WILLIAMS SAYS ALL CHARGES ARE UNTRUE

Comptroller Defends Administration of Office Before Senate Banking Committee.

HITS BACK AT RIGGS BANK

Declares Officials Guilty of Infractions of Law—Cravenmyer to Defend Him on Monday.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—General denial of charges made against him was entered before the senate banking committee today by John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency. Mr. Williams defended the administration of his office, denied that he had persecuted the Riggs National bank of this city, and characterized Frank J. Hogan, attorney for bank officials in the Riggs bank case as a "rapid fire falsifier."

Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney, will appear in Mr. Williams' behalf Monday and the comptroller plans to make a closing statement.

In defending the treasury's attitude toward the Riggs National bank, Mr. Williams charged officials of that institution up to 1918, with "multitudinous infractions of the law."

He charged that millions of dollars had been loaned by the institution to persons who had no security except the stock they bought on a marginal account and which was highly speculative.

In closing his statement before the committee, Mr. Williams renewed his request that Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, appear before the committee to substantiate charges made recently before a house committee that Mr. Williams had received a share of a commission growing out of the disposal of the Arlington Hotel site here to the treasury department. Chairman McLean said he had notified the Pennsylvania congressman that hearings would be closed early next week, but added that he was not sure whether the senate committee had authority to summon Mr. McFadden.

LUKINS AND ADAMS NINES PLAY 15 TO 15 TIE GAME

Lukin's Fearless Eight and Adams' Locoed Nine battled, slugged and fumbled themselves into 15 runs apiece and the Tulsa Tuberculosis association into several hundred dollars in a ball game at McNulty park yesterday afternoon. When the game was called in the seventh inning when the street lights began to blink, both teams had piled up a score of 15 runs.

The game was the first of a series arranged by the automobile dealers' association for the benefit of the Tulsa Tuberculosis association.
