MAGISTRATE AND JUDGE DISPUTE.

IN HEARING ON CHILDREN'S COURT BILL.

Justice Hinsdale Opposes It, but Mayor Is Likely to Approve.

Presiding Justice Hinsdale, of the Special Sessions Court, and Magistrate Deuel, head of the Board of Magistrates, got into a very warm argument before Mayor Low to-day.

The Mayor was hearing Judge Hinsdale's protest against the bill providing for a new Children's Court, to be presided over by a Special Sessions Judge.

"The bill provides for a perversion of justice," said Justice Hinsdale. "It provides, if they proceed regularly—of course, I don't know that they will—for a hearing and a trial before the same judge. It is an outrage. I am as dear a friend of the poor child as any of these philanthropists. Indeed, I am a philanthropist and reformer. But when reform goes backward I am against it.

"The Magistrates talk about being overworked. We Justices of Special Sessions are not behind, but we object to being saddled with the work of the Magistrates."

This roused Magistrate Deuel.

"The judge says we have not read this bill," said Magistrate Deuel. "I am obliged to reply that evidently he has not read the criminal code. The code provides that a child may be tried at once. The judge has also seen fit to sneer at the overworked Magistrates. I wish to say in return that the justices of Special Sessions sit sixty-five days and are life eighty-five. That is scarcely overwork."

"This question ought not be brought in at all," spoke Justice Hinsdale. "We all work enough. I'm willing to admit the Magistrates work."

Judge Hinsdale was also answered by Elbridge T. Gerry, former President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who favored the bill.

"There is nothing in the constitution that forbids giving a child preliminary hearing and trial before the same judge," remarked Commodore Gerry.

Mayor Low said he would accept the bill providing for the new court.

SECRETARY MORAN AND BRAVE MRS. OAKLEY WED.

Mayor Low Among the Guests at His Assistant's Marriage.

MRS. WILLIAM J. MORAN.

Mrs. Mabel Oakley is now Mrs. William J. Moran. She was married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Seaich, No. 78 Riverside Drive, to Mr. Moran, who is one of Mayor Low's secretaries. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Stein, of Paterson.

Mayor and Mrs. Low, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Grace, Judge and Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Van Brunt, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Louis J. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. David B. McClure were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Moran have gone South on a wedding tour.

The bride has proved herself a heroine on several occasions. Her late husband, Thomas C. Oakley, was drowned four years ago in Lake Mohegan. His wife dived to the bottom of the lake again and again in a vain effort to find him. She did not give up until she lost consciousness from exhaustion. She was saved by a fisherman who happened to row by.

Awakening to find a burglar in her room two years ago she hurled a cologne bottle which hit him on the head and felled him.

Finding the lace curtains in her room on fire on another occasion she tore them down and extinguished the flames, burning her hands.

She has stopped more than one runaway horse.

VETERAN CLERK OF COURTS DEAD.

ISAIAH KAYSER'S 36 YEARS OF SERVICE ENDED.

Supported by Daughter When On Street, He Was a Harlem Character.

Isaiah Kayser, who had served as a clerk in the old Court of Common Pleas and the Supreme Court for thirty-six years, and was the oldest clerk in point of service, died this morning at his home, No. 166 West One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street.

Mr. Kayser was about seventy-eight years old, but retained his mental faculties in full vigor to the end, though he had been infirm and ill and feeble for many months. So infirm was he that he was accompanied and supported by his faithful daughter on his way to court each morning, and she called for him and took him home each night.

This couple of wayfarers were conspicuous figures in the Harlem streets through which they passed, and "Old Man" Kayser was a popular favorite in the courts.

He will be recalled as the man who "looked like Oom Paul Kruger." Short and broad of figure, Mr. Kayser always wore a flat brimmed "stove-pipe" hat.

Since the consolidation of the Common Pleas with the Supreme Court, Kayser has been the clerk in Trial Term, Part X., of the Supreme Court, and he was on duty at his desk until last Friday.

When his death was announced at the opening of Part X. to-day, Justice Greenbaum, presiding there, made some feeling remarks expressing the regard of the Justices for the faithful old clerk. John M. Bowers and David McClure, counsel engaged in the case on trial, also delivered brief eulogies.

THE TWO DOCTORS

Who Cured Mrs. Dill, of This City.

Dr. Robert Koch. Dr. Edward Koch.

"I did have that fatal disease.

"Different New York doctors diagnosed my case as Tuberculosis or Consumption.

"My family doctor told me I had Consumption. My sister and mother died of Consumption.

"For months I gradually went into a decline. I coughed so hard I could not sleep, my lungs pained me; I spit blood, and no matter what medicine the doctor gave me I gradually sank lower and lower under his treatment.

"As a last resort I applied to the Koch Lung Cure, at 48 West 22d St., New York, and although I was nearly dead when I applied to them, I breathed their healing, oily vapors into my lungs, and after a few weeks every one noticed my improvement.

"These healing oils loosened up large lumps of phlegm, and at one time I coughed out a plug nearly four inches long and as large round as the finger. My husband told me that he now felt that this was the turning point in my case, and that now I would get better, and I must say that after that time I improved very fast. My neighbors all marvelled at my rapid recovery, for no one ever expected me to be well again.

"The pains in my lungs, also my cough, disappeared, and I was finally discharged as cured by the Koch Lung Cure, at 48 West 22d St., New York. My neighbors all now believe in this treatment, and they will tell you so, or I will personally prove the truth of this statement to any one who will call upon me at my home, 1702 Second ave., New York.

YALE BOYS STUDY EAST SIDE LIFE.

VISIT THE MORGUE AND TOUR BLACKWELLS.

Professor of Sociology Chaperones Forty Future Clergymen.

Forty divinity students of Yale College arrived in this city this morning for the purpose of studying life among the poor of the East Side and also to make a tour of the various charitable institutions in the control of the city.

About 10 o'clock the students, headed by W. B. Bailey, Professor of Sociology, visited Commissioner of Charities Homer Folks. Accompanied by Mr. Ellison, Mr. Folks's private secretary, the party went to the Bellevue Morgue and made a tour of the building.

After a glimpse of the "floaters' room," where the bodies of drowned persons are kept, the students were shown into the autopsy room and permitted to look over the photographs of the unknown dead for the last two years. Several refused to go into this room.

The steamer Thomas S. Brennan then took the collegians to Blackwell's Island, where the Almshouse, Metropolitan and City Hospitals were inspected. Luncheon was served in the Almshouse at noon.

To-night will be passed at Mills Hotel No. 1, in Bleecker street.

In the party are H. Tanata, of Tokio, Japan, and Josiah Sibley, son of Congressman Sibley, of Pennsylvania.

The body of a drowned man was found at South Beach, Staten Island, to-day.

A blue sweater, and rubber boots which reached to the hips were partly removed, as though the man had tried to divest himself of clothing that he might better keep afloat.

The body had been in the water for about six weeks.

IGLESIAS WILL BE RELEASED.

COMMITMENT IN SAN JUAN TO BE NULLIFIED.

Prosecution Joins with Defense in Asking for the Freedom of Labor Representative.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 10.—The Supreme Court of Porto Rico has heard the appeal of Santiago Iglesias, President of the Federation of Workmen of Porto Rico, who was sentenced December 12 last to three years, four months and eight days imprisonment on the charge of conspiring to raise the price of labor in Porto Rico. Decision was reserved until Saturday.

He will undoubtedly be acquitted.

Counsel for Iglesias dwelt on the constitutional right of people to assemble peacefully. The public prosecutor, to the surprise of the throng in the court room, sustained and strengthened the argument of the defense. He said the appeal was well taken, put in no evidence for the prosecution, and practically asked the court to dismiss the case.

HOT AIR KILLS STOKER.

Michael McKenna Fatally Burned by Furnace Back Draught.

Michael McKenna opened the door of a furnace in the works of the East River Gas Company, in Long Island City, to-day.

There was a flash caused by a back draught and the man was enveloped in a wave of superheated air.

The wave passed within a few seconds, but when it was gone McKenna lay on the floor, burned from head to foot and dying. He was taken to St. John's Hospital. The doctors say his death is but a matter of a few hours. He is shockingly burned, his skin being scorched and blistered from head to foot.

He is twenty-one years old. His home is at No. 155 Eagle street, Brooklyn. He was employed in the gas works.
