YORK WILL BE DEPUTY.

a sharp talk. He told them plainly that when Chief Byrnes was in charge of the Department it was a model for the world, but as much could not be said for it to-day.

The Commissioner opened by reminding the men that they had been all ordinary detectives until he had secured the passage of legislation during his term of service in the Assembly which resulted to their elevation to the rank of detective sergeants.

"I did this," he said, "that you might have the necessary authority in the performance of your duty, as there were instances when roundsmen had tried to interfere with you. Later, when the police sergeants succeeded in getting an increase of salary, I had it also apply to you.

"There was a time when the bureau was regarded, the world over, as the type of what a successful detective bureau should be. I am informed that the same thing cannot be said now. I have been told that some of you men do not do your duty as you should. I am sorry for this.

"You know the detectives are not made by the wearing of a shield. They are moulded by vast experience, intelligence, industry, perseverance and devotion to the city of their residence, together with honesty and obedience to their superiors.

"I have been informed that men have been brought here and given the rank of detective sergeants who had no previous experience in detective work. Now I want to say to you that no man will be made a detective sergeant during my incumbency unless he earns the promotion and is recommended by the Chief of this Bureau."

The Commissioner referred to complaints that had reached him about detectives since he had accepted his office. He hoped there would be no more of them, and, concluding, the Commissioner said significantly that he would exact of the men that they showed a disposition to obey orders.

NEW COMBINE OF GAMBLERS.

A new "combine" to control gambling in New York and distribute the protection money to police officials and politicians has been formed.

The members of the new "trust," at a conference with the backers of the biggest games in town, outlined the plan of assessment, put forth a new scheme of protection and declared against five-cent faro and "dinner-pail" gambling, a term used for games where the poor workingman wagers a nickel or a dime in the hope of running it up into many dollars.

One of the men at the conference, a backer of three gambling houses in the Tenderloin, who also has a place at Saratoga, in speaking of the new regime said to-day:

"A schedule of assessment is to be arranged by the new combine according to the business done by each house.

"For faro the minimum price will be $25 a month.

"Each roulette wheel will cost the proprietor $100 a month.

"Klondike and craps will cost $50 a month each.

"The new combine insists that checks in faro games shall cost not less than $5 a stack or 25 cents each.

"The wheel chips must not be sold for less than 10 cents each, or $2 a stack. No bet shall be made in the Klondike or crap games of less than 25 cents.

"Every place in town is to be kept closed until the new regime has been established.

"There will be fewer gambling places in town, but the public will have a better chance of winning now, because the assessments will be fair and it will not be necessary for us to have brace games.

"The new 'trust' also insists that crooked roulette wheels with air bulbs to direct the ball in case of a big play, crooked faro boxes and the sanding of cards and snuffling for splits must also be abolished.

"Every game under the protection of the new regime will be run on the square."

At the head of the new combine, it is said, is the same high official who has always controlled the gambling of the city, but new men are associated with him, and their one idea, as told by men who are most interested, is to be more liberal in their treatment of the gamblers.

CANADA OBJECTS TO OATH.

King Edward to Be Asked to Eliminate Offensive Portion.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 2.—The House of Commons, after a long night session, at 2 A. M. to-day, by a vote of 125 to 19 passed Mr. Costigan's motion that an address be presented to King Edward VII. asking that that portion of the Coronation so offensive to Catholics be eliminated.

Leaders on both sides of the House spoke in favor of the motion, but there was a difference of opinion on its phraseology. The debate lasted from early yesterday until 2 o'clock this morning.

SMALL-POX SPREADS.

Increase in This Disease Two-Fold in One Week.

The weekly report of the Department of Health to-day shows a still larger number of contagious disease cases than in any week for many months. There are 1,213 cases recorded, of which 437 are scarlet fever. The increase in the total of diseases over the week previous, Feb. 16, is 29.

Small-pox is shown to have increased nearly two-fold, there being 43 cases as compared with 23 in the previous week.

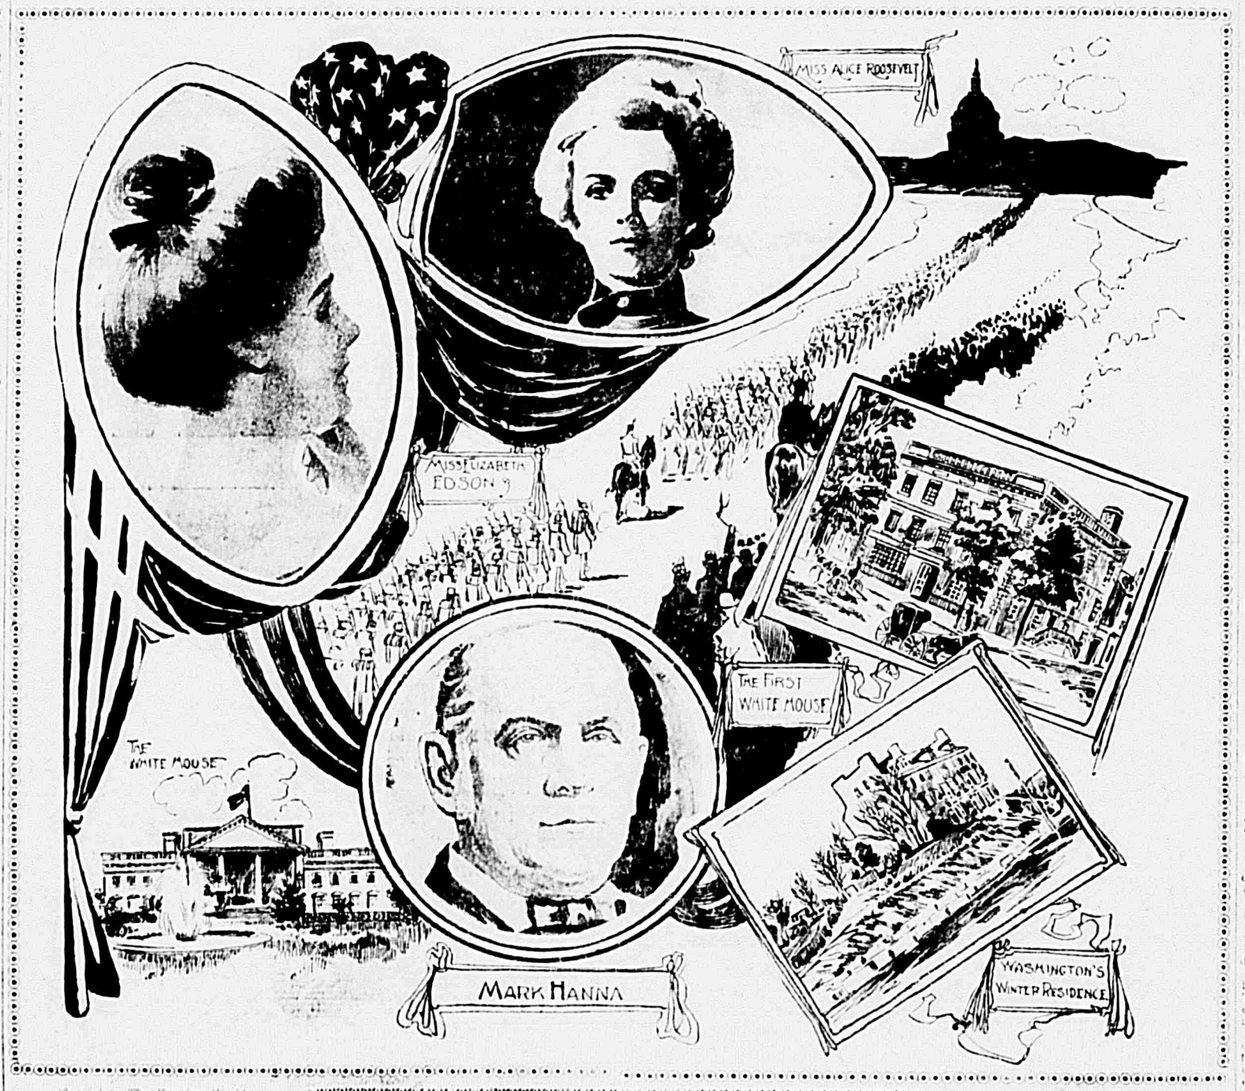
STEEL TRUST READY.

Final Moves for Merging Various Companies in Big Concern.

Another conference of the principals in the steel and iron interests of the big combination was held at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. It was understood that all arrangements are being made for the taking over of the constituents by the United States Steel Corporation on April 1. Circular letters are being prepared by the companies and will be mailed to stockholders shortly.

THOUSANDS GO TO CAPITAL TO SEE THE INAUGURATION.

Republican Clubs Leave on Specials---Roosevelt and Family Start to Prepare for the Ceremony---Forty of the Vice-President's Cousins Will See Him Sworn In.



(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The rush for the inauguration has begun in earnest. Every incoming train brought hundreds of visitors and railroad stations are crowded.

Among the first arrivals were Miss Helen Gould, Lieut.-Gov. Woodruff and Gov. McLean, of Connecticut. Vice-President Roosevelt, Gov. Odell and his staff arrived later in the day. The decorations and street stands have been completed.

This morning opened with a slight rain, but it stopped before any damage had been done the decorations.

Flags for Decorations.

Bets of 1 to 1 are being freely made among Washingtonians that rain or snow will fall on next Monday.

Because of the inauguration crowds there has been an influx of crooks. Detectives John Riley, W. P. Armstrong and P. C. Reidy, of New York, will assist the local police.

Every detail of the great parade has now been satisfactorily arranged. The military will form its most attractive portion. The present programme provides that the avenue will be wired off at 10.30 on Monday morning to permit a clear path for the President from the White House to the Capitol. He will be escorted by all the regular troops. Every train has been bringing in cavalry, artillery and infantry.

The cadets from West Point and Annapolis will not reach town until to-morrow evening. They too, will form a portion of the President's escort. The West Pointers in their gray uniforms will be a relief from the solid battalions of blue, for there seems to be a general understanding that not only all the regulars, but even all the national guardsmen shall wear their blue service uniforms.

To-day orders were issued assigning the war veterans the right of line in the inaugural parade.

President McKinley and Grand Marshal Francis V. Greene were compelled to yield to the veterans. It was originally intended that they should occupy fourth place in the line of march. They demanded the right to escort the President, and when this was refused Gen. D. E. Sickles resigned and stated that none of the G. A. R. posts would participate.

Court of Honor.

The Court of Honor in front of the White House will be illuminated again to-night. On the top of each column is a sphere about a foot in diameter. There are more than twenty-five electric bulbs on each sphere which, with others around the capitals of the columns, afforded a novel and pleasing effect. All of the illuminating has been fully tested and the articles to be used in causing smoke to issue from the summits of the eight colossal pylons have arrived.

The intention is to have the smoke generated by chemical action within large braziers on top of the pylons. As the smoke wreaths its way toward the sky multi-colored lights will shoot upward from a position within the structure, causing the curling vapors to assume all sorts of beautiful hues.

The grounding of the Dixie thirty miles below Washington may interfere with the naval parade on Monday. Efforts are being made to get her off in time to prevent a hitch in the arrangements.

Considerable interest is centred in the arrival of the Porto Rican contingent that is to march in the inaugural parade.

Roosevelt Arrives.

The city is full of strangers and railroad officials estimate that more than 50,000 visitors have already arrived. The indications are that the crowds will exceed those of Cleveland's second inauguration. The Capitol building was crowded all day, that it was almost impossible to move about in the corridors. While the Capitol will be open to visitors all day to-morrow, everybody except those having cards of admission will be excluded after midnight Sunday night. It is probable that both Senate and House will remain in continuous session all night to-night and until the inauguration ceremonies begin on Monday.

Congressman Payne, the Republican leader, is endeavoring to get through with a session until midnight, and take a recess until to-morrow. Because of pending conference reports the Senate will probably be in continuous session until Monday.

Vice-President-elect Roosevelt arrived this afternoon. He was repeatedly cheered when he left the railroad station. He went directly to the home of his sister, Mrs. Cowles, at 1733 N street. Gov. Nash, of Ohio, who has been ill with heart failure, reached here at 6 o'clock, accompanied by his staff and State officers. The crowds cheered him repeatedly. In fact, everything pertaining to Ohio meets with approval of the visitors.

The hotels are charging most exorbitant rates for accommodations. Rooms for which $2 a day were recently charged are now held at $3 and $5. The hotel men compel guests to take the room for five days before they will let it.

THOUSANDS OFF TO WASHINGTON.

All trains on the Pennsylvania, B. & O. and other roads running south were crowded to-day with holiday parties bound for Washington to see President McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt sworn in Monday. Special trains were run for the various Republican Clubs in this city.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon it was estimated that 20,000 persons had started for Washington from Jersey City. Most of these were from this city.

Special through trains have been chartered by upstate Republican clubs and organizations in New England.

ROOSEVELT OFF TO WASHINGTON.

Vice-President-elect Theodore Roosevelt left for Washington to-day accompanied by his wife and his children, Alice Lee Roosevelt, Kermit, Ethel, Archie and Quentin, the last-named being the baby of the family, aged two and a half years.

With the family went William Loeb, jr., who is Col. Roosevelt's private secretary, two nurses and Henry Pinkney, the Colonel's private messenger. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson and their four children, and James K. Gracie.

The party occupied the private car of General Passenger Agent Roberts, of the Erie Road. It was attached to the first section of the train which leaves the Pennsylvania Railroad depot at Jersey City at 12.14 o'clock. Mr. Roberts met the Vice-President and his party and personally escorted them to the car.

Col. Roosevelt was the picture of health and appeared to be in perfect condition. Just before the train departed Teddy, jr., who is attending the Groton School, in Boston, arrived and joined the party. Young Teddy was given a bear-like hug from his robust parent.

Attached to the second section of the 12.14 train was the private car of Cornelius Vanderbilt, occupied by Mrs. Fred W. Vanderbilt and a party on the way to the inauguration. The party included George W. Smalley, his wife, son and daughter, James J. Van Alen, Miss Josephine Johnson, Lady Cunard, Miss Elyt, Miss Sands, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Howard, Thomas E. Cushing, Worthington Whitehouse, Craig Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. D. Ferguson, Miss Gerry and Frank Andrews. This party will return Tuesday.

Col. Roosevelt caught sight of Craig Wadsworth on this train and effusively welcomed him. Then Col. Roosevelt was presented to Mrs. Vanderbilt and others of the party.

Brother Abner McKinley, who was on the first section, paid his respects to the Vice-President.

Col. Roosevelt refused to say anything more than his hog skins were still turned inside out on the cabin out in Colorado drying, and did not form any part of the exhibits at the sportsmen's show at the Madison Square Garden.

He was plainly dressed, as were also the other members of his family.

PORTO RICANS GO TO CAPITAL.

(Special to The Evening World.)

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 2.—The transport Rawlins came up to-day from Old Point with the battalion of Porto Rican native infantry of the United States army. The troops, after dinner, left on a special train for Washington, to participate in the inaugural parade. They are directly in charge of Lieut.-Col. J. L. Clem, the "Drummer Boy of Chickamauga."

The regimental band that accompanied the battalion promises to create a sensation in the parade.

ROUGH RIDERS ON THE WAY.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The Roosevelt Rough Rider Clubs of Minneapolis and St. Paul arrived here at 10.10 A. M. to-day and departed at noon over the Baltimore and Ohio for Washington, where, according to present plans, they will act as Col. Roosevelt's personal escort during the inaugural demonstrations.

BLUE SUNDAY IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Some apprehension has been aroused in the minds of the more liberally inclined visitors and residents at the threat of the anti-saloon leagues to see that the midnight and Sunday closing law is rigorously enforced. The league has appointed a vigilance committee of 100 to keep watch on the saloons and report any violations of the law.

At previous inaugurations considerable latitude has been allowed by the police in this direction.

HORSES SAVED AT FIRE.

Twenty-five Rescued from Burning Building in Harlem.

Twenty-five horses were rescued from a burning stable at One Hundred and Twentieth street and Park avenue this morning by the firemen, who responded to an alarm turned in by a citizen. The stable is owned by the Miner estate, and is patronized by peddlers and junk dealers. Three horses were so badly burned that they may have to be shot. The damage to the building was slight.

B. R. T. EMPLOYEES TALK OF STRIKE.

Men Do Not Like the "No Uniform; No Free Ride" Edict.

"No uniform, no free ride," is a new order on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit that is causing complaint among the employees and giving rise to rumors of a threatened strike.

Supt. Brackenridge said to-day:

"The order about uniforms has given rise to some misconception. This company has an army of uniformed employees, made up of trainmen and ticket choppers. The ununiformed force consists of the oilers, cleaners and couplers. They have been ordered to wear khaki uniforms that will identify them as the company's employees and entitle them to ride free on its cars to and from their homes.

"There has been no protest from these men. The objection to the order has come from 100 men working on the bridge division. These are holdovers from the old bridge L system. They wear uniforms while on duty, but they had a little house on the bridge platform where they changed to their street garments when off duty.

"They were supplied with monthly passes which were rescinded when the company recently abolished all passes. Now we are giving them a chance to ride free by wearing their uniforms, but some of them are too high-toned for that. Several of them made a protest yesterday, and asked that their monthly passes be restored to them. Of course, we did not comply.

"President Rossiter pays his fare when he rides. Why shouldn't they? We do not anticipate they will strike. If they do, their places will be filled without the loss of headway of a single bridge train. They have not been asked to wear khaki. There has been no protest from the mechanical department to which the new khaki order applies."

Members of the bridge force admitted that they had protested against having to wear their uniforms to and from their homes, but they would not admit that they intended risking a strike to enforce their point.

"COWARDS!" CRY GREAT CROWD.

Men Shove Women Aside at a Bleecker Street Fire.

A dozen women and as many men were forced to flee for their lives from the burning building at No. 58 Bleecker street, at 11 o'clock this morning.

So quickly did the flame and smoke fill the hallways that five girls and four men had to be helped down the fire-escape.

They first descended to an awning. There a scaling ladder was dropped to the street and men and women fought each other in their frantic efforts to escape from the place. Cries of the rescued were directed against the men as they dashed the helpless women aside. Frank Gittleman, who climbed to the awning top, fought the men, forcing them aside until the women had descended.

There were twenty-five persons in the building when the fire was discovered. Those who did not rush to the fire-escapes fled to smoke-filled hallways and made their escape.

The ground floor of the building was occupied by Michaelson's saloon; the first floor by J. Wallner, manufacturer of caps; the second floor by J. Bittman, dealer in furs, while the other floors were vacant.

A subway employee working in Bleecker street saw a column of flame shoot through the window of the first floor and turned in an alarm. The cry of "Fire!" was raised throughout the building, and a wild rush for safety followed. The employees of Wallner, on the first floor, found their egress cut off by the smoke in the hallway, and now rushed to the windows, where they pounded on the panes and cried for help. Annie Kirk used such force on the glass that she pushed her fist through and cut it severely. She, with her sister Gertrude and Mrs. Wallner, was helped out on the awning, and four men scrambled after them. Two women made their way out of a window on the second floor and crept cautiously and perilously down the fire-escape.

When all were assembled on the top of the awning the scaling ladder was put in place and the flight to get to the street followed.

The damage was $5,000.

Mr. Bittman had great difficulty in getting his wife down the fire-escape. She had a sister who lost her life in an east side fire last summer, and mindful of this was greatly stricken. She is a large woman, and Mr. Bittman, who is a small man, had great difficulty in keeping her from jumping to the street.

THE DIXIE IS ASHORE.

U. S. Training-Ship Runs Hard Aground Off Maryland.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The training-ship Dixie, on its way to Washington to participate in the inaugural naval display, ran aground off Maryland Point late yesterday afternoon.

At last reports she was still hard and fast.

Forty of the apprentice boys were left at the Naval Hospital in Norfolk, Va., ill with fever. Some are dangerously ill, and at least three privates, Murray and Stephens, of New York, and Wrenn, of Cleveland, are not expected to live. The apprentices had just returned from a cruise to Algiers.

LAW JUST SAVED "BILLY" M'GLORY

He Was in Imminent Danger of Being Dispossessed.

"Billy" McGlory, of Armory Hall dive notoriety, will not be dispossessed today from his apartment, No. 185 East Ninety-third street. But he was in imminent danger of it.

John Anton Schmidt, his landlord, secured judgment recently in the Ninth District Court permitting him to summarily eject McGlory.

McGlory took an appeal, and to-day Justice Truax, in Supreme Court, granted him a stay and enjoining the judge who rendered judgment in the lower court and all city marshals from evicting him pending the appeal.

PYRAMID PILE CURE.

Physicians Recommend It; Druggists sell It; Everybody Praises It.

If we could sell one package of Pyramid Pile Cure to every person in America who is troubled with piles and who would gladly give the 50 cents to be rid of piles we would have about ten million dollars. The only reason that we don't sell that many packages this year is that we will not be able to get ten million people to try it. Just one application will prove its merit and amply repay the cost of a whole box.

The effect is immediate. Comfort comes at once, and continued treatment will cure any case, no matter how bad.

Pyramid Pile Cure soothes the inflamed surface the instant it touches it, heals it, reduces the swelling and puts the parts into a healthy, active condition. There is no substitute for it. Nothing compares with it.

We have never heard of a single case that it failed to cure; we have heard of thousands that it has cured quickly and completely.

Here are a couple of letters recently received:

From Geo. C. Geick, Owens Mill, Mo.:

"Some time ago I bought a package of Pyramid Pile Cure for my wife, who had suffered very much. The first trial did her more good than anything she had ever tried. It is just what is claimed for it."

From Richard Loan, Whipple, Ohio:

"I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and am entirely pleased and satisfied with results. It does the work and no mistake."

The proprietors of the Pyramid Pile Cure could publish columns of similar letters, but these are enough to show what it will do in different cases.

All druggists sell Pyramid Pile Cure or will get it for you. It is 50 cents per package and made only by the Pyramid Drug Co., of Marshall, Mich.
