BRADY, JOHN T., AT THE WALDORF

Reminds St. Louis "Bad Man" of Mardi Gras, Gowns Are So Gay.

CARPETS MAKE HIM ILL.

Willing to Pay $500 a Week and Wear an Openface Suit for a Salve Stand in the Lobby.

"The Waldorf-Astoria," remarked John Thomas Brady, "reminds a sucker from the West of Mardi-Gras. I never saw anything on the stage like the dresses them dames wear. Walking on the carpets makes a tenderfoot seasick.

"The Waldorf-Astoria certainly is the goods. I went down there the other night and looked it over. I saw a lot of faces there that I would like to operate on. If they will let me have a salve stand in the lobby I'll pay $500 a week for the privilege and wear an open-face suit every day.

"Out in St. Louis we used to think the Planters' was the real thing. Alongside the Waldorf-Astoria the Planters' looks like a boarding-house for dogs, and it's swell at that. If I had money enough I'd live there all the time. There ain't many places where they give you room and board for your money and throw in a free show every afternoon and evening.

Money Enough to Burn.

"I met a friend of mine from St. Louis—a young guy on his first visit to New York. He's in the steel business and has money enough to paper a house with, but he was a little groggy when I run across him.

"'I never give a waiter a tip of less than a dollar,' he says, 'because I'm afraid one of 'em would chide me. I'd rather be chided by the President of the United States than one of them waiters. I was ordering a meal from one of 'em yesterday and made a mistake in calling the turn. Say! he called me down like I was getting a handout.'

"'Why are the chairs in the lobby so wide?' he asked me.

"I told him it was to accommodate the kleptomaniacs. In a hotel like the Waldorf-Astoria they have to keep everything nailed down, and at that a lot of kleptomaniacs carry nail pullers. When they get loaded up with souvenirs the ordinary chair won't hold 'em.

"My young friend from St. Louis asked if it wasn't stealing to swipe silverware and stuff from a hotel.

They Send for a Doctor.

"'If you swipe it at the Metropole or Beef Steak John's they call it stealing and send for a policeman,' I says. 'If you swipe it here they send for a doctor and call it kleptomania or nervous prostration.

"'That's where a man is a sucker for being cheap. I saw a lot of crooks strolling around the corridors with hungry looks in their lamps. If they'd stand on a Broadway corner they'd be pinched. But as long as they're in the Waldorf-Astoria they are taken for speculators or promoters or financiers.

"'One of the first men I saw when I went into the hotel was Paddy Ryan, of Chicago, ex-policeman, ex-gambler and now a millionaire, the great human cold storage plant alive. He was sitting on one of them big chairs. The first place I ever saw him sitting was on a beer keg outside a saloon on the West Side in Chicago where I used to pass him a bucket of suds out the window.

"'The blood went to his head when he saw me coming. He thought I was going to walk up and speak to him and if I had he'd have tried to turn me down. Then he wa safraid I'd sting him, like I did Jim McCaffrey in St. Louis.

"'Ever hear me pu the kibosh into one of them bloated boys. Say, I burn 'em alive. Jim McCaffrey used to shovel coal on a dump in St. Louis. He accumulated a wad, got into society and joined the golf club. Whenever anybody came along that used to know him when he was shoveling coal he got dizzy and couldn't see.

Joke Was Practical.

"'He passed me a blind stare two or three times, so when I heard he was out chasing a golf ball around the links I framed up to get even with him. I was running a saloon then. I got a coal shovel put in the window and labelled it 'Jim McCaffrey's first golf stick.' When Jim heard about it such a cold chill ran up his back that frost formed on his hair.

"'Ryan was sitting up in his chair like he was afraid he would break it. You can always tell the owners of new money from the real thing in a place like the Waldorf-Astoria. The real swells that are used to resting on upholstered furniture sit down in the big chairs like they was going to bed. They get down on their spines and stick their feet out and look around like they owned the whole peanut stand.

"'I saw my first game of ping-pong at the Waldorf-Astoria. 'Gene Hanlon, of St. Louis, was playing with young Roth that used to run the St. Nicholas Hotel out there. Say, it was a sight to make a man want to chew gum to see those big hammer throwers playing ping-pong. It reminded me of John L. Sullivan playing croquet.

"'Those boys that run around picking up the balls with long sticks reminds me of chicken stealers. That's what chicken stealers use to get a grip on the necks of the broilers. They could make a great hit by training dogs to get the balls."

LOCKJAW FROM RUSTY NAIL.

Boy Received Injury Labor Day, but Little Was Thought of It.

Samuel Gohd, twelve years old, of No. 233 Belmont avenue, Newark, N. J., is in the City Hospital there suffering from lockjaw, caused, the doctors say, by an injury to his knee by a rusty nail.

The boy was playixng Labor Day when he slipped and fell on the sidewalk, and the point of the nail entered the left knee. The wound was slight, and after it had been washed no more was thought of it until a few days ago, when the knee began to swell. The boy was taken to the hospital, where it was found lockjaw had appeared. Antitoxin was administered, but it seems to have had little effect. The doctors do not think the boy can live more than twenty-four hours longer.

STAGE LIFE FOR SOCIETY BEAUTY FROM THE SOUTH.

Father Was Chancellor, and She Will Play in "The Prisoner of Zenda."

The South this year has been more prolific than ever before in sending young women to New York to enter the theatrical profession.

The most recent of more than a dozen aspirants is Miss Louise Elliston Boddie, who will make her first professional appearance as the Princess Flavia in a revival of "The Prisoner of Zenda." She will appear on the programmes as Eloise Elliston.

Miss Boddie comes of a distinguished Tennessee family. Her home is at Memphis. Her father was for many years Chancellor of Shelby County, and her brother is now in the Mississippi Legislature.

Like many other recruits to the stage, Miss Boddie's first attempts at the art of acting were in amateur theatricals in Memphis, where her work awakened public interest. With that encouragement she decided to pursue stage life professionally.

INQUIRY COURT ON SMITH'S CHARGES.

Adjutant-General Names Officers to Ascertain Facts About Losses in the Seventy-first Armory Fire.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Sept. 17.—Adjt.-Gen. Nelson A. Henry has appointed Col. George R. Dyer, of the Twelfth Regiment; Col. Alfred Barnes, of the Twenty-third Regiment, and Col. Adolph J. Kline, of the Fourteenth Regiment, a Court of Inquiry to investigate the charges of Clinton H. Smith relating to the loss of personal property of officers of the Seventy-first Regiment in the fire which destroyed the armory of that organization.

Gen. Henry in his order appointing the court says: "At the request of Col. William G. Bates, Seventy-first Regiment, and Major E. T. T. Marsh, surgeon Seventy-first Regiment, a court of inquiry is hereby appointed to examine into all matters pertaining to the loss and insurance on personal property owned by the officers and destroyed at the burning of the regimental armory, incident to their claims before the board of audit appointed by the State.

"Charges having been preferred, these charges are submitted to the court of inquiry. The court will meet at such time and place in New York City as may be designated by the senior officer, and will make a full report to these headquarters of its investigation, with its opinion as to what action should be taken on said charges."

Major Willard O. Fisk, Seventh Regiment, is detailed as judge-advocate.

OCEANIC BREAKS HER OWN RECORD.

The Big Liner Makes the Trip from Queenstown in an Hour Less Than in Any Previous Voyage.

The big White Star liner Oceanic docked this morning after a westward passage in which she clipped an hour off her own record of five days, seventeen hours and fifty minutes from Daunt's Rock, Queenstown.

The liner was reported off Sandy Hook at 10.10 o'clock last night, thus bringing her time for the westward trip down to five days, sixteen hours and forty-two minutes. On account of the fog the ship was compelled to anchor in Sandy Hook Bay.

Among the first cabin passengers were C. B. Alexander and family, J. Donald Cameron, Mr. C. C. Cuyler and Miss Cuyler, Mr. James Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. C. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Deering and Miss May Deering.

OCEANIC BRINGS DESERTER.

Among the steerage passengers on the Oceanic, which arrived from Liverpool this morning, was a deserter from the cruiser San Francisco, who ran away from the warship at Naples. His name is Oschman, and he was caught at Liverpool and turned over to the United States Consul.

The Brooklyn Navy-Yard was informed and a sergeant of marines sent to meet the steamship. Oschman was handed over to the sergeant after his release papers had been signed by Boarding Officer Flannery. The man had only seven months more to serve in the Navy when he deserted, and he is liable to a sentence of three years in prison.

TWICE INJURED BY STREET CARS

One Crushed Foot of Richard Racer and Another Hurled Him from an Ambulance.

LEG BROKEN THIS TIME.

Second Wagon Is Necessary for the Surgeon Who Is Hastening Racer to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Richard Racer met with two serious accidents in quick succession, and both by street-cars in different sections of the city. First he fell under a car at Bowery and Spring street and his foot was crushed by a wheel.

Then he was hurled from the ambulance which was taking him to St. Vincent's Hospital, and the leg to which the crushed foot was hanging was broken. The ambulance was struck by a Sixth avenue car.

Incidentally Ambulance Surgeon Garligan sustained severe bruises and strains to both legs and another ambulance was necessary for him.

Racer, who lives at No. 560 Sixth avenue, was riding on the front platform of a Spring street horse car when it made the curve into the Bowery. The curve was sharp and Racer was thrown off. As he tried to catch nimself his foot went under the car and the front wheel ran over and crushed it.

He was dragged out and placed on the sidewalk while the ambulance from St. Vincent's Hospital was coming. Dr. Garligan, in charge, said the injury was most serious, that amputation would probably be necessary, and he ordered the driver to speed for the operating-room of the hospital.

With its gong clanging the ambulance tore up through Spring street to Sixth avenue, and up under the elevated structure at a breakneck speed.

The driver was turning out of the tracks at Eleventh street when a southbound car, heedless of the gong, crashed into the ambulance. Racer was thrown from the stretcher out through the opening in front of the street, over the driver's head, falling on the pavement many feet from car or ambulance. His crushed foot was now hanging limp, the bone in the leg having been broken by the fall.

Fearing that passing wagons would run over him, Racer crawled to the curb, dragging his twice-injured leg behind him.

Dr. Garigan was thrown from the back of the ambulance and fell under the wheel as it was crushed in. He was cut and bruised in a number of places and was unable to assist himself or his patient. He told a policeman to hurry another ambulance, and then Dr. Garigan himself occupied a place on the stretcher in the new ambulance with the originally injured man, and both were hurried to the hospital without further incident.

BEJEWELLED WOMAN CREATES A SCENE.

Insists Upon Getting a Room in Grand Hotel, Takes Several Fits of Hysteria and Finally Gets Into a Cell.

Mrs. Louise Lewis, a pretty, well-dressed and refined young woman who wore a good many diamonds, created a scene in the lobby of the Grand Hotel, Thirty-first street and Broadway, early to-day

The place was crowded with politicians awaiting returns from the primaries when she entered. She asked for a room, saying she was the wife of Ira Lewis, the assistant steward of the hotel. The clerk saw she was hysterical and refused to accommodate her. Then she threw herself flat on the floor, shrieking and declaring she would have a place to sleep for the night.

Policeman Hughes led her from the hotel, but she insisted on returning. When he placed her under arrest she had another attack of hysteria and screamed that her husband was treating her shamefully. At the stationhouse she offered the police her diamonds if they would not put her in a cell.

At the address she gave, No. 164 West Thirty-sixth street, it was said she had not been at home for several days.

MORGAN BOUGHT SHIPS.

LONDON, ept. 17.—J. R. Elleman, chairman of the Leyland line of steamers, said here: "It is true that vessels in the Antwerp-Montreal trade have been sold to Mr. Morgan, but only two vessels are involved and they are of comparatively small value."

Over Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or uncteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

FOUND HUSBAND WITH NEW WIFE

Mrs. Emma Stielman Searched Three and a Half Years Before Locating Him.

SECOND WIFE INDIGNANT.

Refused to Kiss Stielman in Court and Will Aid No. 1 in Prosecuting Him on Bigamy Charge.

After a search lasting three and a half years, Mrs. Emma Stielman, of No. 519 West Forty-third street, found her husband, Julius, who had deserted her. She had him arrested to-day, charged with bigamy.

When Stielman's second wife heard of the charge she agreed to co-operate with wife No. 1 in prosecuting him.

Stielman, according to his second wife, who was Miss Elise Brill, and previous to her marriage lived at No. 74 East Eighty-seventh street, has a great deal of money. Mrs. Stielman No. 1 says she does not know where her husband got his money and that he owes her a large sum because of an order of a court issued four years ago.

The first Mrs. Stielman saw her recreant husband and followed him to No. 157 East Eighty-first street. Neighbors told her that he had been married less than four months.

Got a Warrant for Him.

Mrs. Stielman went to the Harlem Court and swore out a warrant. When it was served on him he told his second wife that it was because of a debt he owed and that she must not get excited.

"Don't come to court," he told her. "I will come out all right."

The second wife consulted her father and mother. They advised her to go court to aid her husband. When she entered Magistrate Crane's court, heard the charge against her husband and saw his first wife she fainted. Mrs. Stielman No. 1 took Mrs. Stielman No. 2 into an ante-room and revived her. The two women compared notes and agreed to prosecute.

Stielman pleaded guilty and was held in $1,000 bond for trial. As he was being led to his cell he asked Mrs. Stielman No. 2 to kiss him.

Called Him a Scoundrel.

"I will not," she cried. "I wish I could tar and feather you! "You're a scoundrel!"

Mrs. Stielman No. 1 showed Magistrate Crane a letter written by her husband, in which he told her he was in a hospital badly injured and had only a few days to live. He said he was going to be buried in the Lutheran Cemetery, and said if his wife attempted to see him he "would rise up in his coffin and strike her."

Mrs. Stielman No. 1 did not believe the letter and continued the search for her husband

The two wives of Stielman left court arm in arm consoling each other.

"IN TIME OF PEACE."

"In time of peace prepare for war" is a proverb of much meaning. All during the severe weather of the winter sufferers from nose and throat troubles, bronchial and lung affections and all catarrhal diseases are compelled to wage an incessant, wearisome battle against serious ravages constantly threatened by climatic aggravation. How much wiser to cure the existing trouble before the winter comes on. This is Dr. Gardner's oft-repeated advice. Don't wait until cold weather compels you to do something. Have the trouble cured now, while it can be promptly done, remembering that one month's proper treatment right now is worth more than two months in the winter, and when winter does come you need not dread it nor have any fear of serious complications.

DR. GARDNER'S OFFICE, 425 FIFTH AVENUE.

BRONCHITIS AND EAR TROUBLE.

Husband and Wife Indorse Dr. Gardner's Treatment.

The following statement from Mrs. Frank Fisher, residing at No. 143 Cornelia street, Brooklyn, N. Y., regarding her own and Mr. Fisher's treatment by Dr. Gardner will be interesting to others afflicted. Mrs. Fisher says: "My husband had a severe attack of bronchitis early in the spring which became so bad that he was laid up for nearly three months unable to attend to his business. His spells of coughing were terrible, and with the difficult breathing and wheezing, most exhausting. Since he has been under Dr. Gardner's treatment all the bad symptoms have entirely disappeared and we have every hope that his cure will prove complete and permanent.

"For myself I have been greatly troubled with my ears for a good many years, but I am glad to say since I am under Dr. Gardner's care I am a great deal better and believe he will bring the cure around all right. We have only been going to Dr. Gardner a short time and we both know that our troubles cannot be permanently cured in a minute. We are most perfectly satisfied with what Dr. Gardner has done for us and pleased to indorse his treatment."

Dr. Gardner cures as quickly and permanently:

NOSE AND THROAT TROUBLES.—Nose stopped up, mucous discharge, bleeding, dropping in throat, throat filled with mucus, coughing and gagging to clear it; throat sore, swollen or inflamed.

EAR DISEASES, including deafness (except those born deaf), head noises, discharging ears, &c.

STOMACH DISORDERS.—Indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach and bowels, causing bloated stomach, pains through bones and muscles, headache, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, &c.

ASTHMA.—Dr. Gardner's treatment gives prompt relief from the hard breathing, choking and gasping, stops the wheezing, the cough and makes comfortable night's sleep possible at once, and the cure is permanent.

HAY FEVER.—Itching and burning in the nose, watery discharge, pain in head, red and swollen eyes, tickling in throat and violent sneezing.

NERVOUS DISORDERS, including nervous exhaustion, sleeplessness, falling memory, spots before the eyes, nervous dyspepsia, dizziness, sick headache, lack of energy and concentration of mind and loss of vital power.
