CHAMPION BARBER GIVES LAST SHAVE

Luca Francia, Who Had Defended His Title for Twenty-four Years, Dies Suddenly of Heart Failure.

WAS HIGH UP IN MASONRY.

Having Defeated Rivals at Alexandria and Bombay, He Came to New York and Successfully Met All Aspirants for Tonsorial Fame.

Luca Francia, who had successfully defended the title of champion barber of the world since 1879, was buried to-day, after funeral services had been held at his home, at No. 136 East Forty-second street, and at Masonic Temple. Francia died suddenly on Monday last of heart failure.

In all Francia had been called upon six times to meet aspirants for the tonsorial championship. The first occasion was in Alexandria, Egypt, in 1879, when he defeated a Frenchman named Peal. The next barber who considered his steel worthy of Francia turned up in Bombay in 1886 and was plucked in short order.

The champion shortly afterward came to this country and issued a "defi," which was not taken up until Dec. 2, 1890. R. Cianouilli was the challenger, and the contest was held in Tammany Hall, a stake of $100 being hung up, together with a gold badge, a prize offered by a pink-colored sporting weekly. Cianouili was never in the going. He "faded" before the backstretch was reached.

Won German's $500.

For a time the crop of ambitious barbers was very short, and Francia rested on his laurels. Gustav Kline, a German, had his eye on Francia's gold badge, however, and one day when he had saved $500 he posted it and issued a challenge. The German was trimmed, shaved, shampooed and done up in curl papers before he knew "where he was at."

Next came Dessaix, the French champion, across the water with a challenge, and Francia made him look so small that many citizens of Little Italy thought the challenger would fit nicely in one of Francia's shaving mug holes. After that no one had the temerity to meet the champion, and Francia and his three sons continued in quiet the snipping of hair and the wielding of the razor in a shop at No. 142 East Forty-second street.

Shaved Many Notables.

In a sketch of Francia's life, furnished The Evening World by the family it is written: "Francia traveled the world over and won laurels in his profession wherever he went. He had the honorable distinction of being the tonsorial attendant to the Duke of Connaught, Prince Leopold of Prussia, Lord Dufferin, His Royal Highness the Sultan of Hyderabad and two Governors of Bombay—Sir James Ferguson and Lord Reay."

Luca Francia was the organizer of the Italian Barbers' Benevolent Association of New York, and was its President at the time of his death. He was a thirty-third degree Mason and had been Master of Italia Lodge, No. 786, and Grand Master of the Latin District of the order.

Francia was born in 1855 and as an autobiography says, "The death of his father made him stop his studies and dedicate himself to the tonsorial profession."

LUCA FRANCIA, CHAMPION BARBER, WHOSE FUNERAL TOOK PLACE TO-DAY

HIGH HONORS TO GAELIC SCHOLAR.

Body of the Late Rev. Eugene O'Growney to Be Taken from California to Ireland for Burial.

Extraordinary activity is being evinced among Irish circles in this city in the arrangements for the transmission to Ireland of the remains of the late Rev. Eugene McGrowney, M. R. I. A., the distinguished scholar and Celticist, and former Professor of Gaelic in Maynooth College, Ireland, who died in Los Angeles, Cal., some years ago.

The negotiations were conducted in behalf of the Gaelic League in America, under whose auspices the transfer is being effected, by Major P. C. B. O'Donovan, of Philadelphia, its National President, and by the famous Gaelic scholar and author, Dr. Douglas Hyde, President of the Gaelic League in Ireland.

Mr. O'Growney was probably the foremost Gaelic scholar, and wrote many works and text books on Gaelic. In his "Easy Lessons in Irish" he popularized the movement for the restoration of the Irish language. He was Vice-President of the Gaelic League in Ireland, and achieved by his ability and recognized scholarship the coveted title of "Academician" in the Royal Irish Academy.

The remains will be transferred in a few days from Los Angeles to San Francisco, and in the cathedral in that city services will be conducted in which the Archbishop of San Francisco will participate.

Under the escort and direction of Rev. Peter C. Yorke, Regent of the University of California and State President of the Gaelic League in California, and Mr. L. Brannick, of Los Angeles, the journey which will terminate in Maynooth College Cemetery, Ireland, will begin.

Arriving in Chicago Father Yorke and his charge will be received by Rev. James K. Fielding, President of the Gaelic League of Illinois, and a representative committee of Irishmen in that city. The body will then be taken to the Cathedral and services again conducted, in which both the Archbishop and Bishop of Chicago will officiate.

The remains will reach New York on Sept. 17 and will be received by Major O'Donovan, National President of the Gaelic League in America, who is at the Hotel Savoy, completing arrangements.

The services in this city will be conducted in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Sept. 19, and the ocean journey will begin at 2 o'clock on that afternoon on the Cunard steamer Compania, with the Rev. Peter C. Yorke, Rev. James K. Fielding, M. L. Bannick and Major O'Donovan, honorary pallbearers from America.

At Queenstown, which port will be reached on Sept. 26, the pallbearers will be received by a delegation of the Gaelic League in Ireland, who will journey in a special train from Dublin for that purpose.

MUD SCOW TURNS TURTLE.

Two Men in Deckhouse Are Rescued with Difficulty.

Early to-day the tug Hercules was towing barges Nos. 41 and 43 of the Hughes Brothers & Bangs dredging plant, loaded with mud, to sea, when about a mile and a half from Sandy Hook Lightship a huge sea washed over barge 41. The barge turned bottom up, dislodging the deckhouse, in which were sleeping two men, Adolph Montaire and Djeto Morrelli.

Morrelli managed to climb on the house and Montaire on the bottom of the scow. The scow men of No. 43 took off Morrelli, but could do nothing for the other man.

Capt. Benvenue, with the harbor inspectors' boat Nimrod, ran near by, and, after some difficulty, succeeded in taking off Montaire, who was much exhausted. Both men lost all their effects.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT STARTS FOR HOME.

He and His Cousin Robert Have Had a Great Time in the Black Hills.

DEADWOOD, S. Dak., Sept. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt, jr., after a visit of fourteen days with his friend Capt. Seth Bullier, left for his home in New York yesterday.

"Teddy" and his cousin Robert got several wild cats and no end of grouse and trouble.

The young men visited for two days at the ranch of Capt. Bullier on the Belle Fourche, but the rest of the time they spent out in the mountains, and when they left the Hills expressed themselves as having had the best time of their lives.

Another Splendid Triumph for Dr. Gardner's Oscillation Treatment—One Trial Treatment Free to Every Sufferer Applying in Person at Dr. Gardner's Office.

The following statement, from Mr. Thomas McCue, of No. 70 Johnson st., Brooklyn, will be of interest to every sufferer from diseases of the eye that cause partial or complete blindness. In a recent interview Mr. McCue says:

"The trouble with my eyes began about three and a half years ago. Working under an electric light my eyes became strained and sight dimmed. Then, one day, when stooping over at my work, suddenly my sight was blurred. I thought it would pass right off, but it did not. I went to the Eye and Ear Hospital, and the specialist there told me that I had the beginning of glaucoma, but that it had not developed yet, and I could be cured. He began giving me drops to put in my eyes. I had never suffered any pain up to this time, but the drops caused me great pain and rapidly increased the blindness. I went to this specialist's private office for five months, suffered constantly day and night, and became so nearly totally blind that I could scarcely get along on the street.

"After this I went to other specialists; they all said I had glaucoma, and finally I was examined by one who is reputed to be the greatest authority of them all. He told me the same that the others had told me, excepting that he said also that there was just one thing could be done, and that was to have an operation on my eyes. I asked him if he could promise to have my sight restored by the operation and he told me that he could not, but, on the contrary, did not believe that the operation would restore my sight, but that my only hope was that if I had the operation done at once it might possibly save what little sight I had remaining, and even this he could not promise.

"Of course, this about killed all hope. I struggled along until I learned of Dr. Gardner's Oscillation Treatment and the many cures he was accomplishing. I went to him and began his treatment. The result is happy indeed. In a short time he had relieved me entirely of all the pain and suffering, and to-day I can see pretty well—enough to go around all right without any trouble, and enough to read some. Of course, I don't read much yet, but I am getting stronger sight every day, and I am perfectly certain I will soon be entirely cured.

"Dr. Gardner's Oscillation Treatment is not painful at all, but, on the contrary, relieves pain very quickly. It is most soothing and strengthening to receive. I am very glad indeed to personally recommend it, as I can."
