New York Stock Market

New York, June 13.—A determined effort was made to-day to demonstrate the strength of the bear position in the stock market, and speculative issues, especially United States Steel were subjected to heavy pressure. Prices declined rapidly during the early part of the day, and the movement was accelerated by the circulation of various disquieting reports, some of which were believed to have their only foundation in a desire to influence the market.

A further depressing influence was the liquidation of a considerable amount of stock by holders who had become tired by the market's long period of inactivity. Prominent interests were reported to have disposed of lines of important railroad stocks, and there was also some evidence of selling of speculative holdings of United States Steel. A number of leading issues lost a point or more, but the downward movement was checked almost before the day's trading was fairly under way, and a recovery set in. Stocks showed the same reluctance to move that they have exhibited constantly of late, each movement, whether toward higher or lower prices, being followed quickly by a change in the opposite direction. The tone became firmer, and stocks gradually made up the losses. The speculative leaders overtopped yesterday's closing prices on the rebound, finishing the day with good fractional gains.

The copper stocks were the most prominent and about duplicated yesterday's rise of a point or more. The buying movement in these stocks was based ostensibly on the improvement in the copper metal market. Information on this subject, while it indicates a better condition of the trade than for some time past, is of too general a character to account entirely for the greatly increased activity in these issues during the last two days. It was regarded as probable that the movement was largely speculative and was influenced less by the statistical position of the copper market than by the belief that the shares have been depressed for so long a time that they should, in the nature of things, soon show improvement.

One of the few noteworthy events of the day was the suspension of dividends on Denver and Rio Grande, preferred, which has been on a 5 per cent. basis since 1901. The action of the directors caused no surprise, as the course of the stock during the past few days had foreshadowed such an event. It was accepted as an indication that the Gould interests, with their new financial backing, have embarked upon a policy of extreme conservatism. The preferred stock, which sold at 70 last week, broke sharply to under 60, and closed only slightly above that figure, with a loss for the day of about three points.

Reports of damage to the growing crops were used as bear arguments, and found some basis in the government's weekly weather report, which stated that intense heat, much sunshine and lack of rain had been the prevalent conditions over large sections.

The report of agricultural exports for May showed a substantial increase over April. The statement as a whole indicated still further growth in the country's foreign trade, with a large export excess for the total movement.

Bonds were easier. Total sales, par value, $3,610,000. United States twos declined one-quarter on call. Total sales for the day, 511,500 shares.

New York, June 13.—Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent.; ruling rate, 2⅜; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2½. Time loans easier; sixty days, 2½@2¾ per cent., ninety days, 2¾@2⅞; six months, 3¼@3½. Prime mercantile paper, 4 to 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84 for sixty-day bills and at $4.8590 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83½. Bar silver, 53½. Mexican dollars, 45.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, June 13.—While there appeared to be nothing in to-day's weather reports to relieve apprehensions over droughty conditions in the Western belt the cotton market was nervous and unsettled under realizing and selling for a reaction, with the close barely steady at a net decline of 4@7 points.

Receipts to-day 773 bales against 4,251 last week and 4,525 last year. For the week 15,000 bales against 20,685 last week and 21,541 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 357 bales against 1,395 last year, and at Houston 121 bales against 663 last year.

Cotton futures opened steady and closed barely steady:

Consolidated at all ports—Net receipts, 4,360 bales; export to Great Britain, 2,088 bales; to France, 6,458 bales; to the Continent, 9,345 bales; to Japan, 600 bales.

Total since September 1 at all ports—Net receipts, 8413,522 bales; export to Great Britain, 3,225,855 bales; to France, 895,177 bales; to the Continent, 2,939,142 bales; to Japan, 145,083 bales; to Mexico, 2,025 bales.

New Orleans, La., June 13.—Reports of cooler weather in several sections of the cotton belt served to restrict operations in the cotton market to-day, the bulls showing an inclination to act cautiously, and as a result the final prices showed a net loss of 1@7 points. Cotton futures opened steady with an advance of 1 point on July and a decline of 5@7 points on the other active months. Liverpool cables were somewhat disappointing, and this offset the weather map, which showed continued dry weather over the cotton country. Lower temperatures in several sections caused bulls to withdraw support of the market, and trading was small in volume. Under the dullness prices displayed no recuperative power. Around the middle of the morning the weather forecast, indicating continued fair weather for the belt, caused renewed buying, and prices advanced until they were unchanged to 2 points up compared with yesterday's close. Scalpers went long in expectation of extremely bullish weekly weather reports, but while the reports were bullish they did not come up to expectation of the long side, and some liquidation resulted, sending the list down to 1@5 points under yesterday's close. In the afternoon the market was dull, and the last prices were 4@7 points down compared with yesterday's close. Spot cotton quiet and unchanged; middling, 15 7-16c.; sales on the spot 245 bales. Futures opened and closed steady: June, 15.59; July, 15.64; August, 14.75; September, 13.83; October, 13.55; December, 13.57; January, 13.62; March, 13.73.

Cottonseed oil was moderately active with near months easier under scattered liquidation in July, poor demand from consuming interests and in sympathy with lard, while late deliveries were relatively steady on light offerings and reports of reported European demand. Futures closed unchanged to 5 points lower: June, 6.53@6.56; July, 6.53@6.54; August, 6.58@6.59; September, 6.57@6.58; October, 6.20@6.22; prime crude, nominal; do. summer yellow, 6.50@6.59; do. winter yellow, 6.90@7.50; prime summer white, 6.60@7.29.

We Know a Man

Who has accumulated a modest estate, which consists of good bonds and the balance in money. His mind is made up how it shall descend. But we predict that the ones he wishes to receive it will never get it. He is simply putting off having a will drawn, and the chances are nine to one that he will die without attending to the matter.

There are hundreds of other good men just like him.

Virginia State Insurance Company
1865 RICHMOND 1911

$707,698,387 was paid for fire protection by fourteen Southern States in three decades.

$68,181,112 of this sum was paid to Southern companies.

"The staggering difference between the two sums represents the toll the South paid to Eastern and European companies. Assuming that it had been possible to keep this sum at home, it is difficult to estimate the universal stimulus to development growing out of the investment in the South of these almost unbelievable amounts.

"The point is, that it would have been our own money thus invested. Which means that patronizing home fire insurance works two ways—it assures safe protection, and it keeps in the South the vital fluid of finance so indispensable to general commercial and industrial expansion."
