter. Since then Mrs. Rafferty and her children have been living at San Antonio.

Though a great shock to her nervous system, the disaster did not injure her health permanently, and her friends in New York find her as bright and happy a companion as when she was a girl.

Capt. Rafferty came to New York on business connected with the Rafferty range-finder, which has been accepted by the Government and is being successfully used in the navy. It is a tiny affair, but has great possibilities. With it a shot can be accurately aimed at a target at a distance of eight or ten miles, by means of electrical connections the guns of a whole ship or land battery can be directed upon one object many miles away, almost out of sight of the gunner, and the shots will hit it, though the men who handle the guns may not know what they are firing at.

TRAINS CRASH IN COLLISION.

Fireman Killed and Others Injured on Passenger and Freight.

POOLVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Passenger train 98, of the Lackawanna road, leaving Utica last night at 9.50 o'clock, ran on an open switch just beyond the station here at midnight and crashed head on into a wild-cat freight. The fireman on the freight train was killed and Fred Mercer, of Binghamton, a fireman on the passenger train, was seriously hurt about the head.

The fireman killed on the freight is supposed to be named O'Brien, and his home is Utica, N. Y. H. Milligan, of Utica, the freight engineer, was cut on the head. Both he and O'Brien remained in their cab. Henry Wehrle, of Utica, the passenger engineer, was slightly hurt on the head.

Only one passenger, R. C. Lanzvorthy, of Norwich, N. Y., was hurt seriously. He was injured on the head. The passenger train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour at the time. Both engines were badly smashed and four cars of the freight train were thrown on the track, blocking the main line. The fireman killed was new on the line.

Schooner John Russell Total Loss.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Jan. 21.—The three-masted schooner John Russell, bound from a North Carolina port for New York, which went ashore on Cold Spring bar in a heavy gale early Saturday morning, will be a total loss. The cargo of lumber was jettisoned. The life-saving crew took off the crew of the wrecked schooner this morning.

New Haven Suspects Released.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 21.—Cotille, Silvani and Marino, who were arrested here Saturday on suspicion of connection with the murder of Meyer Weisgerd, have been released from custody. New York detectives have decided that they know nothing of the murder.

Woman Knocked Down by a Cab.

Rachel Phillips, seventy years old, of 28 West Sixty-seventh street, was knocked down by a cab at Central Park West and Sixty-seventh street this morning, and received a severe fracture to the ribs. She was removed to Roosevelt Hospital.

Trying to Save Vigilancia.

HAVANA, Jan. 21.—The Merritt & Chapman tug Rescue has arrived here and will attempt to save the Ward line steamer Vigilancia, which went ashore during a fog Jan. 11 off Los Colorados Banks, about eighty miles west of here.

WITNESS TURNS ON HERLIHY.

Orrin Booth, Called in Captain's Interest, Proves a Tartar.

Police Captain Herlihy's defense to the charges of neglect of duty, using insulting language to clergymen and failing to keep a record of complaints was begun before President York at noon to-day. Commissioners Sexton and Hess were not present. The first witness called for Herlihy was Orrin Booth, Superintendent of the Rescue Army. But he testified against the Captain, and Lawyer Grant tried unsuccessfully to impeach his credibility.

Lawyer Grant pleaded for a fair trial, asking "that in this alleged wave of reform Capt. Herlihy be not dismissed for no cause, and that the reported remark 'he is slated to go' be shown untrue." His motion for a dismissal of the principal charges was denied.

Patrolman Lawrence Naughton, of the Eldridge street station, denied that Herlihy had insulted Rev. Mr. Paddock by telling him that he was disgracing his cloth and lied if he said vice was flagrant.

BLIND MAN FELL TO DEATH.

Aged James Callahan's Tumble Downstairs Fatal.

James Callahan, seventy-one years old, who lived at the Home for the Aged, at 213 East Seventieth street, fell down a flight of stairs this afternoon, receiving a fracture of the skull, and died shortly afterward.

He was totally blind and was probably picking his way across the hall in search of his room when the accident occurred. He has been an inmate of the Home since 1896.

NEELY BREAKS DOWN IN JAIL.

Embezzler Fears the Severity of Cuban Law.

Charles F. W. Neely, the embezzler of Cuban postal funds, is overcome with horror at the prospect of being returned to Cuba for trial. In his lonely cell he has had time to conjure up the horrors attendant upon a term of imprisonment in the Morro Castle, and he cannot hope for less under the old Spanish laws.

He has pleaded with the Government to allow him to make restitution of the stolen plunder. The Government refuses to treat with him and the order for his transportation to Cuba is expected almost any day.

The certainty that he must return has overwhelmed the young man, and to-day he is a pitiful wreck, more fit for a hospital than a trip to Cuba. He eats little, refuses to see his friends and is in a state of nervous collapse. Those who have Neely in charge say that the change in the man is shocking.

DOG BIT THREE CHILDREN.

Jersey Tots Taken to the Pasteur Institute.

Three little children from Egg Harbor City, N. J., arrived here this afternoon and were taken to the Pasteur Institute.

The children were bitten by a mad dog last week and were sent here to ward off hydrophobia by anti-toxin treatment. The little ones are John Morganwack, Emil Weller and Lottie Hill.

JERSEY LEGISLATURE WILL PROTECT THE MILL GIRLS.

Evening World's Measure to Stop the Use of Knock-out Drops Certain to Be Passed.

Assemblyman Marks, of Jersey City, who introduced the bill in the Legislature at Trenton to make the possession of knockout drops or any narcotic or anæsthetic drug with intent to use for an illegal purpose, a felony, has received thousands of letters commending him and praising The Evening World for the support it has given the measure.

Jurists and physicians all over the State have assured The Evening World that they will lend the bill their hearty support.

Already enough members of the Senate and Assembly have expressed their intention of voting for the measure to make its passage a certainty.

At Trenton it is predicted the bill will be passed with the biggest majority ever given to any measure introduced in the New Jersey Assembly.

"Pass the Bill at Once."

From all parts of the State arises a demand that the bill be made a law immediately. Cases similar to the Boschcheter horror have occurred frequently in Paterson and other cities, although they gained less notoriety than the famous trial just finished.

In Camden at the present time a murder like that of the victim of McAlister and his fellow-criminals is being investigated by the police. Chief Foster, of the Camden police, telegraphed to The Evening World to-day strongly urging that the bill advocated by The Evening World be enacted at once.

Many prominent Judges have expressed the belief that no man of decent principles can find the least excuse for raising his voice in opposition to the measure when it comes before the Legislature. Mothers in every mill town of the State have written both to The Evening World and to the Assemblymen representing their districts, pleading that this and other measures to protect the thousands of girls employed in factory towns be placed on the statute books immediately.

It is pointed out that McAlister was one of the proprietors of a silk mill and that many innocent young women are helpless against the evil designs of their employers—if the employers happen to be unprincipled men.

Bill Has Right of Way.

The leaders of both Republican and Democratic parties are a unit for giving The Evening World's bill the precedence over all party and routine legislation.

A few of the many telegrams from prominent officials and business men of the State in favor of the measure follow:

PATERSON.

Public Prosecutor Eugene Emley—Such a law would be effective, and I favor the passage of the bill. The Evening World is doing good service in urging the enactment.

John F. Buckley, Warden of Passaic County Jail—Such a bill as that indorsed by The Evening World and introduced by Assemblyman Maurice Marks should receive the hearty, the enthusiastic support of every member of the Legislature. It should be passed unanimously in both branches, and the people of New Jersey should pray that The Evening World be successful in its endeavors to have the bill become a law. There has been too much of this chloral business in this State. The only way to prevent its use is to make the punishment swift and sure for those who use it and contemplate using it.

LONG BRANCH.

LONG BRANCH, Jan. 21.—Henry T. Terhune, lawyer and ex-Senator—Giving knockout drops or any drug which has for its object the reducing of an individual to a state of helplessness, whether for the purpose of committing crime or not, should be numbered among the felonies punishable by long terms of imprisonment.

MATAWAN.

MATAWAN, Jan. 21.—Benjamin F. S. Brown, Postmaster of Matawan—The bill is a good one, and I believe ninety-nine out of a hundred believe it just.

William H. Fountain, prominent business man—In my opinion the bill is a righteous one.

ASBURY PARK.

ASBURY PARK, Jan. 21.—J. F. Hawkins, Lawyer—With the Paterson horror in mind the public surely will regard the bill as especially important.

A. C. Twining President Monmouth Trust Company—The Evening World's undertaking is philanthropic.

PASSAIC.

PASSAIC, N. J., Jan. 21.—W. J. Pape, Editor Passaic News—The World's bill to make use of knockout drops a felony is all right and should become a law at once.

William Hendry, Chief of Police—Such a law should be on the statute books. The Evening World as usual takes the lead.

D. W. Mahoney, Postmaster—A law of this kind is needed. It should be supported by every one.

HACKENSACK.

HACKENSACK, Jan. 21.—A. H. G. Maidment, Criminal Lawyer—It is criminally assault and battery to give a person knockout drops, and, as The World suggests, it should be made a felony. I hope the bill will go through with a rush.

Ex-Prosecutor P. W. Stagg—We have a law that makes the poisoning of liquor for the purpose of producing stupefaction a misdemeanor. It should be made a felony, and The Evening World's bill should be passed.

Justice T. H. Cunning—The giving of knockout drops should be stopped, and I think The Evening World's bill will stop it.

JERSEY CITY.

City Collector Robert Davis, Democratic leader of Hudson County—Assemblyman Marks's bill to prevent the giving of knockout drops for criminal purposes seems to cover the requirements exactly. I believe the public sentiment is in favor of drastic action and that the bill will be heartily supported, regardless of politics. The Legislature has the opportunity now of doing considerable to discourage crimes of the Boschcheter kind.

Mayor Edward Hoos, of Jersey City—The libertine with knockout drops is a dangerous individual, and The Evening World's efforts to suppress the vile practice are worthy of commendation.

Mayor Aaron C. Ackerman, of Belford Borough—The time is ripe for just such legislation as that advocated by The Evening World and embodied in Assemblyman Marks's bill. It is a measure that will have the endorsement of decent citizens everywhere. The Boschcheter case has merely served to focus public attention on an evil that has become prevalent to an alarming extent, and that requires determined action to root it out.

Assemblyman George G. Tennant, of Jersey City—I shall do all in my power to advance the bill making the illegal carrying of knockout drops a felony. It is a law that is needed to make the way of the transgressor harder in New Jersey.

Assemblyman John Dennin—The Marks bill advocated by The Evening World fills a long felt want. It is in the interest of purity and decency. It should be passed without delay.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Jan. 19.—E. W. Daire, editor New Brunswick Times—The bill is a good one. The willingness to administer knockout drops is evidence of willingness to commit any other crime.

George S. Silzer, lawyer—I think the bill is a good one. It cures off at the very inception a long train of possible crimes.

C. H. Daly, lawyer—Such a bill should be passed; even selling knockout drops, except under most stringent restrictions, should be made a punishable offense.

THE ORANGES.

Assemblyman William A. Lord, of Orange—Any measure which will prevent a repetition of the crime which has so thoroughly agitated the State meets with my approval. I am glad The Evening World has taken up the question.

Edgar Williams, Assemblyman for East Orange—I believe the enactment of such a law would be the adoption of a measure much to be desired.

City Counsel Thomas A. Davis, of Orange—There is no question as to the wisdom of adopting legislation such as The Evening World proposes.

Charles L. Stacey, of East Orange—The murder case in Paterson shows the necessity of some legislation on the lines suggested by The Evening World. There ought to be such a law passed.

MONTCLAIR.

A. S. Badgley, former Corporation Counsel of Montclair—I am heartily in favor of such a bill. We should safe-guard our children. The giving of knockout drops should be a felony in every State.

Dr. J. A. Allis, surgeon of the Erie Railroad—In the light of the Paterson cases it should certainly be made a felony to give knockout drops. But I would not stop at the man who gives them. I would make the druggist who sells them and the saloon-keeper who allows them to be used on the premises equally guilty of felony.

Senator Chas. A. Reed, of Somerset County, majority leader in the State Senate—I have not studied The Evening World's bill yet, but I can say that if the present law is not accurate and severe enough to cover the offense of administering knockout drops I am heartily in favor of making it so. The crime demands the severest punishment that is possible to provide.

Postmaster E. H. Bird—No law can be too severe to punish the giving of knockout drops.

Councilman S. S. Swackhamer—The giving of knockout drops is a heinous offense, and demands punishment commensurate with the gravity of the crime. I favor The Evening World's bill.

ATLANTIC CITY.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 19.—Mayor Franklin P. Stoy—I heartily approve of the bill. As I consider the giving of knockout drops an extremely serious offense, the penalty provided for such crime could not be too severe, and I hope The Evening World will be successful in having it passed.

Judge Allen B. Endicott—It is a good measure and should be adopted by every State in the Union.

Recorder Robert E. Stephany—It is a law I heartily approve of, and no punishment can be too severe for the fiend who administers knockout drops to another, and especially to a woman for immoral purposes. I sincerely hope The Evening World will succeed in its laudable effort.

Judge Robert H. Ingersoll—It's a good thing, push it along. The Evening World is at the head of the procession as usual.

Rev. Dr. F. J. Mundy—The knockout fiend, man or woman, should be severely punished. The enactment of such a law as proposed by The World meets with my hearty approval.

CAMDEN.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 19.—John Foster, Chief of Police—While the law covers pretty fully the punishment for any crime that might result from administering knockout drops it seems to me that since the criminal habit has become so prevalent a bill making it a felony would remedy the evil.

Richard R. Miller, City Treasurer—Detectives are now investing an alleged case of knockout drops administered to a young girl here. What could be more dastardly? The giving of knockout drops should certainly be made a felony.

Sheriff Wesley Sell—The World's idea is a good one, I think. The giving of knockout drops is one of the worst crimes that exist.

SUMMIT.

SUMMIT, N. J., Jan. 19.—City Attorney J. R. Walsh—I think the giving of knockout drops a most heinous crime and one against which there should be some strict legislation.

ROUND BROOK, N. J., Jan. 19.—Recorder Robert T. Brampton—I am thoroughly in accord with The World's efforts.

H. A. C. Hines—The penalty for giving knockout drops should be death.

Mother Goose Up to Date.

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had so many children she didn't know what to do."
She bought a World paper. She advertised,
And this the result she soon realized:
Situations poured in,
nor were they delayed,
For cook, waiter and coachman, for salesman and maid.
Then the children well settled with something to do,
Our old woman finds there's more room in the shoe.
