BOARDMAN WILL NOT RUN FOR YALE.

University's Chances in Intercollegiate Games Injured by Sprinter's Announcement that He Won't Compete.

Yale's chances in the intercollegiate championships, which are to be held on Friday and Saturday at Berkeley Oval, are greatly injured by the announcement from New Haven that Dixon Boardman will not do any more running for Yale this season. The reason attributed for Boardman's action is the request made by his parents that he take no part in the games.

Boardman was to have started in the furlong flat and the quarter-mile races. This is the first time in which a Yale athlete has resigned in the interim between the Harvard-Yale dual and the intercollegiate track games.

GIANTS PLAY BOSTONS; FIGHT FOR THIRD PLACE.

body had a chance to see it owing to the downpour of rain.

But it was in sight this afternoon, and Capt. Doyle's name led all the rest. Jimmy Jones, of whom so much has been expected in the hitting line, has been relegated to seventh place and Billy Lauder is found batting fifth. That is not as far as that pair will go, either. One more notch back were they to go if new man Campbell found his way to this town before the game began.

Campbell is wanted badly by the Giants. Although ordered to report he has not put in an appearance. He may have gone astray in this city's crooked streets, for "Gimlet" Jackson, who has been here several times before, got lost this morning, and when found he said he thought the hotel had jumped the league, for he didn't believe it was in the same place he left it.

Boston's Best Team Out.

Boston's best team was in the field when the Giants met them. It has been very good without Fred Tenney in his old position at first, but with his suspension lifted it looks even stronger.

Then there was another factor the Giants had to consider, and that was the presence of big Victor Willis in the box for the Beaneaters. His shoots, sent as they are from his highest altitude, which is something like nine feet, down to the batting Giants, are hard to solve, and safeties off him are as rare as strawberries in the Arctic regions.

But the New Yorkers had a couple of twirlers of some worth to call on to offset the work of the Boston twirler. Luther Taylor was one in the line and Frank Sparks and Roy Evans were the others. Manager Fogel looked kindly on Taylor's practice and only a wall of a weak arm by the silent man would prevent him from working. Sparks and Evans looked well too.

First Inning.

Doyle boosted the first ball pitched into Cooley's arms. Kittredge dropped Clark's third strike, but got the ball to Tenney in time. Smith's rap was too hard for Demont to handle and George got to first. Bowerman's drive to centre was good for a base, but Bowerman stole second. Lauder was given a walk and the bases were filled. All were left, though, for Bean struck out. No runs.

Taylor got Lush's weak bounce and handled it to Doyle in time. Tenney's little pop up tumbled to Bowerman. Lauder assisted to retire Demont. No runs.

Second Inning.

Jones's club swinging exhibition was a fine piece of work from a Boston fan's point of view. Jackson's was as good. Taylor was Willis's fifth strike out victim. No runs.

Cooley, who has been hitting safe for many games, struck out. Taylor gave Carney a walk. Greminger's knock to Lauder was Carney's finish at second and his own at first. No runs.

Third Inning.

Long did not get Doyle's roller and Jack got to first. Clark rolled the ball Demont and Doyle was retired at second. Smith was fooled by Willis's curves and sat down. Bowerman's little fly fell to Demont. No runs.

Long was puzzled by Taylor's shoots. Kittridge rolled the ball to Lauder and died at first. Bean threw Willis out. No runs.

Fourth Inning.

Lauder fanned. Willis tossed Bean's bounce to Tenney. Jones walked. More hard luck for the Giants. Jones started to steal second and in doing so was caught and injured his right arm. He had to retire from the game, and Dunn took his place. No runs.

Lush was retired by Smith. Jones's arm was spiked by Demont and it was necessary for several stitches to be put in it. Tenney's high fly fell to Clark, who collided with Dunn, but still held on to the ball. Demont got the Boston's first hit, a double to left. Taylor took Coley's hot bounce and fired it to Doyle. No runs.

Fifth Inning.

Tenney needed no assistance to retire Jackson. Taylor again struck out. Doyle did likewise. No runs.

Dunn got under Carney's fly. Greminger fanned. Long got a base on his hit, but he got no further, for Lauder helped retire Kittridge. No runs.

Sixth Inning.

Clark bounced the ball to Willis and was out at first. For the second time Smith struck out, making Willis's tenth victim. Bowerman drove the ball along the third base line and got as far as second. Lauder's best was a pony fly that Greminger got. No runs.

Willis was thrown out by Bean. Doyle got Lush's roller and retired the runner. Tenney drove the ball by Smith for a base, but he was caught trying to steal second. No runs.

Seventh Inning.

Bean's bunt was neat, and he got to first. Dunn's rap looked safer, but Lush ran in fast and got it on the fly. Bean started for second and was victim No. 2 of the play. Jackson did not hit the ball, although he tried three times. No runs.

Demont was retired on his bounder to Taylor. Cooley's short fly fell to Jackson. Carney's rap was good for a base. Bean took Greminger's fly. No runs.

Eighth Inning.

Taylor fanned and Willis made the strike-out record of the season. Luther was the twelfth. Doyle's drive to centre earned him a base. Doyle went to second on a wild pitch. Clark struck out. Willis threw Smith out. No runs.

Jackson got Long's fly. Lauder threw Kittredge out. Willis lifted the ball to Clark. No runs.

Ninth Inning.

Carney took Bowerman's fly. Long helped to retire Lauder. Willis threw Bean out. No runs.

Lush walked. Tenney sacrificed. Bean took Demont's fly. A wild pitch scored Lush. One run.

HARVARD PLAYS CORNELL NINE.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 28.—Harvard and Cornell met on the diamond this afternoon on Soldiers' Field. Every one in Cambridge looked for a hard game, as the Ithaca boys have shown themselves to be hard hitters and had defeated the Quakers only last Saturday. Last year Harvard shut Cornell out, 11 to 0. Several changes were made in the crimson team and the batting order was shifted.

LAVIGNE AND BRITT.

California Light-Weight Favorite in To-Night's Fight.

Jimmy Britt, the California light-weight, who is looked on as the coming champion of that class, will meet Kid Lavigne, the ex-light-weight champion, in a twenty-round bout in San Francisco to-morrow night. Both men have been training hard and faithfully for the battle and are reported as being in splendid condition.

Britt, on account of his recent victories since he turned professional, has been made the favorite in the betting at odds of 2 to 1. Britt has already been matched to fight George McFadden the latter part of next month.

CHAMPION TRAVIS LEADS GOLFERS AT TUXEDO.

Scores 76 in First Round of Championship—Douglas Beaten 5 Points.

(Special to The Evening World.)

TUXEDO PARK, May 28.—Although there was a shower about 10 o'clock this morning, it did not inconvenience, to any great extent, the golfers who are competing in the fourth annual championship of the Metropolitan Golf Association. The Tuxedo links are in superb condition, with the slight drawback of the wet grass. There were a few withdrawals but not more than usually occur at an open tournament.

Since last year the course has been lengthened and as played to-day was some 150 yards longer than before, measuring 5,423 yards for the eighteen holes. The par figures are placed at 35—36—71. From a picturesque point of view the course is scarcely equalled anywhere in the country.

Thirty-two of the fifty odd players who started in the preliminary play of eighteen holes this morning qualified for the first round of match play this afternoon. Among the starters were Amateur Champion W. J. Travis and Metropolitan champion Findley S. Douglas, Herbert M. Harriman and C. H. Seeley, the Connecticut champion, and several other prominent players in this district were absent. Among those on hand however, were former National Champion C. B. MacDonald, C. B. Cory, of Palm Beach, John Smith, C. F. Travis and other strong players. Princeton was represented by George T. Brokaw.
