Felt He Came Second.

One day I took my little boy over to his grandmother's, and while we were there he got into mischief, so his grandmother slapped his hands and he came to me crying, and said his grandmother had slapped him. I being busy at the time, just told him to go away and not bother me, that his grandmother would not slap him if he did not deserve it. Later on I asked him what he did that his grandmother slapped him, and he said: "Oh, it is no use telling you, you love your mother anyhow."—Chicago Tribune.

Retribution.

There was a youth in our town who posed as quite a wit; and when a question he was asked, he always answered, "Nit." One day he met his Waterloo in a maiden dressed in pink; he asked if she would marry him—she answered, "I don't think."
