HUERTA LEADER BACK TO START NEW FIGHT

General Blanquet, Former Vice-President, Who Arrested Madero, Arrives Safely—Tells Plans.

WASHINGTON IS NOTIFIED

State Department Will Give No Attention to Question Now—Join Diaz Movement Against Carranza

NEW YORK, April 3.—General Aurelio Blanquet, Mexican minister of war during the administration of President Victoriano Huerta, and described as second in command to General Felix Diaz, recently reported as having undertaken a revolutionary movement against President Carranza, has arrived safely in Mexico after a very dangerous trip," according to an announcement made public here today by Roberto Gayon, his secretary.

General Blanquet was accompanied by General Juan Montano, chief of staff; General Enrique Gonzales, chief of artillery; Colonel Francisco Tolosahermo, judge advocate; Colonel Luis Arauja, Captain Guillermo Rosas and two other Mexican officers of the old federal army, according to Gayon.

To Start Revolution.

The purpose of General Blanquet's return, Mr. Gayon said, was to reorganize the Diaz forces, overthrow the Carranza government and re-establish the constitution of 1857, which he says was repudiated by Carranza, and revoke the alleged confiscatory decrees of the present government.

The Diaz forces are officially known as the national reorganization army of Mexico. Mr. Gayon states that they now control three small ports Tonala, Tuxpam and Nautla, the latter being captured about a month ago.

General Blanquet first saw military service at the age of 15, when he enlisted in the republican army and fought with the liberals against the Maximilian empire until the downfall of Maximilian and his execution in 1867. In 1887 he fought against the Yaqui Indians in Sonora and a year later engaged in a campaign against the bandit Heraclio Bernal. From 1894 to 1904 the general fought in Yucatan against the Mayas. During the Madero revolution he took a prominent part in nearly all the actions of the federal army in the states of Puebla, Guerrero, Morelos, Chihuahua, Durango and Coahuila, achieving fame for himself and the 29th battalion which he commanded.

Arrested Madero.

After the "coup" of Generals Felix Diaz and Mondragon, General Blanquet, in command of General Huerta, arrested Francesco I. Madero and his cabinet at the national palace in Mexico City, and Huerta became provisional president. Blanquet was promoted to the rank of general in February, 1913, and three months later became minister of war in the Huerta cabinet. In July, 1914, he became vice president of Mexico and was frequently mentioned as successor to Huerta, whose power was then rapidly waning.

The success of the constitutionalist forces under Carranza in 1914, resulted in Huerta and Blanquet being driven into exile. They sailed from Puerto Mexico for Kingston, Jamaica, July 17, 1914, on the German cruiser Dresden. After a few weeks' sojourn in Jamaica, they went to England and then made their way to Spain.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Notice of the safe arrival in Mexico of General Blanquet, war minister under the Huerta regime and now avowedly second in command in the Felix Diaz revolutionary movement, was received today at the state department. Officials said no attention would be given the matter, since it was one to be dealt with by the government of Mexico recognized by the United States.

Felix Diaz, nephew of the late President Porfirio Diaz, has been heading revolutions intermittently ever since the overthrow of his uncle. Whether the undertaking now joined in by General Blanquet with a formidable staff of old Mexican federal army officers will make greater headway than those that have gone before no one here ventures to guess.

Ambassador Hohras said today the government of Mexico was fully capable of dealing with the revolutionists in Mexico than out of it," said the ambassador. "When they are out of the country they are constantly plotting and trying to get assistance for their schemes. Once they get into Mexico, however, the government is able to deal with them in an appropriate manner."

All men and women who have reached the age of 18 will be permitted to vote with the exception of those who employ wage earners for profit or who live on unearned income or are merchants, priests, monks, common criminals or lunatics.

Would Stop Red Spread

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Drastic action by congress to check the alarming spread of bolshevik doctrine in this country was urged by Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, retired, in an address here last night before the Loyal Legion. The speaker declared the safety of the nation depended upon quick and effective action, and unless steps were taken to prevent the spread of the "red peril" the country soon would be in the throes of revolution and anarchy.

British Flight Delayed.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 3.—Indications were today that the Sopwith airplane with which Harry G. Hawker and Lieutenant Commander Mackenzie Grieg, British aviators, plan to cross the Atlantic would not be able to start on April 16, as planned. The ground in the vicinity of their hangar at Mount Pearl is still soaked from the heavy rain and several days of sunshine will be necessary before it is dry enough for a machine to run over it.

Transport Towed In

When the troops of Captain Matlack and Captain Broadhead's commands returned from Mexico yesterday they brought Cano's spurs, saddles belonging to the Mexican bandits and a quantity of arms, ammunition and supplies. Three of the five Mexicans killed were identified as belonging to Cano's band and it is believed Cano escaped when the bandit rendezvous was charged by the American soldiers.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a gorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, spliting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but it is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.—Adv.
